CIPHER MESSAGES.

Rules That Will Help an Amateur to Read the Riddles.

Writing in cipher, where letters or figures or characters, grotesque or otherwise, are used to form the words, while it may look formidable to the uninitiated is really not difficult to solve if one will tackle it with care and patience.

The proper way to set about reading an unknown cipher is to find the letter or figure that occurs oftenest. This is sure to be "e," as "e" is by far the commonest letter in the language. The second commonest is "t," and if you find a three letter or three figure batch often of which the last is "e" and the first "t" the middle letter or figure is sure to stand for "h." Any letter or figure standing alone must, on clear reasoning, be "I" or "o" or "a."

The second commonest three letter word in a message of any length is sure to be "and," which gives you three more letters for addition to the alphabet.

Remembering that the commonest doubles are "ee," "oo" and "ff" (in the order given) and the commonest two letter words are "be," "by," "or," "an," "at" and "an" (in the order given), a person should be able to solve almost any cipher message.

Dickens' Humanness.

The best part of Charles Dickens, the great novelist, was the humanness of him, coming out in the tender pathos with which he streaked the funny side of life. Primarily a humorist, he was, like many another humorist, a humanist too. Dickens came out of that lower London life, one-third grotesque, one-third pitiful, one-third heroic, which he pictured in his writings. He had lived the struggles of Oliver Twist, of David Copperfield and of Philip in "Great Expectations." That was the reason why he was able to lay hold of people's hearts when he described those deathless persons.—New York Mail.

Tit For Tat.

Mrs. Jenkins was standing before the mirror arranging her thin hair when her baldheaded husband entered the room.

"Say, Emily," he began, "why don't you do your hair the way you used to?"

"Why don't you?" reported Mrs. Jenkins.—Lippincott's.

Headaches Over the Eyes Means Frontal Catarrh

APT TO GET INTO EARS, CAUSING DEAFNESS, OR TO REACH THE LUNGS AND END IN CONSUMPTION.

You Can Cure Catarrh in Any Stage by Breathing the Healing, Balsamic Fumes of Catarrhozone, and Here is Proof.

Mr. Urie Berault, a young gentleman who has lived for years in Sweetsburg, Que., inherited catarrh from his mother. The disease spread through his system until he was a physical wreck.

"As a child," said Mr. Berault, "I was prone to an ulceration of the mucous lining of the throat and nasal passages.

"I grew pale and emaciated, lost all desire for food, and got into such dreadful condition that my friends said Catarrh was fairly eating me up.

"Every organ of my body seemed affected, and the doctor said it was the first stage of consumption. He advised Catarrhozone and I inhaled it ten minutes at a time every few hours, and was rewarded in a few days by a wonderful improvement.

"Catarrhozone pleased me and the doctor so well that I used it continually, and took Ferrozone Tablets after each meal to build up my strength. In about three weeks I was quite recovered and the doctors says no remedy but Catarrhozone could work such a miracle.

"Everyone in town knows I was just about dead with catarrh and my cure is an evidence of what Catarrhozone can do. It is a pleasure to recommend Catarrhozone."

Two months' treatment, large size, price $1, and guaranteed. Small size, 50c, all reliable dealers or the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Ont. Beware of dangerous substitutes and imitations for "Catarrhozone."

Conductor Injured.

The conductor on the Grand Trunk train which gets into Peterborough at 9 p.m., suffered a painful accident Friday evening as the train was nearing Uxbridge. He happened to lean out between the coaches and a switch board hit him in the face. Luckily for him the train had slowed up or it would have been a more serious accident. As it is his eyes and nose are a little disfigured and he received a severe shaking up.

The funeral of the late Mrs. J. M. Irwin, a former resident of Peterborough, took place yesterday afternoon at two o'clock from St. John's church, where the funeral service was conducted by Rev. Canon Davidson. Interment took place at Little Lake cemetery.

The fourth and fifth forms examinations start tomorrow, when the local students try the matriculation and teachers exams. Mayor Is Invited.

Lindsay Post: A letter was read last night at the Council meeting, from the Central Ontario Water Association, stating that a general meeting for the purpose of perfecting the organization of this Association will be held at 3 p.m. Friday, June 14th in the Bank of Montreal Chambers, Peterborough. Seized Keg of Lager.

The Haliburton correspondent of the Bobcaygeon Independent says: "Our division court constable, Mr. W. J. Austin has been going some lately. Last Saturday he seized at the Express office a keg of lager consigned to a local man. On Tuesday the constable tried to tap the keg, but was prevented from doing so by the express agent. He then tried to carry it off bodily, but was again prevented by the express agent. After the keg had laid in the Express office for a week, the Constable found out that he had no legal authority to seize it at all, and handed it over to the rightful owner who refused to take it out of the express office. A law suit is likely to follow.

House of Providence.

Building operations have commenced on an addition to the House of Providence, which will provide accommodation for 50 or 60 additional occupants. It will be 40 feet by 70 feet, and practically four storeys in height. The addition will be modern in every respect, and has been found necessary owing to the increased number of persons who have been taken into the institution. The accommodation of the House of Providence has thus become overtaxed of late, and Bishop O'Connor has found it necessary to provide greater accommodation to prevent overcrowding. The work is being done by day, Messrs. Rutherford Bros. overseeing it.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Devey, on behalf of the choir, presented Mr. Halpany with a beautiful 24 x 20 picture of St. John's Church, and in responding, Mr. Halpany thanked the choir for the pleasing souvenir and assured all fellow choristers that the picture would always remind them of St. John's. OLD TIME BALL

Another German Scare.

That Germany and Britain are preparing for a struggle for the supremacy of the sea, millions of King George's subjects believe. The visit of the Minister of War to Berlin gives color to the rumor that the situation is serious. Many of the leading newspapers strive to allay and suppress the actual conditions, but the fact that both countries are building war vessels with feverish haste, is proof that war may come at any time.

Operation on Prince.

The Madrid correspondent of the London Times sends this despatch: "The operation performed yesterday on Infante Don Jaime was of a somewhat serious character, but the abscess has now been successfully removed. It had invaded the middle of the ear and threatened the brain. The infante from birth had suffered an affection which had prevented the normal development of his hearing, and, consequently, speaking faculties."

High Prices for Art.

Paris, June 8.—The second day of the sale of the famous Doucet art collection maintained the promise held out by the opening day, the total sum realized being $1,991,400. All the noted collectors were present or represented and particularly high prices led in the statuary divisions. The bust of Sabine Houdon was bought by the Duveens for $99,000, while Baron de Rothschild obtained Coldron's L'Ivresse du Baiser for $46,000.

Twelve Killed in Explosion.

Vienna, Austria, June 8.—Twelve persons were killed and many others injured at the Woellersdorf ammunition factory in Wiener-Neustadt today, when an explosion occurred in shed containing serasite, the Austrian equivalent for melinite. The victims are soldiers and workmen. The shock broke windows through the town and did much damage in the neighboring water places of Baden. Wiener-Neustadt is a manufacturing town of lower Austria, thirteen miles south of Vienna.

Attempted Assassination

Budapest, Hungary, June 8.—Count Tisza, president of the lower house, had a very narrow escape from assassination in the diet this morning. He was fired upon three times by a man named Kovacs, who then shot himself, probably fatally.

Tisza is an opponent of universal suffrage, and on this issue his election was contested with a bitterness that culminated in violence in the chamber and bloodshed in the streets. He succeeded L. Navay, who resigned because of party troubles. Free fights occurred around the voting urn, and finally the whole opposition party left the chamber and Tisza was elected by the government party. That same night the socialist union decided to proclaim a strike of all unionist workmen in Budapest with the exception of municipal workmen. During the next two days there was much rioting and many persons were killed by the soldiers and police. The whole affair took on a revolutionary character and the government was compelled to compromise with the socialists by inducing the manufacturers involved in the strike to make certain concession, thus appeasing the popular feeling.

ATTEMPT TO STEM THE FLOW

American Governors and Other Notables Meet at Seattle, Wash.

Seattle, Wash., June 10.—Alarmed at the trek of hundreds of thousands of American settlers into the Canadian northwest, the governors of all the border states from Minnesota to the coast, together with many notables of the American northwest, met in Seattle for the purpose of perfecting the organization of the Northwest Development congress, to stem the tide of immigration and flow of millions of dollars of American money across the border.

In addition to the gubernational flavor of the gathering by which it is hoped to commit the northwestern states to the purposes of the congress, the movement has back of it such men as James J. Hill, Canadian master of American railways. Mr. Hill is not here in person, but is represented by his son, Louis Hill, until recently, president of the Great Northern Railway and many of the higher officials of the Hill railways.

Railways Interested.

Other northwestern railways, including the Northern Pacific, Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul, and Burlington, all traveling border territory, and from which the drain has been most heavy, have prominent representatives.

The purpose of the meeting is to effect a permanent organization of the congress and to commit the various border states to its financial support. It is proposed to ask the legislature of each state to appropriate $50,000 to the treasury of the congress, and by this means to create an annual income of $350,000, which may be augmented by a large appropriation by the federal government. This fund will be devoted to the exploitations of the northwest, and to be used to teach a lesson in patriotism to the end that half a loaf at home is better than a whole one abroad. It is reported that commissaries of congress may be sent through the Canadian northwest with the idea of reporting upon the lands towards which so many Americans are looking with favor.

Canadian Land Laws Favorable.

Officials of congress frankly admit that the Canadian land laws are much more favorable to the settler than the laws of the republic, and the Congress will probably memorialize the Washington authorities for the shaping of more liberal laws.

The existing laws, under the Pinchott scheme of conservation, however, become so strict as to be almost prohibitive.

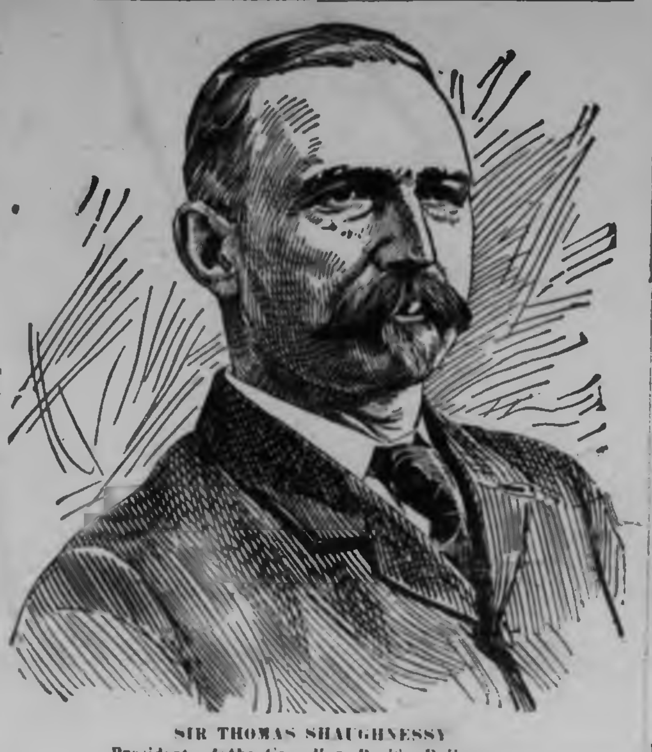
C. P. R.'S GREAT FLEET MAY BE AUXILIARY WAR SHIPS

Head of the Big Canadian Railway Back From Busy Business Trip to England

Planning to Make Company's Ships Auxiliary Vessels to The British Navy in Case Of War.



SIR THOMAS SHAUGHNESSY
President of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Montreal, June 11.—Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, who is back at C. P. R. headquarters after a short and busy visit to England, had a hearty laugh when he was told that rumor had been busy in his absence, and had this time appointed him president of a big banking merger, in which the Bank of Montreal and Royal Bank were concerned.

"Don't you think," he said, "that as President of the Canadian Pacific, I have plenty to occupy my time and energy, without taking up any such position as the president of a bank merger?"

"But, Sir Thomas, in connection with this the old rumor is again revived that you will retire from the C. P. R. presidency—and this is given as the reason for your retiring."

"Oh, that's it, is it?" said the President with a smile. He puffed thoughtfully on his cigar for a while. Then, with a merry twinkle in his eye, he added: "I think it will probably be very many years before I am able to lay down my work as President of the Canadian Pacific."

Sir Thomas was equally emphatic in disposing of the rumors that the directors are considering the splitting up of the C.P.R. shares to cover separately the land, steamship and railway departments.

"We have given no thought whatever to such a thing," he said. "For one thing, it would not be legal; for another, we should not do it. The only place where this has been discussed is in the newspapers. It certainly has not been discussed in our board room. The C.P.R. gives no attention to that sort of financial gymnastics."

Fleet in War Time.

Regarding the proposal that the new steamships which the Company intends building for the Atlantic route shall be armoured ships of 22 or 23 knots, capable of being converted at any time into auxiliary cruisers for the British fleet, Sir Thomas remarked that at present he had nothing to add to what he had told the Montreal Star representative in London.

"I believe," he said, "that Mr. Borden is going to England at the end of the present month, when no doubt the whole subject will be further discussed with the British Government."

Sir Thomas seemed pleased with the fact that the Government had so promptly followed up the agreement with the West Indies by calling for tenders for an improved steamship service, but he remarked that until he had gone into conditions of the tenders and other particulars with the officers of the Company he could not say whether or not the C.P.R. would tender for the service. Some time ago there was a proposal that the C.P.R. should put the white liners, now on the run to the Orient on the West Indian service, but Sir Thomas said to-day that it was a question whether these ships could be adapted for the West Indian trade.

He looked on the trade possibilities with the West Indies as most important, he remarked, and he admired that the Company took a great interest in these possibilities.

The West Indian Service.

"But while the C.P.R. is always willing to do everything it can" he said, "to influence Canada's trade influence, it does not necessarily follow in every case that we have selfish motives. Sometimes the Company is quite willing that others should participate in this trade."

Asked whether if the C.P.R. did tender for the West Indian steamship service, it would be the intention not only of fostering the interchange of business, but also of establishing hotels in the West Indies, in order to get a large tourist trade to them in the winter, Sir Thomas said this was a matter that has not yet been decided, but one which he would have to go into in consultation with the officers of the company, in considering the whole project.

The President found the money market in England still very favorably inclined toward Canadian issues.

"The British people have always large sums to invest" he said "and they seem to have a very kindly feeling toward Canada at the present time. The market has been rather overfilled during the last year by municipal issues, and it will probably take some time to work them off, but in general, Canadian issues are in a very healthy condition—that is, sound Canadian issues. There is a feeling that some of the securities which have been offered ought never to have been taken to the London market, but issues of this kind, floated in London are, after all, very few."

SHOULD BE INVITED.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I see that the Mayor of Calgary has wired the British business men who are to arrive at Quebec this week, extending a cordial invitation to them to visit Calgary. Why should Peterborough not do likewise? It would be a splendid stroke of business to have them come to Peterborough and look over our territory and see for themselves the advantages we possess in the way of power and shipping facilities for manufacturing industries. These men are coming to Canada with a view to starting industries, and surely this should be sufficient. Please wake the Mayor and Council up.

Progress.

Reply—The Mayor has already sent an invitation, and is doing everything in his power to have the party visit Peterborough.—Ed. Times.

A GREAT WORK.

The Honourable Clifford Sifton and Professor Fernow, the forestry expert, have consented to address The Central Ontario Conservation Association, and the public, on Friday evening next, in the Collegiate Institute Hall here. These gentlemen have responded to an earnest request made by those who realize how tremendously important the properly handling of the natural resources of the Trent district is to the future of that district. Our timber is gone. Our wood is gone. A great deal of our soil, especially in the formerly wooded district, has disappeared. Large areas have practically gone back to the condition of a desert waste, and people are leaving and going to the West, taking their money with them. We have already begun to feel the loss. If we are to put ourselves upon our feet again, and regain what we have lost and more too it must be done as all agree, by intelligent and prompt action. No more favorable opportunity can arise than that of next Friday evening when these two gentlemen, who have been entrusted by the Federal Government with full charge of the great work of conservation and reclamation throughout Canada, with millions and millions of money at their disposal, will address the people at the people's own request on the condition of the Trent district. It remains for those present to impress upon the speakers the strong desire of the people of this district to have the work taken up. Naturally those who have the benefit of the Trent district at heart, are alive to the very serious necessity of paying intelligent attention to their future. It certainly cannot be expected that other districts will neglect such opportunities. Western Ontario has already beaten us in this respect. Let us see to it that we do not beat ourselves. The public is invited to attend the meeting, and it is to be hoped that there will be a bumper house to show the speakers that we are in earnest.

A THOUSAND REPORTERS AT WORK ON THE CONVENTION

Five Hundred Newspaper Men Doing Actual Reporting--As Many More Getting Local Color---A. P. Has Twenty-Two on Job---Politicans Need Bertillion System of Identification.

Chicago, Ill., June 11.—The Taft steam roller flattens out Roosevelt delegates and adds to its guilty stains with a deadly monotony, but the crowd in the Congress Hotel lobby is amusing and various. It is a lively crowd to watch—as lively as tinder that awaits the spark.

Of course there are politicians in other Chicago hotels and other Presidential booms have come to town and are biding their time, but the Congress Hotel lobby is the storm centre. The Taft and Roosevelt headquarters are there, and the opposing forces snarl at each other and cut each others' throats in the most interesting way.

1,000 Reporters There.

Before the ten o'clock breakfast the crowd averages seventy-five per cent. newspaper reporters. After that time the politicians are in the majority. Why so many newspaper men? Oh, no reason at all except that a national crisis always gains something from being well reported. The Chicago newspapers seem to have shifted their staffs bodily to the Congress Hotel. All the big American newspapers have sent representatives. The Associated Press will have twenty-two men on the Convention job. There will be five hundred newspaper men talking the big story down and perhaps five hundred more catching sidelights, getting local color, and chopping straw.

NEW WEST CITY SCHOOL TO BE ERECTED ON COX PROPERTY

A Trifle Over Four Acres In The Lot---Purchase Price $9,000---Increase in Salary Schedule of Science Department.

The Board of Education met last night in special session to receive the report of the Building Committee re a site for the new West City school. There were present Chairman John Crane, Messrs. Fair, Adams, Col. Miller, Ackerman, Eastwood, Hill, Dr. Morrison and Dr. Burnham.

The Board accepted the offer from the Toronto Savings and Loan Co., amended to provide a trifle over four acres of land west of the Monaghan Road and immediately north of Weller street at selling price of $9,000. This is known as the Cox property. The proposition means a trifle increase in acreage above the first offer, with a reduction in price of $500.

Withdrew His Offer.

To the Members of the School Board,
Peterborough, Ont.,—

"Gentlemen I notice by this evening's papers that you intend to further consider the site for a ward school in the west end of the city. In explanation and so far as I am concerned, let me say, that at the repeated urgent request of certain members of your Board, I consented to place a price on certain property chosen by the members above referred to. I am not, nor was I anxious to dispose of the property for the purpose mentioned. I did not, nor do I intend to beat or enter into competition with other property. In order to minimize the difficulties of the Board in this respect I beg to advise, that I do not intend to further consider any negotiations for the purchase of the property at the present time.

"Yours truly.

"G. W. HATTON."

Report Re Site.

Dr. Morrison submitted the Building Committee's report as follows:

Gentlemen,—Regarding the matter of obtaining a suitable site for the new school to be erected in the West Ward, your Committee secured options on several properties and after careful consideration, having in mind suitable play-grounds for the children, the convenience for sewer and water connection as well as the matter of sidewalks, your Committee recommend that the Board purchase from the Toronto Savings and Loan Company for the sum of Nine Thousand Dollars ($9,000.00) Lots Nos. 4, 3, 2 and 1 North of Hopkins avenue, Lots 29, 30, 31, 32, 34, and 35, west of Albertus avenue, all of Wallis avenue extending from Albertus avenue East to the Monaghan Road, and the southerly 41 feet each of lots 6, 5, 4, 3, and 2 north of Wallis avenue, containing approximately 426 feet 6 inches on the Monaghan Road by 400 feet deep, according to Plan No. 29, Township of Monaghan. The said lands and premises to be purchased when and as soon as the same have been annexed to the City of Peterborough.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Dr. Morrison here explained that while the committee was anxious to adhere to its policy of six acres of land for a twelve room school, still they felt that in view of land values in West City, the Board would not be justified in going to any further expense than what is asked for the four acres accepted $9,000. More land might have been secured by accepting the Hatton proposition, but considerable expense would have had to be bourne in obtaining sewer levels and constructing additional sidewalks than will be needed in connection with the Toronto Savings and Loan Company's property.

Mr. Hill offered that six acres could be had for $11,000 or $12,000.

Mr. Eastwood—"Then buy it the Board has advanced that six acres are necessary for a twelve room school, and I hate to see us stultify ourselves in the eyes of the public by building this school on four acres of land."

The Board, however, as a whole could not see their way clear to expending more than $9,000 at the present time on a site.

Mr. Hill offered that another two acres might be added at a future date.

Dr. Morrison moved the adoption of his report, seconded by Mr. B. Ackerman.

Mr. Eastwood moved an amendment that six acres of this property be purchased at the same rate, but got no seconder.

Dr. Morrison replied that could not be done, a house stands in the way, and consequently the six acres of this particular property would cost $13,000.

The report was here adopted as read.

Resolution Authorizing Purchase.

Moved by B. F. Ackerman, seconded by Col. J. W. Miller,—"That the Board of Education purchase from the Toronto Savings and Loan Company for the sum of Nine Thousand Dollars ($9,000.00) Lots Nos. 4, 3, 2, and 1, North of Hopkins avenue, Lots 29, 30, 31, 32, 34 and 35 West of Albertus avenue, all of Wallis avenue extending from Albertus avenue East to the Monaghan Road, and the Southerly 41 feet each of Lots 6, 5, 4, 3, and 2 North of Wallis avenue containing approximately 426 feet 6 inches on the Monaghan Road by 400 feet deep, according to Plan No. 29, Township of Monaghan, to be paid when and as soon as the said lands and premises have been annexed to the City of Peterborough, and that the Treasurer be authorized to issue cheque for the amount when Certificate of Title is furnished by the Board's Solicitor."

Moved by W. H. Hill, seconded by T. H. Adams, That the Collegiate Institute Salary Schedule affecting the Science Department, be amended as follows, and take effect 1st September next:—

Minimum $1,600.00; Maximum—$1,900.00; Yearly Increase $60.00. Carried.

NECK AND BACK BROKEN, WOMAN HAS BEEN CURED

Injured in Triangle Fire Disaster, She Was Unconscious for Fourteen Weeks—Is Now Discharged From Hospital.

New York, June 11.—Esther Harris an eighteen year old girl, who was placed on a heap of lifeless in the Triangle fire disaster, but who was taken to a hospital instead of to the morgue when a faint sign of life was detected, and who suffered total paralysis for months afterward, can walk again. The girl slid down the elevator cable when the shirt waist panic raged, but was knocked from her hold by a man who jumped down the shaft, and she too, was hurled to the basement, breaking her neck and back. On top of her fell twenty other girls, many of whom were killed.

After she had lain in the hospital unconscious for fourteen weeks with her life despaired of, she regained her senses, and the surgeons experimented by attaching weights to her head and legs to pull the fractured vertebrae back into place. The operation was successful, and it was learned to-day that the young woman had been discharged as cured.

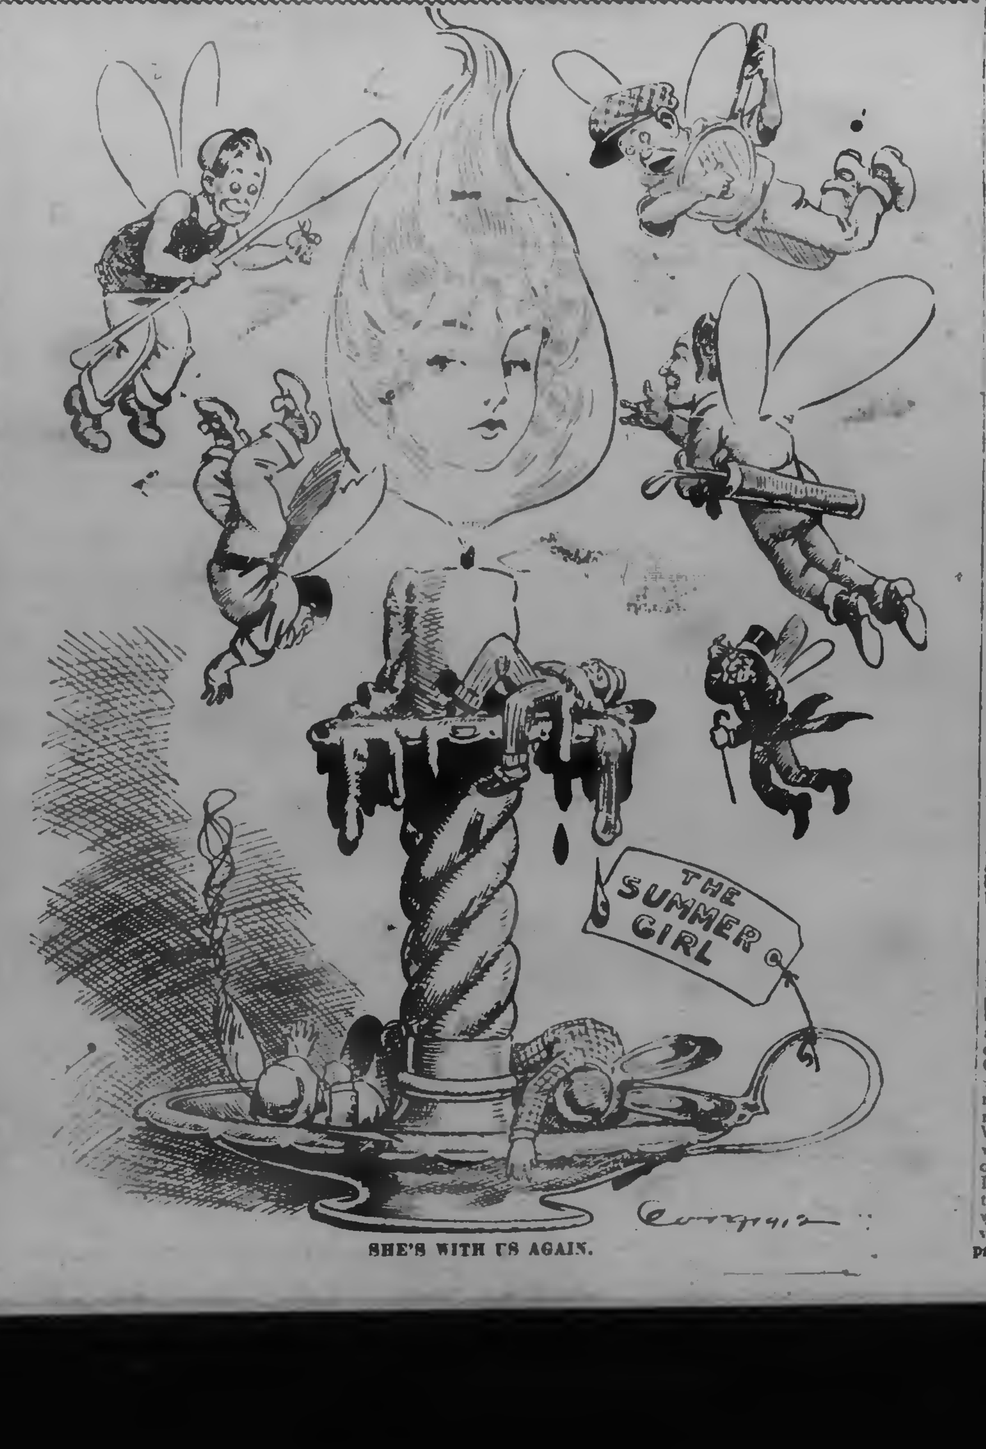
TRANSFER OF WESTERN LANDS AWAITS PROVINCIAL ELECTION

Hon. Dr. Roche Intimates That Premier Scott's Sudden Conversion Will Not Avail.

Regina, Sask., June 11.—At the Conservative banquet last night, Hon. Mr. Rogers speaking of reciprocity said:—"He congratulated the people of Canada on its defeat. It had been repudiated by President Taft and the United States Senate, but interested politicians were seeking to mislead the people that it was still an issue. The question was dead and any agitation for it in this Province was for political purposes.

Before closing he spoke of the navy policy of the Government. The Rt. Hon. Mr. Borden and Hon. Mr. Hazen were going to England and he would confer with the admiralty and he would assure the people that a naval policy would be inaugurated of a permanent character and which would be a credit to Canada and strengthen the naval defence of the Empire.

Dr. Roche, Secretary of State, followed Mr. Rogers, and spoke chiefly on the question of Provincial control of the natural resources. He recited the position of Premier Scott on this question laying particular stress on the Premier's stand in favor of Federal control when the Liberals were in Power at Ottawa, and Provincial control when the Conservatives had assumed power. Premier Scott and his colleagues had been elected in support of Federal control and it could not be expected that Mr. Borden would force the natural resources on an unwilling government. His speech indicated that the Federal Government did not propose according to Premier Scott's request and that it would await the action of the electors on this important matter.



SHE'S WITH US AGAIN.

FATHER CHINIQUY'S DAUGHTER SUES ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH

French Paper in Montreal Declared Her Mother Was Not Legally Married to the Ex-Priest.

Montreal, June 11.—The Chiniquy case called forth a number of strong statements from Judge Greenshields this morning on the right of publishers of church papers to drag through the mire the name of deceased persons who had violated dogmas of religious organizations.

This is an action brought by Madame Rebecca Morin against the publishers of La Croix, a French paper issued in Montreal, which announced that as her father, the famous ex-priest, Father Chiniquy, had taken vows of perpetual chastity, he could never be legally married and that therefore the woman he went through the ceremony of matrimony with after he renounced the Catholic Church was in reality only his concubine. Madame Morin claimed such a statement was distinctly libellous as it branded her as illegitimate. She asked the court for $10,000 damages.

The plaintiff is the wife of Prof. Morin of McGill University.

The case was opened up before Judge Greenshields without a jury yesterday afternoon.

The lawyer for La Croix argued that as Chiniquy had made himself a public character by his crusade against the Catholic Church after he had left it, his actions could therefore be criticised.

Must Respect Private Rights.

Judge Greenshields then said:—"That may be so, but what possible interest could a paper have in dragging the name of his wife, who has been dead thirteen years, into the argument. If it had desired to counteract the effect of Chiniquy's anti-Catholic books it could have done so without doing that. Calling the woman he lived with a concubine did not do the Catholic Church any good. Why you might as well blame the wife of a novelist who had written objectionable books for these works. I concede the right of a church paper to advocate its doctrines, but always with due respect to the rights of private persons. I deny the right of a paper to single out one person, who, in its opinion, has violated a dogma and stigmatize her as a prostitute and her children as illegitimate. I deny that right. This woman married and lived with her husband in good faith, whose business is it now to drag her name through the mud? She was an ideal wife and a mother and not even the Church of Rome should be permitted to call her a concubine because her husband had violated one of her laws."

Apologies to the Child.

Evidence submitted this morning by Joseph Begin showed that the article had been published without its writer being aware that there was a child of Father Chiniquy's living. He said apologies were tendered her in the paper when the discovery was made.

Witness contended, however, that according to the Province of Quebec laws, Chiniquy could not marry and therefore his wife would have been a concubine.

Married in Illinois.

The lawyer of Madame Morin said, in addressing the Judge, that the writer of the article was under the impression that Chiniquy was married in Quebec, whereas his marriage took place in Illinois, where the law about priests being unable to marry even if they renounced the church, did not obtain.

WARM FOR CARNEGIE.

Students Are Noisy When He Speaks As Rector of University.

London, June 11.—Rowdy scenes marked the delivery of Andrew Carnegie's rhetorical address as lord rector of Aberdeen University at Aberdeen, Scotland, to-day.

The students, the number of whom was large, hurled chairs and rugs about the hall and kept up an incessant din of [illegible] and whistling, but finally permitted the iron master to proceed. After he had begun the rowdyism was resumed, but the proceedings closed with rousing cheers for Mr. and Mrs. Carnegie.

Mr. Carnegie advised the students to "remain teetotallers until you have become millionaires."

PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 85c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are socalled Sarsaparillas offered to us at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 85c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 386 George St. directly opposite Creeman's store.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the State's area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundred of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 66 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company, Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. Law, Ontario, Manager, 40 Cecil street, Toronto. D-6 in J4

This Interesting Letter is Addressed to YOU

SIR:—

It is a favorite form of mental culture with many people to trace results back to causes. Have you ever applied it to the gowth of a city?

Travel was the original cause of our modern Canadian and American cities. Travel by the early pioneers of civilized nations, often at the cost of their lives.

Years ago, one of these pioneers of the western plains crossed a river at a time when the North-West Territories formed the grazing grounds for buffalo and antelope. While making the crossing his primitive wagon broke down. He made his repairs with rope and the jaw of a moose found by the side of the trail. His Indian companions called the spot "The place where the white chief mended his cart with the jaw of a moose."

A frail cause seemingly, for great results. But the prosperous city of Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, stands as the result of the pioneers accident. Not all at once, but through various stages, each more important than the last. The traveller talked—probably of the good water and the grazing land. These all important factors to the settler became known. Others began to investigate, a settlement formed, and Moose Jaw came into existence.

In the year 1902 a great rush of settlers to the west took place. This movement has been called the "American Invasion," but it included thousands from the Eastern Provinces of Canada. News of the Great West had spread, the Soo Branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway from Portal on the Southern Canadian Boundary line had been completed, and the great wheat belt of Canada began its period of prosperity.

The city of Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, in the heart of this area, was the point chosen as most suitable for this great artery to meet the trans-continental main line. Over this route thousands of cars of effects owned by settlers from the United States are carried yearly.

Suddenly other railway corporations discovered that the Canadian Pacific Railway had the monopoly of the business of Moose Jaw, and the wealthy territory behind it. They saw the Canadian Pacific Railway make Moose Jaw its chief divisional point in Saskatchewan with the greatest yards west of Winnipeg, costing with other improvements, over $1,000,000.

Competition for the great volume of business was aroused, until to-day there are eleven lines either completed, under construction, or chartered.

The soil has attracted the settler—great freight, cattle, and grain shipments have attracted the railway companies, and as a final result Moose Jaw has in a few years become a city with possibilities unsurpassed in the West.

While this result has been accomplished, you can judge the effect on Real Estate values. But the increase in values in this city will be greater in the future than in the past.

Had that pioneer settled at the river crossing, and owned the townsite of Moose Jaw he could have been a millionaire to-day—but he missed an opportunity. You have your pressing opportunity in our unique residential sub-division, Boulevard Heights. Do not miss it. Big sales are reported daily, prices are going up, and you can have a share in this profit taking. A payment of $10.00 forwarded to-day will secure you an interest in a sound investment, to which there is no interest.

In offering these shares for investment, we feel that we are inviting the public to purchase stock in an industry in which the profits are very large, and the demand for the product is ever increasing.

It is a well known fact that the shares of our Canadian Tanneries are very closely held, and the public seldom have an opportunity of procuring any.

On March 11th, 1912, the Burgesses of the Town of Aurora voted in favor of granting The Collis Leather Company, Limited, a cash bonus of Ten Thousand Dollars, the Company's property is exempt from Taxation for Ten Years (except school tax) and it has also been granted water from the Town free for all time.

The factory is now under construction, to be completed on or before the 1st Day of July, 1912, and will be 150 feet long by 50 feet wide, and four storys high.

The Company's specialty will be the manufacture of calf leather.

The soldanellas of the high Alpine meadows of Switzerland bore their way up through the coating of ice and snow by means of heat generated by the growing stem. Quite commonly, if the layer of snow is very thick, the flower will open without even reaching the surface at all. The blossom is in no way affected by its strange surroundings. The space round the stem is, of course, thawed by the growing stem, which gives out heat.

TURKEY'S DIFFICULTIES.

Turkey is confronted by a new danger. The Albanians, always restless, have taken up arms in another struggle for independence, while in Macedonia, which has long sought a larger degree of autonomy, revolutionary portents are heard. The Macedonian committee in London has issued a manifesto citing the crimes and outrages which have gone unpunished, and proposing a plan of European intervention. Italy is already considering the dispatch of a body of troops across the Adriatic to support the anti-Turkish movement in Albania.

Here is a greater menace to Turkey than is involved in the Italian operations in Tripoli or the Aegean. The Macedonian situation is occupying the time of 100,000 Turks whom the Government keeps there to preserve order. A similarly large number will have to be dispatched to Albania to restore order there, and the Turkish budget will stagger under the military expenditure which this will involve.

Turkey has misgoverned and exploited Macedonia and Albania. If it has not been on direct orders from Constantinople it has been due to the corruption of the officials sent out by the Sultan and his advisers. If these provinces ever experienced the beneficent effects of a half-way decent administration they would never consent to return to Turkish misrule. The authorities at Constantinople are aware of this and hence will make every effort to crush the revolution before the powers take a hand.

Turkey will have to make haste. England and Russia are only waiting for a good excuse to intervene, and such a manifesto as has been issued by the Macedonian committee in London may be said to provide it. Enough horrible crimes have been cited to give color to an intervention "in the name of humanity."

On several occasions in the past Europe very nearly acted on this conclusion. The situation is ripe for another consultation among the diplomatic doctors as to the proper remedy for the Sick Man of Europe, now more desperately ill than ever.

IMPERIAL NAVAL DEFENCE.

New Zealand has placed her new battleship at the disposal of the British Admiralty, to be employed where the services of this Dreadnought would be most useful. His Majesty's government has gratefully accepted the offer and the cruiser will be stationed in home waters where Great Britain has been gathering her full naval strength for some months, as an answer to the naval challenge of Germany, expressed in the terms of three Dreadnoughts added to her last programme of Dreadnought building. Germany thus plans to have sixty one of these formidable fighting ships in her line of battle.

The London correspondent of the Montreal Star recently reported that New Zealand's patriotic action was being most warmly applauded in England, as an evidence that the Empire family means to meet the German naval challenge with a united front.

For South Africa, Sir R. Solomon, high commissioner for the new dominion, has also assured the people of Great Britain that his country would shortly take upon itself its share in the burden of maintaining an imperial navy for the defence of the Empire as a whole.

Premier Fisher of Australia speaking on Empire Day in regard to the naval policy of that dominion declared that the Commonwealth's policy would be to defend their country by land and sea and the aim would be to relieve British ships and crews for service in their home waters. He deemed that it would be unpracticable and unstatesmanlike to split a fleet unit. Yet in all other respects Australia was ready to do her share, and make all personal sacrifices necessary.

Canada is moving slowly to a realization of her responsibility to share in Empire defence. Premier Borden and Minister of Marine Hazen are to confer with the Admiralty regarding the most effective means of contributing to the safety of the Empire at sea.

What Canada's part will be is foreshadowed in a speech made by Hon. W. T. White, finance minister, before the National Club of Toronto. Dealing with the future position of Canada in the Empire, which in his view would not be as a half-way house, but as the binding force holding together the portions of the Empire to the eastward and in Asia. Mr. Borden's lieutenant closed with these words: "At present the world is at peace. Let us hope it will remain so. In order to maintain peace it is necessary to be strong, and that is the reason the five nations are getting together, not for aggression but for defence. That the parliament and the people of Canada, will be prepared to do their full share in the matter of Imperial defence, I entertain no manner of doubt." This was not more significant than the great satisfaction expressed by Mr. N. W. Rowell, leader of the Liberal Opposition in Ontario, over Mr. White's announcement on this occasion who remarked that "one flag and one king were the very centre of the Empire's organization—autonomy of the dominions and co-operation in other concerns of the Empire was the way of progress."

Editorial Notes

About 10,000 Filipinos attended a baseball game at Manila recently and started a first-class riot. This shows that they are becoming Americanized and mobbing the umpire will soon supercede cock fighting as the national sport.

The lynching fever has spread north to Connecticut, and the people of that state are at present engaged in the business of negro baiting. It is about time that the nation that claims to lead the world in peace movements should attend to this national game, and try to stamp it out.

Couldn't Get Strong

SEEMED TO HAVE LOST ALL AMBITION, WAS PALE AND ANAEMIC.

Made Wonderful Recovery when Dr. Hamilton's Pills Were Used.

"I was never actually sick," writes Mrs. La Pierre, wife of a well-known resident of Labeniene, "yet I never could get strong like other women. I ate well enough, but somehow blood rich and red I could never make. When I married I took a great pride in my housekeeping, but it kept me tired all the time. Mrs. Lachance my neighbor, looked well she told me her health had been made by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I only thought of pills as a physic, but now I know that Dr. Hamilton's Pills are more, for they quickened my stomach, liver and bowels—made me stouter and stronger, gave me such color in my cheeks as I never had before. They do good to parts in ways I need not mention in this letter, but I sincerely believe Dr. Hamilton's Pills should be used at regular intervals by every woman—that's why I write this letter."

COMEZY'S DOOM FOR NEGROES

President Comez Of Cuba Will Give No Quarter To Black Rebels.

Havana, June 11.—With President Gomez formally suspended constitutional guarantees in Oriente province to-day, Congress voted an appropriation of $1,000,000 to carry on a war of extermination against the negro revolutionists.

An unverified report was received here to the effect that Gen. Esteno, leader of the rebellion, had been killed. The Government is investigating to determine whether the report is correct.

Capt. Idlesias took the field in Oriente to-day with a picked force of 250 sharp-shooters, who are advancing against the rebels with instructions to shoot them down.

"Take no prisoners," was the order given Capt. Idlesias.

The reports from Oriente of the brutal attack on a former high Cuban official and his family, his son being murdered before his eyes, has so inflamed public anger that the most extreme measures are demanded. It is announced that from this time forward the rebels will be given no quarter.

The government plans to depend on the American marines to protect foreign property along the southern coast, while the whole force of the Government troops will be urged forward in the campaign of extermination.

FIENDISH ATTEMPT TO KILL FELLOW WORKER

Foundryman Pours Molten Metal Over Body of Man He Hates—A Dastardly Crime.

Michigan City, Ind., June 11.—For many weeks Joseph Hyran harbored a grudge against Nephan Sam, a fellow workman in a foundry, and then evened up his score. Sam may die.

Hyran's work in the foundry was to pour molten metal into moulds for car wheels. As he stirred the red hot metal in a huge cauldron he determined to cook Sam with the fluid. He waited patiently until Sam's duties caused him to come near the kettle and stoop over to pick up some car fixtures. Then Hyran filled his dipper full of molten metal and emptied it on Sam's back.

The metal spread over his entire body, and Sam fell to the floor unconscious. Water was dashed over him, but this only intensified his suffering as the hot water scalded him. Hyran was arrested.

A MASTER OF DETAIL.

Paintings to Suit Abbey Had to Be Historically Correct.

One of the strongest characteristics of Abbey was his terror of anachronism. No detail of a great canvas was small enough to escape his infinite precaution in this regard, no research too exhausting that yielded the correct answer to some archaic matter of dress or armor. Because of this scrupulous care his studio at Morgan hall, itself an ancient building, more than 300 years old, became a veritable museum of heraldic shields, coifs and casques. Whenever he wished to paint a certain detail of complicated armor he purchased or borrowed a whole suit as a model. Once, so the story is told, when Abbey had completed a large painting depicting an ancient court scene he discovered that the quarterings in the heraldic shield woven in a woman's skirt were incorrect. He painted out the skirt and corrected his error.

His masterpiece in oils, the "Quest of the Holy Grail," which he did for the Boston library, has been pronounced perfect in every detail of architecture, of dress and heraldry. His "Coronation of Edward VII." has been praised by antiquarians because of its perfection and accuracy of detail. It was this painting which won Abbey his greatest fame in England.

Though Abbey spent nearly all of his working years in England and on the continent, he did not consider himself an expatriate, and he was always keenly American in his sentiments. Baseball was with him a consuming passion. When he discovered that there was none to play his favorite game in England he took up cricket as the next best thing, and cricket was his favorite pastime.—New York Sun.

MOUNTAINEERS RISE AGAINST THE REBELS

Insurgents Driven From Town—Nearly Two Thousand Foreigners Leave Chihuahua.

Navojoa, Mex., June 11.—The people of the border of Western Chihuahua and Eastern Sonora have risen against Orozco. The people of Morris have taken Ocampo from the rebels, killing five and obtaining considerable arms and amunition. The federals were headed by Jose E. Hinojosa.

The prefect at Morris wired here that the whole countryside is against Orozco and that troops have started from Chimpas and Guazupares to [illegible] Batopilas. Orozco formerly lived in this mountain district.

Exodus Continues.

Chihuahua, June 11.—Only 106 foreigners out of a normal foreign population of at least 2,000 are residing in Chihuahua. Of the 1,000 Americans who ordinarily live here only thirty-five men and ten women remain. An official census shows that fears of an attack by the advancing federals practically has depopulated the town.

Thirty thousand persons inhabit Chihuahua in time of peace, but less than 20,000 are here, and the exodus daily is growing. Besides the Americans there are 26 British subjects and 13 Germans.

MOTHER AND TWO SONS ARE DROWNED

Woman Loses Life in Heroic Attempt To Save Her Boys—Little Girl Watches Death Struggles, Powerless to Help.

Lewiston, Idaho, June 11.—In a heroic but unsuccessful effort to save her two sons from drowning, Mrs. May Tupper lost her life in a pond at her ranch home, several miles from Leland. The triple tragedy was witnessed by her daughter Ethel, eight years old, who, overcome with grief, had difficulty in telling the story of her bereavement.

Having just returned from school at Hendrick and wanting to take advantage of the first warm day of summer, the two boys took to the pond used for watering the stock. Otta, 15 years old, rather hesitated to go into the water, and was preceded by his younger brother, James, 12 years old.

The younger Tupper boy was seized by a cramp only a few feet from the bank and went down.

Without calling for help the older boy stripped and plunged to the assistance of James, who was floundering in 12 feet of water. The water was too cold for the older Tupper boy who, partially overcome by fright, was also seized by a cramp, and went down before reaching his younger brother.

Before James went down for the last time the cries for help reached the mother's ears, some 400 yards from the pond. In her desperate anxiety to help her boys Mrs. Tupper ran to the well, tore from it the rope used in drawing water and rushed to the pool and tried to cast a line to her drowning sons. It was too short, and she plunged headlong into the water. She could not swim a stroke and went down helpless without being able to reach either of her sons.

The little girl of eight, overcome by grief and excitement, sat down on the bank and wept bitterly. Unable to be of any help she waited, thinking some one of the three might come to the surface. She then decided to run to the home of her uncle, Byron Tupper, whose ranch adjoins, and an hour elapsed before the two reached the scene of the tragedy. He could not swim, and it was necessary to improvise a raft and make grab hooks to recover the bodies.

Mr. Tupper had previously warned the boys about the pond. Mrs. Tupper was a widow. Her husband died about a year ago, leaving four children. An older son is now attending Pacific University, at Forest Grove, Ore.

IRELAND NOW IS PROSPEROUS

Leading English Farmers Visit The Emerald Isle And Are Surprised At Prosperity There

Dublin, June 10.—The members of the South of England Rural League concluded their fortnight's tour of the agricultural districts of Ireland by a visit to the homestead of Mr. John Bird, at Ballydulea, Queenstown. The object of the deputation, which consists of about 20 farmers, from Cornwall, Devonshire, Somerset and Cheshire—numbering among them Liberals and Nonconformists — was to inquire into the operations of the Irish Land Purchase Acts. After an inspection of Mr. Bird's farm a number of questions by members of the deputation in relation to the land question and the operations of the local government act were answered by Mr. Bird.

Mr. Rowe, of Helston, Cornwall, in proposing a vote of thanks to Mr. and mrs. Bird for their hospitality and the information they had imparted, said they had been fairly astounded at the things they had seen during their tour. They were struck by the very prosperous appearance of the farmers. They in England were led to understand that Ireland was a very oppressed and derelict place and they were astonished to see the fine houses and the look of prosperity everywhere. The Irish asked for a bit and did not stop to say "Thank you!" but asked for more. They in England were a bit too easy going. They saw millions going across the water without asking for a bit themselves.

Mr. Kingswell, a County Councillor of Devon, said they were very much puzzled at the Irish people. They had evidence of their kindness of heart, and yet what they had heard of boycotting was most disgraceful and cruel. They wished as English farmers that they had the same advantages as those in Ireland.

Mr Bird said the Land acts were the salvation of the country. They made this difference on two adjoining farms—one paid $10 an acre and the other $2.00, and if a farmer wished to discontinue farming he could put his land up to auction and it fetched a higher price than the landlord's simple fee. Mr. T. W. Russell, with a sneer, in the House of Commons told an infamous lie when he said that their opposition to Home Rule and separation from England was dwindling.

Mr. Green, having born testimony to the good results of the Land acts, said they were now going to demand similar legislation. During their tour they heard very little demand for Home Rule among the agricultural population.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS NOW IN FULL SWING

His Honour Judge Huyrke Addresses the Grand Jury—A Number of Civil Cases on the Docket—Settled Out of Court.

The Court of General Sessions commenced yesterday afternoon in the High Court, with His Honor Judge Huycke presiding.

His Honor addressed the Grand Jury in part as follows:

Gentlemen of the Grand Jury, I am glad to meet you on this occasion and have much pleasure in informing you that there are no prisoners in the gaol awaiting trial, or out on bail. I understand that this is an unusual occurrence for the Sounty of Peterborough, and the same might apply to other counties. It is a matter of congratulation to be able to note the apparent absence of crime in the county, as there are a number of offences committed which are not brought before this court. From the calendar submitted by the Sheriff, there are a number of persons confined in the gaol on minor charges, but I am glad to note that the number is not large.

I am pleased to be able to say that Peterborough has seen fit to provide elegant accommodation for the proper care of those who are unfortunate enough to be old, poor and infirm. It has been the custom for Peterborough County and other counties to commit this class of people to the common gaol, where they were herded with criminals.

The Grand Jury is an ancient and honorable institution, representing, as it does, the King, the Country, the people of the County. Your duty is to take a cognizance of anything that is important in the administration of justice. You will have to inspect the institutions of the county and report as to the conditions found therein.

On the docket is the case of Collier-Brown, in which the plaintiff H. B. Collier claims from defendant, Andrew Brown, $400 for return of $150 commission paid by plaintiff, in respect of a certain real estate deal.

Mr. S. T. Medd is acting for the plaintiff and Mr. F. D. Kerr for the defendant.

A California Doctor With 40 Years' Experience.

"In my 40 years' experience as a teacher and practitioner along hygienic lines," says a Los Angeles physician, "I have never found a food to compare with Grape Nuts for the benefit of the general health of all classes of people.

"I have recommended Grape-Nuts and Postum in place of coffee, when giving my patients instructions as to diet, for I know both Grape-Nuts and Postum can be digested by anyone.

"As for myself, when engaged in much mental work my diet twice a day consists of Grape-Nuts and rich cream. I find it just the thing to build up gray matter and keep the brain in good working order.

"In addition to its wonderful effects as a brain and nerve food Grape Nuts always keeps the digestive organs in perfect, healthy tone. I carry it with me when I travel, otherwise I am almost certain to have trouble with my stomach." Name given by mail by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.

Strong endorsements like the above from physicians all over the country have stamped Grape-Nuts the most scientific food in the world. "There's a reason."

TURKEY AS A PLACE TO LIVE

Interesting Letter From a Former Peterborough Man

LABOUR HARD TO GET

The Times is in receipt of the following letter from Mr. Geo. E. Burton, a former resident of Peterborough, who is at present residing in Constantinople. Mr. Burton will probably be remembered by many of the older citizens, having for lears lived in this neighborhood. He is engaged as teacher in one of the English speaking schools in the Turkish capital. Mr. Burton writes regarding the industrial outlook in the Ottoman empire:

"Industries in Turkey are mostly quite primitive. There is a tendency to start factories on a small scale, but the supply of labor seems likely to prove a difficulty. A glass factory on the Golden Horn, belonging to the Civil List department, has been leased and is now being worked under British management. It employs 250 hands and turns out about $10,000 worth of glass bottles, etc., per month. There is one other glass factory working in Constantinople at Pasha Baktche, on the Bosphorus; it employs 350 hands and produces about $15,000 worth of glass monthly. An Ottoman company has been formed, under British management, with a capital of $90,000, to manufacture soap; the works are on the Golden Horn, and produce about fifty tons of soap per month. A brick and tile factory has started work at Pasha Baktche, on the Bosphorus, on a small scale, and is to be considerably extended. A company has been formed for starting a floating dock at Stenia, on the Bosphorus. Two cement factories have been established with local capital at Guebzeh, on the Gulf of Ismidt, and the cement is on the market at the price of 12 piasters per sack of 50 kilos (about 48 cents per 100 pounds.

"The Turkish government cloth mills at Kara Mursal and Ismidt have been equipped with new machinery, and manufacture the khaki woollen cloth required by the army. At Panderma there is a woollen yarn spinning mill, which produces 2,750,000 pounds annually and employs 140 hands. At Smyrna a weaving mill has been opened with a capacity of 500,000 metres (about 546,000 yards) which will be increased this year to 1,200,000 metres (about 1,312,000 yards). It will employ 300 to 400 hands. Industrial companies in Turkey are allowed to import their machinery free of duty, and are given an undefined preference for Government contracts. An industrial law was before the chamber to allow free importation of raw material and other advantages, but was not passed during the last session (ended January, 1912.)

"Preliminary contracts have been made with the National Bank of Turkey for the irrigation of some 400,000 hectares (hectare equals 2.47 acres), of land in the Meander Valley, province of Smyrna. Preliminary surveys have been carried out for the bank by a British firm, and a definite agreement with the government is under discussion. Preliminary contracts have been made with the Anatolian railway for the irrigation of 500,000 to 600,000 hectares in the Adana Plain, and with a British firm in Mesopotamia connected with the new Hindieh barrage and the Habbanea escape. The "Regie Generale des Chemins de Fer" are surveying the rivers Drin, Boyana, and Kiri, with a view to regulating them, and have also other irrigation schemes in hand."

USING YOUR EYES

Do You Think You Can Remember Everything You See?

THEN TRY THE PICTURE TEST.

Study For a Minute a Painting With a Number of Figures and Objects In It and Then Endeavor to Describe It and the Result May Surprise You.

"Seeing is believing" is an old saying which is in a fair way to lose its force. Modern psychology is proving by experiments that people do not see even a fraction of the things they confidently believe they see.

The picture test was first demonstrated in America at Clark university by the pioneer in this field, Professor William Stern of the University of Breslau. At this time two unusually intelligent children, a boy and a girl in the upper grammar grades of the Worcester schools, were shown separately for the period of a minute a colored picture entitled the "Bauerstube," giving the interior of a German peasant's home. Among other details is seen a table at which a man and a boy are seated, while a woman is standing.

The man has removed his coat, and his bright red vest is clearly exposed to view. The boy is sitting on a bench, his bare feet not quite touching the floor. The woman wears a brilliant red skirt, over which is a blue-green apron. She has a yellow shawl over her shoulders.

Near by is a cradle of the same striking blue-green as the apron. At the rear of the room is a bed, and over it hang three pictures. These pictures depict landscapes, and in one is a long avenue of trees. At the foot of the bed is a window through which nothing is visible except a branch of a tree. Near the window is a clock with the pendulum swung to one side. The hands point to exactly half past 12. All of the details of the picture are extremely clear.

The children examined by Stern had an opportunity in the minute allowed for the examination of the picture to study it in some detail. They knew that they were to be tested immediately on what they had seen. Had not the audience that witnessed the demonstration been able to follow the details of the testimony by means of a reproduction of the picture thrown by a lantern on a screen at the back of the children they would have been impressed with the remarkable clearness and apparent accuracy of the testimony, particularly with reference to a certain cupboard which both testified stood near the bed.

This cupboard was described minutely with substantial agreement as to the details. The fiction of the cupboard was developed by a few suggestive questions ingeniously put, such as the following: "Is there a cupboard in the room?" (The reply was "Yes.") "Where is it?" "How many drawers does it have?"

Professor Colvin of the University of Illinois, writing in the Independent, says that he has carried on the same experiment with a score of subjects, both adults and children, and has not found one who could give a completely accurate description of what he had seen, even in the direct testimony, while under the influence of the questions the witnesses have all shown extensive falsification in one or more particulars.

Scarcely two witnesses have agreed as to the time of the clock; some have not observed that it was going in fact clearly indicated by the position of the pendulum); several have described the shoes of the boy in detail (he is barefooted); four have seen the cupboard; several have said that the lawn is visible through the window and have embellished it with fountain and shrubs; some have seen a road winding beyond the lawn and lined with an avenue of trees, taken bodily from one of the pictures on the wall; a nonexistent tablecloth has been described as torn; the woman's apron has been given all the colors of the rainbow, but seldom the right one; the sleeves of the man's coat, nowhere visible, have been described as worn at the edges; the brilliant red waistcoat has generally been overlooked. But, most remarkable of all, the entire twenty witnesses have taken their oaths that the cradle is not blue, but a red or a reddish brown.

The results of this picture test are all the more remarkable when we remember that the witnesses in this experiment are in a much more advantageous position for giving an accurate report than are the witnesses of ordinary events. In trials in court the witness is ordinarily called upon to relate what has occurred only after a considerable lapse of time. Meanwhile he is subjected to various questions, often by interested persons. He talks about the occurrence with neighbors and friends, and then he is placed on the witness stand with the injunction to tell "the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth." Under such circumstances the wonder is that there is any resemblance between the testimony and the actual facts.

A FRIEND OF THE FAMILY.

It Was Highly Prized as a Wonderful Money Saver.

When Miss Ann Pickett dropped in on her neighbor, Mrs. Spicer, and found her moping over the fragments of a gilt vase Miss Ann sympathized generously. "It must have been rather a costly vase," she said, looking admiringly at the pieces.

"No, it only cost six bits," Mrs. Spicer acknowledged. "'Tain't that I feel so bad about."

"Maybe it was a gift that you prized because of associations?"

Mrs. Spicer shook her head. "Jim and I bought it over in Tompkinsville a long time ago. I prized it because it was such a saving to the family. The first year we had it I kept it on the front shelf for a general ornament. Then when Jim's birthday came and I hadn't anything else handy to give I gave him the vase for his own. Next Christmas, instead of paying out good money to buy something new, he gave it back to me for a Christmas present. Then I gave it to Jim junior on his birthday, and he gave it to Sue Belle on hers.

"The next spring all the kinfolks got up a birthday party for old Aunt Sallie Spicer, and we took her the vase. After she'd kep' it a good bit she gave it to Jim's sister Jane for a weddin' present, and afterward Jane gave it to me and Jim when we had our china weddin'. I was countin' on givin' it to Jim again on his next birthday, and now here it is smashed to flinders.

"I tell you, Miss Ann, it most makes me cry to think of losing such a useful family article—so near Jim's birthday too!"—Youth's Companion.

WORK OF EARTHWORMS.

These Humble Burrowers Are Great Aids to the Farmer.

The humble earthworm is one of man's best friends. The farmer and the gardener could not spare him. Dr. J. Newton Friend tells about him in Science Progress. From Dr. Friend's observations it appears that worms aerate the soil in a variety of ways.

In burrowing through the soil the worms render it more porous and permeable to gases, not merely by virtue of the air spaces formed, but by reason of the fact that the soil is thus continually kept in gentle motion. Again, the soil passing through the bodies of worms is excreted in a finer condition, being ground by attrition through the intestines. Darwin estimated that no fewer than fifteen tons of soil annually pass through the bodies of worms for every acre.

Further, worms breathe in oxygen and exhale carbon dioxide, and the latter gas, as is well known, readily dissolves in water, forming an acid solution which will render alkaline earths and metallic oxides—iron—soluble.

Worms materially aid in producing soluble salts of iron in the soil when other agencies—e. g., dilute mineral acids—fail. The iron is eventually given back to the soil in a more soluble condition and presumably in one which can be directly absorbed by plant roots.

An Ivory Mat.

Many people have never even heard of such a thing, and it is not to be wondered at, for these mats are exceedingly rare, and it is said by those who know that only three of these beautiful curiosities exist in the whole world. The one we now write about is the largest one made. It measures 8 by 4 feet and, though made in a small hill state in the north of India, has an almost Greek design for its border. It was only used on state occasions, when the rajah sat on it to sign important documents. The original cost of the mat is fabulous, for 6,400 pounds of ivory were used in its manufacture. The finest strips of ivory must have been taken off the tusks, as the mat is as flexible as a woven stuff and beautifully fine.—London Graphic.

Coaling the Sun.

Coaling the sun is an expression used by physicists to indicate the necessity of renewing the stock of motive power, exactly analogous to coaling a vessel for an ocean journey. Many maintain that this is done by the incessant showers of meteorites which rain in upon it from celestial space. Thus it is that the sun's energy is continually kept up and its fires are fed. Atom after atom in the continuous collisions of matter is changed into vapor and adds its quota of energy to the great central storehouse—in fact, "coals the sun."—Exchange.

His Hand Bath.

Arguing forcibly, if not convincingly, against the custom of taking a bath, still happily prevalent in certain quarters, an English writer relates the savory story of a Kentish farm worker whose horny hand he grasped. "Good Kent dirt," said the man, catching a critical glance. "Haven't had time to wash your hands before tea?" was the question. "Wash my 'ands?" exclaimed the man, then explanatorily: "I never washes my 'ands. When they gets 'ard I files 'em."

COAXING THE MULES.

Methods of Stage Drivers In the Mountains of Mexico.

The drivers who pilot the stagecoaches through the mountains in Mexico have a way of their own of coaxing their mules along the rough roads. The method is described by Wallace Gillpatrick in his book, "The Man Who Likes Mexico:"

"If you have never ridden on a Mexican coach you have still a new sensation in store. The Chapala coach has a cushion on top, and if you are fortunate in sharing this seat you may ride muy a gusto, seeing the country and the manner of manipulating an eight mule team at the same time.

"There are two about the size of rabbits in the lead, a string of four in the middle and two larger ones on the wheel. The driver has a whip with a lash long enough to reach the leaders. His assistant has another shorter one, but his chief persuaders are rocks.

"The assistant earns 50 cents a day and free insurance against dyspepsia. He alights at the foot of every hill and fills his sombrero with rocks on the way up. He then shies several bowlders big enough to dislocate a hip at the leaders, and when the whole team is in a gallop he swings himself on to the box in some miraculous way. I think he stands on the hub. He could never do it if he wore shoes."

TRAINED TURTLES.

Tricks These Clumsy Creatures May Be Taught to Perform.

Of all living creatures, says a writer in the Strand Magazine, the turtle is undoubtedly the slowest in its movement and probably possesses the least brain. Yet a well known American naturalist has succeeded in training three of these creatures to do a number of little tricks. He places them, one above the other, on spools, and if a piece of cabbage or other green stuff is held out in front of them they will make a complete circuit, all moving in unison, keeping their balance and not tumbling off.

The bigger turtle will also ring a bell. This it grasps in one of its forefeet, jerks it off the ground and then gives it a shake. It is quite amusing to watch the slow, deliberate manner in which this is done. The turtles have always lived in their owner's house, spending their time in the kitchen hunting down the vermin.

One of the turtles draws a little cart about the garden, a task which he apparently does not resent in the least. Of course he is never kept harnessed for any length of time. He is quite tame, follows the children about the garden and will even eat from their fingers.

When a Child Has a Convulsion.

When a child is suddenly seized with a convulsion proceed as follows: First. Loosen the clothing, but take off only the shoes and stockings. Second.—Place the child upon a bed or table, with his legs hanging over the edge from the knees down. Third.—Put his feet and lower legs in a pail of hot water to which has been added one tablespoonful of powdered mustard. If you have no mustard use hot water alone. Be very careful it is not hot enough to burn. Fourth.—Put an ice cap to the head. Lacking an ice cap, use plenty of cracked ice done up in a towel. Fifth.—Give an enema of warm soapsuds. Repeat it if it is not retained. Sixth.—As soon as the child is able to swallow give a large dose of castor oil. —Dr. R. H. Dennett in Woman's Home Companion.

Polls and Barbers' Poles.

The barber is the only professional man whose emblem is a pole. The emblem is a pun. A poll is a head. The verb "poll" means to lop off a head. The earliest barbers were removers of beards. "Barba" is Latin for beard. The French called a man who shears off beards a barbier. But the barbier also removed hair from the apex and adjoining regions of the head. With the modesty characteristic of many professional men he magnified his function and adopted for his emblem a device which taken in its fullest significance would indicate that he removed the entire head. Because "poll" is pronounced the same as "pole" he conceived that a pole would be the appropriate emblem of his profession.—New York Sun.

Class Distinction.

"Did ye see as Jim got ten years' penal for stealing that 'oss?"

"Serve 'im right too. Why didn't 'e buy the 'oss and not pay for 'im like any other gentleman."—London Sketch.

The Best Way.

Choose always the way that seems the best, however rough it may be. Custom will soon render it easy and agreeable.—Pythagoras.

The Mental Railroad.

Nothing Wasted in China.

The Chinese never waste anything. A shopman puts up parcels with half the paper and string used by Europeans. Servants collect and sell match boxes and things which seem to us to be useless. In the country you will see a boy in a tree beating down a single leaf with a stick for fuel. Women when too old for any work collect dry grass for the same purpose. A man collects his fowls and then beats old, damp mats or matting. Cockroaches and other vermin jump out, and the fowls have a meal that costs nothing. You give a coolie an old coat that you are ashamed to wear, and he will probably get a tailor to transform it for 30 or 50 cents into two pairs of excellent trousers for himself.—Detroit Free Press.

The Old School at Its Best.

It was in the early days of the railroad, and Aunt Ruth had boarded the train for her first trip. Her maid had neatly arranged her carpet bag, band box and reticule around her, but there was some trouble with the engine, so that the train did not start at once. Aunt Ruth had spread out her ample skirts like an open fan, and her little feet were daintily perched upon a footstool. Just then the conductor passed through. Touching him lightly upon the arm, she said, "You may tell them I am seated and am ready to go now."—Woman's Home Companion.

A Mis-Directed Appeal.

The late Sir John Carling was one of London's most popular citizens, and although his business as brewer did not recommend him to the strenuous temperance workers, he was held in high esteem for his personal qualities. On the occasion of a semi-missionary meeting in what was then called Queen's Avenue Methodist Church, in the "eighties," Sir John was asked to take the chair. One of the speakers was an eloquent Indian from the far west, who spoke strongly against the sale of "fire-water" to his people, describing its frightful ravages in picturesque language. He concluded by calling upon the chairman and all other Chirstian persons to put down the liquor traffic with a firm hand. Sir John smiled graciously on the orator, but the audience was not slow to appreciate the irony of the situation.—Saturday Night.

A Correction.

In a town of such size that every one knows every one else it is often customary to speak of people by their first names, even when one would not do so to their faces. The butcher is known as Joe Smith, the grocer as Frank Parsons, the lawyer as Will Andrews, and no offense is meant or taken. One day a friend was helping a teacher of the industrial school to put hats and coats on forty little members of the kindergarten class. Two little tow headed girls attracted her attention, and as she tied their hoods she asked:

"Are you Charlie Porter's little girls?" Two serious little blue eyes looked up as the elder replied:

"His name was Charlie when he was a little boy. He's Mr. Porter now."—Exchange.

A Catastrophe.

"I don't wemember what I ate, but I had an awful dweam."

"What was it, old chap?"

"I dweamed my valet went away without lacing my shoes."

Not All.

"Thomas," said the mother severely, "some one has taken a big piece of gingerbread out of the pantry."

Tommy blushed guiltily.

"Oh, Thomas," she exclaimed, "I didn't think it was in you."

River to Be Widened.

Lindsay Post: Word was received in town on Saturday from the Dept. of Railways and Canals, to the effect that the width of the Scugog River at its entrance from Sturgeon Lake would be increased fifty feet, and the stone that was now being taken from the bed of the river would be used in the erection of a retaining wall at this point. This undertaking will no doubt prove of great benefit to navigation.

Chronic Throat Trouble Permanently Cured

SEVEN DAYS' USE OF CATARRHOZONE PERFORMED REGULAR MIRACLE.

Miss Counter's Case Proves the Wonderful Efficacy of Catarrhozone in all Throat and Nose Diseases.

Windsor, Ont., June 11.—Miss Counter's case will prove of great interest to everyone troubled with sore throat, bronchitis or weak lungs.

When asked for a statement Miss Counter said: "About seven years ago I contracted a heavy cold that settled on my lungs and resisted all treatment. After I had tried several doctors here and specialists in Detroit without benefit, I went to my druggist and asked him for the best remedy he had for cold on the lungs. He recommended Catarrhozone which cured my cold in one week. It brought back my voice, and I have been every since free from my old trouble. For coughs, colds and lung trouble I am sure that Catarrhozone is the best remedy. It goes right to the sore spot, gives quick relief, and makes a lasting cure."

Catarrhozone cures because its healing vapor is inhaled to the very places that are sore and inflamed.

To permanently cure your winter ills, [illegible] coughs, sneezing and Catarrh, by all means use a tried and proven remedy like Catarrhozone. But beware of the substitutor and imitator. Look for Catarrhozone only, 50c and $1.00, at all dealers, or by mail from the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Ont.

Mr. Snowden "Long-Stop."

Mr. Wm. Snowden, has become long stop for the South End Baseball Club. On Monday evening while quietly sitting in his home reading The Times, a baseball shot through the window breaking a pane of glass and struck the veteran sportsman on the eye, leaving its mark behind, in the shape of a swollen and highly discolored optic. Fortunately the ball was not a swift one, or Mr. Snowden might have been seriously injured. He thinks he is now fairly entitled to become a member of the Midland Baseball League.

A Close Call.

While playing with matches yesterday morning a little daughter of Mr. James Harrison, who lives on George street north, had a narrow escape from being badly burned. The matches became ignited, the fire catching in the sleeve of the child's dress, and had it not been for the mother being convenient and hearing the child's cries, she would most likely been burned seriously. As it was the sleeve of her dress was destroyed and the child's arm considerably burned. The doctor was called in and the arm cared for and what might have been a bad accident, avoided.

Children's Entertainment.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

LITTLE BANTY CHICKEN CARES FOR KITTEN

Takes Pity on the Deserted Tabby, and Shields It as Best It Can.

Mr. Joseph Davidson, who lives in the southern extremity of the city, has a wonderful banty hen which daily protects and cares for a two-weeks-old kitten, giving it the entire benefit of her motherly administrations.

Just two weeks ago a cat, bringing forth a litter of little ones in a manger, abandoned the forlorn kitten to starvation, and the trample of horses feet. The banty discovered the kitten crawling about in the weakness of its infancy, and with its eyes still closed, and lifting it gently in its beak to a warm nest of straw has it under her protection.

Domiciled first in a nest where the little puss was at wont to fall through a small opening, the hen removed it to safer quarters, at the other end of a line of nests. Let an alien person or any sign of impending danger startle it and the banty clucks a warning and stands prepared to protect her defenceless ward.

Whenever the hen is fed she clucks to the kitten in the same manner she would summon her own brood to feed and remains with it at all times under the protection of its wing. The kittne, beginning now to gain strength, playfully nestles close to the banty, climbing on its back and showing signs of friendship. The little cat is nursed with a spoon by Mrs. Davidson, who is very proud of the strange family, and much care is given the pair by the attaches of the establishments.

WEDDING BELLS.

Turtin—Dalton.

A quiet, but pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday morning when Miss Margaret Dalton of East City and Mr. William Turtin, of Peterborough, were united in marriage by the Rev. Father McColl. The best man was Mr. Henry Turtin, and the bridesmaid, Miss Mary Phelan.

Mr. and Mrs. Turtin will reside in Peterborough.

HOW THE OLE LUMBER SURPASSES THE MODERN

A Times reporter yesterday morning, prowling about for news, was attracted by the demolition of the house at the south west corner of Water and Murray streets. This house was occupied for possibly half a century, by the late Miss Comn, daughter of the late Dr. Conin. Miss Conin, on her death, willed the property to Miss Maggie O'Brien. About a month ago Miss O'Brien sold the place, as noted in a former issue of The Times, to Dr. Buchanan. The point of this article is this. Our reporter, now that the house has gone and only a skeleton of beams and joists remains, was struck with the vast difference in the timber, of the days that that old frame house was built and what is supplied now at fancy prices. Anyone interested in building operations would be surprised to see how now-a-days one has to pay anywhere from $15 to ??? for even comparatively good lumber. At the corner referred to, the joists and beams were sound as when placed, when the late Queen Victoria had just sent a Bible to the Emir of Madagascar, saying it was the cause of England's power. Not only sound, but thick, the heart of the tree and full of knots. Such timber could not be got here now.

BABY'S SCREAMS SAVES LIVES.

Father, Mother and Tot Were Being Crushed in Folding Bed.

New York, June 11.—The muffled screams of a baby Sunday brought aid to its parents, who were being slowly smothered and crushed to death in the grip of a folding bed. Alfred Eberhardt, the father, a machinist, is suffering from concussion of the brain, and it is doubtful if he will recover, while the mother was with difficulty restored to consciousness.

A neighbor living in the next flat heard the cries of the child and made a timely investigation. The baby was protected by the larger bodies of its parents and escaped without injury.

SHOT TO DEATH MAN WHO CURSED SISTER

Clarence Williams, of Oil City, Shoots His Mother's Boarder.

Shreveport, La., June 11.—Clarence Williams, a young white man of Caddo City, near here, is in the parish jail, charged with the killing this morning of C. S. Smith, known as Box Car Smith, at the boarding house of the mother of Williams.

Williams claims that he came home from his work at the pump station, and found Smith, who was a boarder cursing and abusing his 13-year-old sister over some dissatisfaction as to the breakfast.

He got his pistol and fired until Smith was dead, and then surrendered to the authorities.

THE PEOPLE OF QUEBEC ARE DOWNTRODDEN AND ILLITERATE

Editor of "Le Pays" on Education in Quebec Province

Few People More Downtrodden and Illiterate He Says

Montreal, June 11.—A good deal of interest is taken, especially by the English-speaking people, in the threat made by Archbishop Bruchesi yesterday to put Le Pays under the ban. On every side people were loud in their condemnation of the Archbishop's action, and designated it as the most intolerant piece of clerical domination ever attempted in Canada. Simply because Mr. Godfrey Langlois, the editor of Le Pays, has been an advocate in season and out of season, for free and compulsory education, the Archbishop has seen fit to threaten his paper with extinction.

Mr. Langlois Surprised.

In an interview with your correspondent to-day Mr. Langlois expressed his great surprise at the threatened action of the Archbishop. "We have never during the two and a half years that the paper has been in existence, uttered a single word against religion. We have simply dealt with educational questions and emphasized over and over again the necessity of having our boys and girls in the Province given a common education. We have also protested against the very supreme egotism of the Nationalists and others, who seek to glorify the wonderful qualities of 'Jean Baptiste.' They represent the French-Canadians as being the most intelligent, the freest and the most enlightened people in the world, when as a matter of fact there are few people more downtrodden or illiterate than a large proportion of the French of this Province. We have talked very plainly to the French-Canadians about their material interests, about the necessity for their educating and training themselves to take a larger share in the financial; industrial and commercial progress of the Dominion, but we never," declared Mr. Langlois emphatically, "interfered in any shape or form with religious questions. It seems hardly right that we should be interdicted because we have appealed and asked for a better chance for the illiterate of the Province.

Reforms are Needed.

"According to the census of 1901, there were over 250,000 people in the Province of Quebec who were unable to read or write. There are to-day over 130,000 children in the Province who have never gone to school. The average pay for our female teachers in the public schools is only $133 as compared with $483 for Ontario female teachers. Even at that, the pay of Quebec teachers has been almost doubled in the past few years. In this Province we have but 522 Normal school teachers, while Ontario has 5,420. Because we have championed the cause of these 130,000 little children who have never gone to school, and of thousands of others who are almost illiterate, Archbishop Bruchesi has seen fit to threaten us with an interdict. This is certainly not consistent with British fair play or with the religious tolerance which we should expect in the 20th century in a British country."

Mr. Godfrey Langlois, editor of Le Pays, is a member of the Local House for the St. Louis Division of this city. He is a brilliant journalist and has proved one of the most valuable and influential members in the Local House. At the last election he was opposed by Mr. Chas. Bruchesi, brother of the Archbishop, as well as by two other candidates. Although opposed by the Church, Mr. Langlois easily won, all of his opponents losing their deposits.

FREIGHTER WITH CREW OF 50 FINDS AN OCEAN GRAVE

Insurance People Give Up Transatlantic Freighter as Lost--Loaded With Merchandise Worth $100,000

Berlin, June 12.—One of the unreported tragedies of the sea has just come to notice in the mysterious disappearance of the Hamburg Trans-Atlantic freighter, Mount Oswald.

The steamship left Baltimore on February 17, with a heavy cargo of merchandise, and was due in Hamburg the first week in March. She has never been heard of since her departure from Baltimore.

Weeks elapsed before the owners could be persuaded that she was lost, but a few days ago the consignees of the cargo were officially informed that the insurance companies, which were responsible for amounts aggregating roundly $100,000, were now ready to pay the total due on the policies.

She was a first-class cargo boat of 5,000 to 6,000 tons, and carried a crew of forty or fifty men.

YOUNG BANDIT HOLDS VILLAGE

Thirteen-Year-Old Lad Imitates Exploits of Notorious Parisian Highwaymen

Paris, June 10. Much mischief has been created by a lad of thirteen dwelling in a village near Aurillac, whom a perusal of the account of the exploits of the motor brigands had fired with the ambition to emulate the performances of Bonnot. After some reflection he decided on reproducing the scene at Dubois' garage at Choisy-le-Roi, and accordingly armed himself with an axe, fell upon and seriously wounded his brother, afterwards putting their father, who had come to the child's rescue, to flight.

The young bandit then proceeded to a neighboring house, from which he took a gun, some ready-made cartridges and a collection of bullets and powder for the manufacture of more; and, barricading himself in the place, awaited developments. These warlike preparations having attracted notice, siege was presently laid to the house but the bolder assailants were soon warned by a series of shots to retreat, the boy shouting in great glee: "You will have to blow me up." Gendarmes now appeared on the spot, only to be treated in their turn to some of his target practise, and as a Council of war was being held the lad ran up to a loft, slipped out of a window, after the manner of Bonnot, and dropping to the ground, ran as fast as he could. From time to time, however, he halted to take a shot at his nearest pursuers, and he succeeded in reaching a wood. As his cartridges were now exhausted he hid himself in a thicket and was engaged in making more when he was discovered. All the same, he offered a stout resistance, and when finally led off to prison he walked along with evident pride at his performance.

Canal Conference at Calgary.

Calgary, June 12.—Fifty cities have appointed delegates to the Panama Canal Conference in Calgary on June 29th.

Earthquake Shocks.

Columbia, S.C., June 12.—Three distinct earth shocks were felt here this morning about 5.30 o'clock.

MEETINGS AND BIG BRASS BANDS BOOM ROOSEVELT

Chicago, June 12.—It was estimated to-day that more than half of the actual delegates to the convention are in the city. The boomers and the marching clubs are on the way. They will begin dropping in about Friday with the blare of trumpets and the boom of guns. And from then on sleep will be banished in the hotel district.

There is no denying that the majority of delegates, even some of the most enthusiastic Roosevelt men, would welcome a compromise candidate. They say so privately, although for publication they insist strenuously and loudly that they are loyal either to Teddy or to Bill, as the case may be. But deep down in their hearts they are hoping something will happen to prevent the nomination of either man and the substitution of some one who will command the support of the united party.

To Hold Mass Meeting.

The first public denunciation of the Taft candidacy by the insiders in the Roosevelt camp will take place Friday night. The Auditorium Theatre was rented to-day by the Roosevelt forces and they plan an old fashioned mass meeting there. The backers of the Roosevelt boom will furnish a couple of bands to start things going, and Francis J. Heney of San Francisco, Judge Ben Lindsey, of Denver; Gov. Stubbs, of Kansas; Gov. Johnson, of California and Col. Roosevelt, if he is here, will furnish the oratorical fireworks.

"And I suppose at the end of the meeting they will all march over and lynch the National Committee. It is a good way of getting rid of us," smilingly declared Arthur Stevenson, when told of the meeting. This meeting is to be one of a number that are to be held. The Roosevelt men hope by this means to start enough enthusiasm to sweep the regular delegates off their feet and bring them over to the Roosevelt camp.

Will Not Recognize Taft.

That Pennsylvania and West Virginia will not recognize President Taft as the regular nominee of the Republican party, should the Taft forces control the convention, was the joint declaration here to-day of William Flynn, head of the Roosevelt Vigilance Committee, and Gov. Glasscock of West Virginia.

Francis J. Heney told the Republican National Committee to-day that he was before the committee to tell the President of the United States through the Committee, if he accepted two delegates from a California district, should they be elected he would be the receiver of stolen goods.

This statement resulted in a bitter debate between the California Attorney and members of the committee, during which Heney assailed the motives of Senators Penrose and Crane.

NO APOLOGY FOR WORK AMONG FRENCH

Much Enthusiasm at Presbyterian Assembly Over Evangelization There—Scholarships are Promised Schools.

Edmonton, June 12.—Dr. W. J. Clark reported to the Presbyterian Assembly for the Board of French Evangelization. He depreciated and personally disavowed any bitter feeling towards the Roman Catholic people, but went on to show that they were a menace to the political welfare of Canada. He offered no apology for the efforts he was making to educate and evangelize Quebec. He had been invited to a Roman Catholic meeting last winter in order to be taught the error of his ways. He felt that he could do no less than show an equal interest in the Roman Catholics of Montreal.

That the Church of Rome is using every agency available for her own aggrandizement was the assertion made by the Board of French Evangelization. "From her viewpoint" the report says, "she is advancing the Kingdom of God."

The belief was expressed that whatever restraint may be laid on the Church of Rome politically, the great deliverance must come from the growth of French Protestantism. The report continued that the other Provinces of the Dominion cannot afford to be indifferent to what happens in Quebec.

The report said 75 Roman Catholics became Protestants during the year, and that a significant sign of promise was the increasing sense of responsibility shown by French Protestants towards their fellow-countrymen.

FRANCHISE REFORM BILL TO BE INTRODUCED SHORTLY

London, June 12. Premier Asquith announced in the House of Commons to-day that a franchise reform bill would be introduced at an early date. The bill as drafted will give one man one vote on a short residential qualification, with the simplest possible form of registration, the latter being at the public expense. A clause fixing all the elections for one day may be added.

The official woman suffrage amendment to the bill cannot be forthcoming until the bill is printed. And there will probably be some limitation regarding women voters.

Simple adult suffrage, without reference to sex, cannot be put forward with any hope of success, since such a course would give the register in each constituency a majority of women. This matter is likely to cause trouble.

MAKE OCEAN TRAVEL SAFE AS SHORT TROLLEY RIDE

London, June 12.—The first formal step in the campaign for the establishment of an International Weather and Storm Bureau has been taken here by Prof. Willis Moore, chief of the United States Weather Bureau.

In speaking of his plan, Prof. Moore said: "If the plan is adopted so far as storms are concerned, the crossing of the Atlantic will be made as safe as a short street car journey. Great ocean liners which have but little to fear from anything except the most destructive gale, may, by altering their course, on receipt of the warning, by fifty miles or more, escape rough passage, while the smaller steamers and sailing ships, by making a wide detour, may escape possible destruction."

LOVE UNREQUITED HE TURNED DANDIT

The Romance of Guiseppe Salomone, Now on Trial in Italy.

Rome, June 11.—Romance hangs round Guiseppe Salomone, a brigand, poet and playwright, whose trial has just begun at Aquilla.

Very many years ago Salomone was an honest shoemaker, who loved a very beautiful girl and incidentally wrote verses. Unfortunately he found a rival in her affections in the person of the village mayor, who charged him with a murder which had been committed in the district. Four witnesses swore to Salomone's guilt and he fled from home and took to brigandage.

Then he killed the mayor, the four men who had given evidence against him, and throwing himself wholeheartedly into his new profession, he terrorized all Sicily by his raids.

When captured by the police he began to write a book of memoirs, proudly entitled, "The Last of the Brigands," a play about himself, and also a volume of poetry which is not without merit.

Salomonone pleads that he is a lover of justice and virtue, and that it is only adverse circumstances that caused him to deviate from the right path.

He is a fine looking man, with thick black hair and beard and keen blue eyes. He appears in court clad in an immaculate black sackcoat, wearing kid gloves.

LAURIER AND THOMPSON CABINETS AND THE CANNON

Not the First Time Canada Has Been Asked to Yield Up Gun--Col. Hughes Is Now Communicating With the American War Department.

Ottawa, June 12.—The announcement that the Minister of Militia, Hon. Colonel Sam. Hughes, has received a request from Boston for the return of the gun captured at Bunker Hill in 1776, and which is now at Quebec, does not mean that the gun will be returned. It may, or it may not, be handed back, but there is little probability of it leaving Quebec.

This is not the first time that such a request has been made for the return of this historical relic. A similar proposition was made to the Government of Sir John Thompson, and when this was rejected, it was renewed to the Laurier Government, which also refused it.

Col. Sam. Hughes has the distinction of being the first Minister of Militia to consider the proposition so seriously as to enter into official correspondence with the United States Government on the subject. It must be said, however, that the Minister of Militia is non-committal as to what he will do.

Col. Hughes referred interviewers to the press statements, and said that he had nothing to add to the statement that he was in correspondence with the War Department of the United States on the subject.

Some Hostility Shown.

There is general resentment here at the idea of returning a war trophy of the type of the Bunker Hill gun. It is argued that the precedent which would be established by the return of this gun would involve similar requests from other powers which might lead to difficulties. For instance, if the request were granted, the Dominion could hardly refuse to return the guns captured from the Boers in South Africa, and which occupy various places in Canada. And France and Russia might also ask for the return of trophies captured by the British in various wars. It is just a question whether Canada could give up the gun without Britain's consent.

ANOTHER C. P. R. TRACK THROUGH THE MOUNTAINS

Montreal, June 12.—The C.P.R. has placed an order for 12,500 additional freight cars and 300 more locomotives, involving an expenditure of $19,000,000 of which $11,000,000 will be for the freight cars.

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy admitted yesterday the preliminary surveys for double-tracking the road through the mountains had been commenced. "I cannot tell you yet," said Sir Thomas, "when we will start this work, but the preliminary surveys for it are already being carried out. It is a big job, for it will cost between $60,000,000 and $70,000,000. The need of this double-track is forced upon the company, not only by the great growth of transcontinental traffic but also the remarkable developments which are expected to take place as a result of the opening of the Panama Canal."

CHAMBERS OF COMMERCE OF EMPIRE TO MEET IN TORONTO

London, June 12. The Congress of Chambers of Commerce of the British Empire to-day adopted the proposals of the Toronto Board of Trade in favor of preferential trade within the British Empire, by 122 votes against 9. Fifty-eight Chambers of Commerce abstained from voting.

Another resolution urging trade reciprocity and close political union between the British West Indies, Canada and Newfoundland, in view of the approaching completion of the Panama Canal, was also adopted.

The next Congress is to be held in Toronto in 1915.

The resolution, which was proposed by W. F. Cockshutt, M.P., is as follows:

> "Resolved: That this Congress reaffirms its opinion in favor of preferential trade within the Empire and pledges itself to press upon the various governments concerned the desirability of taking action to give effect to this principle."

The decision arrived at by the Congress to meet in Toronto in 1915 will mean that that city is to be visited by three hundred of the leading men of business from all parts of the Empire. In 1903 the Congress was in Montreal, and three years ago it took place in Australia. By constitution, each alternate meeting must be held in London.

The Toronto delegates at the present Congress are: Mr. F. P. Morley, Secretary of the Board of Trade, Mr. Edmund Bristol, M.P.; Mr. W. F. Cockshutt, M.P.; Mr. R. T. Coady, City Treasurer, Mr. Edgar A. Wills, Mr. W. P. Gundy, Mr. W. A. Medland, Mr. Noel Marshall, Mr. J. C. Douglas, Mr. J. D. Ivey, Mr. Geo. P. Wood.

THE NEW DAM AT BUCKHORN

Is Said to Be Faulty in its Construction

HOLDING WATER BACK

Will be An Expensive Job to Fix — Not Sufficient Opening for Water to Pass Through—Plans Were Not Right.

For some time it has been an open secret that the new dam at Buckhorn does not afford sufficient space for the water to pass through, especially in the spring, when the flow of the river is above normal. The result is that the water above is overflowing its banks and doing much damage to private property all the way between Buckhorn and Bobcaygeon, of course, including Chemong Lake.

The Dam Faulty.

It would appear that the dam is at fault. It is a new cement structure, built by the late Dominion government. The water wier on the north side of the river, next to the lock, was closed when the new dam was constructed, and the space filled in with earth. This was evidently a mistake, as the closing of this opening left the new structure without sufficient openings for high water.

A Costly Job.

The Times is informed that it will be a costly job to have the weir put in now as the filling in will have to be removed and a concrete addition to the dam built. A short time ago one of the engineers from the department at Ottawa inspected the dam, and it is said that he expressed himself as being surprised at the faulty structure.

Many Damage Claims.

It is said there will be scores of damage claims as a result of high water above Buckhorn. If it can be shown that the flooding was caused by a badly planned dam, these claims will doubtless be valid.

It is understood that Buckhorn has taken the matter up with a view to having the necessary alterations made in the dam at an early date.

BIG REVOLT OF ALBANIANS

Constantinople, June 12.—A general uprising of the Albanians is imminent, according to despatches received here to-day from Uskub, in the vilayet of Kosova. The despatch says that Isa Bolatinets, the famous Albanian chief, has arrived there to conduct the revolt. Hassan Bey and Nedjib Draga Bey, former members of the Ottoman parliament, are assisting Bolatinets, and the Albanian Catholics are also participating under Zefi Vogel.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the State's area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundred of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 66 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company. Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. Law, Ontario, Manager, 43 Cecil street, Toronto. D 6 in J4

This Interesting Letter is Addressed to YOU

SIR:—

It is a favorite form of mental culture with many people to trace results back to causes. Have you ever applied it to the gowth of a city?

Travel was the original cause of our modern Canadian and American cities. Travel by the early pioneers of civilized nations, often at the cost of their lives.

Years ago, one of these pioneers of the western plains crossed a [illegible] at a time when the North West Territories formed the grazing grounds for buffalo and antelope. While making the crossing his primitive wagon broke down. He made his repairs with rope and the jaw of a moose found by the side of the trail. His Indian companions called the spot "The place where the white chief mended his cart with the jaw of a moose."

A frail cause seemingly, for great results. But the prosperous city of Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, stands as the result of the pioneers accident. Not all at once, but through various stages, each more important than the last. The traveller talked—probably of the good water and the grazing land. These all important factors to the settler became known. Others began to investigate, a settlement formed, and Moose Jaw came into existence.

In the year 1902 a great rush of settlers to the west took place. This movement has been called the "American Invasion," but it included thousands from the Eastern Provinces of Canada. News of the Great West had spread, the Soo Branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway from Portal on the Southern Canadian Boundary line had been completed, and the great wheat belt of Canada began its period of prosperity.

The city of Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, in the heart of this area, was the point chosen as most suitable for this great artery to meet the trans-continental main line. Over this route thousands of cars of effects owned by settlers from the United States are carried yearly.

Suddenly other railway corporations discovered that the Canadian Pacific Railway had the monopoly of the business of Moose Jaw, and the wealthy territory behind it. They saw the Canadian Pacific Railway make Moose Jaw its chief divisional point in Saskatchewan with the greatest yards west of Winnipeg, costing with other improvements, over $1,000,000.

Competition for the great volume of business was aroused, until to-day there are eleven lines either completed, under construction, or chartered.

The soil has attracted the settler—great freight, cattle, and grain shipments have attracted the railway companies, and as a final result Moose Jaw has in a few years become a city with possibilities unsurpassed in the West.

While this result has been accomplished, you can judge the effect on Real Estate values. But the increase in values in this city will be greater in the future than in the past.

Had that pioneer settled at the river crossing, and owned the townsite of Moose Jaw he could have been a millionaire to-day—but he missed an opportunity. You have your pressing opportunity in our unique residential sub-division, Boulevard Heights. Do not miss it. Big sales are reported daily, prices are going up; and you can have a share in this profit taking. A payment of $10.00 forwarded to-day will secure you an interest in a sound investment, to which there is no interest.

Malleability of Gold.

The malleability of gold is so great that a single grain may be divided into 2,000,000 parts and a cubic inch into 9,523,809,523 parts, each of which may be distinctly seen by the naked eye. A grain and a half of gold may be beaten into leaves of one inch square, which, if intersected by parallel lines drawn at right angles to each other and distance only the one-hundredth part of an inch, will produce 25,000,000 little squares, each of which may be distinctly seen without the aid of a glass.

In offering these shares for investment, we feel that we are inviting the public to purchase stock in an industry in which the profits are very large, and the demand for the product is ever increasing.

On March 11th, 1912, the Burgesses of the Town of Aurora voted in favor of granting The Collis Leather Company, Limited, a cash bonus of Ten Thousand Dollars, the Company's property is exempt from Taxation for Ten Years (except school tax) and it has also been granted water from the Town free for all time.

The factory is now under construction, to be completed on or before the 1st Day of July, 1912, and will be 150 feet long by 50 feet wide, and four storys high.

The Company's specialty will be the manufacture of calf leather.

Mr. Walter Collis has had over Thirty Years' experience as a tanner, and thoroughly understands all departments of the business. Mr. Collis will have direct charge of the Tannery.

The capacity of the factory will be Eighteen Hundred calfskins per day, or an average of Eighteen Thousand Feet per day. A most conservative estimate of the net profit is one-half cents per foot.

NO HOPE OF RESUSCITATION.

The repeal of the reciprocity agreement by the American Senate is, of course, ineffective until similar repealing action has been taken by the House of Representatives and the joint action approved by the president. For political reasons the Democrats of the lower House will resist acceptance of the Senate repeal bill. The purpose is, of course, to further embarrass the Republican Senate, which now finds itself in an awkward situation.

But it is of little concern to Canada what the outcome of this partizan fight for advantage may be. President Taft has declared that reciprocity with Canada is dead; Roosevelt is now as vehemently opposed to the idea as he was vociferously in favor of it a little over a year ago. If either is successful in the presidential election in November nothing will come of further agitation among Liberal leaders in Canada for the resuscitation of this issue. Taft declares it is a dead one; Roosevelt will have none of it. And if a Democrat is elected in November the whole arrangement proposed by the Laurier government will be shown to have been unnecessary, since if the Democrats carry out their policy of lowering the tariff schedules, Canada will gain all it would have gained under the agreement without sacrificing what would have been sacrificed by the reciprocity agreement.

Those newspapers which imagine they see in the fact that the reciprocity act still remains on the American statute book some chance that the verdict of last September may be overruled may as well spare their time and energy. That corpse is past the power of any agency to galvanize it into a semblance of activity.

THE DEMOCRATIC RACE.

In the race for the Democratic presidential nomination there are seven or eight runners, and two of them, Clark and Wilson, have spurted pretty far ahead of the others, but it does not follow that either of the racers now in the lead is assured of victory. The Democratic race is not a dash, but a distance race. The two-thirds convention rule makes its winning more difficult. It emphasizes the endurance test and affords larger opportunity for the happenings of "time and chance," and the impression is gaining strength that time and chance will favor a candidate who is not at this stage of the race spurred and whipped to the front.

There is Governor Foss, for instance, who, when pressed the other day to state whether he would stand for re-election as governor, said he still believed that he would be the nominee at Baltimore for president. He is depending largely on the "chances," but his chances at present seem scant to the general. There are others in the race that have stronger reasons for hope who are sturdily moving on more intent upon the goal than on an exhibition of spectacular speed for premature applause. Chief among these are Harmon and Underwood, runners of fine mettle and well equipped for a distance race. It would be a surprise if Foss should gallop first under the wire at Baltimore, and so it would be if Burke or Baldwin or Marshall should make the final spurt ahead to the goal, but a victory for Harmon or Underwood would be neither surprising nor disappointing to the mass of the Democracy nor to the country at large.

WOMEN'S AILMENTS CAUSED BY NEGLECT

Are Quickly Cured and Robust, Sound Health Restored by Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Women are on the whole more sickly than men. One reason is that their system is more complicated; another and more important reason is that they put off measures of relief too long. At the beginning, constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of womens ailments. The blood becomes weakened and polluted the nerves suffer and a run-down condition takes root.

Because of their mildness of action as a system regulator, because of their undoubted power to remove constipation, irregularities, no medicine for women can compare with Dr. Hamilton's Pills. The kidneys quickly respond to the remedial action of Dr. Hamilton's Pills and the result is as you would expect — pain in the back and side, shortness of breath and bad color disappear — the functions of the body then operate naturally, congestion and pain are prevented, and perfect health returns.

Thousands of happy women say Dr. Hamilton's Pills are the greatest and best blood-purifier, the finest complexion renewer, the most certain regulating medicine known. All dealers in 25c boxes, or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Canada.

A PRESENT TO THE WEST.

The Panama Canal, costing the United States $400,000,000, will be ready next year. What will be the effect of its opening on Canadian commerce? The supremacy of Canada's natural strategic position, the probable changes in the world's great trade routes, the resultant effect on Canadian commerce, and the facilities which Canada must provide to meet the new situation. . . Stated in a line, the United States is really presenting Western Canada with an investment of $400,000,000 which will aid materially in its upbuilding and the expansion of its commerce. Maclean's Magazine, June, 1912.

When the canal is opened the commerce between the provinces of British Columbia and Alberta, and possibly western Saskatchewan and the European continent, will no longer be water and rail across the continent, but will be largely water-borne. By providing cheap means of transportation for Alberta's cattle and grain and British Columbia's lumber, salmon, and fruit to Europe, the canal will improve the position of every rancher, farmer, lumberman, fruit grower and fish-canning establishment within a thousand miles of any exporting centre on the Pacific coast.

The three prairie provinces produced upwards of three hundred million bushels of grain last year, and it appears safe to predict, says Sir Donald Mann, who has made a study of the situation in its relation to the Panama route, that in the not distant future they will produce a thousand million bushels a year. James B. Goodwin, the financial editor of the Hearst newspaper syndicate, thinks by the time the canal is opened Western Canada ought to have enough wheat to ship out of Vancouver to make it necessary for at least one 20,000 ton grain vessel to sail from that port every day in the year.

Editorial Notes

It is said that the Liberals are going to print Sir James Whitney's speech against the banish-the-bar policy and circulate it as campaign literature. If true, this is almost enough to drive him to drink.

Talking of the proposed measure to prevent the marriage of feeble-minded persons, there is an old bachelor in Peterborough who says that if any such measure is taken it will mean the prevention of all marriages.

General Orozco, of Mexico, has challenged General Booze to fight a duel. We will bet on Booze, because he has got the better of every man that went up against him.

In order to relieve them of some of the high cost of living, Secretary Wilson, of Washington, advises the people to eat English sparrows. The people, in November, may get even by inviting him and a great many other Republicans to eat a mess of crow.

AN ATTRACTIVE STOCK OFFERING

Mr. Thos. A. Low, ex-M. P. Accepts Presidency of Amalgamated Flour Mills.

The investing public are to have another opportunity of securing stock in a promising company of which Mr. Thos. A. Low, ex-M. P. of Renfrew, has agreed to accept the presidency. In this issue will be found an offering by the International Bond Corporation, Limited, of Ottawa, Ont., of preference stock in the Renfrew Flour Mills, Limited, a company recently formed for the purpose of taking over the mill, elevator, warehouses, etc. of the Renfrew Roller Mills Co., and the water power, flour mill, elevator, warehouses, etc., at Pakenham, Ont. The well-merited confidence placed by the investing public in the various enterprises controlled by Mr. Low and his well known reputation for a square business deal is part of the commercial history of the Town of Renfrew, the leading industries of which owe their existence largely to his ability and efforts.

About ten years ago Mr. Low conceived the idea of establishing a number of industries in the Town of Renfrew that would develop the latent resources and give an impetus to the growth of the town. Cheap power was necessary to this scheme, and recognizing that one of the valuable assets of any community is its water power, Mr. Low at once formed what is known as the Renfrew Power Co., Limited. That this project was well conceived, and, most important of all, well managed, has been amply demonstrated. The Renfrew Power Company paid a dividend almost from its inception, and in addition provided a rest account which has placed it among the best industries of the country. The Renfrew Power Co.'s present annual dividend is eight per cent. Following the power company's formation the Renfrew Roller Mills was brought into existence and sufficient capital for this company's purpose was secured from the rich farming community surrounding Renfrew. This company is now being turned over to a new milling company, and if the new enterprise should ultimately prove as profitable to its shareholders as the Renfrew Roller Mills Co.'s business (and there is every reason to believe it will) the result will be very gratifying indeed. The shareholders of the Renfrew Roller Mills Co., Limited, received an annual dividend of ten per cent, and dispose of their stock at $175 for each $100 paid into the Company. This is a remarkable showing, and the shareholders are to be congratulated.

Mr. Low followed the milling company's success by forming the Renfrew Manufacturing Co., Limited, a company which has made marked progress under his guidance, and has paid annual dividends of 7 per cent. Next in order came the Logan Bros., Ltd., an old established business with possibilities of extension and betterment and this company has not only paid good dividends to the shareholders, but has provided a rest account sufficient to defray the cost of doubling its plant and equipment which is now being done. No additional capital whatever has been asked by the Company from its shareholders.

Probably the best enterprise in the series is what is known as the Renfrew Machinery Co., Limited. This company was formed to manufacture the now celebrated Standard cream separator which is sold in all parts of Canada. The Company have branch offices in Winnipeg, Man., and in Sussex, N. B. This company employs a number of highly paid mechanical experts and the factory, foundry and buildings of the company are among the finest in Canada. Mr. Low has been active in the formation of other companies, among which are the Renfrew Knitting Company, which has done much to assist in the prosperity of the Town of Renfrew.

Mr. Low by the application of business foresight and untiring energy, has established for himself a place among Canada's captains of industry and the new flour milling company of which he will be the president, has started out with prospects exceedingly bright. They have secured two large plants, fully equipped, both to be under the management of Mr. W. T. Guest, who is admitted to be one of the best operators in Canada, and to whose practical knowledge and experience of the flour milling business no small part of the credit is due for the success of the Renfrew Roller Mill Co. Mr. Guest is entirely familiar also with the plant at Pakenham, having operated that plant for three or four years. The success of the new company would therefore seem assured.

SHOOTS NIECE AND SUICIDES.

Unrequited Love of Married Man Ends in Tragedy.

Chicago, June 11.—An uncle's unrequited love for his wife's niece has resulted in his suicide and the probable fatal wounding of the girl.

Jos. Hartzig, [illegible] years old, a married man, became enamored of Mary Baleskowich, 16 years old. She went to visit the Hartzig family Sunday and Hartzig, according to his wife, attempted to make love to the girl. This resulted in the girl retreating to the flat of a neighbor, Louis Veg. Hartzig shot the girl as she sat in Veg's flat and then shot himself through the heart, dying instantly.

A FAMOUS FENCER

Master at Arms Jean Louis Was a Wizard With the Sword.

GREATEST DUEL ON RECORD.

To give an idea of what a brave man can do if he knows fencing thoroughly and but keeps cool and collected in danger we will relate a historical duel. So extraordinary is this combat that it would be held a romance had it not been witnessed by a whole army. The hero is Jean Louis, one of the great masters of the sword of the beginning of last century, and the duel happened in Madrid in 1813. He was the master at arms of the Thirty-second regiment of French infantry. The First regiment, composed entirely of Italians, formed part of the same brigade.

Regimental esprit de corps and rivalries of nationality caused constant quarrels, when swords were often whipped out or bullets exchanged. After a small battle between the two factions of the brigade had occurred in the streets of Madrid, in which over 200 French and Italian soldiers had taken part, the officers of the two regiments, in a council of war assembled, decided to give such breaches of order a great blow and to re-establish discipline. They declared that the masters at arms of the two regiments involved should take up the quarrel and fight it out.

The drum is heard. Two men, naked to the waist, step in the ring. The first is tall and strong. His black eyes roll disdainfully upon the gaping crowd. He is Giacomo Ferrari, the celebrated Italian. The second, tall, also handsome and with muscles like steel, stands modestly awaiting the word of command. His name is Jean Louis. The seconds take their places on either side of their principals. A deathlike silence ensues.

"On guard!"

The two masters cross swords. Giacomo Ferrari lunges repeatedly at Jean Louis, but in vain. His every thrust is met by a parry. He makes up his mind to bide his chance and caresses and teases his opponent's blade. Jean Louis, calm and watchful, lends himself to the play, when, quicker than lightning, the Italian jumps aside with a loud yell and makes a terrible lunge at Jean Louis, a Florentine trick often successful. But with extraordinary rapidity Jean Louis has parried and riposts quickly in the shoulder.

"It is nothing," cries Giacomo, "a mere scratch." And they again fall on guard. Almost directly he is hit in the breast. This time the sword of Jean Louis, who is now attacking, penetrates deeply. Giacomo's face becomes livid, his sword drops from his hand, and he falls heavily on the turf. He is dead.

Jean Louis is already in position. He wipes his reeking blade; then, with the point of his sword on the ground, he calmly awaits the next man.

The best fencer of the First regiment has just been carried away a corpse, but the day is not yet over. Fourteen adversaries are there, impatient to measure swords with the conqueror, burning to avenge the master they had deemed invincible.

Jean Louis hardly has two minutes' rest. He is ready. A new adversary stands before him. A sinister click of swords is heard, a lunge, a parry, a riposte and then a cry, a sigh, and all is over. A second body is before Jean Louis.

A third adversary advances. They want Jean Louis to rest. "I am not tired," he answers, with a smile.

The signal is given. The Italian is as tall as the one who lies there a corpse covered by a military cloak. He has closely watched Jean Louis' play and thinks he has guessed the secret of his victories. He multiplies his feints and tricks; then, all at once, bounding like a tiger on his prey, he gives his opponent a terrible thrust in the lower line. But Jean Louis' sword has parried and is now deep within his opponent's breast.

What need we to relate any more? Ten new adversaries followed him, and the ten fell before Jean Louis amid the excited yells and roars of an army.

At the request of the Thirty-second regiment's colonel, who thought the lesson sufficient, Jean Louis after much pressing consented to stop the combat, and he shook hands with the two survivors, applauded by 10,000 men.

From that day fights ceased between French and Italian soldiers.

This wonderful and gigantic combat might be held a fable were not all the facts above stated still found in the archives of the ministry of war.—Lippincott's.

A keen, warm sympathy that makes your brother's need your own—nothing short of that is really charity.—Phillips Brooks.

DEMANDS $33,000,000

U. S. Minister at Managua Brings Dismay to Nicaraguans.

San Juan Del Sur, Nicaragua, June 10.—It is stated that the note which American Minister Weitzel is said to have presented to the Government at Managua asks an accounting for $33,000,000, and names the receivers of the same, with the nature of their respective claims. As before reported, the note was in response to Nicaragua's importunities for financial aid in order to meet the debts, which far exceed the Republic's resources. The American State Department suggested that the government compel its partisans to return money received for claims of doubtful legality.

The note is said to have caused dismay on the part of those who would be affected if the American hint were acted upon.

He has the same typewriter which he used in 1909, when similar proceedings were heard by Justice Mills.

French Landing Troops.

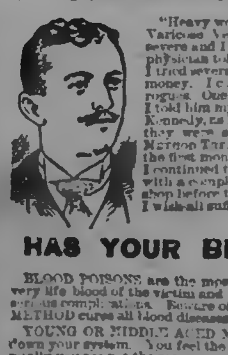
Gibraltar, June 12.—The French are landing troops on the Moorish coast under difficulties., on account of the heavy gales. Moorish contingents are joining the Harkas in the interior daily to oppose the French advance.

The situation is critical and France must put many more thousands of troops in the field to meet all exigencies. Tranquility prevails at all the ports on the coast.

More Strike Troubles.

London, June 12.—A taxi cab strike is threatened here for Saturday next The drivers are angry at the employers who, they say, charge exhorbitant prices for cabs. It is impossible, it appears, for irregular employees or odd men to earn anything.

The men complain, too, that the employers take advantage of the award of the Board of Trade of the last strike to charge the men 22s. 6d a year for uniforms.



VARICOSE VEINS CURED

Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on Varicose Veins. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than rogues. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skilful. I wrote them and got THE NEW METHOD TREATMENT. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $14 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $21 and never loose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment.

LEGAL SEALS IN JAPAN.

Every Person Must Have One Which the Government Registers.

Japanese seals (han) are of wood, stone or metal, with signs engraved on the face. They are used in addition to a signature to represent an individual, a legal person or a corporation. The seals of the emperor are distinguished as privy and state seals. They are each three inches square.

The state seal is used mostly upon documents relating to foreign countries. The privy seals are stamped on imperial rescripts, issued for proclamations at home.

Japanese law requires that each individual should send in an impression of his seal as a specimen (called jitsuin) to have it registered and kept in a government office (district office of a city, town or village) that it may represent himself in a deed.

The material employed to make these seals consists of various kinds of precious stones, gold, silver, etc. Those mostly in use at the present day are of agate, rock crystal, ivory, rhinoceros or buffalo horn, shell, marbles or of cherry wood or boxwood, and recently india rubber has come in use.

The ink used for stamping is called niku. It is generally of vermilion red. The cheapest kind of seals are made of boxwood and sold at 5 cents apiece. Most seals are oval in shape, but some are round and others square. They rarely exceed one-half inch in diameter.—Oriental Review.

PEROXIDE'S MANY USES.

It is a Valuable Antiseptic and Can Be Employed in Other Ways.

One of the most powerful bleaching agents employed in various trades is peroxide of hydrogen, also known as hydrogen dioxide and oxygenated water. The natural color in ostrich plumes is removed by it, and it will also bleach a great number of other things, such as bones, ivory, silver, wood, silk, cotton and hair. It can be used to restore the color to old oil paintings which have become darkened by age.

Peroxide is a valuable antiseptic and will also destroy objectionable microorganisms in water. It [illegible] be used to cure indigestion, but for this purpose as well as for other medicinal uses it must be diluted. A drop of pure peroxide is strong enough to raise a white blister on the skin.

Minute quantities of peroxide of hydrogen are found in the air, in rain water and in snow, and it is sometimes found in the juices of certain plants. The liquid is produced on a large scale by the action of acids on peroxide of sodium. The solution may be concentrated by allowing the water to freeze out, by passing dry air through it or by evaporation in a vacuum over sulphuric acid.—New York Sun.

LIGHTS IN MINES.

First Practical Test of Davy's Safety Lamp Was Dramatic.

If you have ever looked at pictures of coal miners you must have noticed that they are sometimes represented with peculiar little lamps stuck in their caps. These are known as the Davy safety lamp. The flame is entirely surrounded with very fine gauze wire, which permits enough air to enter to keep the lamp alight, but is too fine for any flame to pass through it. The dangerous gases in the coal mine can enter the lamp and burn, but the flame cannot get out.

Before this invention the miners often worked in absolute darkness, as it would have been madness to carry a light into any coal mine, where what is called fire damp is common.

The safety lamp was invented by Sir Humphry Davy, a famous English scientist, but the wonderful thing about the story of its invention is that no one could be found who would dare to carry it into a coal mine to test it.

On Jan. 9, 1816, John Hodgson, a minister who lived near Newcastle, in the north of England, which is a great coal mining region, volunteered to go down into the Hebburn coal pit with a lighted Davy lamp in his hand so as to settle for all time whether it was really a safety lamp or no.

The first miner who saw him approach was nearly beside himself with terror and screamed and prayed for whoever it was to put out the light before it was too late. But the minister walked steadily on, confident in the truth of the scientific fact upon which the lamp was built, until he got close enough for the miner to recognize him.

Every miner in the pit knew the parson, and their confidence in him and what he told them was greater than their faith in the lamp, much as they desired it. But for the bravery of this Newcastle preacher it might have been a long time before the lamp came into use, if at all.—Exchange.

THE AMERICAN FLAG.

Its Star Spangled Canton Is a Union, Not a Union Jack.

Those who speak of the star spangled canton on the American flag as a "union jack" do so erroneously. It is righty called the "union," but the term "jack" is applied correctly only to the similar canton on the British ensign, in which the crosses of St. George, St. Andrew and St. Patrick are superimposed.

The number of stars in the union of our flag is regulated by the law passed April 4, 1818, which provides:

"That on the admission of every new state into the Union one star shall be added to the union of the flag and that such addition shall take effect on the 4th of July next succeeding such admission."

The Marine Journal says that the origin of the phrase union jack is uncertain, but that "the weight of evidence is to the effect that it was derived from Jacques or Jacobus, the French and Latin names of the Stuart king, in whose reign the superimposed crosses of St. George and St. Andrew were placed in the canton of the British flag to indicate the union of England and Scotland. In that generally accepted view of the case the name appropriately belongs to that part of the British flag, but it is a misnomer to apply it to the canton of the American flag, with which 'Jacobus Rex' certainly had nothing to do unless simply to set the example of placing a union emblem on the canton."

Theater Audiences.

The tricks of theater audiences have been remarkably similar in all ages. Alciphron, who wrote of the later Attic comedy, shows that the claque was known then and also "young men of the town" who took a malicious delight in hissing a play off the stage. Theophrastus, who died in 288 B. C., sketches among his "Characters" the man of superior taste, whose pride it was to hiss when everybody else applauded and to clap when the rest were silent, and the annoying person who would hum or whistle an accompaniment to every tune that pleased him. And Aristotle himself refers to spectators who brought out provisions during the dull parts of the performance.

Condensed Contradiction.

Many a piece of news these days is good for handling twice, says The Canadian Courier. First it is given out as fact, then it is contradicted.

Sometimes the contradicting item runs to as great length as the original one. The Ottawa Journal a few days ago, however, gave the following splendid example of condensed contradiction:

"At Government House there is no knowledge of the coming to Canada of Prince Arthur of Connaught, a statement which was made in a cable despatch from London yesterday. Nor is there any knowledge at Government House of the reported forthcoming trip of Princess Patricia to the Old Country and Sweden. It is also remarked to The Journal that Prince Arthur of Connaught is not employed at the War Office."

DEWEY SAW THE POINT.

He Paid Up After His Dog Had Been Kicked Around.

Admiral Dewey had an English bulldog of which he was very proud. So marked was his affection for the dog that an atmosphere of "love me, love my dog" had sprung up around the admiral and the canine. It is further reported that the animal came near causing trouble between the head of the navy and the late "Fighting Bob" Evans.

Admiral Dewey while on a tour of inspection when he was in command of the Pacific squadron took the dog along with him. He lost sight of his pet on Evans' ship, but in a few minutes saw him hurled skyward from the companionway as if shot from a catapult. With blood in his eye Admiral Dewey rushed over to see the reason for the sudden ascent, surmising correctly that some one had kicked the dog. He saw "Fighting Bob" at the foot of the steps.

"Sir," roared the admiral, "what do you mean by kicking my dog?"

"Sir," roared Evans in return, "I'd have kicked that dog if he had been the property of the president of the United States! He chewed the legs off two pairs of fifteen dollar trousers and destroyed an edition de luxe of the navy regulations."

Staining Wood Dark Hues.

The appearance of walnut may be given to white woods by painting or sponging them with a concentrated warm solution of permanganate of potassa. The effect is different on different kinds of timber, some becoming stained very rapidly, others requiring more time for this result. The permanganate is decomposed by the woody fiber. Brown peroxide of manganese is precipitated, which is afterward removed by washing with water. The wood, when dry, may be varnished and will be found to resemble very closely the naturally dark woods.—Harper's Magazine.

An Aristocratic Bank.

All the clerks at Coutts' bank in London, where the king and members of the royal family have accounts, must be clean shaven and wear frock coats during banking hours. No bank in the world has so many aristocratic customers as Coutts'. Practically every member of the house of lords banks at the famous house in the Strand, and no other English bank has so many foreign aristocrats on its books.

Not Trained.

Recruiting Officer—You understand the first duty of a soldier is strict obedience to orders. You haven't been used to that, have you?

Awkward—Nope—that is, no, sir. You see I never married.—Philadelphia Record.

Brother Jonathan.

The origin of the term "Brother Jonathan" was as follows: When General Washington went to Massachusetts to organize the army he found a great lack of ammunition and of other necessary means for the conduct of the war, and at one time it seemed quite impossible to arrange things properly. Jonathan Trumbull was then governor of the state of Connecticut, and the general, who placed complete reliance on his excellency's judgment, said, "We must consult Brother Jonathan." He did so, with the satisfactory result that the governor was successful in supplying many of the pressing wants of the army, and thenceforth, whenever difficulties arose and the army spread over the country, "We must consult Brother Jonathan" became a common saying until it passed into a nickname for the whole country.

A Kingdom For a Horse.

The king of England owes his crown to a horse's shoe. The act of settlement by which in 1701 parliament elected the house of Hanover to the British throne, passed the commons by only one majority. This deciding vote was given by Sir Arthur Owen, M. P. for Pembrokeshire, third of his title, who rode post haste from Wales for the purpose. He had relays of fresh horses all along the route, but arrived, dusty and travel worn, at Westminster barely in time to the very minute. Had one of his horses gone lame or cast a shoe he would have been too late.

Holland's Flowers.

The Dutch are a nation of flower lovers, skilled gardeners and inventive farmers. On canal boats, on floating river houses, around farmhouses, in humble village and great city one finds flowers, flowers, flowers. Some one has said that Holland's illustrious conquerors have been her engineers and her florists. Through this flower culture has come her wealth, for this has been one of her chief industries.—Magazine Flowers.

POPULARITY OF BASEBALL.

Qualities In the Game That Endear It to the Public.

There must be special qualities in a game that can take and keep such a hold on millions of hard headed, healthy Americans from boys to earnest old men. What are these qualities? Here is an attempt to define them:

First.—Efficiency. No other spectacle shows the human being to such advantage on the side of efficiency. If polo be mentioned to controvert this it certainly cannot compare in the next three advantages to be mentioned, and the inferiority of the circus the astute reader can figure out also from what follows:

Second.—Visibility. A person who understands the game sees almost every play perfectly. He sees the delivery by the pitcher, the preparation and swing of the batter, the ball dashing away, the rush, grasp and recovery of the infielder, the race of the runner down the line, the catch of the baseman and is ready to dispute with the umpire whether the ball arrived a tenth of a second before or a tenth of a second after the runner.

Third.—Sustained suspense. An English student of American affairs, endeavoring to make his countrymen understand the hold of the game, stated that if they would imagine the most intense moment in the fifth set of a tennis match being played for the championship of the world they might get an idea of the intensity of interest that pertains to a ball game at almost any time in any one of the nine innings.

Fourth.—The democratic background. The interest of watching the experts is inseparable from the fact that almost every boy in the United States is brought up to play the game itself. One sometimes hears it said that watching the game is less desirable than playing it, which is creating an absurd dilemma, as the clerk in a great town, who may be able to spend two hours of healthy interest in the baseball park, could not possibly be indulging in the game himself and also because watching the game makes one all the more eager to play it if he has the chance, just as playing it makes him all the more eager to see how it is played by the greatest experts in the world.—Norman Hapgood in Metropolitan.

OUR WORLD AS A MOON.

Fine Display a Full Earth Would Give to the Selenites.

Were we transported to the planet Venus a peculiar set of views could be obtained of our earth, enabling us to see ourselves, to some extent at least, as others see us. Venus is about the same size as the earth, is somewhat closer to the sun and has more atmosphere than the earth. When the earth and Venus are nearest together they are, of course, on the same side of the sun, and in consequence of this the earth does not see more than a very small part of Venus illuminated, but Venus, on the other hand, sees all of one side of the earth illuminated and is therefore able to claim she has something that takes the place of a moon, for the earth to Venus at this time looks very large and bright, almost as much so as our moon does to us.

If we could see all the illuminated surface of Venus on these occasions we should have quite a distinct second moon. When we do see all of her illuminated surface she is on the opposite side of the sun from us and consequently at an enormous distance, yet she is so brilliant as to prevent us from seeing her surface distinctly.

But to our own moon we appear in the best light as a moon. A full earth as seen from the moon, according to Todd and other astronomers, is a very inspiring sight. It can at once be seen why this is necessarily true. The earth is several times larger than the moon and would appear in the heavens as a disk about fourteen times the size of the moon. It would probably shine with a variable light, due to the shifting clouds of the earth, though the light is, of course, reflected from the sun, and the reflection is due in part to the upper surfaces of the clouds.

The outlines of the continents of the earth appear very clearly to the moon as if they were formed in papier mache on a globe. Cities of comparatively large size could be made out with ease in case observers were there to make them out. The intensity of the reflected earth light would be as much as fourteen moons and would enable the Selenites, if such there were, to read or work in comparative daylight.—Harper's Weekly.

Much Easier.

It is much easier to agree to what you know isn't so than to argue with the man who doesn't know anything about it.—Puck.

Wealth may seek us, but wisdom must be sought.—Edward Young.

No Military Needed.

Thomas McKean, chief justice of Pennsylvania, was a man of gigantic stature and a fiery temper.

A mob in Philadelphia defied the efforts of the sheriff to disperse it. He so reported to Justice McKean, then sitting in full court.

"Have you read the riot act?"

"Yes, your honor. It had no effect."

McKean's eyes flashed dangerously. "Have you ordered out the military?"

"Yes. Shall I fire on them?"

"No; I'll disperse them."

McKean rose and rushed out of the court in his wig and gown, his face flushed with passion, into the midst of the riotous mob.

"I am Thomas McKean, chief justice, and I command you to disperse!" So saying, he seized two of the ringleaders, literally tucked them under his arms and returned to the court, while the crowd crept home, silent as frightened sheep.—Green Bag.

Dickens' List of Names.

It is not really surprising that the names of Dickens' characters, odd as they are, should be found in real life, for it was from life that many of them were taken. Some, as we know, were copied from the names over shop doors, etc. But this was not the novelist's only source of selection. Among his papers John Forster found carefully drawn up lists of names, with the sources from which he obtained them, and the longest lists were those drawn from the "Privy Council Education Lists." Some of the names thus noted are too extravagant for anything but reality—Jolly Stick, Bill Marigold, George Muzzle, William Why, Robert Gospel, Robin Scrubbam, Sarah Goldsacks, Catherine Two, Sophia Doomsday, Rosetta Dust, Sally Gimblet.—London Chronicle.

A Business Victim.

"Does you 'member dat dawg I used to have?" asked Mr. Erastus Pinkley.

"Yes," replied Uncle Rasberry. "You means dat mixed dog?"

"He was kind o' mixed. He was what I calls a black-an'-tan-dale terrier. Well, suh, dat dawg ain' brought me nuffin' but bad luck. I sold 'im to a man foh two dollahs, an' de two dollahs he slipped me were counterfeit."

"What you gineter do?"

"What kin I do? If I shows 'im any way to prove de transaction was unlegal he's gineter make me take de dawg back."—Washington Star.

Good Place to Stop.

"Yes, before papa would consent to my marrying George he insisted on looking up his past life."

"Mercy, that was risky!"

"But he didn't go very far. He stopped just as he found that George was the only nephew of three rich uncles."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Margaret Wore a Beard.

Bearded women have been very numerous. The most noted of the number was the famous Margaret of Austria, appointed by Charles V. to be governor of the Netherlands. She had a long, stiff black beard and, conceiving the idea that it added to the majesty of her appearance, was very careful of it and so combed and trained it as to make it seem much greater than it was.

Her Help.

"The fact of the matter is I never amounted to anything before I was married."

"Then you give your wife credit for awaking your ambition?"

"No; for making it necessary for me to get out and hustle."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Like a Miracle.

"The age of miracles has gone," declared the cynic.

"No, it hasn't," said the woman. "My husband told me this morning that he noticed I was wearing last season's hat and gave me money to buy a new one."—Baltimore American.

Hadn't Heard of Any Other.

Bjones—Don't you think a talkative woman is more popular with the men than any other kind? Henpeckke—What other kind is there?—Philadelphia Record.

Rubbing It In.

"That girl I've been goin' to see ain't got no sense of humor."

"Didn't she laugh when you proposed?"—Houston Post.

FEMININE AUTOCRATS.

Women of Sahara Rule the Men With Rods of Iron.

The Tuaregs, found in the vilayet of Tripoli, are descended from the Auzoriani of old, who in the fourth century took Leptis from the Romans after eight days' siege.

Among the Tuaregs, writes Hanns Vischer in "Across the Sahara," it is man, the brute, who by all the laws of the country has to obey the women. Descent is traced through the mother. Woman shows her proud face to all the world, while the man goes veiled. In the presence of a woman of noble birth men cover their faces and heads altogether. The women give the children what little instruction they have and train them to respect and obey them.

The stick he carries and the great wooden box into which he puts what his wife suffers him to have are all the man possesses and all he retains if for some reason his wife chooses to divorce him.

In Ghat when a man goes out after sunset he is usually followed by a negro servant, sent by his wife to dog his steps, and woe to him if he forgets himself or comes home too late! He will find the door shut and must count himself lucky if he is not put on to the street altogether.

The young man who in spite of all this wants to marry must pay a heavy sum for the bride, to obtain which he is obliged to look for other means than his usual work for the Arab trader. Thus he is forced into taking part in one of the annual rhazzias.

The women decide when the right moment has come, and the men sally forth against some luckless caravan or to the rich highlands of Tibesti.—Detroit Free Press.

Three Essentials For Success.

He who would succeed must arm himself with three vital and most necessary weapons—first, he must have ceaseless industry; second, he must have limitless ambition of purpose; third, he must possess unquenchable enthusiasm, coupled with a determination to succeed. Given these three and something else besides—the gift of imagination—and it matters not, I believe, whether the life of a man begins in a cobbler's shop or a grocery store or whether it begins in such an illuminating joyfulness in beautiful things as that which brightened my early childhood. With any beginning success will, of a surety, be his who makes himself truly deserving of it.—Howard Pyle in Woman's Home Companion.

An Epigram From the Bench.

"Dat wasn't a bad epigram of de judge's," said Plodding Pete.

"What did he say?"

"Thoity days."

"Dat ain't no epigram, is it?"

"Sure it is. I asked a fellow what an epigram is, an' he says it's a short sentence dat sounds light, but gives you considerable to think about."—Washington Star.

Little Children's EYESIGHT should be PRESERVED and PROTECTED for them until they reach the age of discretion!

Often weaknesses of the Eye can be cured during the formative period of childhood by wearing glasses of a proper nature to strengthen the muscles of the eye.

Many children can do without glasses now, because they wore them early enough to relieve the strain. We examine many to see if glasses are necessary.

A Novel Catarrh Remedy Cures Without Drugs

THE HEALING VAPOR OF CATARRHOZONE LOOSENS THE COUGH, STOPS ALL DISCHARGES, PREVENTS SNEEZING.

The real danger of Catarrh lies in putting off treatment. You may have Catarrh yourself, but you may not know it. Before the disease spreads from your nose to the stomach, lungs or bronchial tubes, root it out—cure it with "Catarrhozone." Look over the following symptoms — then examine yourself:

Bad Breath	Stuffy Nostrils
Frequent Sneezing	Ears Buzzing
Watery Eyes	Hacking Cough
Bad Taste	Droppings
Raising Phlegm	Difficult Breathing

Don't continue to burden your system for another day when the germs of such a filthy, loathsome disease as Catarrh. Get Catarrhozone to-day—inhale its soothing vapor, fill your breathing organs with its balsamic essences, and all trace of Catarrh will forever depart. Read what Elwood S. Lee, of Sydenham, Ont., says of his cure with Catarrhozone:

"I was a chronic sufferer from continuous colds in the throat and nose, and for many years have constantly had Catarrh. I was recommended to try Catarrhozone, and find that by using the inhaler on the first touch of a cold or la grippe I am able to stay it in a few hours. I have been ableto breathe through my nose freely since using Catarrhozone; in fact, I am completely cured." (Signed Elwood S. Lee.)

Once you try Catarrhozone you'll realize how indispensable it is—the large dollar size contains an indestructible hard rubber inhaler and sufficient medicine to last for two months. Beware of the substitutor, and imitators of Catarrhozone —use the genuine and you'll get cured. By mail from the Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Ont.

Schools Close June 27

These changes, however, do not affect any of the Public School classes except the entrance classes.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo

Sold by druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

The Peterborough Public Schools close on the afternoon of June 27th and the regular work, including the final promotion examinations will continue until that date.

Pupils missing these final examinations without presenting a doctor's certificate of illness, will have no chance of promotion.

Law Applies in Peterborough

Belleville Ontario: Mr. W. H. Wrightmyer, truant officer for School Section No. 17, Thurlow, laid an information against Mrs. Mary Gould, charging her with neglecting to send her child, under 14 years of age, to school. The case was tried on Wednesday, June 5th at Plainfield before Mr. Alex Moore, J. P. A conviction was registered and $5 fine was levied with costs.

Overhauling the Otonabee.

Mr. Law, representing the syndicate which purchased the steamer Otonabee, has made a start in having the boat put in shape for the season's work. About ten or twelve days will be spent in getting her ready for work, when she will take her departure for Lake Simcoe, where she will remain permanently. In this case Peterborough's loss will be Lake Simcoe's gain.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

DOCTOR TELLS HOW TO SHED BAD COMPLEXION.

We cannot restore degenerated facial tissue, any more than we can restore a lost limb. It is useless to attempt to convert a worn out complexion into a new one. The rational procedure is to remove the devitalized cuticle. Not by surgical means, however, as the underlying cutis is too thin, too tender, to withstand immediate exposure. Applying ordinary mercolized wax will gradually absorb the offending cuticle. By degrees a new, youthful skin appears; a skin soft and delicately tinted as a rose petal.

No lady need hesitate to try this. Procure an ounce of mercolized wax off the druggist. Spread on a thin layer before retiring, removing this in the morning with soap and water. In from one to three weeks the complexion is completely transformed.

An approved treatment for wrinkles is provided by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half-pint of witch hazel. Bathing the face in the solution brings prompt results.—Dr. Rupert Mackenzie in Popular Medicine.

Mr. and Mrs. Hayman left on the midnight for Ottawa, where they will reside.

St. Martin's Church, Ennismore, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Tuesday morning when Miss Agnes Cadigan was united in marriage to Mr. Thos. Quinlan, both the bride and groom being of Ennismore. The Rev. Father Fitzpatrick performed the ceremony, which took place at nine o'clock.

A large number of guests were present. Miss Johanna Cadigan, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and Mr. Mr. Patrick Quinlan was groomsman.

Crough — Killen.

A very pretty wedding was celebrated Tuesday morning in St. Martin's church, Ennismore, when the Rev. Father Fitzpatrick united in marriage Miss Lizzie Killen and Mr Leo. Crough.

Mr. Frank Crough, brother of the groom, acted as groomsman and Miss Flossie Killen, sister of the bride, as bridesmaid.

Both the bride and bridesmaid were attired beautifully in appropriate costumes, and quite an assembly of invited guests, including friends and relatives, were present at the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Crough will reside in Ennismore.

Kinner — Peacock.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in George St. Methodist Church yesterday when Miss Margaret Peacock, of Edinburgh, Scotland, was united in marriage to Mr. Henry Kenner, of Souris, Manitoba. The Rev. Wm. Kenner of this city, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Keith, performed the ceremony.

Amalgamation of Two Companies

THE Renfrew Flour Mills, Limited, has been incorporated under the Ontario Company's Act to take over the plant of the Renfrew Roller Mills, Limited, at Renfrew, Ont., and the waterpower, flour mill, elevator, warehouses, electric light plant, etc., of the Milling Co., at Pakenham, Ont.

The mills of the company are equipped with modern machinery and are in a high state of efficiency.

The Flour Mill at Renfrew has a capacity of 250 barrels a day.
The Elevators at Renfrew have a capacity of 75,000 bushels.
The Elevator at Pakenham has a capacity of 25,000 bushels.

A Valuable Asset

The waterpower at Pakenham is a very valuable asset of the Company. Waterpowers are difficult to secure in Ontario on account of the new government regulations which are designed to place the control of waterpowers with the municipalities and under the supervision of the Hydro-Electric Commission. The fact that the waterpower at Pakenham will be owned absolutely by the Renfrew Flour Mills, Limited, makes stock in the Company even more desirable. The waterpower at this point is not only amply sufficient for all requirements, but for the future needs of the company, should it be deemed advisable to increase the milling capacity of the Pakenham plant.

The Renfrew Flour Mills, Limited, takes over two well established businesses. The company is thus in a position to earn an exceedingly good profit right from the start.

In fact the average yearly net profits for the past five years of one of the mills has been practically sufficient to pay the dividend on the full amount of the preference stock that will be issued.

The Company has no bonded indebtedness. The Preference Shares, therefore, are preferential, both as to assets and to dividend of 7% per annum.

For the guidance of investors, we offer the following examples to show the amount of stock various sums will procure.

FALLS MAN DEAD OR RELATIVES DEFRAUDED

On Getting Cable From Buenos Ayres, $775 Was Sent, But Body Hasn't Arrived.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 13.—Relatives of Harry Ward, the Falls man whose death was announced in a cablegram from the British consul at Beunos Ayres, May 21, to-night believe they may have been the victims of a clever swindle, and that Ward is still alive.

Three cablegrams appealing for money purporting to be from the British consul, were received, and $775 wired by them. Instructions were sent for immediate shipment of the body home, but nothing further has been heard by the relatives here. They appealed to the authorities and the matter is now in the hands of the Attorney-General.

NONE WILL OPPOSE CLOSER TRADE WITH THE EMPIRE

Free Traders and Tariff Reformers Quite in Accord, Assurance of Sydney Buxton--Admiral Seymour, Advocating Imperial Navy, Criticizes Churchill's Policy.

London, June 13.—At a dinner given by the delegates to the Congress of the Chamber of Commerce last night, Sydney Buxton, president of the Board of Trade, said they wanted to bring about throughout the Empire uniformity of law and custom, but, while having simplicity, they must have elasticity. They wanted, whether they were free traders or tariff reformers, to remove all impediments they possibly could between trade in the various parts of the Empire. He looked forward to good results from the imperial trade commission.

Admiral Sir Edward Seymour said the only satisfactory way was for the dominions to contribute money to the imperial navy. We should have one Imperial navy. In time of peace it would be quite right that ships representing sums of money subscribed by different dominions should be employed entirely in these dominions, but they should be ready to be called on by the home government in case of war for service in any part of the world.

"I have watched with regret the withdrawal of our flag and our ships from distant parts of the world. I think it a great mistake. We know why it is done, namely because we are afraid of a certain nation which I need not name. I believe it has been very much overdone, and I hope in the future the matter will be amended," he added.

FARMERS BANK CASE STILL ON

Travers Wanted To Kill Laidlaw, Says Mr. Warren

HE FULLY TRUSTED HIM

Mr. Warren Tells the Story of Loans Made by Trusts and Guarantee Co., to Travers—Not Fair to the Moon, Says Warren, When Investigator Hodgins Referred to Some Travers Talk as "Moonshine."

Toronto, June 13.—"Travers wanted to kill Laidlaw," asserted Mr. James J. Warren, in the course of his evidence before Commissioner Sir William Meredith in the Farmers Bank inquiry at Osgoode Hall to-day. Of course he meant the "kill" in a financial sense.

Mr. Warren, who is managing director of the Trusts and Guarantee Co., which advanced loans to Travers early in the history of the bank, told Sir William that he implicitly trusted Travers, and believed him to be an honorable man in good standing.

Mr. Hellmuth informed Investigator Hodgins that Mr. Matthew Wilson K.C., had returned from a trip abroad, and would be ready to give his evidence Friday morning.

That $80,000 Loan.

James J. Warren took the stand, and Mr. Hodgins questioned him about the $80,000 loan by his corporation to Travers.

"It was the first time I had met Travers, and he impressed me as a man of some standing," said Mr Warren.

He understood that the money was to be used in the organization of the Farmers Bank. Something like $100,000 had been spent to buy notes from the provisional directors and Travers wanted the loan to replace it. He was to make up the difference of $20,000 himself.

"Travers told me that the other banks were unfriendly' did not want any more banks, and one trust company had turned him down, so Mr. J. R. Stratton brought him to me."

"Did Mr. Stratton promise him the loan?"

"No. I don't think so. He did not say very much."

Mr. Warren said Travers offered to pay a bonus of $1,000 for the loan of $80,000.

"That was why you made the loan?"

"If there had been no inducement, we probably would not have loaned him the money," said the witness.

Warren Still a Lawyer.

Mr. Hodgins raised the point of propriety from a legal standpoint of making the loan on such a deal.

"You were a lawyer?" he said.

"I am yet," replied Mr. Warren. "I still pay my fees and am in good standing."

He consulted Mr. W. H. Hunter on the matter before the deal was made, "as I considered him one of the best corporation lawyers in the country" and Mr Hunter reported that the security of the notes given by the provisional directors was quite safe on which to make the loan.

"The deal was directly with Travers," and we had no recourse against the bank," testified Mr. Warren.

An insurance company had put up $56,000 of the $80,000 and the balance had been loaned by the trust company. They divided the bonus in

NO HOME RULE FOR 'PRENTICE BOYS, WHO WILL FIGHT IT

Will Send Men and Money to Ireland in Opposition if it is Forced on Ulster--Bilingual Schools Also Are Condemned, and Manitoba Schools Are Being Watched

Toronto, June 13.—The near approach of Irish Home Rule and the danger of the British Government attempting its enforcement, formed the subject of a long debate by the speakers at the closing day of the convention of the Protestant Association of Prentice Boys of British North America at Victoria Hall yesterday and culminated in the following resolution: "We, as an association, are opposed to Home Rule in Ireland or having the Protestants of Ireland oppressed in any way by the federal government of Great Britain or of John Redmond and William O'Brien. Time, money and men will be at our brethren's hand if the enforcement of home rule is attempted upon the brethren of Ulster, Londonderry or on the Protestants of Ireland."

TWO FREIGHT TRAINS IN A REAR END COLLISION ON C. P. R.

About 6.30 o'clock last evening, a freight from the west pitched into the rear end of another freight which was doing some shunting on a siding on the C.P.R. main line. The van and a car of furniture and a car of merchandise were smashed to kindling wood, and everything in them destroyed. Two first-class coaches, which were empty, were badly wrecked. One was a brand new Intercolonial coach just out of the shops and had never been used, while the other was a C.P.R. day coach. The main line was blocked until 10 o'clock.

The auxiliary came up from Havelock with all the available men and cleared what they could of the wreck; they then moved the main line track several feet north, which allowed passenger and freight trains to proceed on their way. The damage will run into several thousand dollars.

Mr. Pinchin, the C.P.R. detective, notified Chief Howard of the local brigade as soon as the wreck occurred, and asked him to be prepared to render assistance in case the wreckage caught fire. The Chief ordered his buggy with two men and fire extinguishers to go to the wreck at once. Just as the firemen arrived the wreckage caught fire in two places, but the firemen, being right on the scene, were able to extinguish the blaze before it got any headway.

This accident occurred in exactly the same place as another serious accident happened about two years ago, when a rear end collision happened and some trainmen were injured and several freight cars of merchadise were demolished by fire. Fortunately no persons were injured in last night's accident,

Capt. Carson's Work.

Lindsay Post: Tuesday evening the fishery patrol boat Naiad, Capt Carson in command, steamed into Lindsay port after doing patrol work on other stretches of the Trent waterway. That Capt. Carson is doing a good work in running down lawbreakers is evident from the fact that he had with him about 1,500 feet of net which he had seized. The captain is a terror to evil doers and sweeps down on them when they least expect it. As a result of his efforts the law is pretty generally observed.

The Naiad left for Port Perry this morning and will cruise in that vicinity for a few days.

SOUTH AFRICA BLACK NATION

When Mines Give Out Whites May Leave.

LIVING ON CAPITAL

Certain Results of Present Policy When the Mines Give out — No Agriculture nor Manufactures — Whites Do Not Work.

(Special to The Times)

Johannesburg, June 13.—Outwardly there is little to complain of in the condition of South Africa at the moment. So far there is nothing to justify the pessimistic forecast that 1912 will witness the beginning of another cycle of depression. Trade is better than in the two preceding years, both of which broke records. The gold output of the Rand mounts ever higher. The depression in the diamond trade is over.

There are occasional grumblings at the shortage of black labor, but these howls have gone up ever since Van Riebeek started his garden on the shores of Table Bay two and a half centuries ago. From the political speeches of the hour you would imagine that the process of building up a great white nation in South Africa was going forward smoothly and rapidly. Yet it is difficult to see how any far-sighted South African can be wholly satisfied, for the truth is, the country is drifting. It always has drifted and the danger is that it is now drifting to a standstill.

Product of Mines Its Chief Asset.

South Africa is living on its capital. If you look at the classified exports for last year you will find that the produce of the mines yielded $226,504,645. But the produce of all this immense erea of land, agricultural and pastoral, brought in only $46,230,670. And the exports of "all other articles" reached the absurd total of $1,573,660. Look at the revenue of the Union. Deduct from it the mining taxation, the profit earned by the State railways on the traffic to and from the mining areas and the customs duties paid on imports for those areas. What is left amounts to very little. Take the social life of the Union. Strive out all the people who earn a living directly or indirectly from the mines. When you have finished you will find left the small, scattered, primitive population of the fifties and sixties of last century.

Whether South Africa digs up more and more gold and diamonds every year and lives well upon the proceeds does not affect the argument. For it would only mean that her capital would be sooner exhausted. The country is acting to-day as though both were crops. Some South Africans really seem to think that gold and diamonds can be planted. The capital is going. And there is no sinking fund. It may take twenty or forty years before the output of mineral wealth begins to diminish. Estimates of the life of the wonderful gold reef of the Rand differ. In any case the period is not long in the life of a nation. We are getting the wealth out of the ground faster and faster. But what is being done to provide industries to take the place of the one which cannot last forever.

The Race Problem.

Even more serious is the race aspect of the problem. Racially South Africa is drifting. Save for the albany settlers in the cape, the Byrne settlers in Natal, and a few smaller schemes of the same kind, it always has drifted. To-day the black population is growing faster than the white and by 1960 there will be twelve millions of colored people in South Africa, and only three millions of white and even those depressing figures depend upon the progress of to-day being maintained. But an alarming percentage of the whites live upon the mining industry. If that industry begins to dwindle and nothing else takes its place, the white population must inevitably dwindle also. Remember, white men do not as a rule work on the land in South Africa as a laborers. They are the overseers and the skilled men. When the production of gold and diamonds be-

CANADA ON BRINK CIVIL WAR FOLLOWING RIELS EXECUTION

Sir John A. Macdonald, Says "La Presse," Dared Secretary of State Chapleau to Resign and Cause Bloodshed --Minister Recoiles From Responsibility.

Montreal, June 13.—Some days ago Le Canada published an article headed "Souvenirs of 1885," the same being attributed to the pen of Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux. Speaking of the death of Riel, Le Canada said:

"Chapleau was to have resigned. As matter of fact he sent in his resignation to Sir John Macdonald, and the question is, what induced him to withdraw? We must risk a reply," continued Le Canada, "but we must be just to the dead."

La Presse states:

"We know what took place the night of Nov. 16. Chapleau has, as a matter of fact, placed his resignation in the hands of Sir John, but why did he withdraw it? Here are the facts: When Chapleau, as Secretary of State, said he would not approve of the execution at Regina, and that he would have to go against his leader with his Province of Quebec, Sir John replied very coldly and with the greatest possible determination in his voice: "All right; with the Province of Quebec; but I will remain with the Province of Ontario, and before a month blood will flow in this country as there will be a civil war. Will you accept the responsibility?"

Almost Civil War.

La Presse continuing, saying:—"Those who took part in the events of 1885, know that Sir John did not exaggerate the situation, as it only required a movement of this kind and the two races would have been at each others' throats. As for the responsibility, Sir John Macdonald accepted it, and it was up to Chapleau to decide what he was going to do. More human and conscientious than Sir John, Chapleau asked time for reflection. He left the office of the first minister and wired several friends to come to Ottawa without delay. They did not reach the capital until the following morning, and they found Chapleau walking to and fro in his office, not having slept a wink during the night. 'My friends,' he said, 'I wanted to consult with you, but it is now too late. I thought the matter over all night, and I have decided that I have no right to take the responsibility of civil war in this country, and I withdrew my resignation before you arrived for fear you might persuade me to change my mind.'"

BUCKHORN DAM CLAIMS WILL RECEIVE EVERY CONSIDERATION

The article in yesterday's Times anent the Buckhorn dam has created considerable comment. If it can be shown that the dam is at fault in not being provided with sufficient sluiceways for the escape of the water, those injured will have just grounds for claiming damages.

This dam was built by the late Government, and is evidently one of the many troubles of a similar nature which the Borden administration has fallen heir to.

Those who have suffered loss may be assured of sympathetic action by Hon. Mr. Cochrane, Minister of Railways and Canals. Mr. Burnham informed The Times yesterday when discussing the matter, that if the dam raised the water above normal, those whose property was flooded on the lakes and rivers above, may depend on being fairly treated.

OUR CREDIT IS STRAINED IN GREAT BRITAIN, SAYS RUMOR

London, June 13.—A London cable reports that the Algoma Steel Corporation issue of £1,120,000 fives at 93 has proved a failure, and the underwriters have had to take 96 per cent. The bond is admittedly a good one but the present market conditions are very adverse, indeed.

High financial authorities take a serious view of the effect, most unpleasant to Canadian interests, which is certain to follow the present overstraining of the London Bond Market.

A leading Anglo-Canadian banker said to-day: "You should warn Canadian municipalities and Provincial Governments that the state of congestion here was never worse than now. Many loans are unabsorbed, and the public are not applying for new issues. Unless Canadian issues slacken we shall soon reach the point when they cannot be even underwritten here.

"Canada must for years to come depend so largely upon British credit that want of restraint and judgment at this juncture, especially on the part of Provincial Governments and municipalities, will cause the bottom to drop out of Canadian credit, and Canada will be refused money at any price in reason. The situation may well become extremely grave if Canadian authorities continue to neglect warnings from disinterested London friends."

The heavy pressure which some Canadian municipalities are putting upon the London bond market is doubtless due to the anxiety of Canadian bankers to pass on to the English public large temporary loans they have made to municipalities on treasury bills.

CARRIED 147,629 CARS OF WHEAT FROM THE WEST

Winnipeg, June 12.—It is estimated in official circles that there is about 16,000,000 bushels of grain in the country yet to be marketed and that the 190 per cent increases in May and June shipments of grain will be duplicated for the next two or three months until the country completely recovers from the effects of last winter's blockade. When final returns are in the crop will be in excess of the 1908 harvest by 75 per cent.

The enormity of the crop increases in the west and of the problem of more transportation facilities is indicated by the crop returns issued today by G. F. Stephen, general freight agent of the C.N.R. Between the dates of September 1 and May 31 a total of 147,629 cars of wheat were handled by all the railroads operating in the grain carrying business in western Canada. For a similar period last year only 80,664 cars were handled. This shows an increase in the one year of 66,965 cars, or of 83 per cent. Mr. Stephen points out that May and June shipments on his own and all roads shows great increases over those of previous years.

The individual increases for the various roads for the year are: C. P. R., 69.9; C.N.R., 86.1; G.T.P., 85.4; For the month of May in the present year the C.P.R. handled 6,664 cars, the C.N.R., 3,664, G.T.P., 344 and G.N.R. 392. The total carried is 11,226 cars, showing an increase of 190 per cent over last year. June, it is thought, will show greater increases.

GIRLS MAY BID FOR BACHELORS

Boston, June 13.—An auction sale of ten or Dorchester's most eligible bachelors will be one of the features of the Dorchester Club field day, on the club grounds, Talbot Avenue, tomorrow.

Thomas W. Lawson has been invited by Mayor Fitzgerald to wield the gavel, and the Mayor himself will act as auctioneer during the sale. Only the feminine guests will be permitted to compete.

The ten victims to go under the hammer were selected at a special meeting held last night. The names of those who will be auctioned off to the highest bidder are being kept a profound secret, but the Mayor vouches for the fact that they are ten of the most attractive young men connected with the organization. The youngest is 22, and the oldest is a few years on the sunny side of the 30 mark.

Terms of the Sale.

The purchasers of the eligibles, according to the terms of the sale, will have the exclusive company of those whom they succeed in buying during the exercises in connection with the garden party. It shall be the duty of the purchased to supply his fair companion with any of the attractive articles on sale at the grounds, serve as exclusive partner during the dances, and in general see that those who invest secure a good bargain. The matter of making it an absolute bill of sale is left to the purchaser and the purchased.

Hold Old-Fashioned Midway.

The auction sale is but one of a number of novel attractions which have been arranged for the garden party. There will be the old-fashioned midway with its numerous attractions, a vaudeville show, dancing, and a reception to the Olympic winners in the clubhouse.

The proceeds of the party will be directed towards the clubhouse fund.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the State's area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundred of thousands of acres of its best priairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 66 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company. Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. Law, Ontario, Manager. 45 Cecil street, Toronto. D-6 in J4

This Interesting Letter is Addressed to YOU

SIR :—

It is a favorite form of mental culture with many people to trace results back to causes. Have you ever applied it to the gowth of a city?

Travel was the original cause of our modern Canadian and American cities. Travel by the early pioneers of civilized nations, often at the cost of their lives.

Years ago, one of these pioneers of the western plains crossed a river at a time when the North-West Territories formed the grazing grounds for buffalo and antelope. While making the crossing his primitive wagon broke down. He made his repairs with rope and the jaw of a moose found by the side of the trail. His Indian companions called the spot "The place where the white chief mended his cart with the jaw of a moose."

A frail cause seemingly, for great results. But the prosperous city of Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, stands as the result of the pioneers accident. Not all at once, but through various stages, each more important than the last. The traveller talked—probably of the good water and the grazing land. These all important factors to the settler became known. Others began to investigate, a settlement formed, and Moose Jaw came into existence.

In the year 1902 a great rush of settlers to the west took place. This movement has been called the "American Invasion," but it included thousands from the Eastern Provinces of Canada. News of the Great West had spread, the Soo Branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway from Portal on the Southern Canadian Boundary line had been completed, and the great wheat belt of Canada began its period of prosperity.

The city of Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, in the heart of this area, was the point chosen as most suitable for this great artery to meet the trans-continental main line. Over this route thousands of cars of effects owned by settlers from the United States are carried yearly.

Suddenly other railway corporations discovered that the Canadian Pacific Railway had the monopoly of the business of Moose Jaw, and the wealthy territory behind it. They saw the Canadian Pacific Railway make Moose Jaw its chief divisional point in Saskatchewan with the greatest yards west of Winnipeg, costing with other improvements, over $1,000,000.

Competition for the great volume of business was aroused, until to-day there are eleven lines either completed, under construction, or chartered.

The soil has attracted the settler—great freight, cattle, and grain shipments have attracted the railway companies, and as a final result Moose Jaw has in a few years become a city with possibilities unsurpassed in the West.

While this result has been accomplished, you can judge the effect on Real Estate values. But the increase in values in this city will be greater in the future than in the past.

Had that pioneer settled at the river crossing, and owned the townsite of Moose Jaw he could have been a millionaire to-day—but he missed an opportunity. You have your pressing opportunity in our unique residential sub-division, Boulevard Heights. Do not miss it. Big sales are reported daily, prices are going up, and you can have a share in this profit taking. A payment of $10.00 forwarded to-day will secure you an interest in a sound investment, to which there is no interest.

The Latin of It.

There is in a certain city a lady librarian with a fondness for Latin phrases that sometimes require more than a knowledge of Latin to fathom. Recently a visitor to the library inquired pleasantly how she had spent her vacation, to which the lady librarian replied idly, "Oh, I just took a little jaunt up to New York via train and came home vice versa."

"You returned—how?" gasped the visitor.

W. PERCY GILLESPIE, ESQ., W. Percy Gillespie & Co., Investment Brokers, Toronto, Ont.

In offering these shares for investment, we feel that we are inviting the public to purchase stock in an industry in which the profits are very large, and the demand for the product is ever increasing.

It is a well known fact that the shares of our Canadian Tanneries are very closely held, and the public seldom have an opportunity of procuring any.

On March 11th, 1912, the Burgesses of the Town of Aurora voted in favor of granting The Collis Leather Company, Limited, a cash bonus of Ten Thousand Dollars, the Company's property to exempt from Taxation for Ten Years (except school tax) and it has also been granted water from the Town free for all time.

The factory is now under construction, to be completed on or before the 1st Day of July, 1912, and will be 150 feet long by 50 feet wide, and four storys high.

The Company's specialty will be the manufacture of calf leather.

Mr. Walter Collis has had over Thirty Years' experience as a tanner, and thoroughly understands all departments of the business. Mr. Collis will have direct charge of the Tannery.

The capacity of the factory will be Eighteen Hundred calfskins per day, or an average of Eighteen Thousand Feet per day. A most conservative estimate of the net profit is one-half cents per foot

Estimated Net Profits:

18,000 ft. per day, one-half cent per foot, $90.00, with 300 working days per year ...	$27,000.00
Less business insurance and depreciation per year	7,000.00
Or approximately 20 per cent on entire issued capital.	$20,000.00

The Company has purchased from Mr. Collis all his Tanning formula, and will issue in payment thereof One Hundred shares of fully paid up stock.

Of the total amount of shares offered for sale, the Directors have subscribed for more than one-third.

CRIME IN CANADA.

A blue book containing the criminal statistics of the Dominion for the year ending Sept. 30, 1910, has just been issued. During the time covered by the publication there were 15,305 charges and 11,700 convictions for indictable offenses in the various provinces of the Dominion as against 15,350 charges and 11,440 convictions during the previous twelve months. This shows a decrease of forty-five in the number of charges and an increase of two hundred and fifty-one convictions. The increase in the convictions may be taken as an indication that the law is being enforced with greater regularity as time goes on.

When one takes into consideration the growth of the Dominion in one year by immigration alone, the figures above indicate that the people of Canada are much too busy to commit much serious crime. There is, however, one feature of the report that is worth serious consideration, and that is an increase in youthful crime that requires the attention of those who are interested in the various social organizations for the improvement of the alien child.

In the year 1910 there were only one hundred and seventy-six convictions for adulteration of food, as against two hundred and twelve for the preceding year—and that too for a year which shows a high percentage of convictions; this fact, should go some way to prove that Canada is on the highway to pure food, and that the horrible substitutes of a few years ago are steadily on the decline.

Highway robberies were three to one in 1909 over 1910.

Offenses against property without violence showed a decrease of twenty-one in the number of charges, but horse and cattle stealing, which come under this classification, showed a slight increase. At the same time the convictions were eighty-nine per cent. of the charges, so that fewer got away with their thefts.

UNITED STATES AND CUBA.

The question of the right of the United States to intervene in Cuban affairs was raised in the Senate some days ago by the introduction of a resolution by Senator Bacon of Georgia asking Congress to define the conditions under which the American government can, under the Platt amendment, interfere to maintain order and protect life and property. This resolution seems altogether unnecessary. The Platt amendment to the treaty between the United States and Cuba, made in 1903, reads as follows:

> "The government of Cuba consents that the United States may exercise the right to intervene for the preservation of Cuban independence, the maintenance of a government adequate to the protection of life, property and individual liberty, and for discharging the obligations with respect to Cuba imposed by the treaty of Paris on the United States, now to be assumed and undertaken by the government of Cuba."

This means that whenever the United States government is convinced that it is necessary either to preserve the independence of Cuba or afford adequate protection of life, property and personal liberty, it can take the initiative. And this initiative is a duty devolved primarily on the executive. Intervention, under the treaty agreement, is not an act of war against Cuba, but an act for the aid and protection of Cuba. The United States is pledged to maintain the independence of Cuba, and it is only when Cuba proves powerless to maintain an orderly independent government that intervention by the United States is expected to assume a permanency of process that will develop into appropriation and annexation.

The landing of American marines in the disaffected districts of the island republic is in response to the representations of American, British and other interests which have large financial investments in property at the mercy of the insurgent forces. It is to be remembered that Canada has a great amount of capital invested in Cuba. The protection of all this property is, of course, the duty of the Cuban government. Failing of that protection the power nearest the scene of the outbreak is asked to safeguard the interests of foreigners in the republic. That power happens to be the United States.

Editorial Notes

Should Colonel Roosevelt be thrown down at the Republican convention, the Ottawa Citizen says he will bite several large hunks out of the scenery of the United States.

It appears that the rain-making fakers have been operating in Michigan, and the people out there have paid to learn that it is just as easy to make rain with dynamite as it is to make dynamite with rain.

The Chicago papers announce that the final arrangements for the Republican National Convention have been completed. This means no doubt that the police force has been increased and the militia are under arms.

Capt. Lord of the steamship California has been dismissed from the service for failing to respond to the distress signals from the Titanic. The punishment scarcely seems adequate when it is considered that his dereliction of duty was, in all probability, the cause of the loss of 1,500 lives.

ARREST SOCIALISTS

Turkish Government Takes Severe Measures Against Agitators.

Salonica, Turkey, June 12.—When laying the foundation stones of the new station yesterday, David Bey, minister of works, made a strong attack on Socialism, which, he said, was the cause of the sudden arrest of industrial development in Turkey. M. Vlahoff, a Socialist candidate and several comrades, were arrested yesterday during the elections on a charge of obstruction. David Bey today confirmed the decision of the Government to engage four British officers to reorganise the Macedonian Gendarmery.

"You told Mr. Hunter to examine the proceedings of the provisional directors?"

"I can't say just what words I used, but I told him to examine the proceedings."

"What did he report?"

"That Mr. Travers' title to the notes was good."

"Of course you knew that this loan was to be used in completing the government deposit?"

"No, I didn't."

"Did he not mention the Government deposit?"

"I guess he did."

Mr. Warren admitted that he had an idea that the destination of the loan would be the Government deposit, but Travers had not directly said so.

Travers Angry Only Once.

Only once did he see Travers angry, and that was when he raised the point of having his security in due legal form. Mr. Hunter quieted Travers on this occasion.

"You left the legal side of the matter to Hunter, and he did not tell you of any of the actions of the provisional directors?"

"He did not."

"Did he give you a written opinion?"

"No, not a bill of costs."

"I can understand that."

"How was Travers to pay you off in a month?"

"After he was to get the bank organized he said he would discount the notes and pay us back."

"Why such an arrangement when the easier way would be for him to pay you back when the Government returned his deposit? Did that not strike you?"

"I did not think much about it."

"And when he began paying you back, did you not wonder how he got the cash when he had not discounted the notes? Did it not make you curious?"

"No," said Warren, "when a man comes in and gives me $25,000, I take it without asking questions."

"But I think any man would wonder where the money would come from."

After Travers had made two payments by check on the loan he asked Warren to let those payments stand as a deposit to his credit, and to extend the loan.

Swayed By Sympathy for Travers

"I felt sympathetic for him because the other banks were fighting him, and saw the insurance company. Then it was arranged."

"Did it seem strange to you that the day after he paid off the loan he wanted to get it all back again?"

"I accepted his explanation."

A further loan of $20,000 was made later when Travers explained that a creditor had failed to pay him that amount. He did not consult Mr. Hunter on that, considering the security sufficient. This, also, was to complete the Government deposit.

Regarding the trouble that William Laidlaw was making for Travers among some stockholders in Halton county, Travers wanted to buy the stock of the dissatisfied stockholders.

"Did you know that the Laidlaw action, if pressed, would prevent the organization of the bank?"

"No."

"Did you not have Mr. Hunter look after this?"

"No."

"Travers Wanted to Kill Laidlaw"

"Travers," testified the witness, "was fighting Laidlaw. He wanted to kill Laidlaw. Laidlaw, he said, wanted to be the bank's solicitor, and if he was, there would be no more trouble."

"Travers was anxious to get the money to buy out the Halton men?"

"I don't know that he was anxious."

"Not even in view of the fact that he pledged his life insurance to get it?"

"It was a calm business transaction, as far as I could see."

After Travers had frequently drawn on his account Warren told him that his account was "too liquid"—it was bobbing up and down, and was too unstable to be of any value to the trust company. After that he ceased paying interest to Travers on his deposit, Travers consenting.

Regarding the Trust Company's deposits in the Farmers' Bank, Mr. Warren said: "I trusted Travers absolutely—I thought him an honorable man and never suspected that the bank was not solvent."

Travers told him about "the private business" in Peterborough, where another bank "sort of drew away" his branch in Peterborough, taking his manager and most of his deposits in one day, forcing him to meet unexpected demands.

"I said at the time that it was not a nice thing for a bank to do to a young bank."

Another bank had done much the same thing in Lindsay, and Travers talked of taking action for conspiracy against them.

Worse Than Moonshine.

Then it was that Travers came along and asked a loan of $100,000 on the security of a couple of hundred thousand dollars in farmers' notes.

"He said he had three-quarters of a million dollars in farmers' notes scattered through the country."

"Of course this was all moonshine"

"Don't know that it's fair to call it that—not fair to the moon," said Warren.

Later Travers wanted the loan on Keeley mine security, and after Travers paid a Sunday visit to Mr. Stratton the loan was made.

Mr. Warren took the stand again this afternoon.

HATCH A MURDER PLOT IN PRISON

Italian Counterfeiters Put Death Sign on Judge and Detective

New York, June 13.—Behind the bars of the Federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., several members of the Lupo-Morello gang of counterfeiters and murderers have hatched a plot to assassinate Wm. J. Flynn, chief of the local division of the secret service who ran the counterfeiters to bay, and Judge George W. Ray, of the United States District Court, who sentenced the coiners to terms of from fifteen to thirty years at hard labor. One of the Sicilians told of the plot, which was hatched last December, when two Sicilians who visited Ignazio Lupro, known as "The Wolf," were told to kill the secret service chief.

Even while the trial of this gang of counterfeiters was going on, Judge Ray received a threat of death at his home in Chenango county, in a letter which read

"If Lup. Morello and their companions are not liberated, you will die like a dog. We have killed better men than you, Smith, or Flynn."

The Smith referred to was Abel I. Smith, the assistant United States attorney who prosecuted the counterfeiters.

Chief Flynn said that he knew that this gang, which knows who killed Detective Petrosini in Italy, was seeking his life. Chief Flynn said that the Lupo gang had decreed in Atlanta prison the death of certain Italians, and that three of them had been killed.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, June 13.—There was less demand for Manitoba spring wheat from foreign buyers, but the bids from London for low grades would bring back cost, while for the high grades they were 1½c to 2c per bushel below cost. Cables from London stated that all the flour mills have shut down and vessels were returning to this port with all their grain on board on account of the strike. The local demand for oats was better and sales of 100,000 bushels of No. 2 Canadian western and sample grades were made to arrive. Flour is quiet but firm. Millfeed steady. The butter situation is unsettled, owing to the more liberal arrivals. Cheese is steady with a better demand from over the cable. Eggs fairly active and demand for provisions fair.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, June 13.—At the Canadian Pacific Live Stock Market receipts for the week ending June 8 were [illegible] cattle, [illegible] sheep and lambs, [illegible] hogs and [illegible] calves. The supplies on the market this morning for sale consisted of [illegible] cattle, [illegible] sheep and lambs, [illegible] hogs and [illegible] calves.

A firm feeling prevailed in the market for cattle at the increase in prices noted earlier in the week. Demand was good and an active trade was done. Really choice steers were scarce and sales of such were made at [illegible] to [illegible], good at [illegible] to [illegible], fair at [illegible] to [illegible] and the lower grades at [illegible] to $7 per cwt. Good to choice butcher cows were strong and prices were steady. Choice sold at [illegible] to [illegible]; good, at [illegible] to $7, and common all the way from [illegible] to [illegible]. Bulls were firm at [illegible] to [illegible] for choice and the lower grades sold from that down to [illegible] per cwt.

Supplies of small meats were larger than they have been of late for which the demand was active and sales of old sheep were made at [illegible] to [illegible], spring lambs at [illegible] to [illegible] and calves at [illegible] to [illegible] each. There was no further change in the hog market, the feeling being easy the recent decline in prices on account of the liberal supplies coming forward and still lower prices are anticipated in the near future.

MORE CAREERS FOR WOMEN

Bill In British Commons A Long Way In Advance

London, June 13.—The project of the Commons Viscount Wolmer has asked leave to introduce a bill to enable women to become barristers, solicitors, or parliamentary agents.

Of the many problems which confront those who endeavor to direct into profitable channels the abilities of women of the educated classes, none is more difficult than that which concerns the gentle nurtured woman who is the victim of some sudden calamity. Having never been in the circle of professional women, they are often utterly at a loss how to proceed they insist on undertaking work in an amateur way, and inevitably must swell the number of the unemployed, or still worse possibly, the unemployable, unless something is done. Others, again, want to change their work at an age when such a course means disaster; they need to be encouraged and shown either that the proposed step is economically unsound, or that by adapting their minds to new ideas some other more promising way may be found of earning a living. Others have had serious health failure, often added to by the strain of supporting relatives who are more or less dependent upon them—these and a hundred other reasons make their position critical.

For women in this position the Central Bureau for the Employment of Women (5 Prince's street, Cavendish Square, W.), endeavors with good results to deal, as is shown in its 14th annual report, just issued. The report lays stress on the fact that its records show that a large percentage of this class is under 30 years of age "Each year a number of these people climb into the atmosphere of healthy and congenial work—but the difficulties are great—and, of course, the whole capacity of the bureau is given to such people gladly. It is for the maintenance of this department that we need greatly increased help from outside."

This is what may be called the subnormal work of the bureau. The normal work, in which the bureau is increasingly successful, deals with girls from college or school who are needing advice as to openings or training, and the placing of such girls when trained, or the advising and placing of already trained and efficient women. This side of the work embraces the Students' Career Association, the Research and Intelligence Department the bureau training in method, the registry, and a part of the loan fund and publications departments. Through the agency over 1,200 women found suitable situations last year.

CLAIM BOYS ARE UNFED

English National Food Reform Association Takes Matters Up At Conference.

London, June 12.—Great interest has been aroused among public school masters and parents all over the country by the question of the alleged inadequate or improper feeding of public school boys, which came up for discussion at the National Food Reform Association's conference at the Guild hall last week.

Mrs. M. H. Bailey, the wife of the vicar of Christ Church, Forest Hill, who has made a special study of English public school education and life, is convinced that the entire system is overripe for reform, and makes a sweeping indictment of the food provided at the average school.

"The public school boy has not only too much exercise and too little rest," said Mrs. Bailey, "but he does not receive sufficient food for the physical and mental work required of him.

"The plentiful table of his earlier years, which he needs even more when at school, is a thing of the past. His breakfast is meagre, while his dinner is insufficient, generally of poor quality and lacking in nutrition, and too often composed of made-up dishes, with a minimum of green vegetables and an essence of fresh fruit, which are so essential for the purity of his blood.

"The substantial meal about seven o'clock that his sisters almost invariably enjoy at their schools is nearly always lacking in his case.

"What can you expect, however," Mrs. Bailey continued, "when at some of our public schools the bursar receives a percentage for keeping down the bill below a certain sum, while in others, twelve cents is the recognized bursar's allowance for a boy's breakfast and tea, including his own profits.

"I make no plea for luxuries in the way of eating, merely for the four square meals a day, which any healthy, growing boy can comfortably put away, and which are amply paid for by his parents. No gardener brings a flower or fruit to perfection by stinting it for moisture, nourishment and sunshine.

"The feeding of boys at the public schools to-day is, I consider, nothing short of a scandal."

THE OTTAWA FAIR

DOMINION FAIR ENTRIES MUST BE MADE EARLIER THIS YEAR

The holding of the Dominion Exhibition in conjunction with the Central Canada, Ottawa, this year, necessitates the making of all entries a couple of weeks earlier than usual. The Dominion Fair dates are from September 5th to 16th. August 20th has been fixed as the last day for receiving entries. In the past entries were received at Ottawa Exhibitions up to within a couple of days of the opening. The change of regulation in this respect is so considerable and so imperative that the management is using every means to notify farmers, stockmen and others concerned. The work of classifying and compiling the lists will be enormously increased for the Dominion Exhibition. Even in past years exhibitors have found it to their advantage to get through with the routine of making entries before the bustle of the last few days. The 1912 prize list will be ready for mailing to applicants in a few days, and any other information in regard to making entries will be furnished by Manager, E. McMahon, 26 Sparks street, Ottawa.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on Varicose Veins. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than rogues. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skilful. I wrote them and got The New Method Treatment. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn [illegible] a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning [illegible] and never loose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment.

gins to fall away the numerical preponderance of the colored people over the white people must increase with greater rapidity. The growth of the blacks will be accompanied by an exodus of whites.

Without a change for fifty years it is almost certain South Africa will be a black man's land in the end. There may be a million—two million if you like—white landowners, overseers, merchants, professional men, etc., but they will float upon a great black sea. They will be outnumbered by ten or twelve to one by the colored men. And the way in which the countrydrifts along, living upon its capital, thoughtless of the future, must hasten the day. When the mines begin to be exhausted there will be fewer reasons why white men should remain in the sub-continent. The idea of a self-governing white nation will have to be abandoned if this is to be the future.

Nothing but a national realization of the danger can save Africa from drifting back into the hands of the black races. From the capital which is now being exhausted so thoughtlessly there should be set aside every year a definite sum to be devoted solely to building up new industries and making South Africa more attractive to white people. We must offer work to white men, and break down the prejudice against doing unskilled labor. Adopt this policy, adhere to it firmly, year after year in the face of every difficulty, and South Africa may yet support a white nation and at the same time find use for the muscle of its blacks.

Drift, and the grandsons of the white South Africans of to-day will leave these shores declaring that the land of their birth can offer them nothing, and fit only for "niggers."

THE DOMINION FAIR

HANDSOME LITHOGRAPHS FOR THE BIG FAIR AT OTTAWA.

The big, showy lithographs which will blaze forth the main features of the Central Canada Exhibition of 1912 in Ottawa are being sent abroad. For the next three months these sheets will stand conspicuously at railway stations and other public resorts of the country. The three sheet poster of the Ottawa Fair is an annual issue and the people of Central Canada have learned to watch for its appearance with a great deal of interest. In attractiveness of design, and in the excellence of the exhibition features which it announces, the poster of 1912 surpasses all its predecessors.

The most important fact proclaimed, of course, is the holding of the Dominion Exhibition, with its $50,000 federal bonus, in conjunction with the Central Canada. Illustrating the National character of the event appears the Dominion coat of arms in the upper portion of the print. The increase of prize money, by 50 per cent., and the extension of low railway rates over five provinces are Dominion Exhibition features noted.

Mention is made of the new $90000 machinery hall, and attention is called to the "Omdurman" military pageant, pyrotechnics, balloon ascensions, grand stand attractions, and the wealth of industrial displays. Stress is laid on the continuance of the exhibition programme during the seven whole days and nights, September 7th to 14th inclusive. The Fair opens September 5th and closes September 16th.

Exhibitors are warned that entries must be made not later than August 20th. In view of the magnitude of the Dominion Exhibition, more time is required than in the past to handle this branch of the work.

CHEMICALS IN WOOD.

Why Timber Cut in Winter is Better Than That Cut in Summer.

Timber cut in spring and in summer is not so durable as that cut in winter. The durability depends not only upon the greater or less density, but also upon the presence of certain chemical constituents in the wood.

Thus a large proportion of resinous matter increases the durability, while the presence of easily soluble carbohydrates diminishes it considerably.

During the growing season the wood of trees contains sulphuric acid and potassium, both of which are solvents of carbohydrates, starch, resins and gums. They are known to soften also the ligneous tissue to a considerable degree.

During the summer months the wood of living trees contains eight times as much sulphuric acid and five times as much potassium as it does during the winter months. The presence of these two chemical substances during the growing season constitutes the chief factor in dissolving the natural preservatives within the wood and in preparing the wood for the different kinds of wood destroying fungi.—Scientific American.

KAISER OBJECTS BITTER ATTACK

Leading Newspaper Accuses The Emperor

A POLICY ABANDONED

"Die Post," Leading Monarchical Journal, Claims Germany to Be In a Critical Condition.

Berlin, June 11.—It is not very often that the Kaiser sees anything but praise of himself in the Conservative German Press, but one strongly monarchical paper, "Die Post," uses the opportunity of the highly unpopular Crown Prince having just attained his thirtieth year to make a rather long list of the present Kaiser's shortcomings and to express the wish that the son may make up for the deficiencies of the father, whose "tired resignation" it thinks threatens to send the country to the dogs.

Gloomy indeed is the picture the Post writer draws of Germany's present condition; her frontiers surrounded by booty-seeking foes, her national feeling "watered and sanded," herself torn by the strife of parties and creeds, confronted with dangers: red—Socialist; black—Clericalism, and gilded—corruption and materialism; her state authority undermined, and lastly, in her bosom, an "alarming indifference" to the imperial and monarchic idea. There are very probably numbers of Germans who would like to see the Crown Prince taking up, under the cloak of "patriotism" an attitude in sharp contrast to his imperial father's pronounced pacific policy. Such an attitude would moreover be in accordance with Hohenzollern traditions. But in reality the Crown Prince is not built that way, and if he has not the intense feelings of veneration and loyalty for his father that Prince Henry has for his imperial brother, he seems quite content to pass his days in an easy-going way, devoting to his military duties the time he can spare from sport.

STORY OF KEEWATIN.

Keewatin, which has been divided up between Manitoba and Ontario, has withstood the progress of organized Canada for a long time and is the oldest part of the original grant to the Hudson Bay Co. The Swampy Crees of the Churchill and Nelson districts were known by the company's men as "the Home Guard." Port Nelson was for long the principal port of the company and the outlet for the great area of the western plains, the territory reached by the Red River on the south, the Assinaboine or the Saskatchewan on the west, with the connecting water routes of the Athabasca region besides. By way of the Nelson River came such European supplies as the Canadian prairies and the wooded foothills of the Rocky Mountains' eastern slope knew for all the years succeeding the English conquest of Quebec up till the advent of American traders following the building of the American railroads. By the Nelson went out the sole products of that great area—buffalo robes, beaverskins, wolf, grizzly bear, and the pelts of all the fur-bearing animals. By canoes and York boats traveled the sole and complete commerce of the country, and the Nelson River was the chief highway by which those cargoes, gathered from the farthermost edges of the watershed, concentrated at Norway House and came down to the sea coast at Port Nelson, for shipment to London, England. There were other harbors—Fort Churchill, for example — where the company built a great stone fortress, and where the French came and seized it without a blow struck in its defence. But the Churchill River was not so navigable for canoes and York boats or not as direct a route to the populous Indian territory of the prairies where was most of the trade done in those days. The harbor at Fort Chuchill afforded better conveniences for ships, however, having deep water close to land.

By Port Nelson came and went the earliest trade of the western country. By Port Nelson, indeed, came the west's first settlers — the Selkirks. Port Nelson, then, would seem of natural right the seaport of Manitoba, for Manitoba "saw it first."

When the French held sway in Canada, the "Pays d'en Haut," that is, the Upper Country, the land beyond the source of their home river the St. Lawrence, on the lower banks of which their settlements clustered—formed ever the loadstone attraction of their adventurers. Fur was the ostensible end and object of their wanderings, but exploration and curiosity as to the unknown fired the imagination of the traders, and the enticing water pathway at their doors leading to the vast Northwest "up above"—that country of great fertile plains, populous with buffalo and with Indians, with whom the trade in fur might yield a fortune to each bold canoe brigade that successfully braved the hardships and the toil of the wilderness journey—led them by successive stages up the Ottawa, across Lake Nipissing, down the French River—where Mr. Cyril T Young, of North Bay, and his friends, asked the Dominion Government to build a canal the other day—out on Georgian Bay amid the Thirty Thousand Islands, across Lake Huron to Mackinac, and to the Sault Ste. Marie. It enticed them to coast that inland sea they called Superior. And when they came to Fond du Lac and the rim of the basin of the St. Lawrence, with its navigable series, still they wondered and still they wandered—wondered what lay yet farther "up above," wandered by the portages over the height of land which divides Eastern Canada from the West, into that luring country of the height, the "Pays d'en Haut," our modern Canadian Northwest.

Dignity of Judges.

Some Ontario High Court judges evidently like to imagine themselves clothed with "the divinity that doth hedge a king" if their pompous entrance to Toronto City Hall, where their courts are held, may be taken as a proper indication.

Nobody may ride in the elevator with those judges when any one of them is ascending to the court floor. The elevator man has been properly trained, and he knows the hour at which the judge is expected. He holds his elevator in waiting for his lordship's coming and other mere human beings may take to the stairways. The judge is met by the sheriff's officer, sword and cocked hat in hand, and escorted to his chamber. County Court judges have less dignity, and anybody may ride in the civic elevators when they are in them.—Canadian Courier.

Then He Faded Away.

Borleigh—Chaperons are a nuisance, aren't they? Miss Phayre—Oh, not always. If it wasn't for my chaperon some men would hang around me all day.—Boston Transcript.

Taking Big Chances.

Cholly—I would like to introduce to you a friend of mine—a charming fellow. His Fiancee—Very well, but you do it at your own risk.—Boston Transcript.

A WESTERN WRITER.

"Janey Canuck" Is the Most Interesting of Our Women Scribes.

Mrs Arthur Murphy, of Edmonton is, perhaps, the most interesting of the large group of Canadian women who are making noteworthy contributions to the literature of the Dominion. Mrs. Murphy was born in 1868 (she is not afraid to tell her age) at Cookstown—the south Simcoe village famous as the birthplace and present home of Hon. J. E. Duff, Ontario's Minister of Agriculture. Emily Ferguson was her name, and she came of a noted Simcoe County family of Tory politicians, being a niece of the late Col. T. R. Ferguson, and granddaughter of the late Col. O. R. Gowan, both of whom were members of the House of Commons. Sir John A. Macdonald was a guest at the wedding of her parents. She was educated at Bishop Strachan School, Toronto, winning the Alex. Manning medal for general proficiency. In 1887 she married Rev Arthur Murphy, a Church of England clergyman, and for years has lived in the west.

Mrs Murphy writes under the pen name of Janey Canuck, and her book, "Janey Canuck in the West," was enthusiastically praised when it appeared. Her publishers, Cassells & Co., Toronto, have just issued a delightful sequel to this work, entitled "Open Trails." It is not a story in the ordinary sense, but a series of impressions of western life, skillfully and charmingly recorded. Mrs. Murphy is a very keen observer, with a real and robust vein of humor. Robust, indeed, is the best word to describe her work as a whole, for it is all strong, sane, and refreshing. The only fault to be found with "Open Trails" is that the last eight chapters are unnecessary—just a few rambling remarks about a visit to the east, which might have been condensed into a paragraph, if a comparison of west and east was desired.

Mrs. Murphy is candid in criticism of the west, much as she loves it. Take this paragraph, for example: "The Egypt of the Pharaohs did great things. She boasted herself to be the granary of the world, even as we claim to be the granary of the Empire, but in this day we are not particularly concerned as to the number of bushels she produced or as to how she marketed them. Our attention is riveted on those records which tell how she lived and loved, and what she looked like—her color, so to say."

"Janey" believes in fair play as well as frankness. She defends the cost of construction of the Grand Trunk Pacific in the west. It may have cost three times as much as other railways, but she points out that the road is sound and solid, not "cobwebs strung on a muskeg." She has a word to say for the French nuns at St. Albert, who have on their monastery windows not a cross and the lilies of France, but a cross and maple leaves. As to the Canadian who puts up a notice "No English need apply," she says: "I delight in that Englishman who, on seeing such a notice, raised his eyebrows and said: 'By Jove! Copied off the gates of Hell!' "—Star Weekly.

Dr. A. H. U. Colquhoun.

Dr. A. H. U. Colquhoun has been elected president of the [illegible] Club of Toronto. It is a position that does not go by promotion nor by election, as a president is selected each year from among the members by a representative committee created for the special purpose of finding the best man available. An excellent choice has been made on this occasion. Mr. Colquhoun is Deputy Minister of Education for Ontario, was a gold medallist of McGill, and received an honorary LL.D. from Queen's. In journalism he occupied a place in the front rank before accepting the post of Deputy Minister. While he is a Conservative he is more a student than a combatant in politics and is a recognized authority on Canadian political history.

Dr. Colquhoun, side from being a collector of Canadian books and pamphlets, seeks diversion from his official duties in long country walks, in an occasional game of golf at the Lambton Club, and in trout and bass fishing.

Sir William Whyte.

Sir William Whyte, who is a genial man with a keen sense of humor, tells these two stories of himself. A young reporter who had just come to Winnipeg was sent to the C.P.R. offices for news. He was energetic and enterprising and managed to make his way up to Sir William's office, his secretary being out of the ante-room at the time. "Anything fresh this morning?" said he briskly to the grey-haired official. "Nothing that I can see except you," replied the vice-president with a smile.

On another occasion while Sir William was making a tour of inspection he stopped at a little station, and going into the room of the operator, who was a new employe, enquired, "Are there telegrams for me?" The young man glanced up, not knowing to whom he was speaking, and said in a sarcastic tone "Did you think your picture would be on them?" "My name is William Whyte," replied the big man quietly. The operator fell over himself.

THE LAST CATTLE KING.

Alberta Is Steadily Turning From Her Old Time Ranches to Wheat.

There is one Cattle King left in Alberta. He is Pat Burns, of Calgary, the first, the last and the only Pat Burns. He has watched the transition as keenly as the old cattle man—perhaps more keenly. But he differs with the old cattle man in that he has figured out the ultimate result. And he is not in the least pessimistic. Pat Burns is practically the only old time rancher left who can still count his steers by the thousand. He was one of the first men to try out the country as a cattle-raising district. That was back in '89, when he came west with a few head of stock. Since then he has become wealthy, wondrously wealthy even for the west, where they made money in a hurry. He has two huge packing plants, one at Calgary and another at Vancouver, has a string of distributing and retail stores throughout British Columbia.

Mr. Burns says, and he has argued to the point many times, that the breaking up of the old time ranches will not only benefit the country, but will also eventually benefit the cattle industry. And he explains it thus: When an area previously used for grazing becomes split up into countless sections and quarter sections, and is used for settlement, the large herd disappears. But smaller bunches, kept by each individual farmer, and fattened and looked after instead of turned loose to rustle, take the place of the herd. The total number of cattle may not be quite as large, but what remain are fed up and fat and ready for market in the spring, whereas oftentimes in the old days the loss by drifting, by freezing, by winter starvation was frightful.

Just now Alberta, with the exception of Mr. Burns, is not able to raise enough cattle to supply her own needs and those of British Columbia, and the Burns steers, branded with a huge "N. H." on the ribs, are the only ones you may see any more traveling eastward for the old country. Last year only forty thousand head of cattle went out of the country. Ten years ago nearly four times that number crossed the ocean to make the famous roast beef of old England.

Some years ago it became evident that a change must come over the method of cattle raising. The old ranch system demanded immense unpeopled areas, and as it is estimated that twenty acres is required to satisfactorily feed one steer it was inevitable that settlement and homesteading in the country could not go on without the sacrifice of the ranges on the part of the cattle raisers. Therefore, as settlers commenced to make application for lands the Government by degrees cancelled the grazing lease and restricted seriously the operations of the cattle ranchers. In fact many of the larger outfits sold out and quit business, swept aside by the changing conditions.

The result has been that in the last few years there have been very heavy sales of heifers and female stock, and there are fewer cattle on the range today than there have ever been since 1890.—Canadian Courier.

Sayings of Debaters.

New men who added to the gaiety of debate in the Commons last session are Webster of Brockville, who referred to "the sun of Laurierism sinking in a troubled eastern sky." Burnham, of Peterboro, mixes his metaphors, and in the "ne temere" debate was heard to refer to the "boiling cauldron of cold disfavor which was raging in Ontario." Nothing, however, created so much sensation during the past session as the famous remark of Mr. Goodeve, of Kootenay, in the previous Parliamentary term when the reciprocity debate was at its height. Referring to Mr. Fielding's presentation of the famous agreement to the House, Mr. Goodeve, with dramatic intensity, said:

"The Finance Minister opened the Pandora Box and out jumped the Trojan horse!"

The Saw of the Mosquito.

The bill of the mosquito is a complex institution. It has a blunt fork at the head and is apparently grooved. Working through the groove and projecting from the angle of the fork is a lance of perfect form sharpened with a fine bevel. Besides it the most perfect lance looks like a band saw. On either side of the lance two saws are arranged, with the points fine and sharp and the teeth well defined and keen. The backs of these saws play against the lance. When the mosquito alights, with its peculiar hum, it thrusts its keen lance and then enlarges the aperture with the two saws, which play beside the lance until the forked bill with its capillary arrangement for pumping the blood can be inserted. The sawing process is what grates upon the nerves of the victim.

Hamilton Plans Memorial.

The movement to mark the ramparts erected in 1812 by the British soldiers in what is now the site of the Hamilton, Ont., Cemetery, by the erection of a suitable memorial tablet or monument, received great encouragement at a conference held recently in that city among the committee of the cemetery board and deputations from the Canadian Club and the Wentworth Historical Society. The spot which it is proposed to distinguish is where the British soldiers, commanded by Gen. Vincent, threw up ramparts to defend themselves from the Americans under Gen. Dearborn. It has been the intention of the cemetery board to mark the place in some way, but as it is desired to put up a more pretentious memorial than the board can afford, other organizations have been asked to cooperate in the scheme.

If the plans now in mind are carried out the memorial will be unveiled on the fifth of June next year, when the centennial of the War of 1812 is being observed, and on the following day the interested societies will go to Stoney Creek to celebrate the anniversary of the battle at that place. Efforts will also be made to bring the annual meeting of the Ontario Historical Society to Hamilton about the time the monument is unveiled, so that the members of the society may take part in the ceremonies.

An Experienced Sailor.

Captain Fred. Lardner, of the cable ship Mackay-Bennett, which has just completed a most trying duty, was a famous river pilot in London. He was known as "Shirty" because of his spotless shirt-front. Captain Fred. has had much experience at sea. He was on the Amber, another cable ship, when its boats went to the rescue of the Utopia's passengers at Gibraltar in 1891. A cable ship's boats and crew are well adapted for rescue work. Much of their work is done in small boats on the open sea. Hence, when the word came to the Amber's crew that the Utopia had struck, they knew exactly what to do. The boat of which Lardner, then second officer, was in charge saved nine lives, and Lardner received a medal from the British Humane Society and another from the Italian Government.

Resourceful.

On moving day — May 1st — many people in various cities had much difficulty in getting a carter to move their furniture. A city official of St. John, N.B., who was unable to hire a team to move his household effects, was, however, equal to the emergency.

He succeeded in getting the loan of an express wagon. After loading this, he got into the shafts himself and, aided by a companion, who got behind and shoved, he hauled his furniture through several of the principal streets until he arrived at his new home.

Gave Him a Boost.

The would-be contributor, wrote: "Your office boy has been returning my jokes. Please look into the matter."

And the editor replied: "I have. He is now my chief assistant."

Had Enough.

5 Years' Throat Trouble And Influenza Cured

EMINENT DOCTORS FAILED TO CURE—HAD GIVEN UP HOPE.

This case Does Prove That When Catarrhozone Is Breathed Every Trace of Catarrh Disappears

Milford, Haven, Da., June 12.—Everyone in this neighborhood knows of the long suffering from influenza and catarrh endured by Mrs. D. Gurney. To-day she is well. Her recovery is due entirely to Catarrhozone. This is her own statement: "I was a great sufferer from Catarrh in the head, throat and nose, and endured the manifold tortures of influenza for five years. My life was despaired of. Catarrh was undermining my strength very fast. I used treatments from eminent doctors but all failed to cure me. I had given up hope of ever being well. Then I read of a wonderful cure made by Catarrhozone. Immediately I sent for Catarrhozone and before I had used one bottle I was greatly relieved. To-day I am cured. We would not be without Catarrhozone in our home—it's so sure in colds, coughs, bronchial and throat trouble. I feel it is my duty to publicly recommend Catarrhozone."

Get the large dollar size of Catarrhozone; it contains a beautiful hard rubber inhaler and medicine that last two months. Smaller sizes 25c and 50c each. Beware of imitations—accept only Catarrhozone sold by all reliable dealers or by mail from The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont., and Buffalo, N.Y.

Saw It In The Times.

The Times is in receipt of a letter from Wm. Liscum, Owenbrook, Ont., giving information of a man named Edward Lacombe, whom Chief Thompson, of this city, wants to locate. Mr. Liscum saw the notice in the Times, and at once wrote this office. His letter was turned over to Chief Thompson.

At Their Exams.

The students of the two higher forms of the Collegiate are now hard at their exams. These started on Wednesday with Honour Matriculation and Senior Teachers' Trigonometry as the first trap for the unwary. Mr. Miller classical master of the Lindsay Collegiate, is the local presiding officer.

A Bad Fall.

James Dunn, an old shoemaker, fell down the stairs that lead to W. H. Anthony's shoe shop a few doors south of J. J. Duffus' automobile garage, at 2.30 yesterday afternoon. He was cut and bruised about the head and face, the results of the fall, and may not recover. He was taken to Nicholls Hospital.

Decoration Day, June 23.

Sunday, June 23rd, has been set apart as Decoration Day by the joint lodges of the Independent Order of Oddfellows. It is expected that the services of the Grand Master or Past Grand will be secured in the interim, to give an address on that occasion. With this possible exception, the procedure will be similar to that of former years.

Fishing Opens Monday.

Mr. John Watt, Fishery Inspector, called on the Times yesterday to say that the close season for bass and maskilonge begins on April 15 and ends June 15—both days inclusive. It will thus be seen that it is against the law to catch these fish on Saturday, and as Sunday is a holiday, fishermen will have to hold off till Monday.

Bailiff Roughly Treated.

Yesterday morning at the police court, a lady residing on Stewart street, appeared charged with assaulting a bailiff, who was distraining for rent. The rent was two months overdue and as a result the bailiff was authorized by Mr. Carver, owner of the house, to make a seizure to the extent of $20. It was while he was in the act of carrying out these instructions that the alleged assault took place. An adjournment was made for one week, and in the meantime the contending parties will get together and endeavor to effect a compromise.

Meeting Called Off.

A telegram was received in the city yesterday stating that Hon. Clifford Sifton will not be able to attend the meeting of the Central Ontario Association of Conservation which was to have been held in the Collegiate Assembly Hall this evening. As a result the meeting has been postponed indefinitely until such time as the services of Hon Clifford Sifton can be secured to address the Association. It was learned through Mr. Sifton's secretary that he was indisposed and would be unable to address the meeting on Friday.

Mr. F. J. Jacobi Remembered.

On Wednesday evening a number of members of Marathon Lodge, Knights of Pythias, waited upon Mr. F. J. Jacobi at his residence, to say farewell on the eve of his departure for the West. He has been an energetic and popular member of the order and will be greatly missed. On behalf of Marathon Lodge Mr. Frank Clarke presented him with a Knights of Pythias gold charm and a case of pipes, together with an address. Mr. Jacobi responded in suitable terms, after which a social evening was spent.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Paskins—Turnbull.

The wedding of Mr. W. Arthur Paskins of Peterborough, to Miss Eunice Sophie Turnbull, of Southampton, Eng., was solemnized on Wednesday in the presence of witnesses, at Knox church manse. Mr. and Mrs. Paskins will reside in Peterborough. The bride has but recently come from Southampton to Peterborough for the ceremony. Rev. H. J. Keith officiated.

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, 84 Aylmer street, when Miss Euphemia Feir, daughter of Mr. Iziah Feir, and Mr. R. H. Johnson, of Omemee, were united in marriage by Rev. H. J. Keith.

The bride, charmingly attired in marquisette over white silk and carried a bouquet of roses, was attended by her sisters, Olive, Estella and Ruby, who were becomingly dressed in white muslin, trimmed with lace.

The bride was the recipient of many useful and handsome presents, that from the groom being a beautiful pearl brooch.

The bride was the recipient of many useful and attractive presents.

BRITAIN'S FRANCHISE REFORM.

London, June 12.—Premier Asquith announced in the House of Commons to-day that a franchise bill would be introduced at an early date. The bill as drafted will give one man one vote on a short residential qualification, with the simplest possible form of registration, the latter being at the public expense. A clause fixing all the elections for one day may be added.

The official women suffrage amendment to the bill cannot be forthcoming until the bill is printed. There will probably be some hesitation regarding women voters.

Simple adult suffrage, without reference to sex, cannot be put forward with any hope of success, since such a course would give the register in each constituency a majority of women. This matter is likely to cause trouble

A FALSE RUMOR.

More Merger Talk Is Set At Rest by Bank Manager.

Montreal, June 13.—Montreal has heard a rumor to the effect that the Bank of Nova Scotia and the Bank of New Brunswick were about to join forces, and that a merger of the two institutions would be announced in the near future.

"Such talk is absolutely without foundation," said Mr. H. A. Richardson, general manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia, located in Toronto, when queried as to the report. "I have heard the rumor before now, but I cannot account for it. However, you have my authority to deny it. It is quite without foundation."

Mr. Richardson added that his bank was not concerned in any contemplated merger that he was aware of.

Amalgamation of Two Companies

THE Renfrew Flour Mills, Limited, has been incorporated under the Ontario Company's Act to take over the plant of the Renfrew Roller Mills, Limited, at Renfrew, Ont., and the waterpower, flour mill, elevator, warehouses, electric light plant, etc., of the Milling Co., at Pakenham, Ont.

The mills of the company are equipped with modern machinery and are in a high state of efficiency.

The Elevators at Renfrew have a capacity of 75,000 bushels.

The Elevator at Pakenham has a capacity of 25,000 bushels.

A Valuable Asset

The waterpower at Pakenham is a very valuable asset of the Company. Waterpowers are difficult to secure in Ontario on account of the new government regulations which are designed to place the control of waterpowers with the municipalities and under the supervision of the Hydro-Electric Commission. The fact that the waterpower at Pakenham will be owned absolutely by the Renfrew Flour Mills, Limited, makes stock in the Company even more desirable. The waterpower at this point is not only amply sufficient for all requirements, but for the future needs of the company, should it be deemed advisable to increase the milling capacity of the Pakenham plant.

The Renfrew Flour Mills, Limited, takes over two well established businesses. The company is thus in a position to earn an exceedingly good profit right from the start.

In fact the average yearly net profits for the past five years of one of the mills has been practically sufficient to pay the dividend on the full amount of the preference stock that will be issued.

The Company has no bonded indebtedness. The Preference Shares, therefore, are preferential, both as to assets and to dividend of 7% per annum.

For the guidance of investors, we offer the following examples to show the amount of stock various sums will procure:

$500 procures $500 par value preference stock and $125 par value common stock.

We advise immediate subscription on the part of prospective investors, as the shares in this latest enterprise of Mr. Thomas A. Low's are certain to be taken up very rapidly, on account of the confidence in which Mr. Low, and those associated with him, are held by the investing public.

Mr. Low's Letter

Following is a letter from Mr. Low, regarding the new company:

International Bond Corporation, Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

DEAR SIRS:

With reference to the Renfrew Flour Mills, Limited, the Company of which I have the honor of being President, I desire to say that under the same management, as has been in charge of The Renfrew Roller Mills Co., Limited, I believe the new Company will prove a very successful undertaking. The Renfrew Roller Mills Co., Limited, under the management of Mr. W. T. Guest, has been a great success. Almost every year from its inception the Company has paid annual dividends to its shareholders of ten per cent., and have as well laid up a large rest account. I am glad to be able to inform intending purchasers of stock in The Renfrew Flour Mills, Limited, that Mr. Guest has consented to accept the management of the new Company. I have no hesitation in saying that I believe the Company with the increased capacity will achieve even greater success than the old Company. Mr. Guest is thoroughly familiar with both the mills of the Company. He has been in charge of the mill at Renfrew since it was erected, and the mill at Pakenham, he owned and operated successfully for several years. You will therefore, see that the Company has been very fortunate in securing the services of so capable a manager. I have no hesitation in saying to any person who is looking for a good, sound and safe investment, that I believe the stock of The Renfrew Flour Mills, Limited, will prove very profitable.

Yours truly,

NAVY QUESTION BRISTLES WITH DIFFICULTIES SAYS PREMIER

Montreal, June 15.—Premier Borden, who has been in the city since Wednesday, lunched with the Duke of Connaught yesterday and spent several hours ate the Ducal residence.

In an interview yesterday Mr. Borden discussed several political questions, among others reciprocity. "I have noticed," said the Premier, "that Sir Wilfrid Laurier has again raised the question of reciprocity and the other evening spoke at some length on this topic. I question however, whether his efforts will lead to a revival of reciprocity. Certainly in the last session of the Parliament the members of the Opposition were not particularly keen on the subject. In fact, the Government have had rather a good time at Ottawa. They have not disappointed their friends, and their enemies have shown rather a weak front. The Government, I do not think, can feel disappointed with the work o last session. I understand that Sir Frederick Borden has predicted an early dissolution. The ex-Minister of Militia thinks we must go to the country on our naval policy, and after the redistribution bill. Well," laconically, replied the Prime Minister, "evidently as their programme has been sketched out for them, the Government task must be easy."

Redistribution Measure

"Assuming redistribution measure was passed next session, would the the Government be forced to make an immediate appeal to the country?" was asked.

"No, I do not think so. Of course, under the constitution, some measure of redistribution must be introduced."

"As regard the naval question——"

"I can't speak on that" remarked Mr. Borden. "Mr. Hazen, the Minister of Marine, and myself—the third minister of the Cabinet has not yet been decided upon—are going over to London to consult the British Government on that, among other questions. The attitude of the Government on the naval question has already been laid down in the House of Commons at Ottawa. They were perfectly prepared as a temporary measure to contribute liberally to the British Government, but if the programme involves something of a permanent nature, then the subject requires the most serious consideration. The policy must be guided by the gravity of the question. It is obligatory on Canada to do something and a great deal towards the Imperial defence of the Empire, which can only be secured by a highly efficient and effective Imperial navy. Canada is anxious and willing to take a full share in that defence."

Bristles With Difficulties

"No, I cannot express myself more fully on this question," concluded the minister. "You will notice that I have said very little on this topic in my letter to the London Times. Canada may be prepared to build a navy herself, or she may follow the policy of the Australian Commonwealth and New Zealand, and place orders in British yards. The whole question bristles with difficulties. The Government's policy was laid down last session at Ottawa, and I cannot express any further opinion until after the visit to England and consultations with the British Admiralty."

TO SELL VALUABLES.

Portuguese Government to Dispose Of Manuel's Effects.

Lisbon, June 13.—The Portuguese government has decided to sell so much of the furniture and valuables of the royal palaces which are recognized as belonging to King Manuel and his mother as will return $5,000,000—the amount which was advanced by the state to the late King Carlos. The property includes the crown jewels, valued at $4,000,000, which are kept at the Necessidades palace, and Don Miguel's jewels, which are deposited in the Bank of Portugal, and are valued at $2,500,000.

TIME TO SPEAK OUT

The Toronto Globe in a leading article, says: "This is a British country, and British law must be supreme in it. The outspoken statement of Judge Greenshields in Montreal yesterday, when the suit of Madame Morin against La Croix came before him, will have the commendation of all good citizens, whatever their race or creed.

La Croix, an Ultramontane paper of Montreal, some time ago contained an article stating that Father Chiniquy, Madame Morin's father, had taken vows of perpetual chastity as a priest, and therefore he could never be married legally. The woman with whom he went through the marriage ceremony after he became a Protestant was in reality only his concubine. From this it follows that Madame Morin, of whose existence La Croix seemed to be in ignorance, must be an illegitimate child. Madame Morin is the wife of a professor of McGill University, and she brought action against La Croix for $10,000 damages.

"In opening the case counsel for the paper declared that Father Chiniquy had been a public man, and that his life and works were open to criticism. Whereupon the Judge replied:—'That may be so, but what possible interest could a paper have in dragging the name of his wife, who has been dead thirteen years, into the argument? If it had desired to counteract the effect of Chiniquy's anti-Catholic books it could have done so without doing that. Calling the woman he lived with a concubine did not do the Catholic Church any good. Why, you might as well blame the wife of a novelist who had written objectionable books for these works. I concede the right of a Church paper to advocate its doctrines, but always with due respect to the rights of private persons. I deny the right of a paper to single out one person, who, in its opinion, has violated a dogma, and stigmatize her as a prostitute and her children as illegitimate. I deny that right. This woman married and lived with her husband in good faith. Whose business is it to now drag her name through the mud? She was an ideal wife and mother, and not even the Church of Rome should be permitted to call her a concubine because her husband had violated one of its laws.'

"Judge Greenshields put his finger upon the sore spot in the marriage laws of Canada to-day when he pointed out that the violation of a dogma of the Church of Rome by Father Chiniquy was the sole reason for declaring his marriage no marriage at all and his wife a concubine. Father Chiniquy was a Protestant when he married. He was not even married in the Province of Quebec. The marriage took place in legal form, and the person celebrating it did so as an officer of the State. There is nothing in British law forbidding a priest to marry after he renounces the Catholic Church, or even without any declaration of renunciation. The contention of La Croix in effect is that no person born and baptized into the Catholic Church can ever be anything else than a Catholic in the eyes of the civil law of Quebec as well as of the Church. Once for all the monstrous pretension that no Quebec Catholic can legally become a Protestant must be set aside. Judge Greenshields' words were not a bit too strong. It is time to speak out."

GODFREY LANGLOIS ANSWERS JESUIT WHO ATTACKED HIM

Declares He Was Condemned for Educational Policy In Spite Of Denial.

He and His Newspaper Are Putting Up A Stiff Fight For Freedom.

That Is What Makes Priest And Others Nervous About Le Pays.

Montreal, Que., June 14.—"I defy anybody, Father Drummond among others to find in the files of Le Pays anything against the Church, against the faith, against religious teaching. It is our fight for reform and progress that has made Father Drummond and others nervous over Le Pays and myself." That is the declaration of Godfrey Langlois' reply to criticisms of Father Drummond, Jesuit priest who took exception to statements made by the editor of Le Pays in his reply to Archbishop Bruchesi's edict of Sunday last.

Mr. Langlois quoted the School Board reports to prove his assertion that 130,000 Catholic children did not attend school in the Province of Quebec last year.

"I admire the courage of Rev. Father Drummond [illegible] my figures in connection with the school attendance in this Province. He is satisfied to hide himself behind the editor of Le Devoir and state that I am wrong because M. Heroux said so.

"We must not be surprised at M. Heroux' attitude on school questions. He belongs to a clique which has always preached that the French-Canadian people was the greatest, the freest and the most enlightened people on earth.

"Now a last word to Father Drummond. He states that my zeal for education was not the object of his Grace's criticism. How does he know and if he knows, why does he not state the true object of the pastoral letter?

"If Le Pays had never advocated the creation of a Minister of Education in Quebec, if we had not fought for free and compulsory education, for uniformity of text books, for State activity in matters of education, is Father Drummond prepared to say that a pastoral letter would have been read in the Catholic churches last Sunday?

"We fought strenuously for better education, for reform, for progress, for freedom of speech and conscience for tolerance, and there are the battles which have made Father Drummond and others feel nervous over Le Pays and myself."

SIXTY NEW ROUTES

Ottawa, June 14.—The Post Office Department is calling for tenders for sixty new rural mail delivery routes throughout the Dominion. The Government proposes to extend the service along systematic lines as rapidly as possible. The majority of the petitions for routes received at the department come from Ontario, while the Western petitions are quite numerous. Comparatively few have been received from Quebec Province and the Maritime Provinces.

EXPLAINS WHITE PLAGUE CURE

Dr. Balboni Stops Lung's Action, Giving Chance To Rest and Heal.

Boston, June 14.—Dr. Gerardo Monari Balboni, a prominent Italian physician of the North end, demonstrated and explained yesterday afternoon in the amphitheatre of the Massachusetts General Hospital, his treatment of pulmonary tuberculosis by injecting nitrogen gas into the lung sac, so as to immobilize the lung.

In his lecture to the numerous doctors of the tuberculosis branch of the Massachusetts Medical Society, Dr. Balboni demonstrated the work of his apparatus by using it on one of his patients. The apparatus injects the gas into the pleural sac, so as to stop the lung from working, thereby giving the lung a chance to rest and heal. He also had with him two women and three men patients to prove his statements.

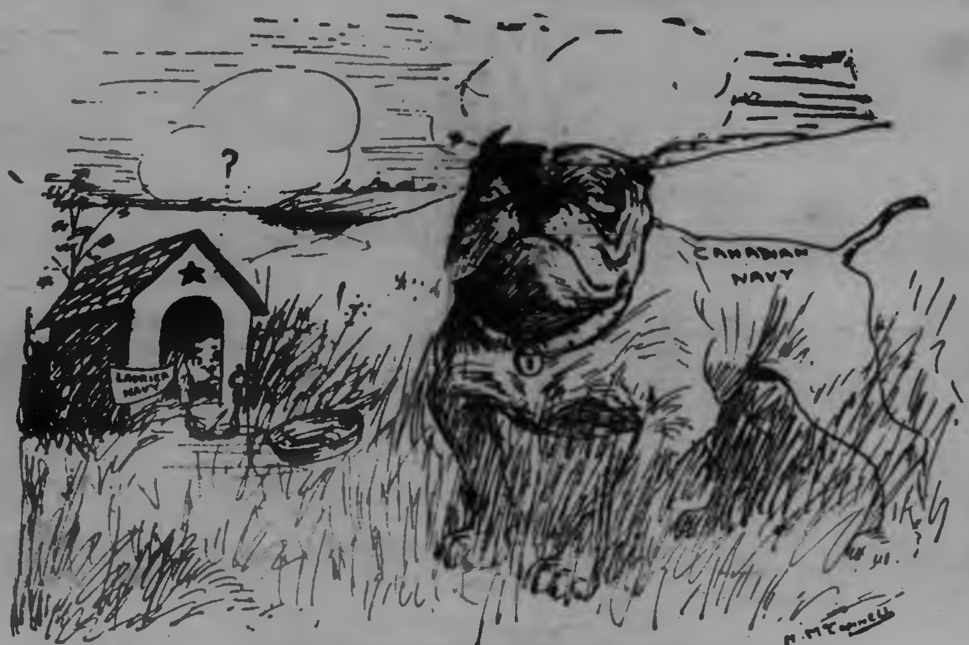
He said in part:

"Reports of cures by this treatment have not only been made by me but also by physicians abroad. In Italy, Prof. Forlanini, of the University of Pavia, has been, for the last 20 years improving the method up to the present day with great success. Other physicians in Germany, France, and many other countries have been working at it with encouraging results. However, very little work has been done in America until late.

"The present work has been done quietly in the North end among the poor people. Some patients which I have shown are now practically cured.

"This treatment immobilizes the lungs and stops it from working and compresses it, bringing about the following result:

"It squeezes out the dead matter and germs in the lung, and by keeping the lung quiet, gives the diseased part a chance to heal. During the past few weeks I have been working with Dr. Samuel Robinson, of the Massachusetts General Hospital, and the patients that I have brought here are not picked for the occasion, but are ordinary patients who come to me every day."



GREAT EVENTS CAST THEIR SHADOWS BEFORE

COULD NOT PLAY MARCH AND HIS LIFE WAS FORFEIT

Russian Colonel, Roystering With Men and Women, Cuts Down Musician Who Didn't Remember Saratoff and Had No Notes.

Moscow, Sune 13.—A terrible tragedy has been enacted in a cafe chantant at Kieff, Col. Alexander Lilio killing a musician who had annoyed him.

The Colonel had come to the cafe, which is called the "Apollo" and is a favorite place of entertainment, in company with some fellow officers and some ladies. There was a similar party at the next table, and the two groups soon combined and arranged to take a private room. They were out to have a festive evening, and money was not spared. Supper was ordered, and champagne corks were soon merrily popping.

To add to the gaiety of the party, some of the singers and musicians who had finished their turns on the little stage in the public room were invited to entertain the officers and their fair friends. A band of singers sang gipsy songs and the popular pieces Russians love, and the fun was fast and furious until four o'clock in the morning.

"Play the Saratoff March to end up," shouted Colonel Lilio to the pianist.

The man said he could not play the piece as he did not know it by heart, and had not the music of it with him. The reply appeared to have angered the colonel, and he drew his sword. He rushed at the musician and slashed him, cutting him in the neck, just below the right ear. A vein had been severed, and the blood gushed from the wound. The officer appeared mad with rage and the singers rushed from the room followed by the wounded man He managed to stagger a few yards along the corridor and then fell dead.

The murdered pianist has left a wife and family unprovided for They are claiming a pension of $160 a month from Colonel Lilio.

COUNCIL DECIDES TO ANNEX SITE FOR WEST WARD SCHOOL.

The City Council met in special session last night to hear the Board of Education's request that the Council take steps to annex to the city that portion of the Cox property in North Monaghan, immediately west of the Monaghan Road, and North of Weller street, purchased as a site on which to erect a new West City twelve room school.

Dr. Morrison, chairman of the School Board's Building Committee, explained the situation to Council, as already published in these columns.

Mr. Johnston, representing the Toronto Savings and Loan Co., offered that his clients, who negotiated the deal with the School Board, would bear all cost of annexation proceedings.

Council endorsed the School Board's action in selecting the best available site in West City for this new school, and on motion of Ald. Duncan, and Ald. Gillespie, the Privy Council will be requested to sanction the annexation to Peterborough City of that portion of North Monaghan acquired for school purposes.

$75 Damages Asked For

S. A. Mitchell, grocer, corner of Park and Sherbrooke streets, asked through his solicitor, Mr. A. E. Dixon, damages to the extent of $75 for the flooding of his cellar this spring by back water from the sewer. Mr. Mitchell complained that a quantity of his goods was thus destroyed. This was referred to the Legal Committee.

Garbage By-laws.

A by-law authorizing the execution of an agreement with A. B. Downer for the removal and disposal of garbage passed its several readings.

Nothing for Scriver.

Ald. Johnston asked if Mr. Scriver was going to be allowed anything for the work he had done under the contract for removal of garbage, he threw up.

The general voiced reply was, "not on your life."

Ald. Gordon—"Scriver ought to be sued for damages."

Ald. Duncan, chairman of the Property Committee, recently returned from a holiday trip, here explained that Mr. Scriver was incorrect in asserting before Council in his absence, that he had advised him to figure on the employment of two teams in tendering for the contract as City Scavenger. He (Ald Duncan) had told him candidly, he had no idea as to what amount he should estimate his tender at, and in response to frequent importunities had replied that, although no authority on the subject, he thought three teams would be required anyway.

The Mayor—"We are glad to hear that, Ald. Duncan, because in your absence Scriver had asserted that you were responsible for the tender he put in."

The opinion expressed by Council

Want Free Phones.

Moved by Ald. Gordon, seconded by Ald Johnston.—That the Chairman of the Property Committee discuss with the Manager of the Bell Telephone Co., the question of rates for phones for city officials.—Carried.

The opinion expressed by Council was that in view of the street concessions made the company, they might either give reduced rates or throw in a few phones free.

Another Telephone.

Moved by Ald. Gordon, seconded by Ald. Johnston,—That a telephone be installed in the Assessor's office.—Carried.

The members present were Mayor W. H. Bradburn, Aldermen Gillespie, Buller, Brown, Duncan, Duffus, Gordon, Johnston and Graham.

More Knighthood Rumors.

Montreal, June 14.—It is understood that the coming honors to be conferred upon Canadians will include knighthoods to the Right Hon. R. L. Borden, prime minister, and to Mr. Justice Davidson, just made chief justice of the Province of Quebec.

YOUNG MAN'S SUDDEN DEATH

Master Rowland Howden, Son of Mr. J. J. Howden, Passes Away.

It is with profound sorrow that the citizens yesterday heard of the death of Mr. Rowland Howden, son of J. J. Howden, which sad event took place with awful suddenness Thursday evening. Rowland was only 19 years of age and in the full vigour of youth. He was active in outdoor sports on Thursday evening, and he was one of the party of athletes who manned the Y.M.C.A. war canoe on a trip from the Locks to the Yankee Bonnet and back. Afterwards he went to the home of his uncle, Mr. Wm. Morris, Lansdowne street, and remained for a time with his cousin, Howden Morris. About nine o'clock he decided to go home and vaulting the gate in front of the house, said good night to his cousin, and started out for home. As he did not reach his home, his parents thought that he was spending the night with his cousin, as he sometimes did and no alarm was felt as to his absence. Yesterday morning, Mr. J. Jamieson of Boswell avenue, was approaching "Lakeview" the Howden residence, when his horse shied as he neared the gate. Looking to one side Mr. Jamieson found the body within hailing distance of the home, and lying on one side of the road.

Dr. Greer was sent for, and on examination stated that dead was due to heart failure. A sad feature of the affair was the fact that Mr. Howden, returning home, had passed the spot just before ten o'clock, but in the dark had not noticed the body of his son.

Of a kindly disposition, Rowland was immensely popular with young and old, and his death will be widely deplored.

He was a student at the Collegiate Institute, being in the third form. He was a member of the Y.M.C.A. and took an active interest in the affairs of the Association. Particularly was he interested in sports and on various occasions won prizes at the Collegiate and Y.M.C.A. meets. He was a member of the Boys' Work Committee of the Y.M.C.A., and was also a member of St. John's church. He was just preparing to try his examinations for the University at the Collegiate, where his death has cast a gloom over his fellow students. Rowland was in the prime of his youth and his fine athletic appearance and prowess made the news of his death all the more surprising.

The funeral will take place on Monday afternoon from the family residence to the Little Lake cemetery.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth. The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the State's area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundred of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 99 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company, Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. Law, Ontario, Manager. 49 Cecil street, Toronto. D-6 in J4

This Interesting Letter is Addressed to YOU

SIR:—

It is a favorite form of mental culture with many people to trace results back to causes. Have you ever applied it to the gowth of a city?

Travel was the original cause of our modern Canadian and American cities. Travel by the early pioneers of civilized nations, often at the cost of their lives.

Years ago, one of these pioneers of the western plains crossed a river at a time when the North-West Territories formed the grazing grounds for buffalo and antelope. While making the crossing his primitive wagon broke down. He made his repairs with rope and the jaw of a moose found by the side of the trail. His Indian companions called the spot "The place where the white chief mended his cart with the jaw of a moose."

A frail cause seemingly, for great results. But the prosperous city of Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, stands as the result of the pioneers accident. Not all at once, but through various stages, each more important than the last. The traveller talked—probably of the good water and the grazing land. These all important factors to the settler became known. Others began to investigate, a settlement formed, and Moose Jaw came into existence.

In the year 1902 a great rush of settlers to the west took place. This movement has been called the "American Invasion," but it included thousands from the Eastern Provinces of Canada. News of the Great West had spread, the Soo Branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway from Portal on the Southern Canadian Boundary line had been completed, and the great wheat belt of Canada began its period of prosperity.

The city of Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, in the heart of this area, was the point chosen as most suitable for this great artery to meet the trans-continental main line. Over this route thousands of cars of effects owned by settlers from the United States are carried yearly.

Suddenly other railway corporations discovered that the Canadian Pacific Railway had the monopoly of the business of Moose Jaw, and the wealthy territory behind it. They saw the Canadian Pacific Railway make Moose Jaw its chief divisional point in Saskatchewan with the greatest yards west of Winnipeg, costing with other improvements, over $1,000,000.

Competition for the great volume of business was aroused, until to-day there are eleven lines either completed, under construction, or chartered.

The soil has attracted the settler—great freight, cattle, and grain shipments have attracted the railway companies, and as a final result Moose Jaw has in a few years become a city with possibilities unsurpassed in the West.

While this result has been accomplished, you can judge the effect on Real Estate values. But the increase in values in this city will be greater in the future than in the past.

Had that pioneer settled at the river crossing, and owned the townsite of Moose Jaw he could have been a millionaire to-day—but he missed an opportunity. You have your pressing opportunity in our unique residential sub-division, Boulevard Heights. Do not miss it. Big sales are reported daily, prices are going up, and you can have a share in this profit taking. A payment of $10.00 forwarded to-day will secure you an interest in a sound investment, to which there is no interest.

In offering these shares for investment, we feel that we are inviting the public to purchase stock in an industry in which the profits are very large, and the demand for the product is ever increasing.

It is a well known fact that the shares of our Canadian Tanneries are very closely held, and the public seldom have an opportunity of procuring any.

On March 11th, 1912, the Burgesses of the Town of Aurora voted in favor of granting The Collis Leather Company, Limited, a cash bonus of Ten Thousand Dollars, the Company's property is exempt from Taxation for Ten Years (except school tax) and it has also been granted water from the Town free for all time.

The factory is now under construction, to be completed on or before the 1st Day of July, 1912, and will be 150 feet long by 50 feet wide, and four storys high.

The Company's specialty will be the manufacture of calf leather.

Mr. Walter Collis has had over Thirty Years' experience as a tanner, and thoroughly understands all departments of the business. Mr. Collis will have direct charge of the Tannery.

The capacity of the factory will be Eighteen Hundred calfskins per day, or an average of Eighteen Thousand Feet per day. A most conservative estimate of the net profit is one-half cents per foot

Estimated Net Profits:

18,000 ft. per day, one-half cent per foot, $90.00, with 300 working days per year ... $27,000.00
Less business insurance and depreciation per year ... 7,000.00

Or approximately 20 per cent on entire issued capital. $20,000.00

The Company has purchased from Mr. Collis all his Tanning formula, and will issue in payment thereof One Hundred shares of fully paid up stock.

Of the total amount of shares offered for sale, the Directors have subscribed for more than one-third.

The terms are 25 per cent on application. 25 per cent in Thirty, 25 per cent in Sixty, and 25 per cent in Ninety days.

We reserve the right to allot only such applications, and for such amounts as may be approved the application lists may be closed without notice.

THE LATEST TUBERCULOSIS TREATMENT.

During the past week the American Medical Association has been meeting in Atlantic City, and the papers and discussions have been of unusual interest even to the ordinary layman. There is one disease more than any other in which the people of Canada are interested in arriving at some method of checking and ultimately eradicating. That is tuberculosis. Though so much fuss is made in regard to smallpox, diphtheria, typhoid fever, and other more than ordinarily fatal diseases, the fact remains that the white plague is the chief scourge of the northern half of this continent.

Owing to the advance of science the treatment of consumption has been improved to such an extent as to greatly diminish the death rate. But one drawback has been that the process of cure has been lengthy and tedious. At the Medical Association meeting referred to, a new and apparently more effective treatment of tuberculosis was advocated by a lady doctor from North Carolina. She did not claim to have originated the idea, as it has been practiced to some extent in Europe with most successful results. The new treatment consists in compressing the lung so firmly that the tubercle bacilli cannot live in it, and in favorable cases they disappear promptly and permanently.

Each lung has a sac, like a bag, laid over and around it. The lung does not lie in the bag, the bag is wholly outside of the lung. If this bag is filled with air and distended, the lung has to become that much smaller. As the bag fills the lung yields and shrinks together, crowding all extraneous materials up through the air passages and out through the mouth. Then when the lung is as small and tight and close as it possibly can be, the blood and air passages are so compressed that tubercle bacilli have nothing to live on and disappear. Then the cough and expectorating, and all the signs of persistent poisoning also disappear, and the patient gets well. When the lung is healed the air is absorbed from the sac and the lung resumes its functions, with no indications of its ever having had tuberculosis.

This diagnosis is based on sound principles. In the case of the consumptive, when the patient coughs the action causes an involuntary contraction of the lungs, so as to expell the foreign matter in them. Under the new system, air pressure is brought to bear in order to assist nature in expelling deleterious matter from the body, and thereby quickening the recovery of the patient. The advancement of this theory was very favorably received by the press of the American Medical Association and was welcomed as an effective force in fighting the insidious advances of the white plague.

A MONUMENT OF CIVILIZATION.

Hon. W. T. White, the Minister of Finance, is being deservedly commended by the press for the fine spirit which prompted the whole-hearted manner of his declaration that the Canadian people should, and will, enter cordially into the celebration of the hundred years of peace between the English-speaking countries of the world. To the commonplaces that Canada and the United States speak the same language and have the same ideals of civilization and the same desire to attain to the broad religion of humanity, as they have had also the same task opening up and settling one half of this continent each, he brought an evident earnestness and broadness of view that cannot but help to promote and strengthen neighborly friendliness and good will between the Dominion and the Republic.

In pointing out that Great Britain and the United States could together keep the peace of the world, Mr. White was uttering nothing new or startling. It is the sort of thing, nevertheless, that needs repetition by men in high station. Pretty nearly everything there is to be said on the whole subject of the common interests that the English-speaking countries of the world have in the promotion of civilization and human progress is a commonplace utterance, that has often been heard. But the great truth that underlies all these utterances is of importance which can hardly be exaggerated.

The monument which it is proposed shall be erected by the joint international action near Niagara Falls to commemorate the hundred years of peace will be, as Mr. White says, a landmark of civilization. When the time comes to erect a greater memorial at the close of the second of the centuries of peace between the English-speaking countries of the world, that memorial will be in the West. Who shall attempt to say what developments of civilization and human progress will not have been attained on this continent by that time?

Editorial Notes

Considering the work of the Peterborough baseball team since the season opened, one is almost tempted to believe that baseball is a game of chance rather than of skill.

If the tobacco grown in western Ontario is anything like the tobacco grown in Quebec, we agree with the London Methodist conference that it's a sin to grow it.

Hon. Bob Rogers' announcement at Regina that the Dominion government intends erecting terminal elevators at Port Arthur is described by his critics as "good politics" because of the favorable effect the announcement is likely to have on the Saskatchewan electors in the provincial contest to be held in a day or two. That may be; but the erection of the elevators is not merely good politics; it is good business.

THE LATEST WAR PROPOSAL

Noted Journalist Argues In Favour of Feminine Army.

MAKE BEST SOLCIERS

Fair Fighters Withstand Severest Rigors of War—Quote From Historical Examples to Prove Contentions for Startling Statements.

Paris, June 13.—Jean Finot, director of 'La Revue' is a confirmed feminist. His latest argument is that woman is able to bear arms. History is full of examples of her military aptitudes, the most famous being the Amazons and the feminine armies of Dahomey and Abyssinia. They were remarked by their ferocity, yielding to nothing to masculine fighters. Young women were severely trained, and habituated to thirst and hunger. In the midst of the battle they hurled this insult at the weak-kneed: "You are only a man!" In revolutionary times the military fever attacked the sex and many fought in the trenches. The women of Versailles formed a legion, and declared to the National assembly that they would dethrone the tyrants at the point of the pike. In the last Polish insurrection women of the best class disguised themselves as man and took part in the engagements.

It is thus established that women can withstand the fatigues of war. All the arguments cannot prevail against the fact that she has conducted herself valiantly in battle. Besides, remarks, M. Finot, modern war does not make the same demands upon human endurance. Initiative, presence of mind, courage and other moral conditions are more necessary than purely brutal force. For this reason women can more readily adapt herself. Woman can contribute to the national defence, and it is unscientific to say that she cannot. But happily, other duties not less imperious and not less important, oblige her to play the role of mother and guardian of the hearth.

There is a new dance this season in Paris society. It is called the Java. It is a mixture of the waltz and Boston. Until the other day it was danced only in Apache balls, but now it has been imported into the most select circles. But the mothers of the noble Faubourg look at it askance. It is certainly daring, for after each complete turn the man throws his partner sideways, over his knee. This is worse than even the Tango or the Turkey trot, or the Grizzly Bear but doubtless the drawing room edition will be expurgated.

Poppy color is going to be a fashionable shade of red this year. I saw several red frocks the other afternoon, Madame Suzanne Demay, the well-known modiste, whose hats are always known by Hartet, the great actress, was wearing a crimson taffeta frock built on very simple lines, a plain kimona, long-sleeved bodice, with ruffles at wrist and throat, and the ruffle o cream lace continuing down the front of the gown, passing under the belt and finishing at the hem of the skirt. With this white suede shoes and crimson silk stockings were worn. It was certainly a striking toilette, but very chic, nevertheless, I should hardly have a frock like that, however, unless I could afford to wear it, but twice or thrice for such a creation "marks" one terribly.

CLODS ON COFFIN WAKE "DEAD" MAN

Polish Land Owner Came Very Near Being Buried Alive.

Vienna, June 13.—A wealthy Polish landowner named Mansy had a narrow escape from being buried alive at Zuravica, in Galicia. He had fallen down in a fit three days before, and as there was no doctor in the neighborhood a veterinary surgeon was called in, who pronounced him dead, and gave a certificate of death from apoplexy. a large number of his relatives were present, at the funeral, and, in accordance with the local custom, after the coffin had been lowered into the grave, and the final blessing given by the priest, they began themselves to shovel in the first spadefuls of earth.

This apparently aroused the supposed dead man from his trance, for faint cries for help were heard from the coffin. Most of the bystanders ran away, in a panic, but the more sensible immediately helped the priest to open the coffin. Mansy was quite unconscious, and after he had been given a restorative, and helped out of the coffin, was able to walk home with a borrowed overcoat over his grave clothes.

WOMAN ISN'T OF AGE TILL SHE'S 25

Not to Be Trusted With Ballot Till Then, is British View.

London, June 13.—It has been noticed that the committee of the new club calling themselves the "Nobodies" has decided to restrict the membership of women to those who have passed the age of 25, whereas men are admitted at 21. The reason is that women under 25 cannot, in the opinion of the committee, be held to have arrived at the years of discretion and that the club can not accept any responsibility for them or for their action prior to that age.

The proposal, which was unanimously agreed to by the committee, was brought forward and strongly recommended by the ladies of that body, who considered that in a mixed organization of this kind, with a serious aim and object, no one could be admitted who might not be old enough to realize her responsibilities towards herself and her fellow members.

It is also noteworthy that in most bills for conferring the suffrage on women 25 is usually regarded as their coming of age, so far as discretion is concerned.

ONE C. P. R. PURCHASE

A Nineteen Million Dollar Order and What It Means—Thousands of New Freight Cars Being Added to the Equipment.

In these days of big things, when people talk of millions where their grandfathers spoke of thousands, the fact that the Canadian Pacific Railway Company has ordered 12,500 additional freight cars and 300 more locomotives may not attract more than mere passing attention, except amongst railway men. And yet this order involves an expenditure of the immense sum of $19,000,000 — the freight cars costing $14,000,000 and the locomotives $5,000,000. This is a pretty big amount for any railway—even one like the C.P.R.—to spend at one time in additional equipment, especially when costly sleepers and diners or passenger coaches of any description whatever are not included.

If figures are seldom amusing, they are sometimes entertaining, and this latest purchase of the C.P.R. furnishes a few facts that are of more than ordinary interest. Here are some of them:

The length of a freight car, from buffer to buffer is 39 feet, its weight 27,000 pounds, and its carrying capacity 80,000 pounds. The length of these locomotives from pilot to buffer of the tender is about 60 feet and its weight, in working order, 175 tons. Each tender carries 5,000 gallons of water and 13 tons of coal. Each locomotive is of 16,000 horse power, and can haul on the level at least 75 cars, or on an average of 50 cars over the whole system. String these cars in one long line and they would reach a distance of 92 miles — from Montreal more than half way to Quebec.

The 12,500 freight cars would make up 250 trains, and if they were to start, say from Calgary, at intervals of one hour, running at a regular schedule of 20 miles an hour, nearly ten days and a half would elapse between the despatching of the first and of the last train. When the last train left Calgary, there would be a grand procession from the Rockies to the Atlantic and 2,000 miles out on its depths—if it were possible to extend the rails on the ocean—and that is two-thirds of the watery way to the old country. The 5,000-mile parade would practically reach around one-fifth of the globe. The distance from Calgary to Montreal is 2,251 miles, and the run would occupy four and a quarter days. If the cars were unloaded promptly, the first train could reach Calgary, on the return trip, two days before the last one had been dispatched.

Each car carrying 40 tons, the total capacity of the new cars would be half a million tons, more than enough cargo for 50 ships of the largest cargo carrying type in the world which have a capacity of 10,000 tons.

The motive power of the 300 new locomotives aggregates 450,000 h.p.—enough to run 64 Angus shops, the largest of their kind in Canada, or the machinery of factories that could keep nearly four hundred thousand persons employed.

The trains themselves, with the "runs" averaging, say, 125 miles between divisional points, would require 17 crews of five men each, between Calgary and Montreal, a total of 85 men, and the 250 trains would need an army of trainmen, 21,250 strong, if each crew were to only make a single "run."

And this is but one purchase of the C.P.R. When one enters upon calculations about this year's entire freight equipment, some 65,000 cars, on a similar basis as that mentioned—a 20-mile-an-hour train hourly —a good deal of arithmetic has to be indulged in. They would make up into 1,300 trains, and it would occupy nearly eight weeks between the departure of the first and the last of them from a given point. They would stretch out 26,000 miles, and encircle the globe at the equator, where Mother Earth swells out to her largest circumference, 25,000 miles. They would reach across the continent of North America from Halifax to Vancouver, over seven times. And they would have a carrying capacity of 2,700,000 tons on the one trip, and with last year's equipment over twenty-two and a half millions of tons were carried during the year.

All of this shows that the C.P.R.'s equipment is something colossal, and that its $19,000,000 purchase means a great deal more than appears on the face of it.

ROYALTY ALSO HAS ITS NICKMAMES

"Bill" and "George" and "Alfie" Hold Reigns of World Powers

Berlin, June 13.—Among the sweepings from the Emperor's library a letter was rescued the other day by court official which commenced "Dear Bill."

The missive was signed "George," and it was found to be a letter from King George of England to His Majesty of Germany.

The court marshal handed the letter to William later on, and the Kaiser told his entourage of some of the familiar names of royalty.

"I knew the Queen of England when she was a little girl, and 'Princess May' to everybody, but when I attempted to call her May after death of King Edward she objected, saying she disliked the abbreviation. She added, 'Call me Toria if you won't call me Mary.'"

Other royal familiar names were mentioned by the Emperor, as follows: Audie for Queen Maud of Norway; Vicky for Princess Victoria, Trixie for Princess Beatrice of Battenburg, Alfie or Phonse for King Alphonso of Spain.

Approximately $1,000 for each $100 invested and one-half of this profit should be reaped in four months, and the balance by December, this year.

The wise man is he who reads the sign of the time and acts accordingly. You are not buying lots but become a shareholder in an undivided interest of a first class sub-division, and a party to the selling of lots, instead of buying, a review of the history of real estate speculation show the greatest profits have been realized from purchase and sale of sub-division and close in business propety. The Syndicate plan appeals to all. The capitalist has an opportunity of securing a high rate of interest on his capital invested, the man of moderate means has the same opportunity with the additional prospect of largely increasing his principal and his chances of becoming independently rich are increased a thousand fold. Shares in this Syndicate are $100, and for those who cannot pay outright all to have a chance folloRing terms $33.35 cash, balance equally divided, due in 30 and 60 days. Now then, property the same distance out is being held at $500 per acre. I could sell at even $200 per acre, and clear a handsome profit, account of securing the property before the boom although by sub-dividing can clear as much several times over and in addition, make big money for many others.

Do you know that Brandon, Manitoba is on the eve of the first genuine growth activity in the history of that thriving city. The Dominion Fair will be held there in 1913, and $135,000 is being spent in preparation for it. Brandon ranks among the first as a distributing centre ; 278 towns that can be served by wholesalers on a competitive freight rate basis 134 towns within a radius of 60 miles, all inspired with progress. Electric Railway now in. Charter has been granted to a Company to build and operate radial lines to all important towns, including Rapid City, Minnedosa, Neepawa, Carberry, Souris, Wawanesa and etc. With rapid transit quick service what will it mean for Brandon, all of this wealth knocking at her door ? Brandon's assessment increased in one year, 1910 to 1911, $1,227,492. Elevator capacity, Brandon city trading territory, 19,324,000 bushels, or one third of the total capacity of Alberta, Saskatchewan, and Manitoba. Inland revenue, 1910, $87,113.36. Bank Clearings, April 1st to March 31st, 1911, $27,271,695.00. Brandon is a shipping area. Brandon rates are from three ?ents to thirty cents less per 100 lbs., according to class and destination, than Winnipeg rates to the same points, and from 6 to 51 cents less than Regina rates.

Building and construction work in Brandon, 1911, $3,259,000, including Provincial asylum $600,000, new dwellings $200,000, new provincial normal school. Technical school, addition to the college, apartment houses, hospital addition, new primary school, warehouses, churches, bank buildings, aund station, $500,000, Canadiand many others ; C.N.R. hotel a Pacific station $250,000, Grand Trunk Pacific building, in this year contracts awarded. Four transcontinental lines and, including branches, 27 lines run in or radiate from Brandon, the present terminus of the Great Northern, having Hudson Bay its objective point. Think what this means to Brandon. Also upon completion of the Government's railroad to Hudson Bay, as well as C.E.R. and C.P.R. surveying lines to that point, which is 100 miles nearer Liverpool than New York City to Liverpool ; Brandon will have adequate shipping facilities. 500,000 horse power available ; already the immense water powers of the Winnipeg river are being harnessed to make the wheels of industry hum at Brandon.

The initial and only payment demanded of this syndicate is $30,000, and the syndicate will reap seventeen times that amount. In other words approximately $1,000 for every share, 200 shares reserved, 300 sold, 500 issued altogether. By reserving the 200 shares is where the syndicate promoter benefits. The difference between cost of land $24,140.00 and the $30,000 will sub-divide and cover cost of advertising, consequently the promoter will not derive any benefit only along with the shareholders, after subdividing and larger returns for shareholders will mean the same for the promoter. GRAND TRUNK RY. NOTES

Tuesday, June 11th, 1912.

A curious incident of the manner in which modern transportation facilities have brought closely together the old and the new worlds came to light the other day in the Grand Trunk Railway's new hotel at Ottawa, the Chateau Laurier. Some of the barbers employed in the building were brought there especially from Europe, and among them one from Edinburgh, who had worked at his trade in that city up to the day he sailed. This man had for one of his latest customers an Englishman whose personality impressed itself upon him more than usual by reason of a conversation he had with him. Great was the mutual surprise of the both men, however, when the Englishman seated himself in the chair of the same barber at the Chateau ten days later. Although neither knew that the other was intending to travel, they had met a quarter of the way round the Globe, the customer having received an unexpected cable which necessitated his sailing immediately for this country to look after interests here.

Two splendid locomotives of a new type have recently made their maiden trips on the main line of the Grand Trunk Pacific between Edmonton and Winnipeg. These big tripe drive wheel, trailer truck, high-speed engines, of the Walshbeart valve gear, consolidated, Pacific type, were built last November.

The Commissioner of Dominion Parks is at present in Montana, from where he intends to ship a number of Buffalo from the herd of Mr. M Pablo to the Buffalo Park at Wainwright, on the main line of the Grand Trunk Pacific. Some 15 animals have been rounded up, but it is possible that not more than a carload will be captured.

The death occurred within the past few days of two of the best known employees of the Grand Trunk Railway in Ontario. One of these is Mr. Harry Donald who was, at the time of his decease, in London, Ont., was among the oldest conductors in the Company's service, having seen 40 years in harness, spent principally on the Stratford branch. The other is Mr. George Brown, an exceedingly capable and popular engineer, who fell dead suddenly in the office of the locomotive foreman at Brockville, the cause being ascribed to heart failure. Mr. Btown was only 38 years of age, but has been in the employ of the Grand Trunk for 17 years, during which time he had risen from fireman to the position he held at the last. As an engineer, he had qualified for passenger service, and frequently piloted express trains between Belleville and Montreal.

New York Widow Claims That Her Young Broker Went With $45000 On Wedding Eve.

New York, June 14.—Mrs. M. J. Kennedy, of 167 Eightieth street, Bay Ridge, who was to be married this evening to Edward J. Santelle, packed up her things to-day and accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Wm. Barrows, retired to the country.

The young man, who has been her constant suitor for many months has disappeared she says, and with him almost $45,000 of her money. About all that Mrs. Kennedy knows of him is that he posed as a broker, and she said before her departure yesterday that he had swindled her by playing upon her love for him.

Mrs. Kennedy is the widow of William Kennedy, a linen merchant, who died about two years ago and left her an estate of about $200,000. She has been living for several months with Mrs. Barrows in Bay Ridge, and preparations for her wedding with Santelle have gone on apace. She purchased the house at Eighteenth street and intended that it should be her home when she became Mrs. Santelle.

Santelle had been introduced to Mrs. Kennedy's friends, and was well liked. He is nearly ten years her junior, good looking, and of athletic build.

Tragic Death of Child.

NORMONS ARE VERY ACTIVE

Montreal Said To Be The Gateway To Salt Lake City.

A BATTLE ON THE WHARF

Presbyterian Clergyman is Forced to Ask for Police Protection—He is Indignant Over Efforts Made to Induce Women to Join Cult.

Montreal, June 14.—Mormon missionaries are trying to induce young women bound for Canada to join their parties of converts and head for Salt Lake City, and are using every argument with unaccompanied girls on steamers bound for Montreal.

This is the charge which is being made by Rev. John Chisholm, Presbyterian missionary, and others who are doing welfare work on the docks, and such indignation is being expressed that a meeting of Montreal Protestant clergymen of all denominations is shortly to be held to take steps to stop the port of Montreal from being turned into the gateway of Salt Lake City.

One day this week Mr. Chisholm practically had a battle on the wharf with two Mormon missionaries who had landed from a vessel with sixty-one converts for Sault Lake city. Mr Chisholm declares the missionaries on the pier were trying to get two young women bound for Toronto to join their party, whereupon Mr Chisholm interfered.

Turning upon him the missionaries insulted him and called upon the officers of the line to have him put off the pier, whereupon Mr. Chisholm called for police protection and showed that he had authority to be there to look after the interests of the immigrants.

During the whole voyage to Montreal it is claimed the Mormons missionaries were telling young women coming to Canada that in this country they would be exposed to cold weather, toil and hard conditions, whereas in Utah they would have much more luxury and a better home. In addition they explained the tenets of the Mormon faith.

Converts from Great Britain.

In the party of Mormon converts which arrived aboard one vessel here this week were fifty women and eight missionaries, who had rounded them up in Great Britain. It was in an effort to add to the number of their converts that they approached the the young women, some of whom were coming here to go into service, while others intended to meet their sweethearts for the purpose of marriage.

Other passengers were annoyed by this propoganda aboard the vessel, and drew up a petition which they presented to the officers, asking them to prevent the missionaries from misleading unprotected girls, but the officers did not see how they could interfere.

The missionaries, it is claimed still persisted after the vessel docked here in trying to persuade two of the girls going to Toronto to join them. They stopped them on the pier and were urging them to go to Salt Lake city with them when Mr. Chisholm interfered. The Mormons denounced him, and then turned to the officers, declaring that they were good passengers and brought good business to the line, and did not propose to be insulted.

The Mormon Propoganda.

It is said that at the port of New York the Mormon propoganda was found so unsatisfactory that Mormon missionaries have been debarred from the vessels of several lines running to that port, and that is why Montreal is now being made the port of entry for these Mormon proselyters and their converts. Large parties are being brought over on almost every vessel, whence they go direct to Salt Lake City.

That this should be stopped is the aim of the present agitation, and especially is it desired that the work of the missionaries among in-coming Canadian settlers should be prohibited altogether.

SCHOOLGIRL PRODIGY

Penzance Child Paints Remarkable Picture, Now in Royal Academy

London, June 13.—It is not often that a mere child becomes a Royal Academy exhibitor, but this year Miss Alethea Garstin, who is still a school girl, has achieved this dazzling acquaintance with fame by her oil painting, "The Chairmakers."

The scene represents the interior of a workship with two glass-panelled doors. By a table two figures are sitting huddled and indistinct in outline and the whole study is low toned and permeated with an atmosphere of gloom.

The light and shade effects show a distinct power of color treatment, and as an imaginative composition, Miss Garstin has produced a result full of promise and remarkable skill. The clever young artist lives in Penzance, and in a home haunted by memories of famous painters and writers.

A FAMOUS FENCER

GREATEST DUEL ON RECORD.

To give an idea of what a brave man can do if he knows fencing thoroughly and but keeps cool and collected in danger we will relate a historical duel. So extraordinary is this combat that it would be held a romance had it not been witnessed by a whole army. The hero is Jean Louis, one of the great masters of the sword of the beginning of last century, and the duel happened in Madrid in 1813. He was the master at arms of the Thirty-second regiment of French infantry. The First regiment, composed entirely of Italians, formed part of the same brigade.

Regimental esprit de corps and rivalries of nationality caused constant quarrels, when swords were often whipped out or bullets exchanged. After a small battle between the two factions of the brigade had occurred in the streets of Madrid, in which over 200 French and Italian soldiers had taken part, the officers of the two regiments, in a council of war assembled, decided to give such breaches of order a great blow and to re-establish discipline. They declared that the masters at arms of the two regiments involved should take up the quarrel and fight it out.

The drum is heard. Two men, naked to the waist, step in the ring. The first is tall and strong. His black eyes roll disdainfully upon the gaping crowd. He is Giacomo Ferrari, the celebrated Italian. The second, tall, also handsome and with muscles like steel, stands modestly awaiting the word of command. His name is Jean Louis. The seconds take their places on either side of their principals. A deathlike silence ensues.

"On guard!"

The two masters cross swords. Giacomo Ferrari lunges repeatedly at Jean Louis, but in vain. His every thrust is met by a parry. He makes up his mind to bide his chance and caresses and teases his opponent's blade. Jean Louis, calm and watchful, lends himself to the play, when, quicker than lightning, the Italian jumps aside with a loud yell and makes a terrible lunge at Jean Louis, a Florentine trick often successful. But with extraordinary rapidity Jean Louis has parried and ripostes quickly in the shoulder.

"It is nothing," cries Giacomo, "a mere scratch." And they again fall on guard. Almost directly he is hit in the breast. This time the sword of Jean Louis, who is now attacking, penetrates deeply. Giacomo's face becomes livid, his sword drops from his hand, and he falls heavily on the turf. He is dead.

Jean Louis is already in position. He wipes his reeking blade; then, with the point of his sword on the ground, he calmly awaits the next man.

The best fencer of the First regiment has just been carried away a corpse, but the day is not yet over. Fourteen adversaries are there, impatient to measure swords with the conqueror, burning to avenge the master they had deemed invincible.

Jean Louis hardly has two minutes' rest. He is ready. A new adversary stands before him. A sinister click of swords is heard, a lunge, a parry, a riposte and then a cry, a sigh, and all is over. A second body is before Jean Louis.

A third adversary advances. They want Jean Louis to rest. "I am not tired," he answers, with a smile.

The signal is given. The Italian is as tall as the one who lies there a corpse covered by a military cloak. He has closely watched Jean Louis' play and thinks he has guessed the secret of his victories. He multiplies his feints and tricks; then, all at once, bounding like a tiger on his prey, he gives his opponent a terrible thrust in the lower line. But Jean Louis' sword has parried and is now deep within his opponent's breast.

What need we to relate any more? Ten new adversaries followed him, and the ten fall before Jean Louis amid the excited yells and roars of an army.

At the request of the Thirty-second regiment's colonel, who thought the lesson sufficient, Jean Louis after much pressing consented to stop the combat, and he shook hands with the two survivors, applauded by 10,000 men.

From that day fights ceased between French and Italian soldiers.

This wonderful and gigantic combat might be held a fable were not all the facts above stated still found in the archives of the ministry of war.—Lippincott's.

A keen, warm sympathy that makes your brother's need your own—nothing short of that is really charity.—Phillips Brooks.

An Age of Great Gamblers.

The eighteenth century was the age of the great gamblers. On Feb. 6, 1772, there was a debate in the house of commons on the thirty-nine articles, and it was noticed that Fox spoke very indifferently.

Horace Walpole suggests an explanation: "He had sat up playing at hazard at Almack's from Tuesday evening, the 4th, till 5 in the afternoon of Wednesday, 5th. An hour before he had recovered £12,000 that he had lost, and by dinner, which was at 5 o'clock, he had ended losing £11,000. On the Thursday

KAISER'S TAX A RICH IDEA

Shrewdly Allows Doting Parents To Assess Children's Good Looks

Berlin, June 13.—The Kaiser's joke of a beauty tax, both for women and babies, by which he hoped to reap an annual income of a hundred and five millions per year, is assuming more definite shape. In Germany people are allowed to fix the amount of their income tax themselves, but, of course, if they understate their income they are very heavily fined.

Now the Kaiser proposes that each woman shall have the privilege of valuing her and her child's beauty, according to her own notions, paying a commensurate tax.

The underlying idea is, of course, that each woman will insist upon paying the highest tax, inasmuch as the highest tax is equivalent to the highest type of beauty.

WHY DOES LEMIEUX TALK THIS WAY

The following extract from the Montreal Correspondent of a Toronto paper shows what the Laurier Government intends to rely upon at the next election. Mr. Burnham said yesterday, when his attention was called to it : "There can be no doubt that the Laurier Government will fight all attempts of the Borden Government to uphold the supremacy of the State, but it is hardly possible that they can win! This speech, however, of Mr. Lemieux is a very striking one, and when we realize that he is next to Sir Wilfrid the most important and able man in the Liberal ranks, we can understand what he is preparing Quebec for and the French of the West. It is by no means certain, however, that the French will be so easily misled. The fight now going on by Le Pays for freedom of speech means a very great deal. Canada at the present time is passing through a crisis of the very first importance and the promptness with which the Marriage Law legislation has been forced to the front by the Borden Government shows very plainly where that Government stands. You notice Mr. Borden says that there will not be an election immediately after redistribution. There never has been one till the end of the term."

In a speech here the ex-minister of marine said that Hon. Mr. Borden, while broad-minded himself, was forced to pay ransom to the fanatics of Ontario, and added that, even if the Privy Council decided in favor of provincial rights in the marriage question, these fanatics would ask for a change in the constitution.

CLAIMS $500 DAMAGES

John Bettes Brings Action Against the Quaker Oats Company, and Alleges Negligence on Part of Defendants.

The case of Betts vs. Quaker Oats Co., in which the plaintiff, John Betts, claims from defendants, the Quaker Oats Co., $500 damages for personal injuries alleged to have been sustained by the plaintiff while in the employ of the defendants was before the Court of General Sessions yesterday. The injuries complained of that the plaintiff's left hand was caught in the machinery and severely lacerated, and making it necessary to have the index finger amputated. Defendants deny negligence and liability.

Mr. E. L. Goodwill is acting for the plaintiff, and Mr. Henderson, of Toronto, for the defendants.

Forefinger Missing.

Mr. Betts, plaintiff, was called to the stand. He gave a verbal description of the circumstances leading up to and the culmination of the accident. He exhibited his left hand, bare of the fore-finger, as an ocular demonstration of the loss he had sustained in the accident. He claimed that the accident was caused by a loose pulley, which allowed the belt to come in contact with the friction pulley, causing the machine to start of its own accord. Witness was examined at length by Mr. Henderson, counsel for the defendants.

Mr. Kingdon, foreman of the department in which Betts is said to have received his injuries, was also placed in the box. He corroborated the evidence of the plaintiff as regards the actions of the loose pulley and admitteh that the machine was considered to be erratic at times in respect to its action. The case was not concluded yesterday, there being a number of witnesses to testify.

BAN ON NAMES IS RAISED IN FRANCE

Absurd Rulings of Birth Registers Held Obsolete By High Tribunal.

Paris, June 13.—The supreme court has done away with the assumption of the birth registers, which used to refuse to recognise given names not in the calendar or not in common use an assumption under which Americans living in Paris have repeatedly suffered in the past. The court held that ministerial prohibition of certain names were not binding, inasmuch as a minister of state is not "identical with the State," while on the other hand, the State guarantees each citizen equal rights, irrespective of political creed.

The supreme court further holds that the regulations against "obnoxious names" are not binding, inasmuch as "obnoxious" is a geographical term, that looms up to-day and is forgotten to-morrow.

Accordingly a Socialist girl-baby had to be recorded as Mlle. Lassalime Harvesting in April.

A news item that is unusual even for this big country of varied climate and lines of work was sent out from High River, Alta., early in April. It ran as follows:

Threshing is again under way in the High River district, although progress so far is not very satisfactory owing to the fields being too soft to move the heavy threshing outfits. The general opinion is that grain has wintered better than expected.

The unusual spectacle of harvesting a crop in April is seen in this district, where several farmers are now engaged in cutting oats. The grain is coming out in fairly good shape. The small acreage ready for spring crops is resulting in many power plowing outfits being bought, several being recently unloaded here.

HOW LAWS ARE MADE

PROCESS OF TURNING AN IDEA INTO A CANADIAN STATUTE.

Bills Are Divided Into Two Great Classes, Private and Public, and Each Gets Three Readings Before It Goes to the Senate—The Assent and Signature of the Governor-General Makes It Law.

Legislative bills are incomplete Acts of Parliament, and it is only when they receive the assent of the three branches of Parliament—the Commons, the Senate, and the Crown, represented by the Governor-General—that they become law. If we trace the progress of a bill through Parliament we shall see in outline how our statutory law is made.

Bills are divided into two general classes—private and public, the distinction being that private bills directly relate to the affairs of private individuals or of corporate bodies, while public bills, relate to matters of public policy or to the community in general.

The introduction of a private bill is not a matter of right. Notice that such a bill is to be brought up must be given in The Canada Gazette a number of weeks before the opening of Parliament, and after the House settles down to business all these petitions are referred to a special committee on Standing Orders, for the purpose of ascertaining if the rules have been complied with. The report of the committee being favorable, permission is granted to introduce the bill. The public bill is introduced without these preliminaries.

But some bills, whether public or private, cannot be introduced by a private member. The principal bills of this kind are those involving a charge upon the people, imposing taxation, or asking for an expenditure of public money.

For these matters the Government must take the responsibility, the approval of the Governor-General must be obtained, and the matter is introduced by means of a resolution, upon which, when adopted, a bill is based and introduced in the usual way.

As a rule, bills are introduced at the opening of a sitting, immediately after routine proceedings, when it gets its first reading generally without discussion. There are three readings of a bill, and yet at none of them is the bill actually read in the House. The readings are names given to the three stages of the progress of a bill through the House, at each of which it can be debated and possibly defeated.

After being read a first time the bill goes on the order paper, which is the printed program of each day's business. In due time the bill is again reached, and now its second reading is moved.

It is on this motion that the principles of the bill are debated, and if it be a bill containing a measure of public policy it is upon this motion that the contending parties fight out the question. These are the big debates of the session, often carried on from day to day for a week or more, and brought to conclusions by divisions.

The motion for a second reading may be met by different amendments, declaring some principle adverse to the principle of the bill, asking for further information, or proposing some other procedure with respect to the matter. One of these amendments is that known as "the six months' hoist," which proposes that the bill be not then read but that it be read that day six months, which is usually not at all.

The second reading having been carried, however, the bill is referred to a committee—a railway bill to the Select Standing Committee on Railways; a bill relating to bank charter to the committee on banking, and a special bill to a committee specially selected. The Government's bills, however, are never sent to select committees. After having been read a second time they go before the Committee of the Whole House. There a bill is read clause by clause, and every detail debated. The principle of the bill cannot be attacked in committee, for the second reading has accepted that, but it is in order to propose amendments to its clauses and to change it, as the committee may see fit.

When the Committee of the Whole has passed every clause they report the bill to the House with the Speaker in the chair, and the bill is ready for a third reading, which may take place then or be delayed a few days.

A bill public or private, but which is not a Government measure, is studied by the select committee to which it has been referred. These select committees have their rooms on the second floor of the Houses of Parliament, and hold their meetings in the forenoon. They often call witnesses and allow interests affected by a bill to be represented by counsel. When the conflicting interests are been and on the spot there is often a bitter squabble which turns the meeting into a noisy and often unparliamentary affair.

After these select standing committees have passed the bills referred to them, the bills are reported to the House, and have to be studied and passed in the Committee of the Whole House in the same manner as are passed the Government bills that are not referred to the select, standing committees.

The next stage in the journey is the third reading. Sometimes the motion is debated and resisted, but this is rather unusual. The third reading adopted, the next step is a motion that the bill "do now pass," and this motion being adopted, the bill is at the end of its journey, so far as the House is concerned. All this, however, has to be repeated in the Senate, where, having been read three times and passed in committee, it is ready for Royal Assent, which being given usually on the last day of the session, the bill becomes an Act of Parliament, and part of the law of the land.

A REMARKABLE MAN.

Earl of Durham Was an Ardent Builder of Empire.

One of the most interesting and remarkable characters conspicuous in the political history of Canada is the Earl of Durham. He was Governor-General of Canada for about five months, and he never held another post in the colonial service, and yet he solved the problem of colonial government and laid down the lines on which government in Canada has been carried on, almost from his time down to the present day, and have been applied, not only to Canada, but to every self-governing dominion beyond the seas. That they are self-governing is because Lord Durham's doctrine has been accepted and put into practice. Lord Durham's pointed the way, and other have followed it.

Baldwin and Lafontaine are commonly spoken of as the apostles of the principle of responsible government. And so they were. They taught it to the people of Upper and Lower Canada, and won its acceptance at the polls. The Earl of Elgin put it into practice. And here is another link connecting Lord Durham with Canadian public life, for the Earl of Elgin was the son-in-law of the Earl of Durham, and to the son-in-law fell the task of giving effect to the plan the father-in-law had designed.

For other reasons besides that of being the foundation-builder of the true colonial policy, can the Earl of Durham be called a remarkable man. His character and his work are the subject of a sketch by Mr. C. P. Lucas, published in a recent issue of The Royal Colonial Institute Journal. Writing of the man, Mr. Lucas says that the Earl of Durham was "made up of strangely contradictory elements. He was an aristocrat of the aristocrats, and at the same time a Radical of the Radicals. While he was a pronounced Radical he was a no less pronounced Imperialist. . . . The fact of his having been from childhood master of a great inheritance, couple with indifferent health, probably accounted for some of his characteristics. He was arrogant, overbearing and pompous, an uncomfortable bedfellow for his colleagues."

His achievements in the public life of Great Britain were not conspicuous. "He had, it is true, taken a prominent part in shaping the first Reform bill, and he was a recognized leader of the Radical Wing of the Whig Party." The only political office he ever held in England was the nominal one of Lord Privy Seal in the Ministry of his father-in-law, Lord Grey; and for two years he was Ambassador to Russia. And still, writes Mr. Lucas, "he was beyond question a master builder; and yet he did not build himself, but taught others to build. . . His name lives solely as that of the author of a most notable report on Canada. ."

In his youth he had served in the army. For his entrance into the Lower Canadian capital he put on the gorgeous uniform of a full general. Then mounting a white charger, and surrounded by a large and brilliant military staff, he rode through the streets of Quebec to the Castle of St. Louis, then the residence of the Governor-General. When he rode out on subsequent occasions his staff, it is said, was almost as showy as that of an Eastern Prince. "The magnificent appointments of Lady Durham's drawing-room were a marvel; royal feasts were given at Castle St. Louis. And all the time Durham was half an invalid, confined to the house for days, with the shadow of his early death already upon him."

A Safe Bet.

He was showing his friends his new watch, made of the new metal, unbreakable—cost him six hundred dollars.

His seven friends were dubious of its tensile strength.

"Tell you what we do, boys," he said. "You put up five dollars each against my six hundred dollar watch. I'll put it to the test. If it breaks I'll lose the watch. All you'll lose is the thirty-five."

They didn't think it out quite clearly, but the wager was made.

He hurled the watch against a brick wall. It broke into a thousand pieces.

"Well, boys, I lose the six hundred dollar watch," he said with a long face as he gathered up the money; dumbfounded they saw him do it. Knowing that all was not right they examined what was left of the watch; it wasn't even nickel-plated.

T. Ambrose Woods, Toronto, whose horse Kelvin won the King's plate, tells the story; he was one of the contributors.—Canadian Courier.

THE FARMER'S SON.

He Must Follow His "Natural Bent" Say Educationists.

Authorities tell us that every human being is so constituted that there is a particular line of work at which the indivdual will reach a maximum of efficiency. The modern tendency is to provide such education for boys and girls of the farm as will result in the majority of them remaining on the farm.

However, it is not in accord with natural laws or the best interests of general education for a Government or the head of any institution to aim at keeping all farm boys on the soil by any separation of the agricultural institution that means a discord among educational forces.

Principal Black and those who argued for separation of Manitoba Agricultural College from Manitoba University on the plea that such relationship would prevent farm boys from giving up the agricultural course in favor of some other line of study, should ponder what Charles Dickens has to say about education in general, and "the natural bent" in particular.

Or, better, they should have heard James L. Hughes, superintendent of schools for Toronto, at the annual convention of the Manitoba Teachers' Association recently, when he spoke on "Dickens as an Educator." Mention was made of Dickens' opinion of the fathers of his day, who decided as their children were born into the world what occupation they should follow; no regard was given to "the natural bent."

Dickens realised that no man should undertake to select a vocation for another. He argued that even fathers were not capable of choosing a line of work for their youthful sons, each of whom had a "natural bent."

Principal Black wisely argues that it is the object of his college to send as many as possible of the sons of the soil back to the farm; but at the same time he makes arrangements to place as many as possible of the graduates in positions away from their farms. This is what creates suspicion as to what is the real object in separating the agricultural college from the university.

If good reason or sound argument had been put forth, there would have been little or no objection to the move. However, since a relationship was established a few short years ago, no change should have been made without good and sufficient reason. At all events, this is the age of union and harmony of educational interests, rather than of separation and discord.

Train your sons to be good farmers if you can, but don't forget that each one has a "natural bent."—Montreal Standard.

Artistic.

"Did you find the play to be as artistic as it had been reported to be?"

"Yes. It was about the dullest three hours I ever lived through."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Thomas Parr.

Among the extraordinary cases of longevity on record and well attested is that of the Englishman, Thomas Parr, who lived happily in Shropshire at the age of 152. The celebrated Harvey, who dissected him after death, found his body in excellent condition and stated that had it not been for his intemperance he might have lived much longer.

A Double Request.

"Are you the answers to correspondents man?" inquired the dyspeptic looking caller.

"I am," replied the gentleman addressed. "What can I do for you?"

"Firstly, what will dissolve a chunk of lead in the human stomach? Secondly, won't you please refrain from publishing recipes for plum pudding hereafter?"

Hance Logan, ex-M.P. for Amherst, N.S., was among the guests of the Saskatchewan Legislature on the laying of the corner-stone of the capitol some few years ago. Regina then had fewer paved streets than it has today, and the Parliament Buildings were a little way out of town where pavements were not.

Regina is the centre of a great agricultural district, and while its soil is excellent for growing wheat it has very little vogue with the pedestrian.

When the train pulled into Regina an energetic Saskatchewan rain had been at work over night, and was still busy.

Mr. Logan and his friends were forced to walk through the mire to the ceremonies. A good man had seized on the occasion to spread the gospel among the eastern heathen and had established himself near the site of the Parliament buildings, where he displayed a conspicuous sign which read, "Where will you spend eternity?"

Mr. Logan waved an interrogative hand to the sign, pointed to one of his party, and said, "Anywhere but Regina."—Canadian Courier.

Trouble at Campbellton.

During the election fever of September last there was trouble between two prominent citizens of Campbellton, N.B. Dr. Doherty's umbrella pierced the eye of Daniel Bruce, and the wound proved fatal. The doctor has been acquitted of manslaughter and some of the citizens are indignant over what they claim to be a "miscarriage of justice."

Without expressing any opinion on the case, it may be pointed out that it will now be in order for some freak legislator to introduce a bill forbidding the carrying of umbrellas for a period of thirty days preceding a general election. Mr. Lewis seems to have a fondness for freak bills, and if so, here is his opportunity.—Canadian Courier.

Mr. Barnet is 21 years old, and is said to be the youngest graduate of any Canadian University to be awarded this coveted prize. He will go to Chicago to begin a three years' course.

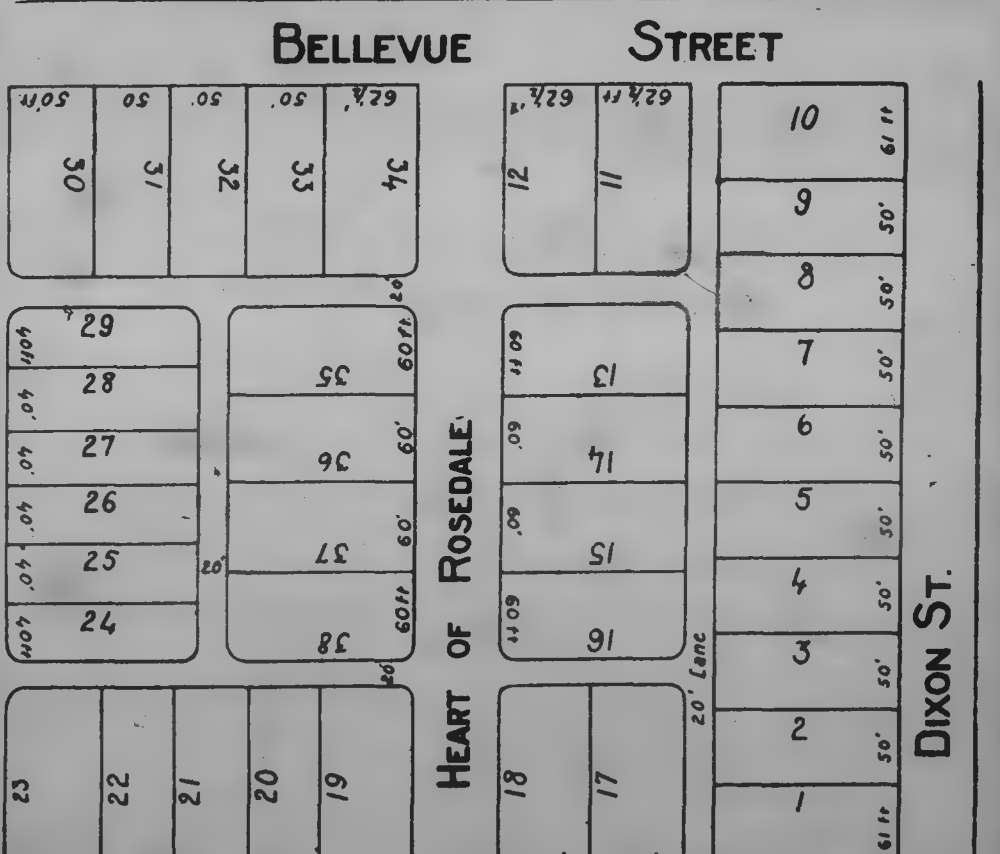
ROSEDALE LOTS



HOME-SEEKERS, REAL ESTATE SPECULATORS and REAL ESTATE BROKERS

After close application to business for 50 years I have decided to quit. Before doing so, I must sell about 5 lots, and some houses on my Western Avenue Sub-Division. Also 3 large blocks, intended for factory sites, still open at nominal price, if taken at once. WAGE-EARNERS OPPORTUNITY.

ROSEDALE

My Rosedale HIGH-CLASS Sub-Division is positively certain to become VERY VALUABLE in a short time, but I cannot afford to wait for $20 per foot. Have decided to close out at $8, on terms, with discount for cash. My loss will be your gain, as all must be sold.

Nasal Discharge Proves Catarrh is Active.

THE PURE BALSAMIC ESSENCES OF CATARRHOZONE AFFORD SUREST AND QUICKEST CURE.

Catarrhozone is certain to cure because its healing vapor is carried with the breath directly to the seat of the chest, nose or throat trouble. Being composed of the purest balsams and pine essences, it immediately allays irritations, facilitates the ejection of mucus, soothes and stimulates the lungs and bronchial tubes. The marvel of the age in curing winter ills—that's what thousands say about Catarrhozone. There is nothing so sure to cure, and to those in fear of changeable weather —those who easily catch cold—those who work among lung-chilling surroundings, or where dust, impure air, fog or damp can affect them — let them get Catarrhozone and use it several times daily—it will cure every time.

BAD CASE CURED IN TWO DAYS.

"I was unfortunate enough to catch a bad cold from sitting in a draught in my bare head" writes Miss Nora E. Jemieson, well known in Sangre Grande, Td. "An acute condition of catarrh developed in my nostrils and for three days my eyes and nose ran most copiously. The usual remedies entirely failed to relieve. I read in The Mirror newspaper about Catarrhozone and sent to Smith Bros. drug store for a dollar outfit. In two days Catarrhozone cleared out my nostrils cured the sneezing, coughing, and all traces of catarrh."

Large size Catarrhozone, sufficient for two months' use, guaranteed, price $1.00; smaller sizes 25c and 50c. Beware of imitations and substitutors, and insist on getting "Catarrhozone" only. By mail from the Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Ont.

A Delightful Evening

The concert last night, given in St John's Sunday School room by the Junior Auxiliary was a very delightful affair. Those in charge are entitled to great credit for the success of the entertainment.

Sunday Breakers Killed

Covington, Ky., June 13.— Two roundhouse men, employed on the silver grove yards of the Chesapeake & Ohio, near here, borrowed a locomotive to go over to pick flowers for their wives early Saturday and very shortly afterwards were killed in a collision with another locomotive. Three other men were injured.

Aerial Guns Tested.

Washington, June 13.—The practicability of aerial artillery was demonstrated with remarkable success at College Park, Md., Saturday, when Capt. Chas. Def Chandler, chief of the aeronautical division of the United States Army Signal Corps, from an aeroplane 600 feet in the air flying 50 miles an hour, fired half a hundred shots from the army's new aeroplane gun and made every shot tell on a space 3 by 10 feet.

A Safe Airship.

The editor of the great family journal has been favored with an invitation to enjoy a ride in an airship at the Dominion Fair in Ottawa in September. We appreciate the honor conferred on us, but our acceptance will depend on the kind of flying machine to be used. If it is to be the "Aviette," we will be there. This is an new airship without a motor, and when it was tried a few days ago in Paris, it was unable to get off the ground. Therefore, this g.f.j. thinks that riding in it may be regarded as safe sport. It is a similar machine to the one which our esteemed fellow townsman, Mr. Andy Laidlaw, will use when making his long-promised aerial trip from Armouries Hill.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

ROYALTY BACKS NEW S. S. LINE

Kaiser and Rich Nobles Financing Emden-N. Y. Line.

Berlin, June 13.—It has now developed that the high born capitalists known as the Prince's Trust are backing the proposed Emden-New York Steamship Line. Accordingly the Kaiser himself is one of the capitalists engaged. Others are the German J. P. Morgans, yclept Prince Furstenberg, Prince Hohenloe, etc. They will put $1,250,000 of their own money into the scheme, inviting the public to invest five million dollars more.

The new line proposes to rely principally on freight and immigrants, such going to America and such going back to Germany.

As the Kaiser is financially interested in the scheme, the Prussian government, of course, is willing to help. Accordingly it is proposed to dig a canal, starting at Wesel and connecting the Rhine and the Ems. Emden is situated on the conflux of the Ems with the North Sea; the new canal is proposed for vessels not larger than six hundred tons, while vessels going to Rotterdam via the Rhine may be twenty-five hundred tons.

BRIDE OF A YEAR WIDOW, BUT WEALTHY

Seattle Woman, Whose Husband Was Killed in Alaska, Hears That She Is Worth Almost a Million.

Seattle, June 13.—Mrs. Anna Lammers, bride of a year, learned to-day that she is a widow and worth a million dollars. She married J Franklin Lammers in Butte in May of last year, and they moved to Steilacoom, near Tacoma. Lammers left his bride there to go to Alaska to make his fortune.

He was killed in a snowslide near Kennecott, in the Copper river district, and his body was recovered, though that of his companion, J McCarthy, was not found. Mrs. Lammers read of her husband's death in the Tacoma Times, with the additional information that T. M. Cartwright a business man of Cordova, Alaska, was in Seattle looking for the dead miner's heirs. Cartwright did not know that Lammers had a wife.

Rev. J. E. Noftsinger, formerly of Butte, but now living in Seattle, called on Mrs. Lammers to-day in this city and identified her as the young woman he had married to Lammers a year ago. He also identified Lammer's photograph, which the widow carries in a gold locket.

Lammers recently sold two mines one of them the Anna Madge, named after his wife, for $250,000. He left enormous holdings in the North.

When told that she was a rich woman to-day Mrs. Lammers said: "I would willingly give up the money if it would only bring Frank back to me."

Amalgamation of Two Companies

THE Renfrew Flour Mills, Limited, has been incorporated under the Ontario Company's Act to take over the plant of the Renfrew Roller Mills, Limited, at Renfrew, Ont., and the waterpower, flour mill, elevator, warehouses, electric light plant, etc., of the Milling Co., at Pakenham, Ont.

The mills of the company are equipped with modern machinery and are in a high state of efficiency.

The Elevators at Renfrew have a capacity of 75,000 bushels.
The Elevator at Pakenham has a capacity of 25,000 bushels.

A Valuable Asset

The waterpower at Pakenham is a very valuable asset of the Company. Waterpowers are difficult to secure in Ontario on account of the new government regulations which are designed to place the control of waterpowers with the municipalities and under the supervision of the Hydro-Electric Commission. The fact that the waterpower at Pakenham will be owned absolutely by the Renfrew Flour Mills, Limited, makes stock in the Company even more desirable. The waterpower at this point is not only amply sufficient for all requirements, but for the future needs of the company, should it be deemed advisable to increase the milling capacity of the Pakenham plant.

The Renfrew Flour Mills, Limited, takes over two well established businesses. The company is thus in a position to earn an exceedingly good profit right from the start.

In fact the average yearly net profits for the past five years of one of the mills has been practically sufficient to pay the dividend on the full amount of the preference stock that will be issued.

The Company has no bonded indebtedness. The Preference Shares, therefore, are preferential, both as to assets and to dividend of 7% per annum.

For the guidance of investors, we offer the following examples to show the amount of stock various sums will procure.

$500 procures $500 par value preference stock and $125 par value common stock.
$1000 procures $1000 par value preference stock and $250 par value common stock.

$12.50 per share on August 1, 1912.

We advise immediate subscription on the part of prospective investors, as the shares in this latest enterprise of Mr. Thomas A. Low's are certain to be taken up very rapidly, on account of the confidence in which Mr. Low, and those associated with him, are held by the investing public.

Mr. Low's Letter

Following is a letter from Mr. Low, regarding the new company:

International Bond Corporation, Limited,
Ottawa, Ont.

DEAR SIRS:

With reference to the Renfrew Flour Mills, Limited, the Company of which I have the honor of being President, I desire to say that under the same management, as has been in charge of The Renfrew Roller Mills Co., Limited, I believe the new Company will prove a very successful undertaking. The Renfrew Roller Mills Co., Limited, under the management of Mr. W. T. Guest, has been a great success. Almost every year from its inception the Company has paid annual dividends to its shareholders of ten per cent., and have as well laid up a large rest account. I am glad to be able to inform intending purchasers of stock in The Renfrew Flour Mills, Limited, that Mr. Guest has consented to accept the management of the new Company. I have no hesitation in saying that I believe the Company with the increased capacity will achieve even greater success than the old Company. Mr. Guest is thoroughly familiar with both the mills of the Company. He has been in charge of the mill at Renfrew since it was erected, and the mill at Pakenham, he owned and operated successfully for several years. You will therefore, see that the Company has been very fortunate in securing the services of so capable a manager. I have no hesitation in saying to any person who is looking for a good, sound and safe investment, that I believe the stock of The Renfrew Flour Mills, Limited, will prove very profitable.

Yours truly,
THOS. A. LOW.

DANISH KING GREAT WALKER

Paris, June 13.—The late King of Denmark was almost as popular in Paris as the late King Edward. Before leaving Nice recently he expressed the hope of returning next year to the French Riviera. One of his characteristics was an objection to being escorted at a discreet distance by detectives, according to the custom always observed by royal persons travelling in Europe.

The king was an excellent walker, and often delighted in walking so quickly that the detectives could not keep up with him. Last year one plain clothes constable at Nice, who who was extremely corpulent, was ordered not to lose sight of the Danish monarch for one instant during the day.

On setting out for a seaside stroll the king noticed him, and decided to give him a little exercise. So, stepping briskly he walked several miles without stopping, the detective following at a dog trot and perspiring profusely. When the monarch thought it would be inhuman to torture the poor man any more he turned round suddenly and walking back to him, said: "I am afraid I have tired you out. Come and have a refresher." and the King and constable sat down on the outside terrace of a small cafe and took drinks together like old friends. King Frederick subsequently related the incident with great glee.

28 Southern Delegates Climb On T. R. Band Wagon

Tumultuous Demonstration When Roosevelt Reaches Chicago, But He Resists Demands For Speech--The News of Defections Daze Taft Managers.

Chicago, June 15.—Twenty thousand persons greeted Col. Roosevelt at the La Salle street station when he arrived here shortly after four o'clock to-day. The enthusiasm became tumultuous when the crowd caught sight of the colonel. Thousands rushed the details of police to get a close glimpse of him, waving his new smoke-colored sombrero. The colonel acknowledged the cheers with a broad grin.

"Make us a speech colonel," yelled the crowd, as the colonel stepped into an automobile, but the former president continuing to wave his hat, refused. A band outside the station pumped itself to lung capacity, but no one heard it make any noise. Col. Roosevelt and those in his party were driven directly to the Congress Hotel.

Great crowds lined the streets along which the colonel passed. His friends had to fight their way through a roaring mob of admirers. Once in the hotel, Mr. Roosevelt was hustled to his rooms.

The signed pledges of twenty-eight delegates from Mississippi, Tennessee, South Carolina and Georgia, to vote for Roosevelt are in the hands of Senator Dixon, the Roosevelt campaign manager, he jubilantly announced to-day. The loss of these men is fatal to the Taft forces.

WATCHED VOLCANOES FROM SHIP'S BRIDGE

Seattle, Wash., June 15.- Captain M. M. Jensen, of the steamship Admiral Sampson, which arrived early to-day from South-Western Alaska, saw the eruptions of Mount Katmai, Mount Redoubt and Mount Iliamna from the bridge of his ship while at Port Graham, 150 miles from Katmai.

"Early Thursday afternoon we heard adistant rumbling, and later in the day terrific explosions like the booming of cannon," Capt. Jensen said. Early Friday I saw a dense column of black smoke rising above Katmai and smaller clouds were issuing from Redoubt and Iliamna. The dense clouds spread over the sky, the sun appearing through the smoke like a ball of fire. Before we left Port Graham a white ash tinged with yellow began to fall. The air contained much sulphur and before long the brass work aboard ship began to show the effect of the acid. When we left Port Graham the natives were greatly alarmed, although the fall of ash then was not heavy, the wind carrying it south of us. At night the sky above the mountains was red from the fire in the peaks. The snow on all the mountains was blackened by the fall of ash."

COL. HUGHES OBJECTS

Hamilton, June 16.—The annual meeting of the Women's Wentworth Historical Society was held yesterday. Colonel Hughes went on record as opposing the giving up of the Bunker Hill gun. He was opposed to giving up any war trophies. "What we have we hold," was his motto in the matter of trophies won from an enemy in war time. He would not mind winning back a flag, but he would never give one back having once won it. The way to preserve peace was to prepare for war.

600 MEXICANS FEARFUL DEATH

Became Lost in Desert--Scores Jumped Into a Well and Were Drowned.

Los Angeles, June 15.—According to details of the recent battle at Cuatro Cienegas, Mexico, which filtered through the censorship maintained by the rebels, 600 of Orozco's army driven from the city, by the Federals, became lost in the Desert of Bolson de Mapimi and perished.

"The fugitives divided into two parties," says the report, "and in the confusion, instead of taking the road which led to Escalon, headed directly for the wilderness. In their flight they abandoned provisions and a few days later the van guard found itself in the centre of desolate sand hills. Men were dropping like flies when the leaders came upon an old well.

"After satisfying their thirst they decided that the Federals were pursuing, and they destroyed the pump so the regulars could not use the well. Six hours later the second division of rebels, followed the track of the first, staggered to the well. Then followed a scene such as was perhaps never enacted before, as thirst crazed rebels fought with each other for the privilege of jumping into the gaping shaft, utterly disregarded orders of their officers.

"In five minutes the well was filled with struggling men, all of whom succumbed before their comrades could reach them to drag them out.

"Delirium seized the remaining members of the army, and the disheartened soldiers fled across the desert sands, only to find death under the burning sun. Of 1,100 men in the second division only a few more than 400 resumed their sorrowful march.

"A few days later scouting parties acting under orders of Gen. Aubert, found the desert dotted with bodies of the rebels. The valley henceforth will be known in Mexican history as Llanura de Muerte, or Plain of Death."

THE WEATHER.

Mostly fair and a little warmer.

GRAFTED NEW TISSUE ON BLIND EYE; SIGHT RESTORED

Philadelphia, June 15.—Blind for seven years, his case given up as hopeless by physicians and surgeons, Owen Harris, a machinist, is at the Medico-Chirurgical Hospital to-day, with his sight restored by one of the most daring operations ever attempted—the removal of tissues from the eye of another man and grafted them on the eye of Harris.

Harris lost the sight of both eyes in a "flareback" from the furnace in the shop in which he was working.

Dr. L. Webster Fox, eye specialist of the hospital, believed there was some hope for Harris.

When a patient came to the hospital with an eye so badly injured that it had to be removed, Harris was summoned. He was placed on the operating table. The eye was taken from the injured man, the eyeball was stripped of the desired tissues and these were placed over the sightless orbs of Harris.

Harris was kept in a dark room for eight days. Then the bandage was removed, and Harris could see a little.

He is now awaiting the arrival of another patient who must lose an eye. When this patient arrives, Dr. Fox will perform an operation upon the second eye of Harris.

SEWERAGE DISPOSAL BY AID OFF SEDIMENTATION TANK

R. G. Sturgeon & Co., of this City Install in Bowmanville a System of Sewerage Disposal Pronounced to be Highly Satisfactory. Use of Chlorine Eliminated.

Unless within a reasonable time Peterborough City has installed a sanitary method of sewage disposal approved of by the Provincial Board of Health, an injunction will be enforced by adjacent townships to prohibit the flow of sewage into the Otonabee river. The City Council has taken this matter up with Dr. McCullough, chief medical health officer of the Provincial Board, who advises the installation of sedimentation tanks and purification of effluent by means of chlorine. The use of chlorine would cost the city $15 a day at least—an expensive item in itself—and Council is actively engaged in securing data regarding the different methods of treating sewage, with a view to securing the best possible system at a minimum cost for construction and maintenance.

In this connection, we hope the City Fathers will not overlook enquiry into R. G. Sturgeon & Co's system of sewage disposal, which eliminates the costly use of chlorine and in their settlement of this vexed question not be unduly influenced by the too often applied principle, "A prophet has no honor in his own country." This firm is a "home" one, and as such is entitled, all things being equal, to preference over outside bidders. R. G. Sturgeon & Co. has recently installed their sewage system in Bowmanville apparently to the satisfaction of all concerned, and the West Durham Review editorially refers to the work as follows:—

> "Bowmanville citizens are now able to mark a new era in the existence of the town. Previously there has been no method of sewerage disposal. But now a portion of the town is supplied with a first class modern system of sewerage disposal.
>
> "This important work was done by R. G. Sturgeon Co., of Peterborough. The work was under the personal supervision of Mr. R. G. Sturgeon. The Bowmanville Realty Co. had the system installed. It is to provide a means of sewerage disposal for the houses which the Goodyear Company are having erected on Liberty St.
>
> "At the present time there are some twenty houses connected to the system, which has been tested out, and which is found to work perfectly.
>
> "The plant which we have described, in another column, is located on Carlisle avenue, and we believe, is most satisfactory. The principle is an advanced one, as it absolutely eliminates the necessity of purification by means of chlorination.
>
> "The question of sewerage disposal is one that is occupying the minds of many prominent engineers. Toronto has a great sewerage problem to solve and we believe that the Bowmanville Realty Co. displayed considerable foresight and good judgment in securing a system which is absolutely automatic, from which no offensive odors arise and which has entirely eliminated all expensive treatment of the liquids."

While the system installed in Bowmanville by R. G. Sturgeon & Co. is on a small scale compared to what would be required in Peterborough, Mr. Sturgeon assures The Times that he is quite prepared to guarantee this city the same modern system of sewage disposal on a large scale, in which event Peterborough's sewerage problem would be solved in an approved manner, and at the lowest possible cost attainable.

R. G. Sturgeon & Co's System of Treating Sewage Described.

It is no exaggeration to say, that sewerage disposal for rural homes, schools, etc., is one of the most important subjects that is occupying the minds of the Sanitary Engineers

AMERICAN MARINES HAVE LANDED IN CUBA, SOLDIERS GET "MAKE READY" ORDERS AND UNITED STATES BATTLE SHIPS ON THEIR WAY TO PROTECT FOREIGN PROPERTY

THE MINNESOTA, ONE OF THE VESSELS ORDERED TO CUBA

REAR ADMIRAL NATHANIEL A USHER

TYPICAL CUBAN NEGRO FAMILY AROUND PRIMITIVE COFFEE MILL

Five hundred and seventy United States marines have been landed in the Guantanamo district of Cuba to protect foreign property, a division of American battle ships is on its way to Guantanamo, and "make ready" orders have been sent to 5,000 American soldiers who will be needed if the United States government should feel called upon to restore order in the island.

This government still stands behind constituted authority in Cuba as represented by the Gomez government. The naval movement is designed to impress the negro insurrectos with the fact that if the Gomez government cannot keep order the United States must and will.

The battle ship division, in command of Rear Admiral N. R. Usher, comprises the Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri and Ohio.

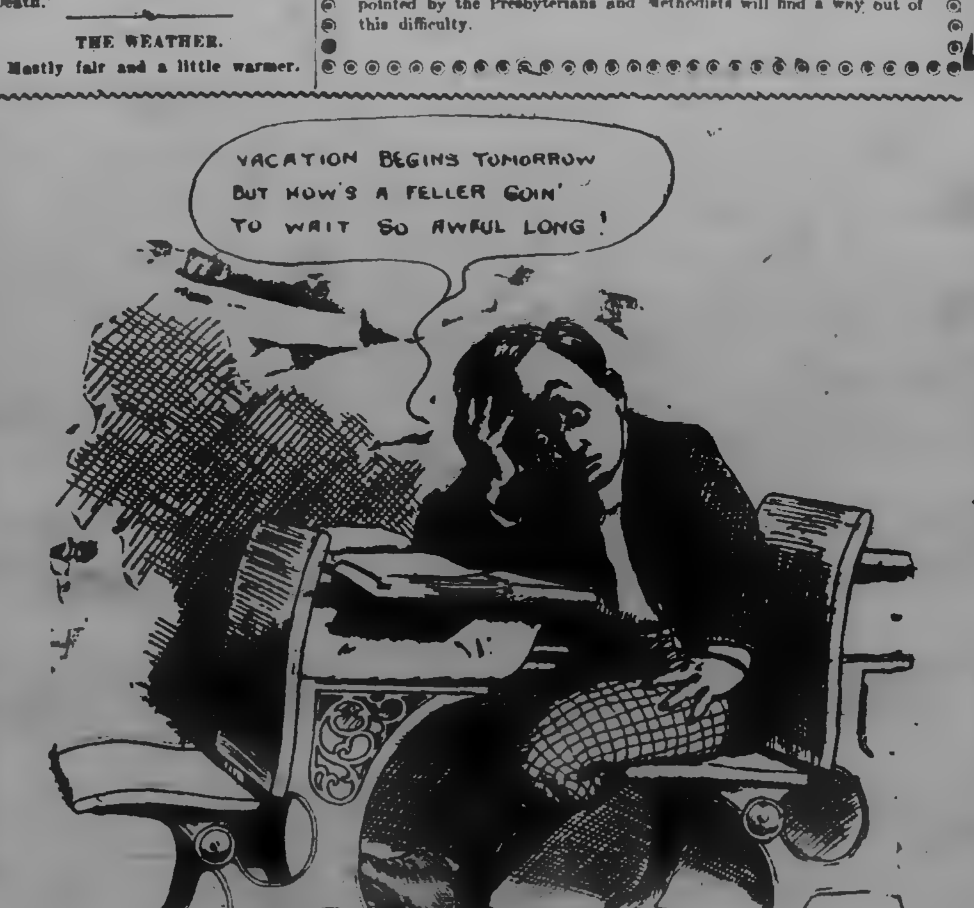
THE GENEROSITY OF QUEBEC.

In discussing the situation in Quebec, our gifted contemporary, the Orange Sentinel, says that the bare statement that there are fifteen hundred Protestant children in the Province of Quebec who are forced to attend Roman Catholic schools or go without education entirely is proof of the unjust conditions which prevail in that province. It confirms everything that Mr. Sellar has said about the English-speaking farmers being driven out of the Eastern townships of Quebec and the Eastern counties of Ontario by means of the school laws.

The statement was made to the Montreal Conference of the Methodist Church by Rev. P. L. Richardson, who moved for the appointment of a committee to co-operate with the Presbyterians with a view to providing a remedy for this state of affairs. It is a question that calls for sacrifices on the part of the Methodists and Presbyterians of Ontario. If they would put themselves in the place of those members of their denomination living in Quebec they would understand how serious is the situation. How would they like their little ones to be forced to make the choice between going without schooling or learning the catechism and prayers of the Roman Church?

We confess that it is difficult for us to understand how any Protestant who appreciates the essential difference between Romanism and Protestantism could for a moment allow the eternal interests of his children to be jeopardized by putting them in the hands of priests or nuns at the most plastic period of their lives.

It is a difficult choice to make—a Roman education or no education. It is not at all surprising that tens of thousands of men who have been required to reach a decision on that point have met the crisis by selling their farms and moving into sections where they could provide for the future of their children without putting them into a position to lose their faith. It should not be possible to drive an English-speaking farmer off the land that was granted by the crown to his grandfather. It is the duty of the educational authorities to provide a public non-denominational school for such cases. That cannot be expected in the Province of Quebec, however, and the case should be met by the members of Protestant churches forming a fund to maintain non-sectarian schools in every centre in the Province of Quebec where the interests of the Protestant children demand it. It is to be hoped that the committees appointed by the Presbyterians and Methodists will find a way out of this difficulty.



VACATION BEGINS TOMORROW
BUT HOW'S A FELLER GOIN' TO WAIT SO AWFUL LONG!

TAFT BEATEN IS LATEST

His Own Managers Concede It's a Neck and Neck Race, and the Slightest Break Will Cause Stampede to Teddy --Roosevett and Bryan the One Best Bet.

Washington, June 16.—(Special)—That President Taft's name will not go before the Chicago convention is freely predicted. Although the Taft delegates have been awarded their seats in the great majority of the contests before the national committee, the number of delegates now claimed for the president by his managers is 466 instead of 460. Indeed, according to their figures, the race is neck and neck, they conceding that Col. Roosevelt will come within 76 votes of the nomination on the first ballot. A break in New York, where the president's friends claim 83 of 90 delegates, a slight stampede among the "Black and Tans," a sudden frency of enthusiasm such as often seizes a national convention—any one of a dozen quite possible contingencies may nominate Roosevelt on the first ballot, even though we take the present Taft figures to be correct.

The Roosevelt men claim that the Colonel has 700 votes and will be nominated long before the first ballot is concluded.

The Silent Vote.

The anti-Roosevelt strength or hopes cluster about those delegates who have not declared themselves in favor of either Taft or Roosevelt, and who may be inclined to vote for a compromise candidate. But if there is a second or third ballot it will be because certain delegates may evade a choice between the two leaders by voting for La Follette, Cummins or local celebrity from their own state. Should there be any such delay and hesitation the dark horse might be selected.

The general opinion is, however, that fully 200 delegates will consider their duty done and their instructions carried out by a perfunctory vote for Mr. Taft on the first ballot and will feel free to join and assist in the great effort which will be made to name Roosevelt virtually by acclamation before the result of the roll call is formally announced. Once state delegations commence to change their votes a stampede may follow.

It's Teddy.

One thing is certain, no one predicts the nomination of Taft or the nomination of Hughes, La Follette or Cummins, nor suggests any other possible candidate. In short, few are disposed to seriously question Mr. Roosevelt's success at the convention.

Those who predict that Mr. Taft will withdraw, do so, of course, in the belief that the Taft men will present the name of Mr. Justice Hughes to the convention. Justice Hughes, however, has no more popular strength than the president, and this is not a good year for judges. Western Republicans fear that Bryan can carry the country west of the Mississippi against anybody but Roosevelt. Mr. Taft is for anybody to beat Roosevelt, but the man who can beat Roosevelt is yet to be found and the day of fate is near at hand. Even those Republicans who deprecate the activities of the Colonel will admit that he gets to the people in a marvellous way and may sweep the country. Mr. Taft's renomination, on the other hand, would merely mean a party defeat such as the one that followed the renomination of Mr. Harrison, just 20 years ago.

Bryan Almost Certain.

The four candidates for the Democratic nomination, Speaker Clark, Gov. Wilson, Gov. Harmon and Mr. Underwood, in strength at present stand in the order named. They are said to be agreed among themselves that the convention must be safeguarded from a stampede to William J. Bryan. With the certainty of Roosevelt's nomination at Chicago, the nomination of Mr. Bryan at Baltimore becomes more and more certain.

Turkey Trot Fatal.

Atlantic City, N.J., June 15.—Mrs. Agnes E. Day, twenty-one years old, is dead at her home, 10 Mount Vernon avenue, as the result of her desire to master the turkey trot. Examination showed that she had burst a blood vessel in her side.

GOOD WORK RECOGNIZED

Health Association Are Gratified On The Result Of The Summer Fair.

At a meeting of the Health Association, held in the offices of Mr. J. W. Bennet, there were present, Mr. W. H. Moore, K.C., President; Dr. G. Stewart Cameron, secretary; Mrs. Jas. Kendry, Mrs. R. W. Travers, Drs. Halliday and Neal, Judge Huycke, J. W. Bennet, E. C. Macleod, W. G. Morrow.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed, after which the President explained the object of the meeting, it being to receive the report of the Treasurer on the Peterborough Summer Fair, held in the Armouries by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Association, and to consider the securing of a qualified District Nurse. The following resolution was passed:

On motion made it is unanimously resolved by the Executive of the Peterborough Health Association, that recognizing the splendid success of the Fair lately held in the Armouries, the credit of which is wholly attributed to the earnest efforts and intensity of purpose of the Women's Auxiliary of the Health Association, there be recorded on the minutes an expression of the admiration and gratitude of this Association. When it became known that the Auxiliary was about to launch a Fair and that they had enlisted the sympathy and support of the representative ladies of the city, it was believed that the object aimed at would in a large measure be attained. It prospered beyond expectation, and was in truth and fact, a triumph, owing to the united harmony and cordiality with which all were inspired in the good work; therefore the Association emphasizes its appreciation of the efforts of the Auxiliary in what it has accomplished, and in placing to the credit of the Association the sum of nearly $3,500 which will enable it to carry forward the work it had in view when it was formed.

A committee composed of the President, Drs. Halliday and Neal, was appointed to make inquiries as to a qualified District Nurse, and to arrange the rules and regulations governing such nurse.

It is hopeful that perhaps another Fair will be held at some future date. It will be understood that a large amount of the money will be necessary to carry on the work as proposed by the Association.

REV. C. O. JOHNSTON FORMULATES NEW AND SERIOUS CHARGES

Toronto, June 15.—Though almost two weeks have passed since Rev. C. O. Johnston made his sensational pulpit charge regarding the alleged attempt of a priest and a nun to enforce the Ne Temere decree on a woman patient in St. Michael's Hospital, no move has been made to force the minister to produce proofs of the allegations he made.

"Since then other cases of a similar nature have come to my knowledge," said Mr. Johnston to-day; "cases that smack of the dark ages."

"I would welcome an inquiry into the charges I made, but I know they will not ask it, because the evidence in my possession is too strong. There are other cases than the one I cited."

"Can you give us something of them for publication?"

"I prefer not to do so until there is a demand for an inquiry under oath."

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the State's area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundred of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 99 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company, Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. Law, Ontario, Manager. 46 Cecil street, Toronto. D-6 in J4

This Interesting Letter is Addressed to YOU

SIR:—

It is a favorite form of mental culture with many people to trace results back to causes. Have you ever applied it to the gowth of a city?

Travel was the original cause of our modern Canadian and American cities. Travel by the early pioneers of civilized nations, often at the cost of their lives.

Years ago, one of these pioneers of the western plains crossed a river at a time when the North-West Territories formed the grazing grounds for buffalo and antelope. While making the crossing his primitive wagon broke down. He made his repairs with rope and the jaw of a moose found by the side of the trail. His Indian companions called the spot "The place where the white chief mended his cart with the jaw of a moose."

A frail cause seemingly, for great results. But the prosperous city of Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, stands as the result of the pioneers accident. Not all at once, but through various stages, each more important than the last. The traveller talked—probably of the good water and the grazing land. These all important factors to the settler became known. Others began to investigate, a settlement formed, and Moose Jaw came into existence.

In the year 1902 a great rush of settlers to the west took place. This movement has been called the "American Invasion," but it included thousands from the Eastern Provinces of Canada. News of the Great West had spread, the Soo Branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway from Portal on the Southern Canadian Boundary line had been completed, and the great wheat belt of Canada began its period of prosperity.

The city of Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, in the heart of this area, was the point chosen as most suitable for this great artery to meet the trans-continental main line. Over this route thousands of cars of effects owned by settlers from the United States are carried yearly.

Suddenly other railway corporations discovered that the Canadian Pacific Railway had the monopoly of the business of Moose Jaw, and the wealthy territory behind it. They saw the Canadian Pacific Railway make Moose Jaw its chief divisional point in Saskatchewan with the greatest yards west of Winnipeg, costing with other improvements, over $4,000,000.

Competition for the great volume of business was aroused, until to-day there are eleven lines either completed, under construction, or chartered.

The soil has attracted the settler—great freight, cattle, and grain shipments have attracted the railway companies, and as a final result Moose Jaw has in a few years become a city with possibilities unsurpassed in the West.

While this result has been accomplished, you can judge the effect on Real Estate values. But the increase in values in this city will be greater in the future than in the past.

Had that pioneer settled at the river crossing, and owned the townsite of Moose Jaw he could have been a millionaire to-day—but he missed an opportunity. You have your pressing opportunity in our unique residential sub-division, Boulevard Heights. Do not miss it. Big sales are reported daily, prices are going up, and you can have a share in this profit taking. A payment of $10.00 forwarded to-day will secure you an interest in a sound investment, to which there is no interest.

In offering these shares for investment, we feel that we are inviting the public to purchase stock in an industry in which the profits are very large, and the demand for the product is ever increasing.

It is a well known fact that the shares of our Canadian Tanneries are very closely held, and the public seldom have an opportunity of procuring any.

On March 11th, 1912, the Burgesses of the Town of Aurora voted in favor of granting The Collis Leather Company, Limited, a cash bonus of Ten Thousand Dollars, the Company's property is exempt from Taxation for Ten Years (except school tax) and it has also been granted water from the Town free for all time.

The factory is now under construction, to be completed on or before the 1st Day of July, 1912, and will be 150 feet long by 50 feet wide, and four storys high.

APPLYING THE REMEDY.

There is something refreshing in the prompt manner in which the Borden government has handled the cement situation. In practically a week after the agitation for a remedy was started, the minister of finance announces that the duty on cement will be cut in half because the Canadian mills are not filling the demand.

It must be remembered that the present duty on cement is the Laurier duty and that the cement merger which is now oppressing Canada was organized under the Laurier administration. The Borden government is not responsible for this situation but is seeking to remedy it. Mr. White's prompt action will do more to bring the Canada Cement company to its senses than anything else could have done.

The Herald has said that it will be the duty and privilege of the Borden government, while protecting Canadian industries, to protect the people of Canada against illicit combines. The cement merger represents probably the most flagrant instance of an illicit combine in the Dominion. Especially will the west thank the finance minister for his fearless action and voice the hope that the attitude indicated by it towards those who seek to hamper trade and retard progress to suit their selfish ends will be maintained in the future.

PRESBYTERIANISM IN CHINA.

One of the most gratifying features of the Presbyterian assembly at Edmonton was the account given by the missionaries of that church of the possibilities of awakening that lie in front of the Chinese Empire, as the result of the recent political disturbances.

The passing of the present unrest is expected to introduce a period of unparalleled opportunity for enlightenment and betterment.

Missionary doctors were also able early in the year to help stamp out a virulent plague of so contagious a nature that but for such assistance might have spread through the whole of China. The situation calls for the most earnest consideration of all interested in the progress of the world.

In other ways, too, China is making wonderful strides. Indian opium merchants are complaining to their government about the way the Chinese are cutting off the opium traffic. These merchants now ask that China be compelled to take the opium at present in store, and say that if this is done they will give up the trade. Perhaps this would be the best way of ending the business. But a good deal of admiration should be felt for the Chinese officials who have apparently decided to set a firm face to the traffic in narcotics, which has so long degraded their people.

ENGLAND AND THE GERMAN FLEET.

While the German fleet is being welcomed by New Yorkers, England is voting additional millions for the steel and powder necessary to combat it. Two months ago the British lord of the admiralty presented to Parliament a reduced naval budget. At the same time he gave notice that there would be a supplementary estimate should Germany increase her naval expenditures. Germany did increase them to the extent of enlarging her naval program so as to provide for an additional squadron. The Reichstag has indorsed the increase and the British admiralty has been prompt to respond. It proposes to begin the construction of additional dreadnoughts in July instead of waiting until next March as the regular program provides. England believes that this gain of nine months in the time when the ships authorized this year will be completed may be of great importance. It involves an addition of $15,000,000 to the naval budget for this year, but as Chancellor Lloyd George provided a reserve of some $25,000,000 the money will be forthcoming.

The readiness with which the British Parliament and the German Reichstag have responded to these extraordinary demands at a time of financial stress is the best proof that the relations between England and Germany are somewhat strained. Both nations are for maritime supremacy. Great Britain has a long lead, and while Germany has been catching up rapidly the British navy will be twice as strong as the Kaiser's for several years to come. But the expansion of armaments is imposing a terrible burden on both nations. The hundreds of millions which they are putting into battleships are being withdrawn from the productive uses of commerce and industry. The time must soon come when the sober spirits on both sides of the channel will stop to ask: "A quoi bon?" If colonial ambition or imperial pride can only be satisfied at such tremendous cost it may be good business policy to stifle ambitions and to humble pride.

SOILED POSTAGE STAMPS.

If They Are Ink Splashed They Won't Do to Put on Letters.

"How dirty can a postage stamp become and still retain its usefulness in the eyes of the government?" was a question propounded to muddle the already overworked brain of a busy man. Happening to meet a postman who was collecting mail, the man handed him a stamped letter.

"That won't go," said the postman. "Stamp's dirty."

As was his wont on special occasions the busy man resorted to sarcasm.

"Since when," he demanded, "did the United States government become so immaculate that it requires none but unsullied stamps stuck on its letters?"

"Well, they've always been pretty particular," returned the unperturbed postman, "but there are some kinds of dirt that count for more than others. That stamp's got ink on it. Inky stamps don't go because an ink spot could be used to disguise a canceled stamp."

"Then I suppose every stamp I happen to drop a speck of ink on is wasted?"

"Oh, no. Turn it in to the office where you bought it, and after a certain period you will get your money back."

"How long will that take?" the man asked.

"About three months."

"I'm afraid I can't wait," said the man, and over the discredited stamp he stuck a spotless stamp.—New York Times.

SCARS THAT STAY.

They Come From Cuts That Go Down to the True Skin.

There are people who tell you that everything in the body is changed every seven years and that there is no part of it which was there seven years ago. This does not mean that we slough the whole thing off at once, as a snake does its skin or a deer its antlers, but simply that the innumerable and tiny atoms which are used up by the daily wear and tear are replaced by fresh atoms supplied by our food and drink, which keeps the body going, just as coal and water keep the steam engine at work.

But these changes are so minute and gradual that the form of the body remains the same, although such things as scars take a long time to disappear, and sometimes they remain for life, although they always lose a great deal of their prominence.

You have noticed that if you cut your finger slightly it will soon heal up and the scar will soon disappear, just as the marks of a superficial burn will gradually go away, but if the cut is deep the scar remains. This is because it went down to what is called the true skin. Any cuts or burns on the outer skin are gradually pushed up and worn or washed off, just as the hair on the back of your head wears off without your cutting it and grows again, but anything that goes down to the true skin, like tattoo marks, always remains.—New York Sun.

The Worst In the Country.

"Are you the landlord of this hotel?" asked the guest who had his baggage on the porch.

"I guess I be," answered the man with pale eyes.

"Well, I want to hand this little sentiment to you. Your hotel is positively the worst I have ever seen in this country, and I've traveled all over it."

"I know it," answered the landlord. "And I have a kinder pride in it. Lemme tell you something about it. Every time we git beat outer a board bill it's sure some satisfaction to know that we got the best of the feller that done it."

Heat From the Moon.

The moon is made of material supposed to be stone, since its specific gravity is about that of the rocks within reach here on earth. It reflects the light it receives from the sun to the earth, but in greatly weakened proportion. Therefore this light will affect plants in the same ratio. The effect is very small indeed. Heat energy sent from the sun to the moon is very nearly the same as that radiated to the earth, but the quantity sent from the moon to the earth is so small that it is negligible.

SEWERAGE DISPOSAL

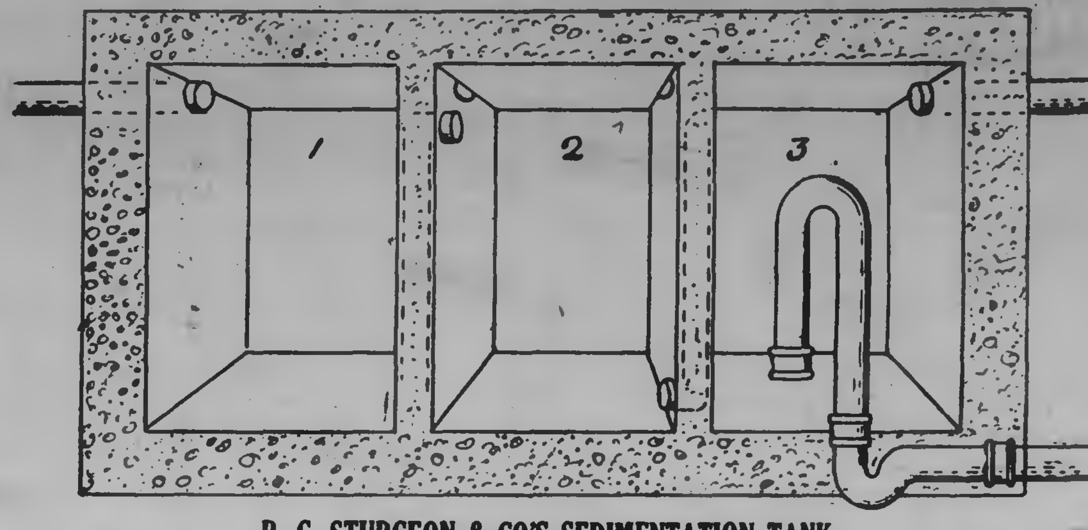
of this and many other kindred associations. Consideration of this subject is most important. Every day we see in the newspapers of our country reports relating to it, which have been discussed and reread throughout the Dominion.

Nevertheless it is remarkable that the number of people who read these reports, pay little or no attention to them. Although sanitary engineering has reached a high mark of development in this country there is much yet to be obtained and we consider that a thorough knowledge of this portion of this profession is indispensible.



R. G. STURGEON & CO'S SEDIMENTATION TANK

Relating to public sanitation, the question of sewerage disposal in small towns and villages, and also in the country and summer resorts, where a general system of sewerage is not in vogue, because of the great cost, this question is becoming of daily importance. The system to which we intend to refer to is known as the sedimentation tank system, and we believe that nearly all those who have studied this question are agreed that it is the most natural, the most scientific, best and most economical system in use at the present time.

It is an item of general knowledge that surface earth, generally referred to as top soil, is a powerful purifying agent, but comparatively few are aware that the presence in it of innumerable numbers of Bacteria, germs, or microbes, is alone responsible for the extensive chemical changes brought about in waste matter which is placed beneath its surface, and that these Bacteria, not only through their presence, remove and destroy the dangerous portions of waste matter, but actually convert those death dealing properties into plant food, which being taken up by the vegetation is again consumed for the maintenance and sustainance of life. Pasteur placed these microbes in two divisions or classes: N.B., Anerobes, or those which exist without air, and derive their oxygen from decaying compounds, and aerobes, or those which require an abundance of fresh air for their proper development. And as both classes are considered absolutely necessary for the complete reduction of waste matter, it will readily be seen that if sewerage is placed too deep in the earth, as for instance in a cesspool, where owing to the absence of air, the necessary aerobic bacteria cannot exist, it may pass down deeper in a putrid state, and finding its way to the water supply, pollute it, thus causing an epidemic of typhoid fever, or of some other dangerous disease.

The cut shows a complete view of the Sedimentation Tank. The tank may be placed close to the foundation wall of the house, where, in fact, the majority of those now in use are located. The tank should be solidly constructed of concrete and the interior walls should be finished off perfectly smooth, the idea being to have the tank impervious to moisture and to construct it so that the sewerage will not adhere to the walls.

It will be noticed that the tank is divided into three chambers or compartments. In each of the dividing walls is an overflow pipe, so constructed as to regulate the flow of decomposed sewerage. The main soil pipe which enters the first compartment should be directly connected to the closet, bath, lavatory and any other fixture in the house, and it should be carried through the roof and allowed to extend about three feet above it. This pipe would not only carry the sewerage into the tank, but it would also be a channel by which the superfluous gasses in the tank may pass into the atmosphere at a height that would render them harmless to the occupants of the building.

The first and second compartment of the tank remain full of sewerage all the time. In the first compartment the Bacteria commence their work, as they are constantly being interrupted by the flow of additional sewerage into the tank they do not complete it. The second apartment allows the Bacteria full swing. Here they are not disturbed as there is no intermittent rush of sewerage into the tank, and the constant slow flow from the first compartment does not irritate them. In this second compartment the great chemical changes are accomplished, and when the sewerage flows into the third tank it is completely broken up and thoroughly separated.

In the third compartment is placed a syphon, which is caulked into a four-inch pipe, which in turn is directly connected to a trap. This syphon is so adjusted that it will allow the filling of the third compartment to any desired height. It is made of a material that is practically indestructible and that is absolutely foul proof.

An air pipe enters the third compartment at the top, and by the use of air holes at the top of each partition a current of fresh air is constantly circulating through all the compartments of the tank and thus all superfluous gasses are forced through the soil pipe and out into the air above the roof of the building.

From the said iron trap is run a line of glazed tile pipe four inches in diameter. A number of openings are placed in the tile pipe at a distance of two feet or more, from which are run branches of field tile, with loosely butted joints. It is better to lay the branches alternately on each side, but if so laid they should be placed farther apart so as to distribute the sewerage over a large area.

Briefly then, the complete system operates as follows: The sewerage from the building enters the first compartment through the soil pipe, filling the first compartment in which all solid matter is retained until it is partially reduced to a liquid state, by the contained bacteria which multiply and develop rapidly. In a liquid form it is allowed to enter the second compartment, where it is still further reduced to liquids. The action continues in the third compartment, and when the sewerage has reached the height for which the syphon was built it naturally opens and discharges the contents of that chamber into the system of field tiles, through which it percolates into the surrounding earth, to be utilized for the growth of all the vegetation near it.

LORD MERSEY SEVERE ON CAP. OF CALIFORNIA

Regrets, He Says, That He Cannot Order His Certificate to Be Cancelled.

London, June 15.—The Board of Trade inquiry into the Titanic disaster at its resumption to-day was occupied with the ground to be covered in the speeches of counsel.

In the course of the discussion Lord Mersey, the presiding judge, intimated his regret that the certificate of Captain Lord of the California, which failed to attempt to go to the rescue of the passengers of the Titanic, was beyond his reach.

He said: "I do not suppose I have jurisdiction to direct that Captain Lord's certificate should be dealt with. If I take a view adverse to the conduct of the captain of the Californian all I can do is to express my opinion."

Sir Rufus Isaacs, the Attorney-General, assented, but asked Lord Mersey to express his views in regard to the evidence on the subject of the Californian.

Sir Rufus Isaacs also remarked that the conduct of Sir Cosmo and Lady Duff-Gordon was immaterial to the present inquiry, except as to the conduct of G. Symons, the Titanic lookout, who had charge of the lifeboat in which they were rescued and the suggestion which appeared to lie beneath Fireman Charles Hendrickson's statement about the bribery to prevent the lifeboat returning to the sinking ship.

Lord Mersey expressed the opinion that the question of J. Bruce Ismay's conduct was only material to the extent to which it might have influenced improperly Captain Smith of the Titanic.

CHEMICALS IN WOOD.

Why Timber Cut In Winter Is Better Than That Cut In Summer.

Timber cut in spring and in summer is not so durable as that cut in winter. The durability depends not only upon the greater or less density, but also upon the presence of certain chemical constituents in the wood.

Thus a large proportion of resinous matter increases the durability, while the presence of easily soluble carbohydrates diminishes it considerably.

During the growing season the wood of trees contains sulphuric acid and potassium, both of which are solvents of carbohydrates, starch, resins and gums. They are known to soften also the ligneous tissue to a considerable degree.

During the summer months the wood of living trees contains eight times as much sulphuric acid and five times as much potassium as it does during the winter months. The presence of these two chemical substances during the growing season constitutes the chief factor in dissolving the natural preservatives within the wood and in preparing the wood for the different kinds of wood destroying fungi.—Scientific American.

WOODEN LEG IN GRAVE.

Last Request of a Suicide Granted By His Family.

New York, June 15.—The funeral of Henry B. Huber, the young stenographer, who Saturday night slashed his throat and wrists with a razor in his home on Seventh street, dying in the Charity Hospital, at 2.25 a.m. Sunday, was held from the family home Sunday.

Huber was a cripple for years, having lost a leg during the building of the Third street canal, which since time he has used an artificial limb. It was the dying request of Huber that his wooden leg be buried with him, and this was done.

DESECRATED A CEMETERY

About a Hundred Tombstones Were Overthrown and Smashed—Search For the Vandals.

St. Thomas, Ont., June 15.—The village of Delmer, twenty miles east of here, in South Oxford, was thrown into a state of excitement when it was discovered that some time during Wednesday night vandals had desecrated the local cemetery by overthrowing and smashing about a hundred tombstones and monuments. Telltale footprints have been found in the ground and those are being carefully guarded until the arrival of the Provincial detectives today. Suspicion is said to point strongly to one man, to whom circumstances seem to impute a motive.

CANADIAN ENTERPRISES ARE EXTRAORDINARY SOUND

Sir Edmund Walker Tells American Bankers' Association That Canada is a Land of Latent Riches and Untold Opportunity.

Buffalo, N.Y., June 16.—A group of very influential and rich gentlemen, together with the New York State Bankers' Association, are today working with the Federal Government to perfect a scheme to finance the American farmer. They want to provide an adequate and successful way of providing money for the farmer at rates that are not suicidal. Canadians are in evidence at this conference, lending it an international aspect.

Sir Edmund Walker of Toronto, says that Canada, that land of latent riches and untold opportunity, has a festering sore, not a deadly one, yet one that causes uneasiness. Canada is suffering from a wild speculative boom in real estate. It is not correct to say she is suffering acutely just yet. The boom is still waxing, but one day it is to collapse. Then there may be a sea of wreckage.

Apart from the dangerous real estate conditions, Canada is prosperous, Sir Edmund added. "Unlike the United States," he said, "Canada has had no depression during the last year or two. Transcontinental railroad building, the building of towns, the opening up of all kinds of enterprises and developments, have combined to create great activity. The whole Canadian situation, save real estate, is extraordinarily sound."

Approximately $1,000 for each $100 invested and one-half of this profit should be reaped in four months, and the balance by December, this year.

The wise man is he who reads the sign of the time and acts accordingly. You are not buying lots but become a shareholder in an undivided interest of a first class sub-division, and a party to the selling of lots, instead of buying, a review of the history of real estate speculation show the greatest profits have been realized from purchase and sale of sub-division and close in business property. The Syndicate plan appeals to all. The capitalist has an opportunity of securing a high rate of interest on his capital invested, the man of moderate means has the same opportunity with the additional prospect of largely increasing his principal and his chances of becoming independently rich are increased a thousand fold. Shares in this Syndicate are $100, and for those who cannot pay outright all to have a chance at following terms: $33.35 cash, balance equally divided, due in 30 and 60 days. Now then, property the same distance out is being held at $500 per acre. I could sell at even $200 per acre, and clear a handsome profit, account of securing the property before the boom although by sub-dividing can clear as much several times over and in addition make big money for many others.

Do you know that Brandon, Manitoba is on the eve of the first genuine growth activity in the history of that thriving city. The Dominion Fair will be held there in 1913, and $135,000 is being spent in preparation for it. Brandon ranks among the first as a distributing centre; 278 towns that can be served by wholesalers on a competitive freight rate basis, 134 towns within a radius of 60 miles, all inspired with progress, Electric Ry. now going in. Charter has been granted to a Company to build and operate radial lines to all important towns, including Rapid City, Minnedosa, Neepawa, Carberry, Souris, Wawanesa and etc. With rapid transit quick service what will it mean for Brandon, all of this wealth knocking at her door? Brandon's assessment increased in one year, 1910 to 1911, $1,227,492. Elevator capacity, Brandon city trading territory, 19,324,000 bushels, or one third of the total capacity of Alberta, Saskatchewan, and Manitoba. Inland revenue, 1910, $87,113.36. Bank Clearings, April 1st to March 31st, 1911, $27,271,695.00. Brandon is a shipping area. Brandon rates are from three cents to thirty cents less per 100 lbs., according to class and destination, than Winnipeg rates to the same points, and from 6 to 51 cents less than Regina rates.

Building and construction work in Brandon, 1911, $3,259,000, including Provincial asylum $600,000, new dwellings $200,000, new provincial normal school, Technical school, addition to the college, apartment houses, hospital addition, new primary school, warehouses, churches, bank buildings, and many others; C.N.R. hotel and station, $500,000, Canadian Pacific station $250,000, Grand Trunk Pacific building, in this year contracts awarded. Four transcontinental lines and, including branches, 27 lines run in or radiate from Brandon, the present terminus of the Great Northern, having Hudson Bay its objective point. Think what this means to Brandon. Also upon completion of the Government's railroad to Hudson Bay, as well as C.N.R and C.P.R. surveying lines to that point, which is 100 miles nearer Liverpool than New York City to Liverpool, Brandon will have adequate shipping facilities. 500,000 horse power available; already the immense water powers of the Winnipeg river are being harnessed to make the wheels of industry hum at Brandon.

The property is located directly south of the business centre of Brandon, and in line of its surest and quickest developments. The property is admirably located, and every lot on it will be readily sold. Property sub-divided one-half mile further out, and one-half the lots sold without even advertising. The initial and only payment demanded of this syndicate is $30,000, and the syndicate will reap seventeen times that amount. In other words approximately $1,000 for every share, 200 shares reserved, 300 sold, 500 issued altogether. By reserving the 200 shares is where the syndicate promoter benefits. The difference between cost of land $24,140.00 and the $30,000 will sub-divide and cover cost of advertising, consequently the promoter will not derive any benefit only along with the shareholders, after subdividing and larger returns for shareholders will mean the same for the promoter. A REMARKABLE MAN.

Earl of Durham Was an Ardent Builder of Empire.

One of the most interesting and remarkable characters conspicuous in the political history of Canada is the Earl of Durham. He was Governor-General of Canada for about five months, and he never held another post in the colonial service, and yet he solved the problem of colonial government and laid down the lines on which government in Canada has been carried on, almost from his time down to the present day, and have been applied, not only to Canada, but to every self-governing dominion beyond the seas. That they are self-governing is because Lord Durham's doctrine has been accepted and put into practice. Lord Durham's pointed the way, and other have followed it.

Baldwin and Lafontaine are commonly spoken of as the apostles of the principle of responsible government. And so they were. They taught it to the people of Upper and Lower Canada, and won its acceptance at the polls. The Earl of Elgin put it into practice. And here is another link connecting Lord Durham with Canadian public life, for the Earl of Elgin was the son-in-law of the Earl of Durham, and to the son-in-law fell the task of giving effect to the plan the father-in-law had designed.

For other reasons besides that of being the foundation-builder of the true colonial policy, can the Earl of Durham be called a remarkable man. His character and his work are the subject of a sketch by Mr. C. P. Lucas, published in a recent issue of The Royal Colonial Institute Journal. Writing of the man, Mr. Lucas says that the Earl of Durham was "made up of strangely contradictory elements. He was an aristocrat of the aristocrats, and at the same time a Radical of the Radicals. While he was a pronounced Radical he was a no less pronounced Imperialist. . . . The fact of his having been from childhood master of a great inheritance, couple with indifferent health, probably accounted for some of his characteristics. He was arrogant, overbearing and pompous, an uncomfortable bedfellow for his colleagues."

His achievements in the public life of Great Britain were not conspicuous. "He had, it is true, taken a prominent part in shaping the first Reform bill, and he was a recognized leader of the Radical Wing of the Whig Party." The only political office he ever held in England was the nominal one of Lord Privy Seal in the Ministry of his father-in-law, Lord Grey; and for two years he was Ambassador to Russia. And still, writes Mr. Lucas, "he was beyond question a master builder; and yet he did not build himself, but taught others to build. . . His name lives solely as that of the author of a most notable report on Canada. ."

In his youth he had served in the army. For his entrance into the Lower Canadian capital he put on the gorgeous uniform of a full general. Then mounting a white charger, and surrounded by a large and brilliant military staff, he rode through the streets of Quebec to the Castle of St. Louis, then the residence of the Governor-General. When he rode out on subsequent occasions his staff, it is said, was almost as showy as that of an Eastern Prince. "The magnificent appointments of Lady Durham's drawing-room were a marvel; royal feasts were given at Castle St. Louis. And all the time Durham was half an invalid, confined to the house for days, with the shadow of his early death already upon him."

A Safe Bet.

He was showing his friends his new watch, made of the new metal, unbreakable—cost him six hundred dollars.

His seven friends were dubious of its tensile strength.

"Tell you what we do, boys," he said. "You put up five dollars each against my six hundred dollar watch. I'll put it to the test. If it breaks I'll lose the watch. All you'll lose is the thirty-five."

They didn't think it out quite clearly, but the wager was made.

He hurled the watch against a brick wall. It broke into a thousand pieces.

"Well, boys, I lose the six hundred dollar watch," he said with a long face as he gathered up the money; dumbfounded they saw him do it. Knowing that all was not right they examined what was left of the watch; it wasn't even nickel-plated.

THE FARMER'S SON.

He Must Follow His "Natural Bent" Say Educationists.

Authorities tell us that every human being is so constituted that there is a particular line of work at which the indivdual will reach a maximum of efficiency. The modern tendency is to provide such education for boys and girls of the farm as will result in the majority of them remaining on the farm.

However, it is not in accord with natural laws or the best interests of general education for a Government or the head of any institution to aim at keeping all farm boys on the soil by any separation of the agricultural institution that means a discord among educational forces.

Principal Black and those who argued for separation of Manitoba Agricultural College from Manitoba University on the plea that such relationship would prevent farm boys from giving up the agricultural course in favor of some other line of study, should ponder what Charles Dickens has to say about education in general, and "the natural bent" in particular.

Or, better, they should have heard James L. Hughes, superintendent of schools for Toronto, at the annual convention of the Manitoba Teachers' Association recently, when he spoke on "Dickens as an Educator." Mention was made of Dickens' opinion of the fathers of his day, who decided as their children were born into the world what occupation they should follow; no regard was given to "the natural bent."

Dickens realised that no man should undertake to select a vocation for another. He argued that even fathers were not capable of choosing a line of work for their youthful sons, each of whom had a "natural bent."

Principal Black wisely argues that it is the object of his college to send as many as possible of the sons of the soil back to the farm; but at the same time he makes arrangements to place as many as possible of the graduates in positions away from their farms. This is what creates suspicion as to what is the real object in separating the agricultural college from the university.

If good reason or sound argument had been put forth, there would have been little or no objection to the move. However, since a relationship was established a few short years ago, no change should have been made without good and sufficient reason. At all events, this is the age of union and harmony of educational interests, rather than of separation and discord.

Train your sons to be good farmers if you can, but don't forget that each one has a "natural bent."—Montreal Standard.

A Slam.

Hance Logan, ex-M.P. for Amherst, N.S., was among the guests of the Saskatchewan Legislature on the laying of the corner-stone of the capitol some few years ago. Regina then had fewer paved streets than it has today, and the Parliament Buildings were a little way out of town where pavements were not.

Regina is the centre of a great agricultural district, and while its soil is excellent for growing wheat it has very little vogue with the pedestrian.

When the train pulled into Regina an energetic Saskatchewan rain had been at work over night, and was still busy.

Mr. Logan and his friends were forced to walk through the mire to the ceremonies. A good man had seized on the occasion to spread the gospel among the eastern heathen and had established himself near the site of the Parliament buildings, where he displayed a conspicuous sign which read, "Where will you spend eternity?"

Mr. Logan waved an interrogative hand to the sign, pointed to one of his party, and said, "Anywhere but Regina."—Canadian Courier.

Trouble at Campbellton.

During the election fever of September last there was trouble between two prominent citizens of Campbellton, N.B. Dr. Doherty's umbrella pierced the eye of Daniel Bruce, and the wound proved fatal. The doctor has been acquitted of manslaughter and some of the citizens are indignant over what they claim to be a "miscarriage of justice."

Without expressing any opinion on the case, it may be pointed out that it will now be in order for some freak legislator to introduce a bill forbidding the carrying of umbrellas for a period of thirty days preceding a general election. Mr. Lewis seems to have a fondness for freak bills, and if so, here is his opportunity.—Canadian Courier.

HOW LAWS ARE MADE

PROCESS OF TURNING AN IDEA INTO A CANADIAN STATUTE.

Bills Are Divided Into Two Great Classes, Private and Public, and Each Gets Three Readings Before It Goes to the Senate—The Assent and Signature of the Governor-General Makes It Law.

Legislative bills are incomplete Acts of Parliament, and it is only when they receive the assent of the three branches of Parliament—the Commons, the Senate, and the Crown, represented by the Governor-General—that they become law. If we trace the progress of a bill through Parliament we shall see in outline how our statutory law is made.

Bills are divided into two general classes—private and public, the distinction being that private bills directly relate to the affairs of private individuals or of corporate bodies, while public bills, relate to matters of public policy or to the community in general.

The introduction of a private bill is not a matter of right. Notice that such a bill is to be brought up must be given in The Canada Gazette a number of weeks before the opening of Parliament, and after the House settles down to business all these petitions are referred to a special committee on Standing Orders, for the purpose of ascertaining if the rules have been complied with. The report of the committee being favorable, permission is granted to introduce the bill. The public bill is introduced without these preliminaries.

But some bills, whether public or private, cannot be introduced by a private member. The principal bills of this kind are those involving a charge upon the people, imposing taxation, or asking for an expenditure of public money.

For these matters the Government must take the responsibility, the approval of the Governor-General must be obtained, and the matter is introduced by means of a resolution, upon which, when adopted, a bill is based and introduced in the usual way.

As a rule, bills are introduced at the opening of a sitting, immediately after routine proceedings, when it gets its first reading generally without discussion. There are three readings of a bill, and yet at none of them is the bill actually read in the House. The readings are names given to the three stages of the progress of a bill through the House, at each of which it can be debated and possibly defeated.

After being read a first time the bill goes on the order paper, which is the printed program of each day's business. In due time the bill is again reached, and now its second reading is moved.

It is on this motion that the principles of the bill are debated, and if it be a bill containing a measure of public policy it is upon this motion that the contending parties fight out the question. These are the big debates of the session, often carried on from day to day for a week or more, and brought to conclusions by divisions.

The motion for a second reading may be met by different amendments, declaring some principle adverse to the principle of the bill, asking for further information, or proposing some other procedure with respect to the matter. One of these amendments is that known as "the six months' hoist," which proposes that the bill be not then read but that it be read that day six months, which is usually not at all.

The second reading having been carried, however, the bill is referred to a committee—a railway bill to the Select Standing Committee on Railways; a bill relating to bank charter to the committee on banking, and a special bill to a committee specially selected. The Government's bills, however, are never sent to select committees. After having been read a second time they go before the Committee of the Whole House. There a bill is read clause by clause and every detail debated. The principle of the bill cannot be attacked in committee, for the second reading has accepted that, but it is in order to propose amendments to its clauses, and to change it, as the committee may see fit.

When the Committee of the Whole has passed every clause they report the bill to the House with the Speaker in the chair, and the bill is ready for a third reading, which may take place then or be delayed a few days.

A bill public or private, but which is not a Government measure, is studied by the select committee to which it has been referred. These select committees have their rooms on the second floor of the Houses of Parliament, and hold their meetings in the forenoon. They often call witnesses and allow interests affected by a bill to be represented by counsel. When the conflicting interests are keen and on the spot there is often a bitter squabble which turns the meeting into a noisy and often unparliamentary affair.

After these select standing committees have passed the bills referred to them, the bills are reported to the House, and have to be studied and passed in the Committee of the Whole

Brother Jonathan.

The origin of the term "Brother Jonathan" was as follows: When General Washington went to Massachusetts to organize the army he found a great lack of ammunition and of other necessary means for the conduct of the war, and at one time it seemed quite impossible to arrange things properly. Jonathan Trumbull was then governor of the state of Connecticut, and the general, who placed complete reliance on his excellency's judgment, said, "We must consult Brother Jonathan." He did so, with the satisfactory result that the governor was successful in supplying many of the pressing wants of the army, and thenceforth, whenever difficulties arose and the army spread over the country, "We must consult Brother Jonathan" became a common saying until it passed into a nickname for the whole country.

A Kingdom For a Horse.

The king of England owes his crown to a horse's shoe. The act of settlement by which in 1701 parliament elected the house of Hanover to the British throne, passed the commons by only one majority. This deciding vote was given by Sir Arthur Owen, M. P. for Pembrokeshire, third of his title, who rode post haste from Wales for the purpose. He had relays of fresh horses all along the route, but arrived, dusty and travel worn, at Westminster barely in time to the very minute. Had one of his horses gone lame or cast a shoe he would have been too late.

Holland's Flowers.

The Dutch are a nation of flower lovers, skilled gardeners and inventive farmers. On canal boats, on floating river houses, around farmhouses, in humble village and great city one finds flowers, flowers, flowers. Some one has said that Holland's illustrious conquerors have been her engineers and her florists. Through this flower culture has come her wealth, for this has been one of her chief industries.—Magazine Flowers.

Trusses Like These are a Crime

Get Rid of Elastic Bands, Springs and Leg-Straps. Such Harness has Forced Thousands to Undergo Dangerous Operations.

Trusses like those referred to above—the belt and leg-strap, elastic and spring contraptions sold by drug stores, surgical supply houses and many self-styled "Hernia Specialists"—make life miserable for everybody who wears them.

And—even when drawn so tight you can scarcely stand to keep them on—they do no good whatever.

Instead, they often do immense harm—they squeeze the rupture, often causing strangulation—dig into the pelvic bone in front—press against the sensitive spinal column at the back.

The Plain Truth is This.

Rupture—as explained in our free book—can't be relieved or cured—can't even be kept from growing worse—unless constantly held in place. Just as a broken bone can't together.

And—just as a bandage or splint is the only way a broken bone can be held—the right kind of truss is the only thing in the world that can keep a rupture from coming out.

What a difference it will make when you get that kind of truss.

And you can get exactly that kind of truss — without risking a cent of your money.

It's the famous Cluthe Truss or Cluthe Automatic Massager.

Far more than a truss—far more than merely a device for holding the rupture in place.

So different from everything else for rupture that it has received 18 separate patents.

Thousands say it is as comfortable as their clothing.

No belt, elastic belt or springs around your waist, and no leg-straps—nothing to pinch, chafe, squeeze or bind. Self-regulating, self-adjusting. It is held in position by suction—can't shift or slip — the only truss in existence that is honestly guaranteed never to let the rupture come out.

Sent on 60 Days' Trial to Prove It.

We have so much faith in the Cluthe Truss—we have seen it work wonders for so many others—that we want to make one especially for your case and let you wear it at our risk.

We'll give you 60 days' time to test it—if it doesn't keep your rupture from coming out, when you are working and at all other times—if it doesn't put an end to the trouble you've heretofore had with your rupture—if you don't get better rightaway—then the truss won't cost you a cent.

How It Strengthens and Heals.

In addition to holding the rupture, the Cluthe Truss or Cluthe Automatic Massager is constantly giving a soothing, strengthening massage to the weak ruptured parts.

All automatically—the massage goes on all day long, all without any attention whatever from you.

This massage—which strengthens just as exercise strengthens a weak arm—is so remarkably beneficial—so remarkably curative—that in 199 cases out of every 200 rupture begins to get better from the day a Cluthe Truss is put on.

The World's Greatest Book on Rupture.

Don't go on letting your rupture get worse—don't spend a cent on account of your rupture until you get our book of advice—which two cents for a stamp—or a penny for a postal—will bring you.

This remarkable book—cloth-bound, 88 pages, 21 separate articles, and 19 photographic pictures—took us over 40 years to write—took us that long to find out all the facts we've put in it.

It explains the dangers of operations and why they don't always cure to stay cured. Tells why — for the protection of the public—drug stores should not be allowed to sell trusses.

Explains why belt, spring and elastic trusses can do no good. Exposes the humbug "methods," "appliances," "plasters," etc.

And tells—absolutely without misrepresentation — all about the Cluthe Truss — just how it holds—how it gives the curing massage—how it is waterproof—how it ends all expense—how you can get it on 60 days' trial—and gives names and addresses of over 5000 people who have tried it and want you to know about it.

Write for it to-day—don't put it off—this book may be the means of adding many years to your life and of restoring you to full strength and usefulness.

OLD BERLIN.

It Is a Terrible Contrast to Much Lauded New City.

With 600,000 of the 2,500,000 population of the Kaiser's capital crowded into one-room dwellings at the rate of from five to ten persons to a room, the authorities of Berlin are seriously concerned with the problem that confronts them. Rapid as has been the building in Berlin, it has not kept pace with the growth of the city, and erection of new houses has been almost entirely confined to the better residence section of West Berlin.

Berlin is known the world over as the one large city without tenements. It is indisputably the most modern and up-to-date city of Europe. Visitors readily concede that the artistic exteriors of the blocks and blocks of flats, with their large inner courts, and the cleanliness of the streets, have not been exaggerated. Sociologists hold up Berlin as a model, particularly in America.

And so it is. Probably in no other city are the streets literally "scrubbed" daily. Electrically propelled water wagons with rotary thin wire brushes pass over the streets. The streets are flooded with the water; immediately behind come the stiff brushes.

Following the combined water and scrub wagons come men with long hand scrapers lined with rubber, similar to those used by window cleaners. These they push along before them, removing whatever water and dirt may have been left by the big rotary brushes.

When they get through the streets are as clean as a fine parlor floor. Small armies of men are employed in tending the trees and flowers, and in the parks.

But this is so-called "New Berlin." It is the Berlin of the very progressive municipal administration under the present Emperor. It is the Berlin that the visitors, tourists and sociologists see and praise. There is another Berlin which comparatively few tourists visit, and of which many sociologists do not know.

Across the river on the east and the north is "Old Berlin"—the Berlin of Frederick the Great. There the Berlin authorities have the same sociolgical problems that confront the authorities of other cities.

There are some 8,000 to 10,000 flats, ranging from two to nine rooms, in "New Berlin." In old Berlin as high as thirteen persons have been found living in one room. The construction of modern flat buildings has been confined to the new town, and they have been put up for dividends.

Fairly moderate as the rentals, ranging from $20 to $60 for three to six-room steam-heated flats, might be considered by Americans no German workman, street car or railroad employe, earning but $30 to $35 a month, can pay such rents.

Accompanied by a physician, the writer made a short tour of investigation on the north side. It was noon, but no one would suspect it in the dim light of the basement room into which we stepped. On a very soiled bed of rags was a woman and her young baby.

The rooms were kitchen, dining room, sleeping room and living room all in one. The family consisted of the husband, wife, four children, the eldest girl being sixteen. At night they divided the one room with two young workingmen, to whom they rented sleeping space on the floor.

On another street we came to a place in the second court back of one room and a tiny kitchen. They were occupied by a man and wife and eight children. There were three beds for the ten. There was no heat.

The two windows and the door were kept closed against the cold. Moisture ran down the walls. These two places were typical of a dozen that were visited. The death rate, is very high from these sections of the city. Privacy and morality is impossible under such conditions.

A proposition will be laid before the Diet to appropriate at least $1,000,000 for "small dwellings," to be rented at a rate within reach of the workingman.

Their Difference.

"The baby likes to play with my hair."

"But you don't trust him with it when you are out, do you?" inquired her caller.

And thus a coolness arose between two women who had been lifelong friends.—Washington Herald.

"How I do it?"

"No; why you do it."—Chicago Tribune.

Diplomatic.

"How did you get your wife to forego her desire for that expensive evening gown?"

"Told her it was just the thing a plain woman needed."—Judge.

LITTLE INVENTIONS.

Simple Devices Which Have Earned Millions.

Keep your eyes open and do not regard the simplest contrivance as too insignificant for serious attention. That undoubtedly is the lesson which is to be learned from the history of inventions, many of which, although seeming but trifles in themselves, have earned fortunes for those who have been clever enough to evolve them.

Take, for instance, the crinkly hairpin. The man who made a fortune out of the idea—for millions of women bought them when they were once placed on the market—stood behind his wife one day while she put up her hair. The hairpins of those days were straight, smooth pieces of wire, which had an irritating way of coming out. The woman, in this case, was resourceful and bent her hairpins before putting them in. Her husband saw her do this, and it gave him an idea. The result was the invention of the crinkly hairpin.

And then there was the man who invented the patent dress-hook with a hump. Women had been fastening their dresses up with hooks and eyes for a generation, but hooks had a way of coming unfastened, much to the chagrin of the neat. Then came the wideawake man who bent one of these hooks so as to make a hump in it. He tried hooking it up, and found that it remained hooked, patented the idea, and the "See That Hump" hook advertisements, which are to be seen in every town, earned him a fortune.

The bath-towel was invented by accident. A towel manufacturer found that his machinery was not working right, and that his towels were suffering a vast tangling of ends. While adjusting the machine he used one of the towels to dry his hands. He found it pleasantly absorbent, and from the idea to which that gave rise was born the bath-towel and a fortune.

A man named Heaton noticed that much trouble was occasioned, especially to mothers, because the buttons would come off the children's boots. He thought out and patented the little metal staple that holds on the shoe buttons of to-day, and realized a fortune for his pains. Another man pasted little rings round the holes of tie-on labels and thus made an eye that would not tear. Thousands of travelers have been saved the inconvenience of luggage going astray through torn-off labels, and there are fewer unclaimed parcels lying at the postoffice since his little invention came into general use. This inventor also made a fortune.

The man who invented "tinned" edibles also made it necessary for someone to invent a tin-opener. A tin-opener is not a very difficult thing to use, yet the public will always pay for an invention that is still easier. So just recently an inventive genius brought out a patent "tin" with a seam just below the top. A smart blow breaks the seam, and the lid is off. A single packer ordered 10,000,000 of these tins as an experiment, and others followed suit.

Wearing the Wedding Ring.

Centuries ago women used to wear their wedding rings on their thumbs, then the custom changed and they wore them on their first fingers, and then again the custom changed and the method of to-day came into vogue. The custom of wearing the ring on the third finger originated through the ritual of the marriage service. The priest first put the ring on the thumb, saying, 'In the name of the Father"; on the forefinger, adding, "in the name of the Son"; on the second finger, repeating, "in the name of the Holy Ghost," and on the third finger, ending with "Amen," and there it stayed.

Just How He Felt.

Mr. Meekins was habitually all that the first syllable of his name might imply, but a day came when the worm turned at last and spoke his mind freely to that other member of the domestic firm who had assumed leadership. Mrs. M. stood aghast and then remarked ominously:

"Timothy, you'd regret those words if you should suddenly lose your wife."

"Oh, I don't want to lose her," came the cheerful retort, "but there are times when I'd like very much to mislay her for a few hours."

The Turkish Bride.

The Turkish bride spends about a week in dancing and wild, happy life before her marriage. Then when she leaves her father's house she kisses his hands and feet. She goes to the groom's home and on his arrival kisses his hand. Then the paint with which her face has been daubed in the week of dancing and frivolity is wiped off and she drinks coffee with her husband—and they are happy ever after.

His First Intimation.

"How did you find out you could draw?" inquired the admirer of the celebrated illustrator.

"By the marks I received in school for the excellence and fidelity of my work," replied the eminent one. "My work was a caricature of my beloved teacher on the blackboard, and the marks came from the teacher's cane."

Distasteful Taffy.

The late Senator Hoar of Massachusetts was dining at his hotel in Washington when an effusive stranger sat down near him. The stranger introduced himself to Senator Hoar and immediately launched into a eulogy of the senator in the most glowing terms. He taffied the senator for ten minutes, much to that statesman's apparent discomfort.

Finally he said:

"Why, only the other day, senator, a man with whom I was traveling told me you are the greatest patriot and the greatest orator and the greatest statesman New England ever sent to the senate. He was a well informed man. I met him only the other day when he was on his way—on his way—to—odd, I can't remember—on his way to"—

"A lunatic asylum!" snapped Hoar.—Saturday Evening Post.

Tired of Crop Talk.

George Lane, president of the Calgary Horse Show, was entertaining Dr. Rutherford, late Live Stock Commissioner for Canada, in the guests' box at that show a few days ago. Mr. Lane introduced the doctor to a number of friends, and in most instances the doctor received an invitation to do something which would keep him over a day or so longer.

For instance, Duncan Marshall wanted him to inspect some of his demonstration farms, W. J. Stark wanted him to go up to the Edmonton Spring Horse Show.

The doctor invariably replied "Well, I would like to very much but I must get out to British Columbia to get my crop in."

After Mr. Lane had listened to this a few times, he turned to the doctor and said: "If you don't keep still about it, I will go out to your place this summer and stay a week and eat that crop."

A Slighting Term.

In the provinces down by the Atlantic, the people take their politics seriously — at least several of the newspapers are not at all backward in criticizing the editorial remarks of papers on the other side of the political fence. The words used in referring to opposing papers are often terms of belittlement. Probably the limit was reached when the Sackville, N.B., Tribune recently referred to the Conservative paper as an "organette."

NOVEL FINGER-PLATES

Those who reside in small houses, where doors are not furnished with finger-plates, will find two pieces of colored linoleum, cut to the shape of ordinary finger-plates and tacked on the doors with brass tacks, answer the purpose, and look well.

A DRY SHAMPOO

You can keep your hair clean and soft without washing it constantly if you rub fine oatmeal into it. Then dry with a towel, and brush off all the oatmeal out with a stiff brush.

SOILED POSTAGE STAMPS.

If They Are Ink Splashed They Won't Do to Put on Letters.

"How dirty can a postage stamp become and still retain its usefulness in the eyes of the government?" was a question propounded to muddle the already overworked brain of a busy man. Happening to meet a postman who was collecting mail, the man handed him a stamped letter.

"That won't go," said the postman. "Stamp's dirty."

As was his wont on special occasions the busy man resorted to sarcasm.

"Since when," he demanded, "did the United States government become so immaculate that it requires none but unsullied stamps stuck on its letters?"

"Well, they've always been pretty particular," returned the unperturbed postman, "but there are some kinds of dirt that count for more than others. That stamp's got ink on it. Inky stamps don't go because an ink spot could be used to disguise a canceled stamp."

"Then I suppose every stamp I happen to drop a speck of ink on is wasted?"

"Oh, no. Turn it in to the office where you bought it, and after a certain period you will get your money back."

"How long will that take?" the man asked.

"About three months."

"I'm afraid I can't wait," said the man, and over the discredited stamp he stuck a spotless stamp.—New York Times.

SCARS THAT STAY.

They Come From Cuts That Go Down to the True Skin.

There are people who tell you that everything in the body is changed every seven years and that there is no part of it which was there seven years ago. This does not mean that we slough the whole thing off at once, as a snake does its skin or a deer its antlers, but simply that the innumerable and tiny atoms which are used up by the daily wear and tear are replaced by fresh atoms supplied by our food and drink, which keeps the body going, just as coal and water keep the steam engine at work.

But these changes are so minute and gradual that the form of the body remains the same, although such things as scars take a long time to disappear, and sometimes they remain for life, although they always lose a great deal of their prominence.

You have noticed that if you cut your finger slightly it will soon heal up and the scar will soon disappear, just as the marks of a superficial burn will gradually go away, but if the cut is deep the scar remains. This is because it went down to what is called the true skin. Any cuts or burns on the outer skin are gradually pushed up and worn or washed off, just as the hair on the back of your head wears off without your cutting it and grows again, but anything that goes down to the true skin, like tattoo marks, always remains.—New York Sun.

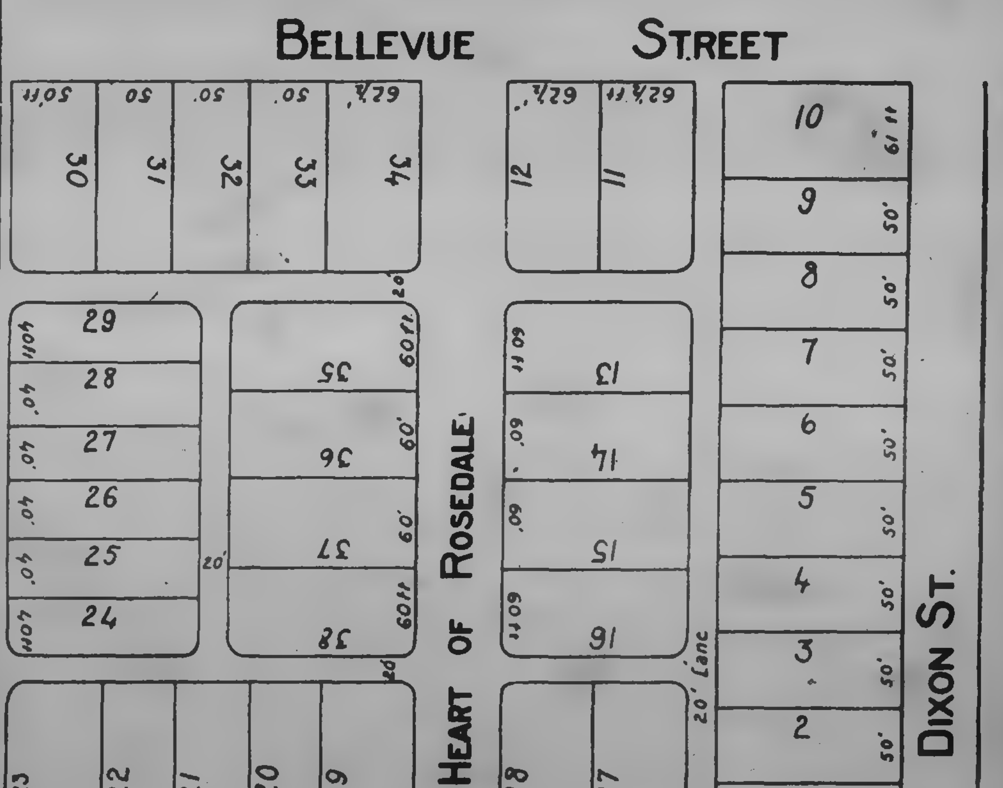
ROSEDALE LOTS



HOME-SEEKERS, REAL ESTATE SPECULATORS and REAL ESTATE BROKERS

After close application to business for 50 years I have decided to quit. Before doing so, I must sell about 5 lots, and some houses on my Western Avenue Sub-Division. Also 3 large blocks, intended for factory sites, still open at nominal price, if taken at once. WAGE-EARNERS OPPORTUNITY.

ROSEDALE

My Rosedale HIGH-CLASS Sub-Division is positively certain to become VERY VALUABLE in a short time, but I cannot afford to wait for $20 per foot. Have decided to close out at $8, on terms, with discount for cash. My loss will be your gain, as all must be sold.

THREE PUPILS AT SCHOOL

The First holds his book too close and mistakes figures on the black-board—he is near-sighted—that is why he sits in the front seat.

The Third Pupil stoops awkwardly over the book because he does not see easily.

The other pupil sits erect to study, sees the figures on the black-board easily accurately and does home-work easily. Properly fitted glasses help all his school work and make his examinations successful.

We examine many pupils and do not supply glasses unless necessary to their school work.

Lindsay has decided to send a deputation to Peterborough to take part in the Conservation Commission meeting of the Trent district. This is a most important matter, and The Times is pleased to observe that Lindsay is so regarding it.

Jane was in Toronto on Saturday and as far as he could learn, the C.P.R. passenger service through Orillia would commence on Monday, June 24th. There is no definite announcement, however. The station here is nearly completed.

Wharf to Be Repaired.

Lindsay Post: The question of fixing up Bond street wharf in suitable shape again came up before the Board of Works. It was pointed out that this would be an ideal spot for boats to stop, especially if the congestion at the town wharf was so great at any time that a steamer could not tie up. The clerk was instructed to notify Hon. Mr. Hughes that the town would provide the timber for cribbing, if the Government would supply the stone.

A Successful Student.

The many friends of Mr. Harold Matthews, son of Mr. T. F. Matthews, Water street, will be pleased to learn that he has again been successful in winning honors at the Royal Military College, Kingston, which he is attending, having for the second time been the senior of his class, taking the highest standing. This excellent showing this year gives him the standing of Lance Corporal. The Times extends its hearty congratulations.

Fishing Opens To-day.

This being the first day of the fishing season, the editor of the great family journal is preparing to proceed to some quiet, secluded spot, where he can indulge in the seductive pastime of angling. He has secured a supply of bait for the purpose. It is needless to say that it is not the kind sometimes taken by nimrods when on fishing trips, but is the real thing, dug from the earth. This g.f.j. expects to have a few good truthful fish stories for publication at an early date.

Gave Them a Lift.

Mr. J. H. McClellan, Superintendent of the Trent Canal, went up by Bessie Butler to inspect the new dock which is being built at Julian's. At Lakefield the steamer took on board a party of Americans, who were on their way to Stoney Lake on a fishing jaunt, and who were "hung up" on account of no afternoon steamer. The kindly act of Mr. McClellan was greatly appreciated by the party, who otherwise would have been obliged to remain in Lakefield till to-day.

Cost a Five Spot.

At the Police Court on Saturday morning, Sanitary Inspector Spence charged George Jackson with dumping deleterious refuse matter on the dump at the foot of Charlotte street, near the National Hotel. The man was assessed $5 under the penalty provided for in the garbage by-law. He was allowed ten days in which to pay the amount. Difficult to Get Men.

Lindsay Warder: Every year now is getting harder for the officers of the various rural regiments to get men to come to camp. The Kingston Whig made inquiries from a number of officers and all state that other things in the country, such as railroads, are making good offers for men and they would sooner stay at home for the two weeks and earn good money. One officer in particular stated that the men could get just about what they want in line of money if they are willing to work. The Canadian Northern Railroad has taken a large number of men from the militia ranks. As far as the class of men enlisting in concerned, they are all pretty young, but still of good size. In the past the boys thought it was two weeks' fun to go to camp, but to their sorrow they have found it not to be so. They have to work.

Kidneys

Deafness Cannot Be Cured.

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Amalgamation of Two Companies

THE Renfrew Flour Mills, Limited, has been incorporated under the Ontario Company's Act to take over the plant of the Renfrew Roller Mills, Limited, at Renfrew, Ont., and the waterpower, flour mill, elevator, warehouses, electric light plant, etc., of the Milling Co., at Pakenham, Ont.

The mills of the company are equipped with modern machinery and are in a high state of efficiency.

The Flour Mill at Renfrew has a capacity of 250 barrels a day.
The Flour Mill at Pakenham has a capacity of 250 barrels a day.
The Elevators at Renfrew have a capacity of 75,000 bushels.
The Elevator at Pakenham has a capacity of 25,000 bushels.

A Valuable Asset

The waterpower at Pakenham is a very valuable asset of the Company. Waterpowers are difficult to secure in Ontario on account of the new government regulations which are designed to place the control of waterpowers with the municipalities and under the supervision of the Hydro-Electric Commission. The fact that the waterpower at Pakenham will be owned absolutely by the Renfrew Flour Mills, Limited, makes stock in the Company even more desirable. The waterpower at this point is not only amply sufficient for all requirements, but for the future needs of the company, should it be deemed advisable to increase the milling capacity of the Pakenham plant.

The Renfrew Flour Mills, Limited, takes over two well established businesses. The company is thus in a position to earn an exceedingly good profit right from the start.

In fact the average yearly net profits for the past five years of one of the mills has been practically sufficient to pay the dividend on the full amount of the preference stock that will be issued.

The Company has no bonded indebtedness. The Preference Shares, therefore, are preferential, both as to assets and to dividend of 7% per annum.

Books Open May 29th

Subscription books open May 29th at the office of the International Bond Corporation, Limited, where regular forms may be obtained on request. Where forms are not available, letters or telegrams, stating how many shares are subscribed for under the terms of the prospectus, will be accepted and may be forwarded at the expense of the International Bond Corporation, Limited.

Stock will be issued in the order in which subscriptions are secured. Where possible, shares will be allotted in blocks to suit the purchaser, fractional blocks of the common stock will be allotted on the basis of $25 per share, or half their par value, which is indeed a very liberal arrangement.

For the guidance of investors, we offer the following examples to show the amount of stock various sums will procure.

$500 procures $500 par value preference stock and $125 par value common stock.
$1000 procures $1000 par value preference stock and $250 par value common stock.
$2000 procures $2000 par value preference stock and $500 par value common stock.
$5000 procures $5000 par value preference stock and $1250 par value common stock.

$12.50 per share with subscription.
$12.50 per share on allotment.
$12.50 per share on August 1, 1912.

We advise immediate subscription on the part of prospective investors, as the shares in this latest enterprise of Mr. Thomas A. Low's are certain to be taken up very rapidly, on account of the confidence in which Mr. Low, and those associated with him, are held by the investing public.

Mr. Low's Letter

Following is a letter from Mr. Low, regarding the new company:

International Bond Corporation, Limited,
Ottawa, Ont.

DEAR SIRS:

With reference to the Renfrew Flour Mills, Limited, the Company of which I have the honor of being President, I desire to say that under the same management, as has been in charge of The Renfrew Roller Mills Co., Limited, I believe the new Company will prove a very successful undertaking. The Renfrew Roller Mills Co., Limited, under the management of Mr. W. T. Guest, has been a great success. Almost every year from its inception the Company has paid annual dividends to its shareholders of ten per cent., and have as well laid up a large rest account. I am glad to be able to inform intending purchasers of stock in The Renfrew Flour Mills, Limited, that Mr. Guest has consented to accept the management of the new Company. I have no hesitation in saying that I believe the Company with the increased capacity will achieve even greater success than the old Company. Mr. Guest is thoroughly familiar with both the mills of the Company. He has been in charge of the mill at Renfrew since it was erected, and the mill at Pakenham, he owned and operated successfully for several years. You will therefore, see that the Company has been very fortunate in securing the services of so capable a manager. I have no hesitation in saying to any person who is looking for a good, sound, and safe investment, that I believe the stock of The Renfrew Flour Mills, Limited, will prove very profitable.

SENATOR DEPEW THINKS TAFT CANNOT BE RENOMINATED

Senator Is a Supporter of President, But Fears the Worst ·Says the Devil Helps Roosevelt--People Already Say "Bully for Teddy."

Chicago, June 17.—"The re-nomination of Taft has practically become impossible since the arrival of Roosevelt." This was the size up of ex-Senator Chauncey M. Depew, Taft delegate from New York, in an interview here with a correspondent of a London paper, whose stuff he has not counted on being given out here.

"Taft is of a judicial mind," asserted Depew, who is a real friend and supporter of the President. "But judicial decisions never won an election. His forces are under command of general principle, and in the rough and tumble of a convention fight, general principle is a poor leader.

"Actions that would kill any other politician are precisely the best asset of Theodore Roosevelt. If Taft should come here it would kill his chances utterly; but Roosevelt has come, and they are shouting 'Bully for Teddy.' Where Roosevelt goes, no man can stop him. For the devil helps him, and the Lord doesn't interpose. It's that d—— charm of his, as was said of the other woman in Barrie's 'What Every Woman Knows.'

"All the unrest now pervading this country is due to its excessive prosperity. The workingmen all have good jobs and higher wages. The radicalism so much talked of is artificial and somewhat harmless. Bryan tried to do the trick three times, but there is this distinction between Bryan and Roosevelt: Bryan always told you beforehand how he was going to do it, and we were able therefore, to pull his plan to pieces. In fact, he proclaimed the ingredient of his own pill, but Roosevelt never gives the formula of his medicine."

ASTORS KIND TO CREW OF MACKAY-BENNETT

Send Cheque for $2,000 to Be Distributed Among Those Who Rescued Bodies—Gold Watch for the Captain.

Halifax, N.S., June 17.—Captain Larnder, of the cable ship Mackay-Bennett, which recovered so large a number of bodies of victims of the Titanic disaster, including that of Colonel John Jacob Astor, has received from Mrs. Astor, his widow, and Vincent Astor, his son, very gratifying and generous proof of their appreciation of the work of the crew on their dead errand in the Atlantic Ocean.

They have forwarded to the Captain, together with a letter crouched in terms which greatly enhance the value of the gift, a cheque for $2,000 with a request that it be distributed by him in gratuities to those who assisted in the work of recovery in any way. The captain has also been advised that they are sending to him personally, a gold watch.

LANCASTER MARRIAGE BILL PROVIDED A UNIFORM LAW

1. The Marriage Act, chapter 105 of the Revised Statutes, 1906, is amended by adding thereto the following section:

"3. Every ceremony or form of marriage heretofore or hereafter performed by any person authorized to perform any ceremony of marriage by the laws of the place where it is performed, and duly performed according to such laws, shall anywhere within Canada be deemed to be a valid marriage, notwithstanding any differences in the religious faith of the person so married, and without regard to the religion of the person performing the ceremony.

"2. The rights and duties as married people, of the respective persons married as aforesaid, and of the children of such marriage, shall be absolute and complete, and no law or canonical decree or custom of or in any Province in Canada shall have any force or effect to invalidate or qualify any such marriage or any of the rights of the said persons or their children in any manner whatsoever."

The Marriage Act referred to merely states, "A marriage is not invalid because the woman is a sister of a deceased wife of the man, or a daughter of a sister of a deceased wife of a man."

ROOSEVELT AND BRYAN HAVE HEART TO HEART TALK

Chicago, June 17.—William J. Bryan, Democratic leader, an three times beaten for the Presidency, today is occupying much of the attention of the managers for both Taft and Roosevelt. Arriving here yesterday unheralded, he was given a welcome which he himself admitted was as warm as any he ever received from a Democratic assemblage, and to-day as he moved about the corridors of the hotel he was enthusiastically acclaimed. The majority of the delegates seem to believe that Bryan will be nominated at Baltimore, and that he is studying conditions here at first hand in order to be better prepared for shaping things in the convention next week.

Bryan renewed his denial that he is a candidate or that he has even a lingering belief that he may be named again as Democratic candidate. He expects the fight to be between Clark and Wilson, and will tour the country for whichever shall be named.

A Short Platform.

"I want a chance to show how I can fight for a progressive Democrat," Bryan said. "Our convention at Baltimore will be controlled by the progressives. The Conservatives already are whipped. They will cut little figure in the platform. Our platform will be a model of brevity and clarity, and will express in plain terms just what the people may expect when they return the Democratic party to power, as they will next November."

To all who have promised support—and he has had public assurances from both Roosevelt and Taft men that unless their candidate is nominated they will turn to the Nebraskan—Bryan has insisted firmly that he is not in the running. Despite this, he is pulled and hauled about by crowds eager to seize and shake his hand. He confessed to-day that his back was sore from the pounding it has received, accompanied by assurances of "Bill, we know you are all right."

The colonel from Nebraska was still chuckling to-day over his visit to the Colonel from Oyster Bay, which he paid in his capacity as newspaper correspondent yesterday. The two men who might be assailing each other from the stump within a fortnight, were in private conference for nearly half an hour. Neither would discuss the visit, or the topics under discussion, and all efforts to get Bryan to say whether he welcomed Roosevelt as a fellow Progressive were futile.

"I went to get a piece for my paper," naively declared Bryan, changing the conversation when questioned.

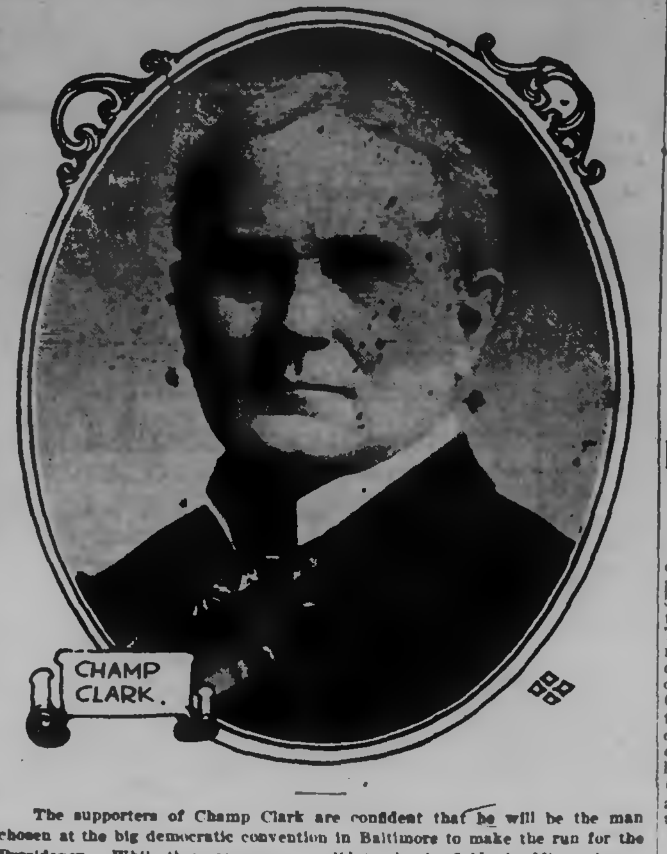
HE MADE PERILOUS TRIP TO SAVE HIS FRIENDS

St. Catharines, Ont., June 17.—Drenched to the skin and exhausted, Chas. J. Doran, proprietor of the Dominion Suspender Company, Niagara Falls, Ont., arrived in Port Dalhousie harbor at 8.20 last night after a row of nine miles in a small punt from his disabled launch.

The launch Dot, containing R. V. Benney, chemist, Niagara Falls, N.Y.; Harvey Pinno, engineer; and W. Pinno, his son, and Mr. Doran, left Toronto at one p.m. for Port Dalhousie and Chippewa. They struck a heavy sea when nine miles from Port, and the main engine cranck shaft was broken, rendering the boat helpless. Waves broke over the 8-foot sides of the boat, drenching the party. Doran made the perilous trip against the wishes of his associates. He took a life preserver along and said that he was not afraid to die as long as there was a dim chance of getting aid for them. After being revived, Doran engaged the tug Alert and scoured the waters for three hours without result. About midnight the Alert made a second hunt. In the meantime Pinno on the launch had found a searchlight, which aided the Alert in finding the disabled craft with its party, who were by this time nearly exhausted. They were brought into Port Dalhousie at two o'clock this morning.

THE WEATHER.

Fresh westerly to northwesterly winds: fair and comparatively cool to-day.



CHAMP CLARK.

The supporters of Champ Clark are confident that he will be the man chosen at the big democratic convention in Baltimore to make the run for the Presidency. While there are many candidates in the field, the Missouri man and his lieutenants are making a determined struggle to land the coveted nomination.

THE MARRIAGE BILL

With reference to the judgment, Mr. Burnham says that "the law of Canada is now declared by this judgment to be, on the two main points, flatly opposite to that laid down in the Ne Temere and other decrees. Roman Catholics may be married by a Protestant, or in other words, no church can declare what the law governing marriage is. That remains for the Parliaments of Canada. The defeat of the Lancaster bill is of no importance in view of the rest of the decision. In fact the Lancaster bill is really included in the other questions submitted and answered affirmatively. In short, what the Laurier Government decided against and refused to submit to the courts, has been decided in the affirmative by the court. It is a very far-reaching and momentous decision. The wisdom of the Borden Government in submitting more than the Lancaster bill is now apparent."

PROTESTANTS MUST BE ETERNALLY VIGILANT

Rev. Mr. Brace Addresses Eastern Orangemen on Encroachments of Catholic Church.

Toronto, June 17.—"We Canadians must stand all together for the best education of both races, never endorsing dead issues of which I might mention the ne temere decree as an example, endeavoring to teach to the French their full social privileges and political duties, and especially emphasizing the principle that marriage is not an easy path to divorce, in spite of the fact that one church would have it so," declared Rev. A. P. Brace, addressing 500 members of the East Toronto District Orange Lodges.

He depicted the steady encroachments of the Roman Catholic church and urged greater vigilance on the part of Protestant Canadians. He quoted the words used in greeting the Papal Legate on his arrival in Canada two years ago. "We welcome you," were the words used he said, "from Rome on the Tiber to Rome on the St. Lawrence." And there is nothing the Roman Church would like better, than to make this semblance true, by bringing the Papal throne from its tottering foundations on the Mediterranean into the midst of its friends in Montreal. They can see Canada's future, he continued, "They can see clearly that Canada will ultimately hold the balance of power between the Occident and the Orient, and that the balance of population will, if we do not look out, be in their favor, and they would love to strangle the Protestantism of this young giant."

MIDLAND LEAGUE FOOTBALL GAMES

The Midland League footballers were busy on Saturday. The local C.G.E. team of the senior Midland League defeated Bethany, 3—0. The game was closely contested throughout, but the local team had the edge on the village boys all the way.

In Bowmanville a senior game was played, resulting in a win for Bowmanville by the score of 2—1. Bowmanville lose on the round, however, having been put under the weather a week ago by Oshawa to the tune of a 2—0 score. They are protesting the former game.

DIXON CLAIMS MARGIN OF 42 FOR ROOSEVELT

Says Teddy Will Be Nominated on the First Ballot at National Convention.

Chicago, June 17.—Senator Dixon at noon to-day issued a statement claiming Roosevelt's nomination on the first ballot with a margin of 42 votes. He also said the Roosevelt men will control a larger majority than that on organization of the convention.

FINANCIERS PASS THROUGH THE CITY

The special train bearing the 72 distinguished British capitalists passed through the city yesterday at 5.06 o'clock, and stopped for about ten minutes at the C.P.R. station. The Mayor and a number of Aldermen were at the station and had a conversation with some of the noted capitalists. The men are touring Canada with a view to developing trade between the Dominion and the old country, and investigating the capital. The men represent two hundred and forty million dollars ($240,000,000) of invested capital, and they employ over one hundred thousand men.

KILLS HIS AGED WIFE

Horrible Deed Perpetrated by an Elderly Farmer — No Satisfactory Cause for the Crime.

Winnipeg, June 17.—Roderick McDonald, a gray-haired, sevety-year-old farmer of Fisherton, one hundred miles north of Winnipeg, has confessed that he shot to death his aged wife and life partner at his farm at one o'clock last Saturday morning. He is now in the Provincial jail. The affair has about it an air of mystery as no satisfactory explanation for the murderous attack of the old man upon his aged wife is forthcoming. Fisherton is a new settlement on Lake Winnipeg, north of Gimli, and the tragedy has terribly shocked the community.

McDonald Lived Alone.

McDonald believed he was suffering from consumption, and on this account had insisted on living alone for the past year in a one storey log shack fifty yards from his home in which lived his wife also about seventy, an attractive daughter of eighteen, and an adopted boy about five. He did not want his family to contract the disease. Last Saturday evening he sent word to his wife that he was lonesome and asked her to go over and talk to him. This she did, A few hours later the daughter, who was in bed in the house, heard one shot fired from the direction of the shack. Hurrying down she met her mother at the door, just as she was falling dead on the step.

The husband was arrested by Phil Thomas, provincial constable of Fisherton and arraigned before W. G. Twedell, police magistrate, and by him committed for trial.

Those living in the district are of the opinion that he is of unsound mind, though the constable declared that all through the trip to Winnipeg he showed no signs of either mental derangement or consumption. No difficulty was experienced with him and he made no effort to escape.

Confessed to Murder.

Fisherton is seventy miles from a railway, and the trio drove this distance to Teulon and from there came to this city along the Stonewall C. P. R. Branch. Throughout the trip McDonald ate well, slept well and talked intelligently about his crop, farm and cattle, but said almost nothing about the death of his wife. When questioned by the officers in this regard he evaded his subject except confessing that he had committed the crime. Unable to induce him to talk along this line the officers refrained from mentioning it further, and the subject was not again referred to during the latter part of the journey.

PROGRAMME FOR TO-DAY'S BIG REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

Chicago, June 17.—The actual formal program for the convention today provides for the opening of the Coliseum at 10 a.m. While the ticket holders are filling in, two bands will play. The program then provides for the following:

Noon—The convention called to order by Chairman Rosewater of the National Committee.

Prayer by the Rev. James F. Callahan, pastor of St. Michael's Roman Catholic church.

Reading of the temporary roll.

Fight on the temporary roll.

Election of the temporary chairman.

Address by the temporary chairman.

Election of temporary officers.

Roll call of States for presentation of committee selections.

Adjournment.

Four years ago the opening session lasted two hours. This year the shortest estimate is ten hours, with an all-night session as a distinct probability.

THE QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Ottawa, June 17.—Judgment was handed down at noon in the Supreme Court in the matter of the questions referred by the Government on the Lancaster Bill. The Court answers the questions as follows:

QUESTION ONE—(A) Has the Parliament of Canada authority to enact, in the whole or in part, Bill Number 3 of the first session of the twelfth Parliament of Canada, entitled, "An Act to amend the Marriage Act?" (B) If the provisions of the said bill are not all within the authority of the Parliament of Canada to enact, which, if any, of the provisions are within such authority?

ANSWER—(both branches) Chief Justice Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, Justices Duff, Anglin, and Davies, answer "No."

Justice Idington answers—"It is an impossible bill as it stands. If I must answer categorically then I say as follows: The retrospective part would be good as part of a scheme for concurrent legislation by Parliament and by the Legislatures confirming past marriages, which probably neither can effectively do. The prospective part so far as it is possible to make effective prohibition a religious test may be good, but it is doubtful, and the probable purpose can be reached by a better bill.

QUESTION TWO—Does the law of the Province of Quebec render null and void, unless contracted before a Roman Catholic Priest, a marriage which would otherwise be legally binding which takes place in such Province. (A) Between persons who are both Roman Catholics, or (B) between persons one of whom, only, is a Roman Catholic?

ANSWER—The Chief Justice asks permission to decline to answer the first branch. To branch one Justices Idington, Duff and Davies: "No," Justice Anglin, "Yes."

To branch two of question two, the court unanimously answers "No."

QUESTION THREE—If either (A) or (B) of the last preceding question is answered in the affirmative, or if both of them are answered in the affirmative, has the Parliament of Canada authority to enact that all such marriages whether (A) heretofore solemnized, or (B) hereafter to be solemnized, shall be legal and binding?

JUDGE IDINGTON STANDS ALONE.

ANSWER—(Branch A), the Chief Justice, Justices Davies, Duff, and Anglin, "No." Justice Idington says: "As to question three, branch A, answer 'Yes,' to be concurred in by the respective legislatures of the Provinces concerned, and as to branch B, answer 'Yes,' if and when Province fails to provide adequate means of solemnization."

The answers to question two show the court unanimous in confirming the decision in the Hebert case that a Protestant clergyman can officiate at a "mixed" marriage. A majority of the judges go further and say a Protestant clergyman can solemnize the marriage of two Roman Catholics.

The result will of course be appealed to the Privy Council. Meanwhile it is a distinct victory for Sir Allen Aylesworth, Premier Borden, and Hon. C. C. Doherty, who each stated from their place in Parliament that the Dominion had no power to legislate.

The Lancaster bill is thus dead until the Privy Council declares to the contrary.

C. TEMPLIN IS RELEASED

There are many fans who will be sorry to learn of the release of Manager Templin of the Peterborough White Caps. While up against a streak of hard luck, he has done his very best, and worked his very hardest for the team he led. Under his leadership the White Caps have taken the starch out of some of the league leaders, yet perhaps the attitude of the committee in releasing their faithful manager is to be commended.

An iron hand is needed and the local club hope to have found it in Dave R

Dave Droane (Derby), late manager of Kelly's International Leafs It is hoped that expected that under his leadership, the local team will climb the league ladder to the upper stories.

Templin is released entirely from the team.

ENGLAND IS NOW TO HAVE FULL CONTROLL OF TANGIER

Subject to the Algeciras Agreement--Will Remove the Customs House.

Gibraltar, June 17.—It is reported here on what appears to be good authority that Tangier will remain under international control, as determined by the Algeciras agreement, but that the British will be in direct charge. The intention is to remove the Custom houses beyond the city limits and make Tangier a free port. The plan is regarded with favor here, as Gibraltar's business interests in Morocco are large and constantly increasing.

Spaniards in Gibraltar and vi[illegible]nity look upon the plan with sat[illegible]faction, while the large Moorish colony here is wild with joy at the [illegible]spect. They prefer an English ad[illegible]ministration to any other.

CURIOUS LAW SUIT.

Wife of Man Who Was Poisoned By Coins Sought Damages in Vain

London, June 17.—A curious case under the Workmen's Compensation Act was decided yesterday. The claimant was the widow of a workman employed by a gas company who died of metallic poisoning, contracted while collecting bronze coins from automatic penny-in-the-slot meters. Many coins had verdigris, and the man had a habit of twisting his moustache with his fingers. This introduced poison into his system. Judgment was given for the respondents.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the State's area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundred of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 99 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company, Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. Law, Ontario, Manager, 49 Cecil street, Toronto. D-6 in J4

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 85c, and well worth it, too. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 85c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. WM. J. BALDWIN, ESQ., Mayor of the Town of Aurora.
W. PERCY GILLESPIE, ESQ., W. Percy Gillespie & Co., Investment Brokers, Toronto, Ont.

In offering these shares for investment, we feel that we are inviting the public to purchase stock in an industry in which the profits are very large, and the demand for the product is ever increasing.

It is a well known fact that the shares of our Canadian Tanneries are very closely held, and the public seldom have an opportunity of procuring any.

On March 11th, 1912, the Burgesses of the Town of Aurora voted in favor of granting The Collis Leather Company, Limited, a cash bonus of Ten Thousand Dollars, the Company's property is exempt from Taxation for Ten Years (except school tax) and it has also been granted water from the Town free for all time.

The factory is now under construction, to be completed on or before the 1st Day of July, 1912, and will be 150 feet long by 50 feet wide, and four storys high.

The Company's specialty will be the manufacture of calf leather.

Mr. Walter Collis has had over Thirty Years' experience as a tanner, and thoroughly understands all departments of the business. Mr. Collis will have direct charge of the Tannery.

The capacity of the factory will be Eighteen Hundred calfskins per day, or an average of Eighteen Thousand Feet per day. A most conservative estimate of the net profit is one-half cents per foot.

Estimated Net Profits:

Less business insurance and depreciation per year	7,000.00
Or approximately 20 per cent on entire issued capital.	$20,000.00

THE CATERPILLAR PEST

Drastic measures should be taken to stamp out the caterpillar pest. In the vicinity of Peterborough comparatively few farmers or suburban residents are taking any systematic action to deal with the pest, though the trees and shrubs in some localities are festooned with their cocoons. In France the caterpillar is dealt with by law, and the owner of trees on which caterpillars or their nests are discovered may be prosecuted and fined upon the complaint of a neighbor. Already orchards and gardens are commencing to suffer seriously, and if the caterpillars are allowed to multiply this season the scourge may be a great deal worse in 1913.

ENGLISH LABOR UNREST.

The continual condition of unrest that is being experienced in Great Britain in labor circles and which has now been the feature of the commercial world during recent years, is giving rise to considerable anxiety amongst those who study the social conditions of the people and the state of affairs which exists between capital and labor. One of the features of the present trouble which stands out most prominently is that unemployment does not enter into the questions at issue at all, but the demand of the Laborites is that they shall participate to a larger extent than they have done in the products of labor. It is necessary to realise that although this apparently leads to socialism, it is not socialism. It is really nothing more than a new phase of the problem which has confronted English statesmen for so many years—that of the incidence of taxation.

Those who have followed what H. G. Wells calls "this portentous disquiet of labor," "this perplexing riddle of the industrial Sphinx which can no longer be evaded," cannot shut their eyes to the fact that there is a quiet movement in progress in the Old Country which promises to upset the existing social system which now obtains in the United Kingdom. It is not a movement that has grown up in a night, for it has been gradually extending amongst the industrial classes for many years. There was a foreshadowing of it even when Joseph Arch started his Agricultural Union. It is true that the men of the extremist party, such as Keir Hardie and Robert Blatchford did their level best to retard it by the ridiculous demands that they have put forward, but the fundamental basis of the new industrial movement was firmly founded and had taken so keen a grip at the roots that it was bound to grow. That must be self-evident to any who have been in the midlands and also to the north where the workers are in the strongest strength. No one who has ever seen the aspects of life there could fail to appreciate the condition of life as has been so graphically described in Maeterlinck's "Life of the Bee," or even in Well's own "Time Machine." The clatter of the clogs may mean life to the employer, but at the same time it means death to the employee.

The solution of the problem will have to lay in the laps of the gods. Many men have tried to find it, but it is elusive as a "Will o' the Wisp." Locke in his work on "Toleration" thought that he had grasped it when he proposed to limit the size of incomes, but our style of living to-day makes it impossible to say as to what should be the limit of the size of incomes. There have been Utopias from Pluto to Bellamy, but none have as yet proved to be either practicable or acceptable. Even if we do lay hold of what Wells calls "the imaginations of this drifting, sullen and suspicious multitude, which is the working body of the country," how is the difficulty to be overcome? What do the more solid men of labor party ask for? A larger participation in the profits of labor. And to the student of sociology this does appear to be the only way out of the question. It is estimated that in the North of England and in the Midlands the percentage of profits is twenty-five per cent. for the worker and seventy-five for the employer, and this is out of all proportion to what it should be.

It is well known that Mr. Wells is a Fabian, but at the same time his conclusions, if taken with a certain amount of salt, are worthy of consideration. He says:

"The slack days for rulers and owners are over. If there are still to be rulers and owners and managing and governing people, then in the face of the new masses, sensitive, intelligent, critical, irritable, as no common people have ever been before, these rulers and owners must be prepared to make themselves and display themselves wise capable and heroic—beyond any aristocratic precedent. The alternative, if it is an alternative, is resignation — to the Social Democracy."

The worst of it is that no one so far has been able to define what "social democracy" really means, and it is that upon which the whole solution of the problem depends. If Mr. Wells would only supply that solution he would be a world-reformer.

CIVIC PLAYGROUNDS.

Vancouver Daily News-Advertiser — Yesterday proved an eventful day for the youth of the city, because of the inauguration of the new city playgrounds. Few movements have ever been started which give more promise of real usefulness to the boys and girls than this. With the most improved equipment, capable instructors and the goodwill of the whole community, the playgrounds should prove a very strong factor in improving the physical and moral life of our boys and girls. The problem of the boy after school hours should now be partly solved. And we shall not be surprised if the movement affects for good the children's court. For in our spare moments we are caught by inclinations which would never assail the busy mind. Satan still finds some mischief for idle hands to do. Success to the new playgrounds!

Editorial Notes

The only reason why Roosevelt went to Chicago was because it began to look as though the convention wouldn't go to him.

Canada now has two Sir Richards in the field. We may have to distinguish between them by calling Cartwright old Sir Richard and McBride young Sir Richard.

It remains to be seen how many of the tobacco-growing farmers of Essex and Kent will heed the invitation of the London Methodist conference to turn over a new leaf.

Of course the fact that Godfroi Langlois, M. L. A., defeated Archbishop Bruchesi's brother in the late Quebec elections may have nothing to do with the threatened ban on Langlois' paper.

"If an automobile ran into me and I had a loaded revolver on me, I would shoot the driver," said Police Magistrate McMicken, of Winnipeg, a day or two ago. All very well; but there is nothing in Canadian law to render a police magistrate immune from hanging if he commits murder.

Taking advantage of the meeting of the Press association in Ottawa, the Free Press of that city invited several of the visiting editors to contribute editorials to its columns. They cheerfully responded, with the result that the readers of the Grit organ at the capital had the unusual experience of reading a couple of red-hot Tory editorials in their favorite paper. What an abuse of hospitality!

SON OF SPAIN'S KING A HOPELESS MUTE

Little Jaime's Affliction Baffles Skill Of Kingdom's Greatest Specialist.

Freiburg, Switzerland, June 17. — The royal infant of Spain, Jaime — second son of King Alphonso and Queen Ena—is incurable, according to the medical authorities that have him in charge in this town. The child will be four years old on the 23rd of this month. He has never uttered a sound, nor reacted to any noise since he was born, nor never will.

The Freiburg specialist, to whom the little prince was entrusted by his parents, has affected many cures of deaf and dumb children, but his art is lost on little Jaime.

Your correspondent also sees him in the streets and parks. He is pretty and jolly youngster, much better looking than other children of the royal couple. Sometimes he appears publicly in his uniform, for he is a private in the Fourth Spanish Horse Artillery.

IS NEW DREDGE A FAILURE?

Reported That The $20,000 Machine Won't Do It's Work.

And now it is said that the new Government dredge is not satisfactory, and that it is next to useless for the work it was intended to perform. The Times has learned that the result of two days' operation last week was three scow loads of broken stone. This stone is being taken from the canal bank, above the lift lock and dumped on the new George street dock. The dredge is being used to load the broken stone on scows, which are then towed by boat to the new structure. The Times was informed that the result of two days' work was three scow loads, of from 10 to 15 yards each. This represents a cost of from $3 to $4 per yard. The stone used on one of the large city buildings recently constructed was hauled by team, so the Times was informed, for less than 75c per yard.

Wrong Style of Dredge.

It appears, from what we can learn, that the Engineering Department of the Trent Canal was plainly told that the style of scoop known as "clam shell" is useless in these waters, and that the "dipper" was the only kind that would be satisfactory. Be this as it may, the former style was purchased, with the above result. One of the workmen told the Times yesterday that the dredge was a huge white elephant, and would either have to be reconstructed or disposed of, and the dipper style substituted.

Who is to Blame?

The dredge was built by the late Government, so that no blame can be attached to the present Minister of Railways and Canals. We have no doubt the matter will be investigated, so that the blame, if any, will be placed where it belongs.

THE MARKETS

Liverpool Wheat Futures Close Higher, Chicago Lower—Live Stock —Latest Quotations.

LIVERPOOL, June 15.—Wheat—The unexpected sharp break in American values and the weakness in Paris caused much realising here, and at the opening the values were ⅛d to ¼d lower than yesterday. These, however, were offset by the continued good demand from the continent and lighter American shipments this week, as shown by Bradstreet's. Following the opening there was covering by prominent shorts, and prices advanced ⅛d to ¼d, with October leading. There is a good demand for cargoes arriving, with Plate offerings firmly held and Manitoba offers higher. It is forecasted that there will be very light American shipments to Liverpool this week—barely half of the previous week. Strength in corn assisted in the advance, and at the close the market was firm, ⅛d to ¼d up from yesterday.

CHICAGO, June 15.—Soaking rains thruout the northwest, including the spring crop country beyond the Canadian line, made a lower market to-day for wheat. Despite week-end covering, the close was easy, ⅜c to ½c down. Corn finished at a net loss of ⅛c to ⅜c; oats ⅛c to ¼c, and provisions at a decline of 5c to 25c.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, June 15.—Cables on Manitoba spring wheat were stronger at an advance of 1½d, but as they were still out of line with values in Winnipeg, no business was done. The demand for oats from local buyers was fair, with sales of 50,000 bushels extra No. 1 feed at 50½c and 25,000 No. 2 Canadian western at 50½c, c.i.f., here, to arrive. The domestic demand for flour is very limited, but the tone of the market is firm. Millfeed is quiet and steady. The demand for butter is quiet and the feeling easy, owing to increased supplies. Receipts for the week were 22,278 packages, against 25,407 a year ago. Cheese is fairly active, but the tone of the market is soft and prices have a lower tendency. Receipts for the week were 76,282, against 72,165 a week ago. A strong feeling prevails in eggs, owing to the good demand and cool weather. Receipts for the week were 10,598, against 9044 a year ago.

Young Lady Shot.

There was a slight accident in Haliburton last Tuesday. The girls of the village held a shooting match on the town hall ground and as a loaded gun was passed from one to another it accidently went off, shooting Miss Effie Preston in the hip. Dr. Soady dressed the wound which, although painful, is not considered serious.

WATER OF THE WORLD.

What Will We Do When the Population Outgrows the Rainfall?

Dr. McGee, an American scientist, "who follows the form of investigation that uses weighing scales for testimony—scales that cannot lie," has found that the average individual uses directly or indirectly about 4,400 tons of water every year. He drinks a ton. The vegetables he consumes require about 400 tons for their growth, and his annual meat supply of 200 pounds uses up no less than 4,000 tons of water.

Using this figure as a basis, Dr. McGee shows that when the population of the United States has reached 1,017,000,000, which he thinks will occur about A. D. 2210, every drop of the annual rainfall will be required to maintain the food supply, and no further increase of inhabitants will be possible.

The present inhabitants of the entire world, estimated at about 1,500,000,000, can be increased to 20,000,000,000 if the total annual rainfall of earth remains as it is today—that is, thirteen times the present population will crowd the earth to its limit.

Dr. McGee's estimates, however, leave quite out of account the question of tapping the oceans, which is at least a possibility.—London Magazine.

MOVING THE PIANO.

Changing its Position in a Room Will Affect its Tone.

It is said that the very act of moving a piano around in a room is sufficient to disturb its tonal qualities. When a piano has been moved into the position for which it is intended, is accustomed to the temperature and the drafts prevalent, it should be tuned, experts say. Any change of temperature or movement may cause the strings to contract or expand slightly with the resultant loss or gain of half a semitone. Changing the position of a piano is said to have almost the same effect as constant playing, only in the latter case the constant action of the hammers against the strings tends to loosen their adjustment and the instrument runs out of tune.

Sea air has also a detrimental effect on pianos. Here again contraction and expansion of the wires are the chief causes of disturbance. Pianos constructed for the tropics are much more strongly built than those used in temperate climates. Wood that is not liable to warp and crack is used in the sounding boards; otherwise they have to be brass bound and stayed to prevent splitting.—New York Sun.

Gluttons of the Seas.

The pike's reputation for cruelty and voraciousness is such that it has been popularly dubbed the "water wolf." It is probable, however, that many species of sea fish are equally, if not a great deal more, rapacious. Large dogfish, congers, pollack, cod and bass are especially ferocious, while halibut will very often seize and kill other large fish. An English angler was "playing" a large conger when a huge halibut swam up to and savagely bit at it—a proceeding that cost the halibut its own life, for on its making for the wounded conger a second time the boatman contrived to gaff and haul it aboard. There have been many examples of pike being found dead, choked by their own species, and these fish not infrequently attack another pike that has been hooked by a fisherman.

Arsenic Eaters.

The average Englishman has a horror of arsenic, but the peasantry in Austria-Hungary and other parts of eastern Europe eat it habitually, believing that it gives plumpness and beauty to the figure and longness of breath. Peddlers sell white arsenic about the countryside quite without restriction. The quantities taken are small, and so long as the doses are regular no illness results. Once they are stopped, however, symptoms of arsenical poisoning at once become manifest. Mountaineers in eastern Europe often take a dose of arsenic before commencing a climb, and it is also customary to give it to horses and dogs to give brightness and gloss to their skins.—London Chronicle.

EUROPE'S MAP MAY CHANGE

Rumor That Important Matters Are Being Considered.

London, June 17.—The Editor of the Statist says:

"The King of Montenegro's visit to Vienna, the King of Bulgaria's visit to Berlin, the movements of the British and French warships on the Mediterranean, and the removal of the German Navy League agitation —all these movements are occasioning much speculation and some apprehension of serious changes in the European map.

The policy of Russia and Italy is puzzling most people. There are rumors of a German-Austrian-Russian understanding, and rumors also of an Italian-French-British understanding. The general public, however, is undisturbed.

"The resignation of Lord Chancellor Loreburn and the successor to the office o Lord Haldane are not believed to have any international significance."

TRY SKIN ABSORPTION INSTEAD OF COSMETICS.

(From the Woman Militant.)

The constant use of rouge and powder invites a coarsened, roughened condition of the skin, eruptions, enlarged pores and wrinkles. If you've learned this from experience, suppose you quit cosmetics and try what I recommend.

Ask your druggist for one ounce of ordinary mercolized wax and begin using this to-night. Apply like cold cream, washing it off in the morning. Keep this up for a week or two. The wax will literally absorb the coarse, colorless or blemished top skin, but so gradually as to not discommode you at all. Just as gradually the clear, velvety, naturally-tinted underskin comes to the surface. And mercolized wax becomes your everlasting friend.

For those wrinkles and large pores make a face bath by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half-pint witch hazel. This has remarkable astringent and tonic properties, and beneficial results come quickly.

ADDITION TO HOSPITAL

Board of Trustees Have Arranged for Two New Buildings of the Most Modern Type—Work will be Commenced at Once.

For some time past the Board of Trustees of Nicholls Hospital have been considering the advisability of a considerable addition to the hospital. Plans have been completed and approved, and as a beginning, tenders are asked for the excavation.

Two new buildings, one for a hospital and the other for a laundry, will comprise the new structure, which will be to the south of the present building. It will be of brick, 90 feet by 40 feet, three storeys high and will accommodate 45 beds. Two operating rooms with roofs of glass and sun parlors for convalescent patients will also be included in the new building. All the fittings will be of the most up-to-date character. The laundry, equipped throughout with the most modern machinery, will be to the south west of the present hospital. Mr. Blackwell is the architect for both the new buildings.

The board is confident that the result of their efforts to increase the capacity and usefulness of the hospital will be much appreciated by the people.

SUMMER VACATIONS.

Delightful Trip by Sea to New York Another to Bermuda—Vacation Trips Worth While.

Two of the most attractive vacation trips available for the summer season are the voyages from Quebec to New York, via the wonderful Saguenay River, and the other is to the all-the-year-round resort, Bermuda, where health, pleasure and recreation abound.

The voyage to New York occupies about five days, which includes the run up the Saguenay to Capes Trinity and Eternity, and calls at Gaspe, Charlottetown and Halifax, thus being in sight of land, beautiful scenery and in smooth water nearly all the trip. This and the trip to Bermuda in summer are like delightful yachting trips.

The Str. Trinidad leaves New York for Quebec July 6th, 20th, August 3rd, 17th, and leaves Quebec for New York July 12th, 26th, August 9th, 23rd.

The twin screw Str. Bermudian and other steamers provide sailings every five days to and from Bermuda, where constant sea breezes make it cooler than at the middle Atlantic coast resorts, and where all outdoor sports may be enjoyed. The voyage occupies only two days, and the stay may be as short or as long as the fancy of the tourist dictates, and is one of the least expensive trips that can be made.

Further particulars, with rates of passage, etc., may be obtained from all local ticket agents or the Quebec Steamship Co., Quebec.

ITALY'S LUCKY TRAMPS.

The State Shelters Them and Food and Drink Come Easy.

Assuredly the tramp in Italy is a man to be envied! Save for a coat to his back and shoes to his feet there are few things which he need worry about as he passes from village to village in that country of blue skies and sunshine. Food he can find in the vineyards and on the fig trees, drink is obtainable almost for nothing, so plentiful is wine, and shelter is provided for him gratis by a benevolent government.

"I was often struck during my recent journey in northern Italy by the delightful public dormitories which are erected by the roadsides throughout the country, especially in the valleys leading from the Mediterranean coast to the hill towns of Liguria.

I visited a dormitario publico on the highway near Camporosso, in the Nervia valley, and surely no wayfarer could desire a more charming resting place. The authorities have placed it under the shade of the olive trees, so that, however hot the sun may be, the footsore traveler can obtain his much needed siesta in a perfectly cool place. It looked so attractive, standing there in the shade, that I myself was almost tempted to escape from the sunshine and seek refuge beneath its hospitable roof."—Wide World Magazine.

SCOTCH TERRIERS.

Their Origin and the Conditions That Made Them a Necessity.

In ancient times each district in the highlands had its "todhunter," whose duty it was to see carefully to it that the then flourishing firm of fox, otter and company did not do a too prosperous business in lamb and poultry. Sometimes these todhunters were of "the laird's men," sometimes they were supported by the whole community of small farmers and grazers, but always they were local dignitaries. There was honor and considerable profit in their office, and in time it came to be more or less hereditary. Their duty was simple. They waged a war of extermination against the vermin, which, however, was a very different matter from the good old English sport of fox hunting.

In the rough country horse and hound would have been worse than useless, and Reynard made his den in such rocky ground that he could not be dug out. The sole solution was a dog small enough to follow the fox or otter or badger or wild cat into his lair, strong enough to bring him out dead or alive and game enough to do both. A dog developed from this necessity, and that dog was the ancestor of the present day Scottish terrier.—William Haynes in Outing.

Water at Meals.

There is a very popular fallacy abroad—namely, that a person should never drink water with his meals. There is one and only one danger in this. That is the temptation to wash down half masticated food with water. There is one distinct advantage in the digestion of food when water is taken with the meals. As food is swallowed it goes to the stomach in a lump about the consistency of a bread dressing. One can see that it requires a great length of time for the digestive juices to penetrate the mass and come in contact with the food particles. If the food is diluted with water the digestive juices can easily have access to it. In this and in other ways water keeps the digestive tract clean. If people drank enough water there would be no operations for appendicitis.—Kansas Industrialist.

Why Animals Fear Man.

The universal antipathy of animated nature for man can scarcely be explained as the teaching of experience. Man has played his role of universal meddler for too short a time to have impressed himself on the memory of each individual line. There must be something in his attitude of mind that communicates itself to them and induces its proper automatic reflex. The mouse that runs over the lion's foot and gnaws at his bone goes to earth like a flash when man comes near. The bee hangs in the air and then goes on because man stands by her favorite foxglove. Even the witless snake stirs in its sun smitten sleep and is moved by a feeling in the air to seek its den.—London Nation.

Meteors.

The frequency of meteors is at its highest toward the end of July and the beginning of August. During the first six months of the year the total number of meteors observed on a clear, moonless night is only about six an hour. At the beginning of July the frequency increases and attains its maximum, sixty-nine an hour, on Aug. 10. The mean for the entire year is twenty-four meteors an hour.—London Standard.

FIFTY YEARS IN WILDS

CIVILIZATION IS NOW CATCHING UP TO FATHER GROUARD.

Devoted Priest Who Went Into the Peace River Valley When There Were Very Few White Men West of the Red River, Is to Be Given a Great Celebration on His Golden Anniversary.

There is a settlement in the far north which is coming into the public notice very much these days, because it is the head of navigation on Lesser Slave Lake, and is destined, for a time at least, to be a distribution point for the great Peace River valley. The name of the town is Grouard. Almost everybody who is at all interested in the north country, knows of the town; not so many, however, know of the man for whom it was named.

To go back in the records of time forty-nine years is no particular feat for the historian. That is what one might call contemporaneous history. But to go back that far in the history of the far north is to hark clear back to the beginning of things recorded, or nearly so.

The name Grouard has been identified with the development of the Peace River valley for the last forty-nine years, although the town of that name is but a few days old. It is a name which was taken into the north by a man—a very human, manly man, but yet a very good man.

Forty-nine years ago, when Emile Grouard penetrated the loneliness of the northern wilderness to carry the cross to the savage tribesmen, he was a young priest, invested with his holy orders only a year before. He was young in experience, but he was strong in the enthusiasm of his pious mission, and brave in the faith of the greatest missionary church in the world. The perils and hardships of the north were far greater than they are to-day, but where there was an unbaptized heathen to be taught the gospel, the obstacles could not be too great for this zealous missionary.

At that time, nobody but the agents of the Hudson Bay Co., an occasional stray trapper, and one or two representatives of the Government had ever visited the Slave Lake country. The Mounted Police had not yet sprung into existence, and the pale face was a novelty to the Indians, and not a very welcome novelty, either. The civilized world looked on the north as a waste of snow and ice and worthless jungles. It was considered of no commercial interest beyond being an open range for fur-bearing animals.

Nobody but a man with the courage of a great cause could have taken upon himself to pioneer that country with the message of love, and deliberately isolate himself away from even the casual paths of civilized man. But such a zealot was Father Grouard.

Times have changed considerably since then. The Peace River valley to-day is the lodestone which is drawing the pick of the men of the rest of Canada, the Old Country, the United States, and a half dozen other countries. Its population, though small, is growing with surprising rapidity. From several different points, railroad lines are racing to lap its mines of eternal wealth. The tide of civilization is sweeping northward like the rush of the Mississippi broken through its levees. Bishop Grouard is no longer isolated. In the fullness of his years, he can gaze from the head of Lesser Slave Lake in all directions, and see the seed he sowed in his youth bearing rich fruit.

Bishop Grouard, now a venerable, snowy bearded patriarch of 77 years, is about to celebrate the golden anniversary of his priesthood. The event will take place on the 29th and 30th of June. The people of Grouard and the surrounding country are making elaborate preparations to mark it with a fitting celebration for such a significant event in the story of the north country.

This will be the biggest thing that has happened in a festive way so far in the history of Slave Lake; indeed, there may never be anything quite like it again. For these reasons the north folk are taking a tremendous interest in the perfection of the details of the program.

The whites will not be alone in doing honor to the grand old man of the Peace River. Perhaps they will be only a minor feature of the celebration. For the word has been sent out among the remaining fragments of the northern Indian tribes, scattered as they are now, and from every part of the north tribesmen and halfbreeds are preparing to go to Grouard for the anniversary. These people, who have known Bishop Grouard the longest and loved him the best, see more plainly, perhaps, than the palefaces the actual significance of what they are to celebrate. To them the bishop is little less than a deity. And that may be said without impiety, for he has worked so much good among them for more than a generation that to them he is the physical manifestation of the great teaching which he brought.

So the Indians will gather from far and near, and they will pay their respects after their own way, not overlooking, of course, the great barbecue which is to be prepared. It will be the last great assemblage of these rapidly disappearing people, probably, and there is something tragically sad in the realization of this fact, and in the additional fact that it is the power of the influence of one man, and he the representative of the white man's religion, that has brought them together for the final grand pow wow.

The first sawmill and the first grist mill in the far north were built by the bishop, and he it was who first plowed the wonderfully fertile soil of the valley of the Peace. He chose the site of the present town of Grouard and built the first house thereon. He it was who built the first steamboat on Lesser Slave Lake.

The Proof.

"Apropos of international marriages," said a Texas congressman, "I am reminded of a saying of Vicomte l'Oignon.

"'These American heiresses,' grumbled the vicomte to his friend, the Chevalier Tete de Veau, 'are a cold, calculating, designing lot.'

"'Yes?' said Tete de Veau.

"'Yes,' said l'Oignon. 'I've just been accepted by Miss Billie Nare and, though Billie is worth twice as much as Lotta Golde, the latter declines positively to release me from our engagement.'"—Washington Star.

BLUE LAWS OF OLD

Codes That Terrorized New England in Colonial Days.

ENACTED BY THE PURITANS.

Witchcraft Was an Offense Punishable With Death, and It Was a Crime For Husband and Wife or Mother and Child to Kiss on the Sabbath Day.

Blue laws were no joke, though often an object of irony and derision. They were drawn up by Puritan pioneers—a race of stern and inflexible men who in the excess of their religious zeal and enthusiasm adopted such sanctimonious names as Stand-Fast-on-High Stringer, Kill-Sin Smith, More Fruit Fowler, Fight-the-Good-Fight Fowler.

It may be well to say here that each of these names cited was actually given to and borne by a man, and names of the same sort are to be found in the records of New England, says Himmans in his "Blue Laws of Connecticut."

These men went straight to the old Mosaic law of Holy Writ for their code. In fact, each section of the capital laws has its Bible text appended—a grewsome combination of sermon and death warrant.

The original blue laws were those written of New Haven, Connecticut colony, at the first more or less unwritten, or at least unprinted, but systematized and printed by Governor Eaton in 1656. They were enveloped in blue colored paper, whence the popular and subsequently unpopular name.

The Plymouth and Massachusetts colonies also had their blue laws, calculated to send a chill through every human vein. Even New York, Maryland, Virginia and South Carolina—in fact, all the English colonial settlements in seventeenth century America—had laws, orders and resolutions of more or less pronounced indigo tint. But the true blue laws or code was that which terrorized early Connecticut. These, known as capital laws and purporting to punish, according to the penalties prescribed in the Old Testament, those offenses forbidden therein, were enacted in April, 1642. The texts of Scripture on which they are based were added to each law, as dicta probantia, showing the divine authority by which they were defending, and are singular specimens of jurisprudence.

For instance, witchcraft is one of the first offenses taken up. It is enacted that "if a man or woman be a witch or hath consulted with a familiar spirit they shall be put to death." And "if any man steal a man or mankind or selleth him or he be found in his hand he shall be put to death."

Yet the good colonists made slaves of the Pequot Indians as the regulation punishment for breaking these same blue laws.

The Puritan legislators, having disposed of the ordinary everyday crimes, went on in due course to enact the more minute laws, covering every conceivable misdemeanor, from sneezing in church to crossing a stream otherwise than by the licensed ferry.

It reminds one of De Quincey's ironical observations to the effect that the habit of murder if persisted in may lead insensibly to procrastination and Sabbath breaking.

The following examples, transcribed literally from the best authorities on American colonial history, relate mostly to the heinous crime of Sabbath breaking:

"No one shall run on the Sabbath day or walk in his garden or elsewhere except reverently to and from meeting.

"No one shall travel, cook victuals, make beds, sweep house, cut hair or shave on the Sabbath day.

"No woman shall kiss her child on the Sabbath or fasting day.

"The Sabbath shall begin at sunset on Saturday.

"If any man shall kiss his wife or wife kiss her husband on the Lord's day the party in fault shall be punished at the discretion of the court of magistrates."

(Tradition says a gentleman of New Haven after an absence of some months reached home on the Sabbath and, meeting his wife at his door, kissed her with an appetite and for his temerity in violating this law the next day was arraigned before the court and fined for so palpable a breach of the law on the Lord's day.)

"No one shall read common prayer, keep Christmas or saints' days, make minced pies, dance, play cards or play on any instrument of music except the drum, trumpet and jewsharp."

It is said by Peters in his "History of Connecticut" that these laws were the laws made by the people of New Haven previous to their incorporation with Saybrook and Hartford colonies and, as he says, "were very properly termed blue laws—i. e., bloody laws, "for," says he, "they were all sanctified with excommunication, confiscation, fines, banishment, whipping, cutting off the ears, burning the tongue and death."—New York Sun.

In For Life.

A certain English peer drove in a taxicab to Westminster and when he got out gave the driver a very small tip. The driver mistook him for a member of the house of commons and snarled:

"I hope you get turned out next election and don't never get in again!"

"Don't worry, my friend," said the peer as he set off for the house of lords. "Don't worry—I'm in for life."

ANCIENT SURGERY.

They Used a File in Trepanning Operations in Hippocrates' Time.

There is no doubt that some rough form of surgery must have existed from very ancient times, but it is strange to find that so complex and delicate an operation as trepanning is one of the oldest.

So far as actual records go, Hippocrates gives us the earliest account. He wrote treatises on fractures, dislocations and wounds of the head, in which he described the method of procedure to be followed in the case of a fractured skull. His direction was to cut away a piece of bone so that the pressure on the [illegible] ght be relieved.

There are also records about this time and later of a file being used for this purpose, which at a time when anaesthetics were undreamed of must have been, to say the least, painful.

According to Dr. T. Rice Holmes, the operation of removing pieces of bone was performed long before historic times. The effects on the skull are easily seen after death and are visible so long as the bones are preserved.

From inspection of certain skulls of the later stone age in ancient Britain Dr. Holmes has come to the conclusion that some of these had undergone the operation, which must have been performed with a stone implement.—London Standard.

VERY WELL INVESTED.

A Loan That Carnegie's Old Kinsman Didn't Want Repaid.

Andrew Carnegie told the following story with great relish. When his father was leaving his native country to settle in America he borrowed £20 from a relative. The family had an uphill battle on the other side of the Atlantic, but when the tide of prosperity turned with the son he remembered his father's indebtedness and determined to clear it off, together with its accumulated interest. He started by remitting the sum of £20 and for several years sent the same amount, a dividend equal to exactly 100 per cent.

Returning to Scotland, the Pittsburgh ironmaster met his old relative. "Well," said Mr. Carnegie, "having paid up a good deal of the interest, I should like now to clear off the principal."

"Ay, ay, Andrew, dinna ye fash yersel' aboot the loan! A'm pairfectly satisfied with the interest."

"Oh, but I'm rich enough now, I think, to clear off the principal!" replied the millionaire.

"Dinna mind the principal, Andrew," said the relative. "It's very weel invested as it is!"—London Family Herald.

Laziness a Disease.

Laziness should be regarded as a disease when no organic cause of ill health exists, and people should be compelled to get through their allotted work as they would have to take their powders of quinine if they were suffering from influenza. There are scores of self pitying loafers on the sick list of every doctor who need, not drugs, not "treatment" of any sort, but simply work. To prescribe rest cures for this type is directly inciting them to a lazy life, when their dissatisfaction, general seediness and lack of vitality are the direct outcome of having too little to do already. It is not more rest that they require, but compulsory, methodical, regulated work six days out of seven. Work is the best medicine in the world, the ideal stimulant, because it leaves no ill effects.—London Express.

Port Answer.

In his book, "The Spice of Life," Thormanby, the author, says that he knew a learned counsel once who always boasted that he looked twenty years younger than he was, but he had an awful blow one day when he was cross examining a very self possessed young lady. He wanted her to tell him the age of somebody she knew or at least to make a guess at it, but he couldn't get a satisfactory answer from her.

"Come; you can generally form an idea of age from people's looks," he said, coaxingly. "Now, how old would you say I am?"

To which the lady replied, "You might be sixty by your looks; but, judging by the questions you ask, I should say about sixteen."

Shoreless Bolivia.

In territorial extent Bolivia stands third among the republics of South America and is one of the two without a seaport. Her natural outlet to the Pacific ocean was taken by Chile at the end of the war of the Pacific, and today she is shut off from the sea like Switzerland. La Paz, Oruro and Potosi are all cities standing over 12,000 feet above the level of the sea.

Pathetic Case.

Bee Stings.

If stung by a bee rub off the sting instead of pulling it out with the nails of the thumb and forefinger and thus forcing more venom into the wound. Ammonia applied to the wound made by a bee sting will usually afford immediate relief.

HOMES OF THE NORTH.

All Sorts of Nationalities Represented In New Ontario.

Have you ever realized that if you place a compass on Toronto and describe an arc embracing Cochrane to the north and complete the circle to the south the line will pass through the Alleghenies in Virginia? asks Ben Hughes in Toronto Globe. And for the one hundred and fifty miles north of Haileybury there are settlers from the big barns and wide clearings at New Liskeard to the logs shacks and the holes in the forest at Cochrane?

Where do the people come from that pioneer in the wilderness of spruce and jackpine.

As the north reckons, Englehart is an old settlement, and therefore it is to be expected that there will be some trim homes in the vicinity. Nor will you be disappointed. Some years ago an English couple, the husband a gardener in an English country house, settled on one of the concession lines between Englehart and Charlton. The individuality of the man is reflected very closely in the character of the house, the trim, well-kept lawn in front, without which to a certain type of Midlander no house is a home. Opposite him lives a German family with a quiverful of children, raising prodigious amounts of onion and cabbage, and in a roomy, go-as-you-please domicile.

Nearly eighty miles north the Pullman cars attached to the T. & N. O. trains four times a day pass within view of the log shack of yet another German settler. A year or two ago he came here from Brazil, where a great number of Teutons are seeking "a place in the sun." However, this particular family found that it was quite possible to get even too much sun, particularly when it is combined with malaria, and they jumped clear across a continent to northern Ontario. The good wife in the middle of winter sometimes sighs for the langorous heat of South America, but the husband last year raised the champion crop of oats along the T. & N. O. and will certainly stay with the country for some time to come.

In the little settlement of Homer there lives a German-Canadian, Sigismund Freiburger. He built the log house and has lived in it; he has cleared the land around it and raised crops on it; yet on the books of the Ontario Government his name cannot be found, and legally he has no right to either the clearing or the home. It is part of the burden of the settlers in Homer, this uncertainty of tenure of land.

It is work for a man, this settlement of the north in the Arctic cold of the midwinter day, when the settler earns his bread cutting out spruce for pulpwood waist-deep in snow; in the forcing-house heat of the spring, when the winter roads have gone and the cattle must be fed with grain brought in, on the settler's back, over a swamp trail where a horse would founder; in the early summer, when the blackfly and the mosquito make life a burden; in the late summer, when the bush fires flame in the sky; in the fall, the best time of all the year, when man and nature are preparing for the long hibernation.

And why all this travail and heavy labor? For the landless, dollarless man, a home and a stretch of land that he acknowledges no man's right to walk on but himself; for a place where his children can run abroad without inhaling the dust of the streets. Little it may seem to those reasonably well to do, but, oh, how infinitely to be desired by the thousands of town dwellers in the bye-streets where the weekly salary is regularly eaten up by the weekly expenditure, and where the future holds out no hope of protection for a rainy day.

An Ottawa Pioneer.

Back in the early 40's, when the heart of the present city of Ottawa was farm land, and the struggling village along the river was called By-town, that section of the country belonged to the district of Dalhousie, of which Perth was the chief town.

In those early days By-town was fortunate in having a number of able men among its citizens, who devoted a large part of their time to public affairs. Among these was John Scott, a young lawyer who went there from Brockville in 1845, and opened a law office on Rideau street. He immediately interested himself in municipal affairs and was elected the first mayor of By-town, in 1847.

The first town council was composed of men whose names are inseparably connected with the early history of the capital and whose splendid work in those days laid the foundation of the present fine city.

In 1850, By-town was legally incorporated a town, although it had been called such for three years, and in that year John Scott was again elected chief magistrate. Later he was chosen as a candidate for Parliament and elected.

Soon afterward he was appointed county judge for a district in western Ontario and went to Goderich to live. His career, however, was cut short, as he died in 1856 when he was just in the prime of his manhood and when his services were of inestimable value to the country.

Many of the older residents of the capital remember Mayor Scott and always speak in the highest terms of his sterling character, ability and devotion to the welfare of the town during the strenuous days before it was selected as the capital of Canada.

OUR GOLD COINAGE.

It Will Be Some Time Before It Displaces the Familiar "Rag Money."

Canadians now have their first gold coinage—that is, those who are fortunate enough to get hold of them, for no doubt the gold coins will prove shy and elusive as always have been the silver ones or the paper currency.

Will our five and ten dollar gold pieces come into as common use as prevails in the Old Country with respect to sovereigns and half-sovereigns? Possibly not, for some time at any rate, because this generation of Canadians is not accustomed to carry any considerable amount of money in coins. The Englishman has his neat little coin-case, and it is an ordinary practice for him to meet current expenditure by paying out gold. The only coins with which most Canadians are familiar are those of silver, and we only use them as "small change." When small change will not pay the bill we use the notes of the Dominion up to four dollars, and bank notes for larger amounts.

A use of our new gold coins would possess certain advantages, one being its cleanness. The filthiness of much of our paper currency is notorious. It has been complained of time and time again, and several Ministers of Finance, Mr. Fielding in particular, promised to do something to drive dirty paper money out of circulation. The promises have not been fulfilled, and there seems to be more filthy bills in circulation this year than ever before.

Gold will be clean, but it is heavy, and although not a bit harder to spend than a bank note, it is easier to lose.

However, there will be some demand for gold, and the demand will increase, and its use will increase as the people become more accustomed to the prettiest money in the world. Any way, it is a matter of legitimate pride that hereafter the demand of the Canadian people for gold coins will be supplied by a Canadian gold coinage.

There is one thing which the Mint might do to good advantage in imitation of a determination just arrived at across the border. It might make it possible for us to sub-divide equally the five-cent and the twenty-five cent pieces of our present coinage. It is undeniably hard on our poor people that they should have to sacrifice the half-cent in paying three cents instead of two and a half, and thirteen instead of twelve and a half, as is often the case in making their tiny purchases at the stores. There is no reason why we should not have a half-cent coin for the convenience of shoppers. It will be found on enquiry that the approach of civilization generally demands subdivision of the currency coinage. There was a time when two bits, or twenty-five cents, roughly speaking, was the lowest coin in use, west of the Great Lakes. Until quite recently one bit, or ten cents, was the unit of smallness. Following the civilization the railways brought, one cent has now become the smallest coin found in the West. It is fully time that we had half cents for the use of our more crowded population. We cannot, however, see the necessity of adopting the Chinese plan of punching a hole in the half-cent, as is likely to be the case elsewhere. Our ladies are unlikely to carry their coppers through the streets on a string.—Montreal Standard.

In Harness at Ninety.

Hon. C. D. deBoucherville, who celebrated his 90th birthday the other day, is one of the grand old men of Canadian public life. He is still hale and hearty, taking a keen interest in the recent political contest in his native province.

This venerable old man was Premier of the Province of Quebec back in the early '70's. His dismissal from the Government by Governor Letellier is one of the big historic incidents of the province and created a large-sized political controversy for a very considerable period. His administration was followed by that of Ross, Mousseau and Mercier, who rode into power on the Riel excitement and whose extravagance and scandals later were the subject of judicial investigation in the Senate which led to his downfall.

Hon. C. D. deBoucherville was the man who overthrew the whilom idol of the Quebec people and shortly afterwards resigned because the federal Conservative party of that day appointed Sir Adolphe Chapleau Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec. Sturdy independence has characterized the political career of this veteran and as speaker of the Legislative Council, legislative councillor, Prime Minister of the Province of Quebec and now as Dominion Senator, he displays the [illegible] spirit and believes in hewing straight to the line whenever a matter of principle is at stake in public affairs.

Smyrna Wants Trade.

Smyrna, Asia Minor, through the representative of the British Board of Trade there, has expressed in a letter to the Quebec Board of Trade, its desire to open up business connections with Canada, and J. McD. Russell promises to visit Quebec shortly with this end in view.

Smyrna is prepared to export tobacco, opium, figs, raisins, olive oil, soap, nuts, etc. From Canada cheese, butter, leather, tallow, tinned fish, lobsters, sardines, etc., would find a market.

PEOPLING THE LAND.

New Brunswick Has Launched on a Striking Campaign.

New Brunswick has decided to keep young farmers in the east and to encourage immigrants of an agricultural turn to settle on lands as yet unfarmed in that province, says Harold Brown in The Canadian Courier. Spending $12,000,000 to make a national harbor of Courtenay Bay does not epitomise the progressive policy of modern New Brunswick. There, as in all other fertile areas of Canada, the land is the thing. New Brunswick is still a province of large unclaimed areas of arable land. While the mad rush for free land is still on in the valleys of the Saskatchewan; while the trek to the free lands of the Peace River is going ahead of the railroads; while large areas of good land are being settled upon in British Columbia; and while Ontario is still pushing back the unsettled boundaries of its huge clay belt — the Maritime Provinces are beginning to realise that it is better economics for the east and better for the immigrant, to settle land which has lain idle along the Atlantic since the Micmacs first hunted the moose in Nova Scotia.

New Brunswick's forward policy on the land question began in a vigorous protest against the continual exodus of thousands of her best young agriculturists to the west; and against the almost more serious efflux of productive population to the eastern States. Newspapers and Boards of Trade, merchants and manufacturers and people in general made the protest something of an organised howl. The howl became an intention. The intention took form in legislation. The bill to encourage the Settlement of Farm Lands was the result.

Precedent to the bill, however, and the direct cause of it, was a somewhat remarkable paper read at the recent Immigration Conference in Fredericton, by Charles H. McIntyre. Mr. McIntyre was born on a stone-knob farm in New Brunswick. While still a youth he managed to get an education as far as graduating from the University of New Brunswick at Fredericton; after which he studied at Harvard, took a course in American law and set up a legal office in Boston, where he is now a prominent citizen, a past president of the Boston Canadian Club, and as much interested in his native province as though he were still living in Fredericton.

"Speaking generally," he said, "the average young man without funds cannot purchase a farm and from its proceeds redeem himself from debt before he is worn out."

Mr. McIntyre cited the examples of several other countries in dealing with the manless land question: England, Germany, Ireland, Brazil, Australia, New Zealand. The basic principle in all these somewhat varying methods of getting idle people on to idle land, and of building homes for workingmen was—some form of state assistance. Most of the aid given by the state took the form of loans to farmers. Mr. McIntyre outlined three methods of Government aid to potential farmers, and he recommended the appointment of a land settlement commission to be the agency by which any one of the three methods should be carried out.

The first-mentioned was the case of the fund in Government savings banks on provincial credit as advance loans to farmers. The second was provincial debentures. The third was bonds issued by the Land Settlement Commission itself, under provincial guarantee.

The bill of the New Brunswick Legislature, born of this idea set forth by Mr. McIntyre, makes the idea into a fact. It provides for the creation of a "Farm Settlement Board" of three commissioners, one of whom must be the Provincial Superintendent of Immigration, who becomes the secretary of the board.

New Western Senator.

Dr. F. L. Schaffner, M.P., for Souris, Man., it is announced, will be the new Senator for one of the Senatorial districts created by the extension of the Manitoba boundary under the bill of last session. He is one of the sturdy political stalwarts of the Government benches who during the dreary days of opposition won his reward by service of a faithful and effective kind and his translation to the Upper House is now said to be certain. Dr. Schaffner is another Maritime Province boy who has made good and has proven that the provinces down by the sea can produce plenty of brainy men as well as fish. He comes of German and English parentage and was born in 1866 at Williams Town South, Annapolis County, and was educated at Acadia College, N.S., and Trinity College, Toronto, where he took his degree in medicine and surgery. He also took post-graduate courses in New York and Chicago and after moving to Manitoba he made rapid success in his profession and is now health officer for Morton and Boissevain, Manitoba, and also a member of the Board of Health for the prairie province. He has been councillor and mayor of Boissevain. He is an able debater, a well-informed politician and would add materially to the talent of the Senate.

File the Documents.

Sir Joseph Pope and Mr. J. S. Ewart are again eating up newspaper space at a terrific rate in the discussion of "The Canadian Flag." It is about the 'steenth time these valiant wielders of the pen have fought out the question, and the probability is that before 1920 they will have threshed it over many times.

In ordr to save the valuable moments of these eminent gentlemen, we suggest that the present correspondence be filed away in the Dominion Archives. Then, whenever occasion warrants, Mr. Ewart can call attention in the press to "Exhibit 1—B, chap. 792," and Sir Joseph, in wrath, can reply by mentioning "Exhibit 7—B, chap. 19, 602."

The increasing cost of newspaper composition and the growing necessity for a conservation of the [illegible] might call for this reform.—Ottawa Free Press.

Rev. J. F. Ford, an old Peterborough boy, has been elected president of the London Methodist Conference. Rev. Mr. Ford was born in Peterborough, receiving his education here and was for some time in his earlier career connected with the Review, leaving newspaper work to prepare for the ministry. He is a brother of Dr. S. P. Ford, of Norwood, Ont.

Mr. J. D. Kelly, principal of the King Edward Public School, has been appointed junior science teacher in the Kingston Collegiate Institute at an initial salary of $1,300. Peterborough's loss in this case is Kingston's gain.

A CLAY BELT TOWN.

Hearst, Ont., Is Making a Brave Bid For Success.

What towns exist to-day in Ontario's great hinterland are the result of developments that have taken place in the exploitation of her mine or forest wealth. The first thing we ask of a new town in the north is: What mines are there or what pulpwood treasure? But the popular conception of that largely-unknown region is changing. People are beginning to realize that the north has a bigger boast, a grander heritage of which to send despatches to the city papers, and, after all, a more alluring life to offer the restless from other lands. We are beginning to hear of towns being built upon a faith in the resources of the top six inches of the soil, which the new settlers believe possesses more gold than the whole interior of the earth. The latest story comes from Hearst, an ambitious collection of huts that is moving on fast in a faith pinned to the Clay Belt.

The prospector may do much for Hearst, writes a young railway employe in the new burg, 130 miles west of Cochrane, on the N. T. Ry., who seems to have grasped the right view of things—there are rumors of hidden treasures. But, whatever the railroads or prospectors may do for her, Hearst's real future lies in the miles of agricultural land stretching out on every side, even to the Bay. Facts already established about the soil beyond Ontario's present farming district should make the inhabitants of that embryo town truly optimistic. There are no hills or rocks within a reaching radius of Hearst and muskegs are practically unknown. The surface soil is rich in its centuries of forest mould, and below the humus is a valuable subsoil of clay.

Hearst was surveyed last September, but it has not long borne the name. The Provincial Government had decided on establishing a townsite there and had named it Mattawishquia when the National Transcontinental Commission chose the spot for a division point, being located some one hundred and thirty miles west of Cochrane. The commission called it Grant, in honor of the railway's chief engineer, but it was not to be known as that long, for immediately the Postoffice Department objected, on the ground that there is already a Grant in Ontario. A third christening was ordered and the name of the new Provincial Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines was given to the infant town of scarcely two months.

While it is the National Transcontinental Railway that is to make Hearst known, and the agricultural wealth of the clay belt, settlers are confident, will sometime make her great, there are possibilities hidden in the rocks and forest that the little town cannot afford to overlook. Rumors have been current of the discoveries of silver deposits, and there may be other valuable minerals awaiting but capital and enterprise to draw them to the world's market. Besides, the choice timber lands stretching for miles on all sides are a wealth in themselves, and in them are pulp areas and rivers affording opportunities for power.

Hearst hopes to attract people by her climate, which, while it permits of occasional drops in the mercury to 60 degrees below zero in winter, has a beautiful summer of long days and cool evenings. The winter is also a pleasant season, for, although it gets very cold, there are fewer stormy or otherwise disagreeable days than parts of older Ontario experience.

Would Look Queer.

A couple of years ago, when Gus A. Forbes was paying a visit to his people in Calgary, Alta., he played a short season at the request of his friend, Ernest Willis, then manager of the Lyric Theatre, with the Empress Stock Company, of Vancouver, who were filling a summer engagement at that house.

Among other plays produced was The Charity Ball. One matinee, just before ringing up, it was discovered that the lady who played the Mother was not at the theatre, and Gus went to Billy Bernard, the director of the company, to ask him what he was going to do.

"I don't know," said Billy. "Oh, we'll get Mrs. —— to go and read the part. What are you laughing at?" "Nothing," said Gus, "only won't it look rather funny to have some one reading the part of a blind woman?"

Toronto's Roosters.

The proposal to prohibit the keeping of poultry in Toronto, especially roosters, except a majority of a man's neighbors consent, is evoking quite a storm of opposition. It looks as if the advocates of the freedom of the rooster would win out. They are strong on the liberty of the subject in Toronto, and some of the civic representatives think you are coming pretty close upon the time-honored sacredness of the home if you attempt to prevent a man keeping a rooster if he desires. The crowing of a rooster is not perhaps any more of a nuisance than the thumping of a piano by one learning to play, or the unearthly sounds made by some who practice on band instruments, except that it may come at a more unseemly hour.—Stratford Beacon.

An Aylmer Cat's Bright Idea.

A cat has developed a liking for frogs. Daily Miss Pussy can be seen laying in wait for a Canadian Bandsman. She must have had French ancestors, or possibly a real Parisian transplanted, to have a fondness for frogs' legs. She don't seem to be particular whether they are front or hind legs—they all go the same route.—East Elgin Reformer.

A Freak Base Hit.

"A freak play robbed Doc Casey's Toronto team of a game in the Eastern league. Casey's catching staff was so crippled that the plump little veteran was compelled to don the wind pad himself. Casey is short and quite stout. But he was doing fairly well until the tenth inning, when Rochester had a runner on third with two out. A wild pitched ball struck the ground in front of Casey and disappeared. The runner hesitated until he saw Casey making frantic efforts to get the ball from under his protector; then he came home with the winning run just as Casey located the sphere, which had gone under the protector and wedged itself past the elastic belt tightly."

Not Fully Tested.

"What an absurd little watch!"

"It keeps very good time."

"Ah, it may do now, but wait till the longer days come." — London Punch.

Good Advice.

Sir Edward Clouston, like many other Canadians, has learned that nothing ties up a railway like a driving snowstorm. A few years ago in February, the Ontario railways were almost completely tied up with one of the worst blizzards experienced in years. At that time Sir Edward had an important engagement in Ottawa, and although the weather prophets forecasted bad snowstorms, he decided to make the trip by the C.P.R., says The Toronto Star Weekly.

The train crew had a desperate fight to make headway from the time they left Montreal, and finally, when three miles from one of the smallest stations on the line, the engine went dead.

Sir Edward and Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, the president of the C.P.R., were warm friends, so when Sir Edward was informed that there was to be a serious delay he resolved to telegraph Sir Thomas.

A brakeman started out to make his way three miles to the telegraph office, and Sir Edward gave him a personal message to the C.P.R. president. He also insisted that the brakeman wait for a reply. His message was as follows:

"Sir Thomas Shaughnessy,
"President C.P.R.:
"Am tied up in a snowstorm in one of your trains. Three miles from nowhere. What would you advise?
"Clouston."

On account of the snowstorm, there were delays in transmitting the message and the reply, which reached the snow-bound knight three hours afterwards. It was clear, and to the point:

'Sir Edward Clouston:
"C.P.R. train, three miles from nowhere:
"Advise patience and prayer.
"Shaughnessy."

Half a Saw-Horse.

Mr. Abe Bambridge, an expert in the rearing of horse flesh, sold a splendid black team to Mr. Charles Edgar last Friday. He is reticent about the price, but they did the deal in twenty minutes and "split the difference" on a half a sawhorse, which, being interpreted is "five bucks," in horse talk.—Harriston Review.

Cigars in Great Britain.

A Bank of England note twisted into a rope can sustain a weight of [illegible] pounds.

Major Young has received notice that the date of mobilization at Peterborough of the 24th Field Battery, C.F.A. is Friday, June 21st, at 2 p.m., and not June 22, as generally understood. The battery will go to Peterborough for 16 days camp by the C.P.R.

It is announced that the new wharf on George street will be completed about August 1st. This will be good news for steamboat men and shippers.

THREE PUPILS AT SCHOOL

The First holds his book too close and mistakes figures on the black-board—he is near-sighted—that is why he sits in the front seat.

The Third Pupil stoops awkwardly over the book because he does not see easily.

The other pupil sits erect to study, sees the figures on the black-board easily accurately and does home-work easily. Properly fitted glasses help all his school work and make his examinations successful.

We examine many pupils and do not supply glasses unless necessary to their school work.

New Policeman Appointed.

At a meeting of the Police Commissioners on Saturday, the resignation from the force of Mr. J. McHarry was accepted, and from a number of applications, Jas. F. Reid was appointed a constable at an initial salary of $600. His honor Judge Huycke presided at the meeting, and Magistrate Dumble and Mayor Bradburn were present.

A Narrow Escape.

A Smith farmer and his neice had a narrow escape from serious injury or death on Saturday evening, when attempting to cross the railway track while driving up George street their vehicle was struck by a train. The pilot of the engine turned the buggy over and threw the occupants out, neither of them suffering more than a few bruises and minor injuries.

A George-st. Melee.

A mix-up that attracted a considerable crowd occurred on Saturday night about 10.30 o'clock in the market arcade. In the melee George Gauthier, a driver for the Peterborough fuel and cartage company, had his face badly cut. P. C. Brown soon arrived upon the scene, and the crowd dispersed at once. No police court action resulted, and no arrests were made.

Natural Cure for Catarrh Obviates Taking Drugs

It Has Superseded the Old-Fashioned Stomach-dosing Remedies, and Invariably Cures Quickly.

It was their inability to reach the real source of catarrh and bronchitis that caused the medical profession to drop liquid cough medicines and adopt "Catarrhozone" instead. Catarrhozone provides a method of breathing right into the lungs certain rare medicinal vapors which are so healing and comforting as to entirely banish coughs, catarrh and throat trouble in a very short time.

The most wonderful thing about Catarrhozone is that no matter where the germs of bronchitis or catarrh are hidden, Catarrhozone will reach and destroy them.

"About five years ago I took a cold in the head and Catarrh set in. It kept increasing by leaps and bounds. I kept putting off getting anything until at last I found I would have to. After trying several things I heard of your remedy, Catarrhozone and procured a bottle and began using it. I was not long in finding out I had struck the right thing. I am recommending Catarrhozone to all who have catarrh, etc.

"(Signed) Everton L. Wassan, Blair P. O., Queen's Co., N.B.

Catarrhozone has made an astonishing record of cures. Its method is right; no drugs; just healing balsamic vapors, that bring instant relief to Catarrh and all throat, bronchial and chest colds. Get the large size, last two months, is sure to cure you, price $1.00; smaller size, 50c; sample or trial size, 25c. All dealers, or the Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N.Y and Kingston, Ont.

Dam Must Go.

Some time ago the Times published an article about the Campbellford dam and its proposed removal by the Government an explained that such a course was objected to by the citizens of that town. The Hon. Frank Sochrane after hearing their case has decided that the dam must go. The Government are to help the manufacturers to install electrical machinery.

A Lively Runaway.

A lively scene was enacted yesterday morning about a quarter after five, when a runaway horse attached to a light buggy colided with a horse and light wagon. The accident occurred at the corner of King and Water streets and in the collision both conveyances were overturned. The driver of the light wagon was slightly injured and both vehicles were considerably damaged. Neither of the horses involved were noticeably hurt.

Met a Bear.

Lindsay Warder: The other day, while James Bardo and his son, of North Harvey, were strolling in the woods, they were surprised to see right in front of them a huge black bear. The son was a bit frightened the bear was not, and seemed to know that Jim had no gun, so looked at them both, with its head tipped to one side, and after a few minutes it bowed its head and shook its tail, and bid them both au revoir.

Garbage Complications.

Complications in the garbage situation which may necessitate further action by the Council have arisen through the new method of collection. It appears that formerly certain men collected the garbage, both inside and outside of the district directly affected by the new system, as food for their hogs. Now that in the central district the garbage is being taken away by the city collectors the other men have ceased operations, leaving those residing outside the collection districts without any means of removing the garbage. Considerable inconvenience has been caused because of this.

Launches at the Lift Lock.

Arrangements have been made at the Lift Lock, whereby launches will be locked at 8 and 11 o'clock each morning and at 3 and 6 o'clock each afternoon. These hours apply to launches travelling up the canal or down. Owners of these crafts will appreciate the privilege, which is now theirs, and it is hoped that none will abuse it. Next to a baulky engine, a launch owner generally opines that a lockmaster is the meanest of the mean, but as there are always two sides to the story, the launch owners in this case can facilitate matters considerably by following rules and regulations and co-operate with the men at the lock.

Narrowly Escaped Drowning.

A letter to Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Powell from their daughter, Miss Bessie Powell, tells of an accident at Gravenhurst on Thursday of last week, in which Miss Powell and several friends were the principals.

They had been taken for a trip on the water, and when quite a distance from shore their launch struck a rock and water began to enter the craft. It so happened, however, that a passing canoeist came to their aid, and taking away as many as possible from the launch, he paddled in all haste to the shore. By quick work to and from the launch all of the occupants were taken ashore, shortly before the boat went down.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

Peterborough ministers, seem to make their mark in other places.

The 90th anniversary of Bridge St. Methodist Church, of Belleville, is being celebrated in that city.

The White Caps cannot get out of the losing groove. Releasing the men does not seem to help much.

Kingston is being troubled with high water to a greater degree than this city. Some of the highways in the vicinity of that city are reported to be three feet under water.

Ringling Bros. circus is performing in Belleville to-day. Peterborough seems to have been left in the lurch as far as good circuses this year. Its parade is three miles long.

The garbage situation seems to present new difficulties to the City Fathers and local residents: but it must be remembered that other cities who have now a perfect system, went through the same mill.

Laid at Rest.

A most impressive ceremony took place at St. John's church yesterday in honor of the late Rolland Howden. The service was very largely attended and those present evinced a marked regret for the demise, so sudden and unexpected, of the late Rolland Howden. Canon Davidson assisted by the Rev. Mr. Sawers conducted the funeral service.

The pall bearers were Messrs. N. Wilson, A. Hall, P. Stock, H. Hill, B. Cook and E. Kinney. Among the large number of floral tributes was a beautiful anchor from the Y.M.C.A. and a fine cross from the P.C.I.

A Double Bereavement.

The sad intelligence was received in the city yesterday concerning the deaths of Mr. Bartholmew Hayes and his daughter, Miss Norah Hayes both of whom died in Rochester on Saturday.

The late Miss Norah Hayes was in her 20th year and her demise was the direct outcome of a prolonged illness. The knowledge of her father's illness, which was caused by an attack of paralysis, is thought to have brought on a relapse, which resulted in her death on Saturday morning.

The late Bartholmew Hayes succumbed on Saturday afternoon, to the effects of a paralytic stroke which he suffered on Wednesday night. Deceased is survived by a sorrowing wife, five daughters and three sons, namely, Mrs. Herbert Fitzgerald, of this city; Mrs. E. J. Killen, the Misses Bessie, Mamie and Pearl Hayes, all of Rochester. The three sons are Dennis, Leonard and Basil Hayes, all residing in Rochester.

The funeral will take place this afternoon from the family residence, 175 Averill avenue, Rochester.

Mr. Daniel Hayes of Otonabee and Miss Hayes of "Shilhereen," left yesterday to attend the funeral.

The late Mr. Hayes and his deceased daughter, Miss Norah Hayes, were well and favorably known in this city, having resided here prior to their departure to take up residence in Rochester.

Amalgamation of Two Companies

THE Renfrew Flour Mills, Limited, has been incorporated under the Ontario Company's Act to take over the plant of the Renfrew Roller Mills, Limited, at Renfrew, Ont., and the waterpower, flour mill, elevator, warehouses, electric light plant, etc., of the Milling Co., at Pakenham, Ont.

The mills of the company are equipped with modern machinery and are in a high state of efficiency.

The Flour Mill at Renfrew has a capacity of 250 barrels a day.
The Flour Mill at Pakenham has a capacity of 250 barrels a day.
The Elevators at Renfrew have a capacity of 75,000 bushels.
The Elevator at Pakenham has a capacity of 25,000 bushels.

A Valuable Asset

The waterpower at Pakenham is a very valuable asset of the Company. Waterpowers are difficult to secure in Ontario on account of the new government regulations which are designed to place the control of waterpowers with the municipalities and under the supervision of the Hydro-Electric Commission. The fact that the waterpower at Pakenham will be owned absolutely by the Renfrew Flour Mills, Limited, makes stock in the Company even more desirable. The waterpower at this point is not only amply sufficient for all requirements, but for the future needs of the company, should it be deemed advisable to increase the milling capacity of the Pakenham plant.

The Renfrew Flour Mills, Limited, takes over two well established businesses. The company is thus in a position to earn an exceedingly good profit right from the start.

In fact the average yearly net profits for the past five years of one of the mills has been practically sufficient to pay the dividend on the full amount of the preference stock that will be issued.

The Company has no bonded indebtedness. The Preference Shares, therefore, are preferential, both as to assets and to dividend of 7% per annum.

For the guidance of investors, we offer the following examples to show the amount of stock various sums will procure.

$500 procures $500 par value preference stock and $125 par value common stock.

$12.50 per share on August 1, 1912.

We advise immediate subscription on the part of prospective investors, as the shares in this latest enterprise of Mr. Thomas A. Low's are certain to be taken up very rapidly, on account of the confidence in which Mr. Low, and those associated with him, are held by the investing public.

Mr. Low's Letter

Following is a letter from Mr. Low, regarding the new company:

International Bond Corporation, Limited,
Ottawa, Ont.

DEAR SIRS:

With reference to the Renfrew Flour Mills, Limited, the Company of which I have the honor of being President, I desire to say that under the same management, as has been in charge of The Renfrew Roller Mills Co., Limited, I believe the new Company will prove a very successful undertaking. The Renfrew Roller Mills Co., Limited, under the management of Mr. W. T. Guest, has been a great success. Almost every year from its inception the Company has paid annual dividends to its shareholders of ten per cent., and have as well laid up a large rest account. I am glad to be able to inform intending purchasers of stock in The Renfrew Flour Mills, Limited, that Mr. Guest has consented to accept the management of the new Company. I have no hesitation in saying that I believe the Company with the increased capacity will achieve even greater success than the old Company. Mr. Guest is thoroughly familiar with both the mills of the Company. He has been in charge of the mill at Renfrew since it was erected, and the mill at Pakenham, he owned and operated successfully for several years. You will therefore, see that the Company has been very fortunate in securing the services of so capable a manager. I have no hesitation in saying to any person who is looking for a good, sound and safe investment, that I believe the stock of The Renfrew Flour Mills, Limited, will prove very profitable.

Yours truly,
THOS. A. LOW.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION OPENS || Chairman Rosewater Refuses to Accept Roosevelt Scheme to Refuse Votes to All Contested Delegates || 150,000 VISITORS IN CHICAGO

ROOSEVELT WON'T RESORT TO FORCE BUT STEAL DELEGATES FROM TAFT

Republican Party's Most Bitter Struggle Will Be Decided at Convention Which Was Declared Open at Noon To-day---Atmosphere Surcharged With Excitement and Electricity.

Chicago, June 18.—The convention which will decide the future of the Republican party in the United States as well as the fortunes of Theodore Roosevelt and William Taft opened promptly at noon to-day. The tension resulting from the close and bitter struggle between the erst while friends was unexampled. Electricity surcharged the atmosphere. No one knew when a bolt would strike.

A final round-up of the Roosevelt chieftains was held in Senator Dixon's room at 9 o'clock. The plans of the leaders was modified so that all suggestions at physical force to secure control of the convention were abandoned. They plan to make the fight entirely along Parliamentary lines, and insist that even though they may not have control of any of the committees, they will still be able to nominate Roosevelt.

McGovern Displaces Borah.

The Roosevelt people have decided on Governor McGovern of Wisconsin instead of Senator Borah as their candidate for temporary chairman, according to a statement just made by Borah to the newspaper men.

This convention will be the first time in the history of the Republican National Conventions that no picture of a Republican President hangs in the hall where the party is nominating its candidate for that office.

It was at 10.15 a.m. that the band in the Coliseum began to play "My Country 'Tis of Thee," and the people began to stream into the Coliseum.

Hard to Get Order.

The first business was the usual announcement that a flashlight picture of the convention was to be taken. Immediately after Chairman Rosewater's gavel fell at 12.02, an attempt was made to tell the delegates that this was the program. But few heeded the Sergeant-at-Arms as he tried to make himself heard and finally Stone had to order the police to clear the aisles.

Rosewater kept pounding away with his gavel, but the noise from the delegates was so great not one-fourth of the audience could hear the sound of the blows falling on the mahogany pedestal.

The First Sensation.

A sensation was caused at 11.45 by the announcement that the Wisconsin delegation had decided to vote unanimously for Governor McGovern, of that State, for temporary chairman. This was a distinct acquisition to the Roosevelt forces, as the Wisconsin delegation had heretofore refused point blank to consider any amalgamation whatever with the Roosevelt forces.

VANCOUVER FEELS ERUPTION

Ashes From Volcanoe In Alaskan Islands Felt In City

Vancouver, June 17.—Vancouver has suffered to some extent from a volcanic eruption. It was a long distance manifestation of nature's anger, for the scene of the disturbance was some seventeen or eighteen hundred miles away, among the islands of Alaska.

For a whole day the sky was overcast and the atmosphere was impregnated with sulphur fumes which caused considerable inconvenience in breathing to those who are inclined to be asthmatic.

Brass and nickel fittings on automobiles, and carriages, were also affected, in many instances being badly tarnished within a few hours after having been thoroughly burnished.

It is reported that in some sections of the city a fine ash collected on door steps and roofs to a noticeable extent and drifted in at window casements.

The late heavy rain will probably have the effect of clearing the air and putting an end to the city's emulation of Naples when Vesuvius is having a busy day.

MONTREAL GETS MANY MILLIONS

In All About Fifty Millions Is To Be Used.

A SPOUT FOR HOPPER

Ten to Twelve Million Dollars to be Expended on Harbor in Six Years—Improving the Shipping Facilities Enormously.

Montreal, June 17.—Forty million dollars will be expended in Montreal by the railways within the next two or three years. This large outlay is being undertaken by the Canadian Northern, the Grand Trunk Pacific, and the Canadian Pacific Railways, with the Canadian Northern assuming over half the expenditure. With the formal acceptance of the plans for the tunneling of the mountain the Canadian Northern Railway expects to commence operations early in the spring upon the gigantic task which they have undertaken. Briefly summarized their plan to tunnel the mountain a distance of some three miles, build new terminals, and a hotel in the heart of the city, and carry their tracks by means of an overhead railway down to the waterfront. In addition they are laying out a new surburban town at the back of the mountain, which they expect to serve with a new rapid transit tunnel service.

G. T. R. and C. P. R.

The Grand Trunk Railway expect to spend about $9,000,000 and $10,000,000 in the elevation of their tracks and in the building of a new station. The bulk of the outlay is in connection with the elevation of their tracks, as these cover a distance of some four miles and traverse a thickly populated section of the city. The Canadian Pacific Railway have already commenced the expenditure of a sum of money which will exceed $5,000,000. This money is being spent in the erection of new terminal facilities at both Windsor street and Place Vigor, new office buildings for the Dominion Express Company on St. James' street, and certain improvements in connection with their docking and harbor facilities. Thus, the three great railways combined will spend in the neighborhood of $40,000,000 within the next two or three years, an expenditure which will naturally mean a great deal to the city of Montreal.

Work on the Harbor.

In addition to the money which is being expended by the three railroads the government, through the Montreal Harbor Commissioners, are planning the expenditure of from $10,000,000 to $12,000,000 in the next half dozen years. For the past three years the Harbor Commissioners have been spending in the neighborhood of $2,000,000 per year, and as $18,000,000 was voted by the government for harbor improvements, the next few years will see the expenditure of the remaining $12,000,000. This sum added to the $40,000,000 which the railroads are spending, means that upwards of $50,000,000 will be expended in Montreal in the immediate future. As these improvements and expenditures usually exceed the estimates it is not improbable that $60,000,000 will be nearer the mark than $50,000,000.

Improved Facilities.

The expenditure of these enormous sums for the railroads and Harbor Commissioners is significant of the future of Montreal, and Canada as a whole. Within the next two or three years several steamboat lines have made use of the St. Lawrence river, the two most important being the Canadian Northern and the White Star line of boats. In addition, practically every steamship company using the St. Lawrence has largely increased the number of its boats, the whole of which goes to show that the shipping companies share with the railroad companies their confidence in the future of Montreal. The terse remark made two years ago by Sir William Van Horne, that "Canada has developed the hopper at the expense of the spout" is becoming less applicable. Improved railway facilities in Montreal, improved docking facilities, more elevators, more boats and a deepened, well lighted, well buoyed river channel are some of the ways by which the railroad companies and the Harbor Commissioners of Montreal are providing for a larger "sprout." When the fifty odd millions are expended this "spout" will probably more nearly correspond to the "hopper".

KAISER REAL BUSINESS END

Performs The Duties Of Foreign Secretary Of State

WEAR BRIGHT UNIFORM

And Receives Ambassadors and Dictates the Foreign Policy of the Empire—It Is He Who Takes Decisive Steps and Frequently Causes Serious Trouble.

Berlin, June 17.—People who do not know Berlin, and who refer to Wilhelmstrasse when speaking of the German ministry for foreign affairs, generally imagine that the ministry is a magnificent, modern, ten-storey high building, where an almighty secretary of state controls and decides German policy.

The truth is that the ministry for foreign affairs is not the place where German foreign politics are settled. The Kaiser's ministers have no responsibility to the Reichstag, and consequently the foreign minister, unless he has an over-ruling personality of his own, is nothing but an official with a glittering uniform, who received ambassadors and ministers, signs letters and documents, and is sometimes consulted by the emperor—although his advice is never followed when it conflicts with the ideas of his master.

Germany's real and only foreign secretary is the Kaiser, and Germany's foreign policy is exactly what the Kaiser wishes it to be. It is he who takes decisive steps and it is he who has often caused serious trouble by simply forgetting to let his advisers know what he has done in paramount state business. When travelling, politically in England, Russia, Italy or Austria, or even when taking holiday in Corfu or in Scandinavian waters, the Kaiser habitually has important conversations with foreign sovereigns statesmen and ministers, and these conversations are used by him to develop his foreign policy. Whether this policy is approved by the imperial chancellor or not is not a matter with which the Kaiser is much concerned. The Chancellor is an official appointed by him and dependent upon him, and he must either approve of what his master does or leave his job. Prince Bulow is one of the German chancellors who finally chose the second alternative. But there are no Bismarks in modern Germany.

As a matter of fact the imperial chancellor is the assistant foreign minister. Officially he stands for the Kaiser's policy. He is called on for advice on important matters, but his principal business is to represent and defend the Kaiser in the Reichstag. The imperial chancellor's position has, owing to the overpowering personality of the present emperor, been reduced to little more than that of a consulting secretary. That of the secretary of state for foreign affairs has still more been increased in importance. It will be remembered that the recent appointment of Baron Marschall von Bieberstain to the German embassy in London was decided entirely by the emperor, who only called the chancellor and Herr von Kiderlin Waechter to Carlsruhe to sign the decree appointing the new ambassador.

GOV. GENERAL MAY RESIGN

Resignation Due To Private Arrangements

RUMORED IN LONDON

This Step Would Not Be as a Result of Duchess' Illness — Lord Dudley Would Probably Succeed Him.

London, June 11.—The Manchester Guardian, which on previous occasions has given proof to an inside knowledge of Canadian affairs, says: "Duke of Connaught may not wish to retain the Canadian Governor-Generalship beginning the end of the present year. No definite decision has yet been come to, nor has the illness of the Duchess anything to do with this meditated step, which, it is understood, is due entirely to private arrangements made several months ago. It is also rumored that whenever the Duke retires he will be succeeded by Lord Dudley, recently relieved of the Governor-Generalship of Australia. There is good reason for saying that before offering him this appointment in 1908 the government had decided that on a vacancy in the Governor-Generalship of India or Canada occurring Dudley should be asked to accept it." William Humble Ward, second early of Dudley, was born in 1867, and after leaving Eton travelled around the world, visiting the various colonies and acquiring at first hand a pretty intimate acquaintance of overseas conditions of that day. For several years he served as parliamentary secretary of the Board of Trade, no sinecure, and on the outbreak of the South African war he joined the Imperial yeomanry acting as adjutant-general. From 1902 to 1906 he was closely identified with Ireland, first as Lord Lieutenant and later as Chairman of Congested Districts Board and in the latter year was appointed to Australia. On his retirement at the end of July of last year the Earl of Dudley made a somewhat leisurely return trip through Canada. He is a Conservative.

BERESFORD WARNS BRITAIN OF MEDITERRANEAN POLICY

Says Nation Nust Decide If It Will Permit the Weakening of the Main Link of the Empire's Defence--Placing Responsibility on France Is an Admission of Weakness

London, June 18.—Lord Charles Beresford, in a letter to the press this morning, strongly criticizes the policy of reducing the British naval strength in the Mediterranean, and argues that the adoption of the program submitted three years ago, estimated to cost $40,000,000, would have prevented the present crisis. Lord Charles says:

"The Government having apparently determined virtually to abandon the naval defence of the Mediterranean, what the nation must decide, and decide quickly, is whether or not it will permit the weakening to the breaking point of what is the main link in the defence of the Empire."

Calls It Admission of Weakness.

He contends that the general strategical disposition has now as its objective neither France nor Russia, but another foreign power, and that power alone. He holds that the proposal that England's responsibilities in the Mediterranean should be developed upon France is a gross and palpable admission of weakness, adding:

"There are two courses open to the country. One is the maintenance of the naval supremacy of Great Britain. The alternative is to resign our naval supremacy, and give up the keys of the stragetic centre of the Empire and rely upon the system of alliances, which has always proved disastrous, and which will prove equally fatal in the future."

"The navy," he goes on to say, "is undermanned, twenty thousand short of the number of men required to place it on an effective footing."

Says the Mediterranean Policy Will Be Altered.

London, June 18.—The Daily Express announces on the authority of a correspondent, whose sources of information, it asserts, are undoubted, that the Government will alter its policy regarding the Mediterranean, having been convinced by Lord Kitchener's stand against the weakening of either the land or the sea forces.

FOUL PLAY SUSPECTED

Brother Of Hamilton Man May Have Been Murdered

Hamilton, June 19.—The suspicion of foul play in connection with the death of Francis Donaldson, 25 years of age, has resulted in an investigation being opened at Mission City, B.C., near where the young man met his death on Saturday week. He had been living there for the last five years since leaving this city. The dead man came from Binbrook to Hamilton before his departure for the west. He leaves parents in Binbrook, and his brother, Charles Donaldson, is well known in this city. He holds a position as foreman with the Bell Telephone Company.

CHICAGO IS MUCH EXCITED 150,000 VISITORS THERE

General Opinion is That Republican Convention Opening To-Day Will Be the Most Interesting in History

Chicago, June 18.—The number of visitors to Chicago for the Republican National Convention was estimated last night to be well above 150,000. Every hotel in the down town district was crowded to its capacity, and late crowds were directed to outlying hostelries. Early to-day, with not more than ten exceptions, the full list of delegates and alternates had been accounted for.

The various State delegations and accompanying friends crowded the hotel corridors, and these, with the throngs of sightseers, crowded the hotel corridors and street corners long after midnight.

Everywhere there was an air of excitement and expectancy over the first day's proceedings, and the general opinion prevailed that the stage was set for the most interesting convention of the kind within the memory of most of those who had come to attend it.

PUBLIC OPINION

(Editor Morning Times)

Sir,—Allow me to congratulate you, Mr. Editor, on the stand which you are taking in regard to the moving picture shows. I was told that you were being boycotted by these people as a result, and I hasten to say that I hope you will continue to insist on forcing these places to observe the law. I hope the Times will report any violation of the law when it occurs, so that absolute safety to life may be assured.

A SOURCE OF REVENUE.

(Editor Morning Times)

Sir,—Through the medium of your columns I desire to make a suggestion as to the use of the large market hall might be put to. Now that the cost of the Opera House for one night is so enormous as to be prohibitive to many societies, would it not be a wise action for the Council to fix a certain moderate rental per night on the market hall and advertise it as open for engagements, defining what class of entertainment or societies might have the use of the hall? This would be a considerable source of revenue.

—Citizen.

PROTESTANTS WILL RESENT IT.

(Editor Morning Times)

Sir,—I see the Examiner has waxed quite wrathy over the fact that Mr. McClellan recently saw fit to give a party of tourists, who were standed for want of steamboat accommodation, a lift a few days ago to their destination, by Government boat. Your contemporary attempts to mislead by distorting facts. Instead of the Bishop getting a "lift," Mr. R. R. Hall, the then Liberal M. P., and Mr. Stratton placed a Government steamer at his disposal, not only on that occasion, but on another occasion also, when the Government boat, instead of giving His Lordship a "lift" carried passengers to and from the picnic grounds in opposition to the regular boats. It was only when the steamboat men kicked that the practise was discontinued.

The Examiner, in its desire to belittle Protestants, and severe the Roman Catholic Bishop and priests, is going a step too far. Protestants will surely resent this attitude of pandering to the Church at their expense.

GRADUATION EXERCISES OF THE LOCAL NURSES

The graduation exercises for the local graduating nurses of Nicholls Hoskital were held last evening in the Collegiate Assembly Hall. Mr. Richard Hall acted as chairman for the occasion.

The graduating nurses were Miss Reid, Miss Wann, Miss Rosamond and Miss Telford, who received their diplomas and medals of graduation. Miss Mann also won the prize for the bandaging contest which was held during the course of examinations.

The Rev. H. J. Keith gave a fine address to the nurses, and Dr. J. H. Cameron is a splendid speech congratulated the graduates. Dr. Carmichaeli with a few suitable remarks presented the prize for the bandaging contest to Miss Mann.

A splendid musical program was contributed by Miss Pearl Brock, Miss Chalmers, Miss Florence Scott, and Mr. Asa Huycke. The attendance was large.

HIGHWAY MEN GET HEAVY SENTENCE

Vancouver, June 18.—One of the most severe sentences ever imposed by a local magistrate was meted out to Frank Nelson and William Davidson, who pleaded guilty to the charge of having waylaid John Larson near the corner of Columbia and Cordova streets at an early hour this morning and robbing him of $30.

The men were given 10 years each in the penitentiary, with ten lashes after the first month and ten lashes after the first year. In passing sentence Magistrate Shaw read a severe homily on the seriousness of their offence, and remarked that they were old enough to realize the character of the crime they were committing, and that he proposed to do his part to discourage hold-ups in the future. The men seem to be of the regulation vagrant type, and are each about 30 years old.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the State's area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundred of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 66 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company, Kissimmee [illegible] It is in the Southern portion of Osceola county, and is noted for its fertility and [illegible] of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. Law, Ontario Manager, 40 Cecil street, Toronto. D-6 in J4

There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 85c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. WHEN COAL WAS FORMED.

Curious Condition the Earth Was In at That Period.

What is said to be the strangest period through which this earth has passed is the one that was responsible for the formation of coal. The planet is described as being at that time flat and smooth as to surface and peculiar as to vegetation. The continents were just beginning to rise above the ocean, and the land had not yet become dry. Mountain ranges had not arisen from the swamps, and the atmosphere was thick with fog. In this state of affairs there sprouted and flourished the plants which were later to furnish the world with its coal supply.

These plants grew as big as our largest trees, taking deep root in the morass and flourishing like the lush grasses in moist meadow land, developed into the strange shapes now found in tropic vegetation. The forests looked, scientists state, like dense growths of weeds, rushes and enormous ferns. Some of them grew in the shape of cacti, having spines all over them. This kind of vegetation was very rich in carbon, which it derived from the warm, moist atmosphere. Then the millions of years rolled by, the forests of giant weeds were buried by deposits of earthly material, and the chemical change took place which slowly changed them into coal. This process stopped with the carboniferous age, so that when the present supply of coal is dug out of the ground there will be no more.—New York Sun.

A RUSSIAN ROYAL TRAGEDY.

Czar Boris and the "Bell With the Ear Torn Off."

The kamaoulie koloko, or "bell with the ear torn off," had a most romantic history. In the sixteenth century Prince Dimitri, the rightful heir to the Russian throne, was deposed by a revolt led by Boris Godunoff, who was afterward proclaimed czar. The seat of government was then at Uglich, and thither Dimitri was sent in order that he might remain under the direct observation of the usurper.

Boris, fearing the populace might awake to the justice of the claims of the young prince, planned the assassination of Dimitri. He was one day stabbed in a courtyard. None of the bystanders showed any disposition to aid him. A priest, however, from the cathedral belfry saw the crime and immediately began tolling the great bell, which was held sacred and rung only on unusual occasions, such as a coronation or the death of a czar.

Furious at this tacit expression of reproach, the czar commanded that the priest should be tortured and executed and that the bell should be taken down and placed beside the body of its ringer. This order was fulfilled, and the bell was beaten with clubs by the entire populace, the Czar Boris being at their head.

The czar then decreed that the bell should be exiled to Tobolsk and that one of its hangers be removed to indicate its disgrace.—Harper's Weekly.

TAXING POLITICIANS' MINDS.

The forthcoming elections in Saskatchewan are taxing the minds of the Liberal politicians to finds reasons why they should continue to claim the support of the electors of that province. Reciprocity in many ways has been tried, but its advocates know quite well the doctrine is as dead as Queen Anne. Last week the gospel of Sir Wilfrid received a further blow when it was proved that the farmers and ranchers north and south of Regina were receiving six cents a pound for cattle on the hoof, whilst the price in Chicago was only seven, and the one cent difference in price would be more than eaten up in the freight between the two points.

RESTRICTED FRENCH TEACHING

The new regulations which are to govern public school instruction in French districts in Ontario should be considered in connection with the fact that there is an organized movement, directed from Quebec, having for its object the Gallicization of Ontario, through the instrumentality of the French language. In the light of this fact, it is the duty of all who desire that this province shall continue to be British rather than French, and its people English-speaking instead of French speaking, to oppose unnecessary concessions by any Ontario Government to French racial sentiment or lingual ambition.

In the Hamilton Herald's opinion there is not much cause for criticism in the new regulations. French is to be the language of instruction in the first form of the schools in French districts; after that its use ceases. This is fair. Many of the children in these districts cannot speak English when they enter the schools, and much trouble is saved by using their own language in teaching them during the first year. In a year they are sure to acquire sufficient familiarity with the English to enable them to continue their school course with that language alone. The basis of the new regulation is that French is to be used as a temporary expedient only, the main object of instruction being an English education.

It is satisfactory to note that the supervising inspectors of the French districts are men whose native language is English, although they are familiar with both languages. It would have been even better to have all the inspectors men of English speech and British extraction.

THE BELGIAN PROBLEM.

The attempted revolution in Belgium is of all recent movements of the kind, perhaps the most obscure and complicated in its causes and circumstances and the most paradoxical. In race the people are pretty evenly divided, the Flemings being in a small majority. Education is universal, free and compulsory, though it cannot be efficient, since of the population above seven years of age, more than one-fifth cannot read and write. The school trouble arises from the fact that there is a dual system of schools, secular and clerical, and each commune decides for itself which it will have; and the Socialists contend that all clerical schools should be supported by the church alone, while the Clericals insist that they should be supported by the State just as the secular schools are, since they are doing the work of the latter, and are under the same state supervision and control.

The controversy over the franchise arises from the fact that while the suffrage is universal and even compulsory, there is a system of dual and even triple voting. Every male citizen 25 years old has one vote, without property or other such qualifications. On attaining the age of 35, providing he is the father of offspring, legitimately born in wedlock, and pays $1 or more of direct taxes yearly, he has a second vote. Two additional votes are given for property, official status and university diplomas; but no man may have more than three votes, even though he may be qualified for all four. The result of this system may be seen in the fact that in 1904, in a total population of about 7,000,000, there were 1,581,649 voters, with 2,467,966 votes. This plural system is bitterly opposed and denounced by the Socialists, and to some extent by the Liberals, and is doubtless one of the causes of the present outbreak.

The most serious feature of the case is the possibility of intervention. Germany and France have both long coveted Belgium, and while of course neither would make any unprovoked aggression upon that country, the occurrence of disorder and anarchy there beyond the power of the Belgium government to quell might serve as a pretext for intervention to restore order, and that in turn might lead to further and more serious complications.

A Mother's Cares Destructive To Health

ANAEMIA, BAD BLOOD, HEADACHES AND LASSITUDE VERY COMMON.

Mrs. Wilkinson's Letter Gives Advice that Every Mother Can Well Follow.

From her home in Newton where she resides with her large family Mrs. Wilkinson writes "For years I was pale, anaemic and lacking in vitality. I was a constant sufferer from indigestion, and the pain and distress it caused me, coupled with ever-increasing anaemia, made me weaker day by day. Constant headaches, specks before the eyes and attacks of dizziness made me feel as if life were not worth living. My constitution was completely undermined and the constant pallor and dullness in my eyes showed what a sick woman I was. I began to take Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and the improvement, although slow, was sure.

"I gradually got back my strength and my appetite grew much stronger and I enjoyed my meals thoroughly. I felt happier and more contented, and the sickly pallor of my face was replaced by a bright, rosy color, which proved that a strong medicine was at work. In a few months Dr. Hamilton's Pills brought me from a condition of deathly pallor to robust health."

You can obtain the same results by using Dr. Hamilton's Pills—beware of the substitutor that offers you anything except Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c per box or five boxes for $1.00 at all dealers or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

Editorial Notes

The transport strike in England is reported to be petering out. This is probably due in a large measure to the large number of motor cars owned by private individuals in Great Britain who are better prepared to effect their own "hauling" than are the people o New York to do their own waiting during the present strike of waiters in that city.

After all the trek of the Southern farmer to the north is only paying off an old score. For fifty years the western states drew settlers from eastern Canada. Thousands of the best farmers of the middle and far western states are from British North America They or their fathers went west when Canada had no prairie country available. It will yet be some years before Canada gets her own back, by receiving from the western states a number equal to that of these exodists and their descendants. But the debt will cheerfully and eagerly be paid with interest before the Canadian west has seen the last northward procession of settlers.

The supply on the market this morning for sale consisted of [illegible] sheep and lambs, 800 hogs. There was no change in the condition of the market for cattle, prices being firmly maintained for all grades, notwithstanding the fact that the supply was fully 200 head larger than a week ago. RUINED BY GAMBLING

Calgary Youth The Victim Of Vicious Gambling Sharks

Calgary, June 18. The dupe of treacherous touts, who lured him into gambling hells and fleeced him of his good name and money, Hugh Parks, at the age of sixteen years is to-day awaiting sentence at the city police court, after having been found guilty of uttering forged checks, aggregating over $1,100. According to Hugh, Chinatown, a Turkish bath, poker chips, and a roulette wheel have taken their toll from him and now he is awaiting the hardest punishment of all.

Hugh is not, nor would be ever make, a gambler. He is a quiet, unobtrusive little victim of the world's viciousness. Last spring he found himself employed as office boy in the Canadian Pacific Irrigation offices. With the native hankering of youth after a knowledge of the pastimes of men, he adopted the habit of frequenting poolrooms. In one of these he became acquainted with men who sported big rolls, and told him how easy it was to acquire money. He fell for it, and when his monthly check came around he let them take him into a joint. He acquired the rudiments of roulette and poker. That was all. From that time on the touts got his wages. They got more and he went into debt.

Then they threatened him, and, he says at their instigation, he cashed forged checks for them. They got the proceeds. Then he told his folks that he was going to sell his bicycle and go to the coast with the money he got for it.

When the checks came through the Bank of Montreal, prosecution was commenced, and Hugh was brought back to Calgary. He admitted uttering all the documents but one check, and of this he was to-day found guilty.

Now he is awaiting sentence. Monday it will be pronounced. In the meantime a mother is distracted by grief.

MINERS MAKE A DISCOVERY

Find Long Cave Which Opens Up Wide Vein Of Silver-Lead Ore

Miners Make a Discovery - -

Nelson, June 17.—While making an open cut during prospecting at the Silver Hoard mine at Ainsworth a few days ago a cave was encountered which, at an angle of about 45 degrees runs into the mountains for hundreds of feet, opening up a wide vein of high-grade silver lead ore in much the same manner as an inclined shaft which would have cost many thousands of dollars to sink.

Announcement of this discovery, which is considered one of the most remarkable ever made in mining operations in the west was made by H. W. Hawley, manager of the property, G. B. Harrington, a Spokane broker, who represents many stockholders in the Company, and E. J. Boxer, of Spokane, one of the stockholders.

Already the cave has been surveyed to a depth of 250 feet and no bottom has yet been reached, it is said, but to this depth the vein continued. It is believed that the cave, from the roofs of which hang hundreds of stalactites, and in one part of which a member of the party picked up what appeared to be the fossilized jawbone of some prehistoric animal, is a fissure caused by the water wearing away the lime formation from the vein.

Mr. Harrington remarked that by this discovery the vein had been opened up on the property developed in a few hours in a manner which by means of a shaft sunk in the usual way would have occupied months and cost a large sum of money.

The cave is sufficiently large, as far as explored, to permit the entry of a man, and in places it widens out into large chambers. All the work that will be necessary, it is said, to complete this natural inclined shaft will be to widen some of the narrow places.

In addition to this work it is intended, said Mr. Hawley, to proceed at once with the extension of the south drift of the mine to connect with the cave and tap the Silver Hoard vein on the 350 foot level, where a large body of ore has been located.

15 HOURS ON A ROCK LEDGE

Tourist Falls Down Side Of Precipice And Has Miraculous Escape

Vancouver, B. C., June 17.—Miraculously saved from a horrible death by the projecting roots of a tree, which caught him after a 30-foot fall, Mr. J. Page, an elderly visitor at the Canyon View hotel, lay helpless and painfully injured in his precarious position, with a 400-foot sheer drop below him, for nearly 15 hours, until discovered by a rescue party.

Mr. Page's mishap occurred on Friday morning and shortly after he left the hotel to do a little mountain climbing up a near-by spur of Crown mountain. He left the hotel shortly before 6 o'clock in the morning and essayed the ascent of a spur that lies between Crown and Grouse mountains.

According to his account of the affair, he was fairly close to the summit when a projecting rock which he had hold of, pulling himself up, suddenly came loose, hurling him over the shoulder of the cliff, which he was skirting just then. After a straight fall of about thirty feet Mr. Page struck the projecting roots of a tree jutting out from the cliff, and had just presence of mind enough to hang on before he lapsed into unconsciousness. When he came to he was suffering excrutiating tortures from his back, which was painfully sprained and bruised. He was unable to move without suffering terrible torture, and even if he had been uninjured it is doubtful if he could have climbed up from his precarious position. To go down was out of the question for there was a 400 foot sheer drop below him to where sharp rocks seemed to rear their peaks awaiting his fall.

All day and far on into the night the unfortunate man lay there suffering. Occasionally he called for help, but towards evening became so weak that he could scarcely do that.

As evening fell the anxieties of the hotel officials became aroused at Mr. Page's lengthy absence and a search party was hastily arranged. Headed by District Constable Lawrence, about sixteen started off on their quest, and at 3 o'clock on Saturday morning the unfortunate gentleman was discovered. After much perilous mountaineering he was rescued and was brought to the hotel, where medical aid was summoned. Dr. Martin attended and to-day Mr. Page is making good progress towards recovery.

QUEBEC'S BIG LOAN.

Bank of Montreal Helps City Out on $800,000 Loan.

Quebec, June 17.—The city of Quebec, which was recently authorized to borrow $800,000 for urgent needs has found it impracticable at present to sell bonds, as the English market is now unfavorable for the issue of bonds.

To obviate these obstacles, the Bank of Montreal offered to advance the amount in treasury bills, payable in six months at a rate of 3½ cents. The city has accepted this offer.

It's no longer necessary to hustle around gathering up paper, carrying up wood and lugging up coal every time somebody wants to take a bath. You no longer need to heat up your kitchen, in fact the entire house every time an extra quantity of hot water is desired.

THERE'S AN EASIER WAY
USE AN "IDEAL"
GAS
Water Heater

This heater occupies but very little space. It is connected to your kitchen boiler and is operated as easily as your gas range. The IDEAL Heater heats water very quickly—enough for a bath is 20 minutes.

is Heater Will Not Overheat Your Kitchen

We have an IDEAL connected and in operation at our office. We'd be glad to show it to you if you'd pay us a visit. If that isn't possible have us send a representative to tell you more about it.

Cursory.

A huntsman called on Hodge to settle for damage done by a run to hounds and found only Mrs. Hodge at home.

"Has your husband," he inquired, "made an examination yet?"

"That he have, sir," replied Mrs. Hodge, with a curtsey.

"Rather a cursory examination, I suspect?"

"Oh, dreadful, sir. Such langwidge I never heerd—never!" And the good woman held up her hands at the bare recollection.

Fighting Seasickness.

There is one place in a ship where the voyager may be at rest. This writer discovered it during a mid-Atlantic storm when he went down to the bathroom, tumbled into a warm sea bath and floated. The vessel was performing the most amazing antics, but the water in the bath kept its usual gravity, and the bather floated with a smile upon its bosom.—London Tatler.

Such Is Life.

"It's a hard struggle to conduct one's business without plenty of capital," observed the man with the ingrowing chin.

"You're right," agreed the man with the mange nose. "If a fellow hasn't got plenty of backing he has to do a lot of sidestepping."

All One Race.

Prof. Keith in a London lecture on the evolution of man said that the resemblance of the prehistoric monkeys found in the Fayum, in upper Egypt, to South American monkeys indicated the common origin of the anthropoids of the old and new world.

Some reasons why Oakdale Park offers a gilt-edged investment:

"It has the best car service of any restricted residence district either inside or outside the city.

"Its proximity to Winnipeg's largest and most beautiful city park.

WINNIPEG PROPERTY
Has made FORTUNES for SMALL INVESTORS, and there is More Money being made TODAY than ever before in the History of the CITY.

Why you should buy in Oakdale Park:

Because: "It is the centre of a 500 acre restricted residential area.

Because: "It is farther from the smoke, dust and noise of railways than any Residence District inside or outside of the City, and with better car service."

Western Canada is the World's Attraction

The United States cannot keep people from realizing the GREATEST OPPORTUNITY ever offered, to secure Independent fortunes, by locating Homes in Western Canada. WINNIPEG is growing by leaps and bounds—A SUBSTANTIAL, PERMANENT GROWTH. VACANT HOUSES ARE UNKNOWN and yet Building is more active than ever.

OAKDALE PARK

Is the choice Residential District. All restricted property located in the West End reached by direct Electric Street Car Line in 20 minutes, from the Centre of the City (service every 4½ minutes). The history of Crescentwood will be repeated in Oakdale. Where in the former 5 or 6 years ago lots were sold at $15 to $25 per foot, with the same building restrictions as Oakdale Park has to-day, and now $90 to $150 per foot is being paid in Crescentwood and residences to the value of $10,000 to $100,000 are being erected. History will repeat this in Oakdale, but in less time, as it has better Electric Car Service now.

IS A SURE INVESTMENT

Oakdale Park Offered at Attractive Prices.

Many Canadian investors have realized large profits through transactions in Western real estate, particularly in and near the progressive city of Winnipeg, but few of them have ever been afforded the opportunity of realizing handsomely that is now offered them in an advertisement on another page of this issue, displaying the advantageous characteristics of Oakdale Park, in Winnipeg. It would be hard to estimate the immense profit resulting from the sale of Rosedale Park, Toronto, but it is, from the conditions, an absolute certainty that a larger and quicker return will be gained by those who invest in Oakdale Park. Winnipeg is growing at present, faster than the city of Toronto ever advanced and the modern means of transportation are permitting an in-pour of home-seeking people into the Canadian West that makes the purchase of reliable real estate in that part of the Dominion a sure money-maker. Of all the land that is being offered, none is more suited either for speculative or home-building purposes than these lots. Situated within twenty minutes ride of the centre of Winnipeg they make an ideal home for those working in the city, and with all the modern conveniences that could be desired these lots have an attractiveness to the home-seekers that makes their sale at all time an easy matter. The value of the land is bound to increase with the population of Winnipeg. If Rosedale, Toronto, lots were offered at $12 per foot, all would jump for a purchase. The Oakdale lots are offered at this price and give greater promise of speedily increased value than the similarly situated eastern lots. For those who wish to buy Western land, this is certainly a safe, paying investment.

PROMINENT SOCIETY LADY RECEIVES BOMB

Metal Cylinder Containing Lyddite Sent to Mrs. Henry Sidenberg, of New York—A Dastardly Act.

New York, June 17.—Mrs. Henry Sidenburg, wife of a wealthy lace importer, of 116 Fifth avenue, whose country home half way between Hastings-on-the-Hudson and Dobbs Ferry is one of the show places of the Hudson, received a queer looking package from Germany on Thursday night. She opened it, saw a metal cylinder inside, and passed it to a electrician who was doing work in the house.

The cylinder was examined by the Chief of the Bureau of Combustiles of Yonkers yesterday. He found it to contain carbon and a quantity of lyddite, a highly dangerous explosive. Besides the mystery of the sender and of the reason for sending it, another queer kink is added to the case by the fact that the lyddite is made only in England, where it has that name and in France, where it is called molinite. In both countries the secret of its ingredients and manufacture is kept by the Government.

Dowie Had $500,000.

John Alexander Dowie, who conducted a two or three weeks' religious campaign in the old opera house about 20 or more years ago, and who died in Chicago a few years ago, forgot that he had $500,000 on deposit across the seas, and died without disposing of it. Mrs. Dowie has been living in poverty of late years, and, it is said, will claim the money. When Mr. Dowie was in Peterborough he was accompanied by his wife whom many will no doubt remember.

RECOVERED SIGHT.

Marvellous Operation Credited to a Philadelphia Surgeon.

Philadelphia, June 17.—Blind for seven years, his case given up as hopeless by physicians and surgeons, Owen Harris, a machinist, is at the Medico-Chirurgical hospital to-day, with his sight restored by one of the most daring operations ever attempted—the removal of the tissues from the eye of another man and grafting them on the eye of Harris. Harris lost the sight of both eyes in a "flare back" from the furnace in the shop in which he was working. Dr. L. Webster Fox, eye specialist of the hospital, believed there was some hope for him. When a patient came to the hospital with an eye so badly injured that it had to be removed, Harris was summoned. He was placed on the operating table. The eye was taken from the injured man, the eyeball was stripped of the tissues and these were placed over the sightless orbs of Harris. Harris was kept in a dark room for eight days. Then the bandage was removed and Harris could see a little.

He is now awaiting the arrival of another patient who must lose an eye. When this patient arrives, Dr. Fox will perform an operation upon the second eye of Harris.

Riddle of the Sphinx.

The sphinx—some sort of fabled monster—proposed a riddle to the people of Thebes, it is said, and murdered all who could not answer it. Oedipus finally solved it, and in chagrin the sphinx put herself to death. The riddle was as follows: "What goes on four feet in the morning, two feet in the afternoon and three at night?" The answer given by Oedipus was this: "Man, because he crawls as a child, walks upright in his full strength and walks with a staff when an old man."

WEDDING BELLS.

Potter—Townsend.

A quiet and pretty wedding was solemnized on Saturday evening at 7.30 o'clock, when Mr. Charles Potter, of Toronto, and Mabel Townsend also of Toronto, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. G. Brown, of St. James church, at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. Harold Hudson, 498 Patterson street. The bride was attired in white allover embroidery and lace, and carried a bouquet of bridal wreaths. Her little neice Dorothy Hudson, attended as flower girl. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts. Her travelling costume was of royal blue with hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Potter will spend a few days in Belleville before going to their home in Hamilton.

Sisson—Fitzgerald.

A pretty wedding was solemnized in the Murray street Baptist church at three o'clock yesterday afternoon, when Miss Edna S. Fitzgerald, daughter of the late Geo. W. Fitzgerald, was united in marriage to Mr. Hanlan H. Sisson, son of Mr. Geo. Sisson. It was the first marriage to be celebrated in the new church and in conformance with the ancient custom which requires this gift from the trustees. Trustee Aldridge presented the young couple with a Bible. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. R. Webb, pastor of the church, in the presence of some forty invited guests.

The young couple were unattended. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Percy Fitzgerald. The wedding march was charmingly played by Miss Edith Richardson, while during the signing of the registry, Mrs. Telford sang, "O, Promise Me." The bride wore a travelling costume of cream serge with hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Sisson left on the 4.10 C.P.R. train on their wedding trip. On their return they will take up their residence at 490 Aylmer street.

Among those who have identified themselves with the movement in Peterborough, are the following:

J. J. Turner, Jr., G. N. Gordon, G. A. Gillespie, F. D. Kerr, E. A. Peck, Walter Brocker, W. H. Bradburn, C. H. Pennefather, J. John, Rev. Geo. Brown, Samuel Jay, W. J. Oke, N. D. Buchanan, J. J. Howden, Porter S. White, T. H. Hooper, W. J. McColl.

They have a total helping fund for loans, etc., of $5,000.

Every assistance has been given to the movement by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, many of the members of which have forwarded to the newly formed organization the recommendation that workmen receive the necessary aid to bring their families to this country.

BROKE HER PROMISE.

She Hated to Do It, but Then She Felt That She Was Justified.

A widely known motor racer was asked by a friend if he would be so kind as to allow three young women to accompany him while he was trying out a new racing car.

"Why, I can't be bothered with passengers at a time like that, and especially with women. They always talk to me, and I can't have my mind distracted. It might prove dangerous, you know."

"But these girls won't bother you. I'll tell them not to. One of them is my sister. They are crazy to go; want to say they have ridden with you. You know how girls are."

"Well, if you will tell them they mustn't speak to me while I am driving they may go. They mustn't move around or do anything to distract my attention. You impress this upon them. If they are willing to do this they can go."

The promise was made, and they started. At one place the driver ran over a water guard and there was a tremendous bump. He did not try to look around, as he was going at a rapid rate of speed, but presently he felt a timid touch on his shoulder.

"What is it?" he growled.

A weak little voice answered him: "Really, I hate awfully to bother you. I know I shouldn't and promised not to. But I feel I must tell you Helen isn't with us now."—Harper's Magazine.

A TOMB IN TOKYO.

Behind the temple sacred to the nameless dead and close to the wrestling amphitheater in Tokyo there is to be found the grave of the celebrated robber Nesumi Kozo, who stole from the daimios long ago in the old Yeddo days that he might relieve the sufferings of the poor.

There is a superstition connected with this grave which has made it a much frequented spot. If a portion of the headstone is carried away it acts as a lucky talisman, particularly to those who speculate or are otherwise engaged in games of chance. It is usual for a person breaking a piece from the stone to make a vow that in case he is successful he will buy a new headstone to replace the one he has mutilated. Many prayers must have been answered, for the stones are piled high on either side of the grave, and an enterprising individual near by has the stones already for sale and only waiting the name of the donor to be engraved and then set up.

A shelter has been placed over the spot, and from the roof hang gray lanterns and pilgrims' banners. A large money box catches all the stray sen which go for the upkeeping of the grave. Gamblers and geisha are often visitors. Students before their examinations feel more assured of success if they have a chip of Nesumi Kozo's headstone in the sleeve of their kimono.—Argonaut.

On Safe Ground.

Whenever on one of his rare holidays Captain Goldby went to the city he took some young relative with him as a special treat. On one such occasion he told his seventeen-year-old grandson, whom he had with him, that they would "dine at a real rest'rant and get a taste of fancy cooking."

When they were at last seated in the great dining room the grandson waited impatiently while the captain read the bill of fare completely through without omitting a single article, whether domestic or foreign in title. At last he sighed and handed the card across the table to the boy.

"You choose what you like, sonny," he said, with a sigh. "As for me, I reckon as I've already eat more herrin' than any other man livin' I might as well stow away a little more. It's al'ays agreed with me so far."—Youth's Companion.

Talleyrand's Brevity.

A single word was often sufficient for Talleyrand to make his keenest retort, says the Kansas City Star. When a hypochondriac, who had notoriously led a prodigate life, complained to the diplomatist that he was enduring the tortures of hell Talleyrand simply answered, "Already?"

To a woman who had lost her husband Talleyrand once addressed a letter of condolence in two words:

"Oh, madame!"

In less than a year the woman had married again, and then his letter of congratulation was:

"Ah, madame!"

Conquered a Crocodile.

An old traveler tells a tale of a young African girl with great bravery and presence of mind. While fetching water from a river she was seized by the jaws of a crocodile and pulled in. As quick as a flash she remembered the weak point of a crocodile and forced her fingers into the brute's eyes until it let go. She lost her left hand, but was able to swim ashore and save her life.

SEEING WITHOUT EYES.

The Sense That Enables the Amoeba to Locate Its Prey.

Is it possible to see without eyes? Seeing is supposed to be due to the action of light on the retina of the eye which sets up a disturbance. This is carried to the brain by means of the optic nerves. Let the idea of seeing be changed to becoming aware. An amoeba is at the bottom of the scale of living things. It is a very minute creature, a "bag of water," an expressive if homely description. A very thin membrane incloses a minute quantity of water which holds a dot, called the nucleus. The contents are liquid or semi-liquid, like white of an egg, and is protoplasm.

The animal has no eyes, ears, brain, nerves or any sense organ that can be detected in the new high power ultra violet microscope, yet it becomes aware of the existence of food in the adjacent water at quite a distance.

Suppose a man should be shipwrecked on an island and be the only human there. Let the island be five miles wide. In a year let another man be cast up by the sea on the opposite side. Then let the first man become suddenly aware that the other was on the island. This phenomenon would be comparable to the sensitiveness of an amoeba.

Suppose the food is an animal and seeks to escape the amoeba. It will find the job to be extremely difficult. No sooner does the amoeba become conscious of the presence of the other creature than it at once gives chase. Let the fleeing animal suddenly change its course precisely as does a rabbit pursued by a dog; then the amoeba "cuts across" exactly as does the dog, overtakes its prey and swallows it—i.e., wraps itself, its substance, around the creature, which is soon digested.

The question is, Can this be called seeing in the literal meaning of the word? Whatever is the true explanation, it is now unknown to science.

Real Gems Made by Science.

There recently appeared in Paris some diamonds having all the earmarks of the genuine article, and they were offered to a number of dealers at very attractive prices. Certain rigid tests were applied by experts engaged in the trade, with the result that they were proved to be slightly different from natural stones. The diamonds were believed to be manufactured by a synthetic process, but by the experts who examined them they were claimed to be genuine. From this, it seems, the secret of making diamonds is rapidly being solved, and it will not be long until this new product of the electric furnace will take its place with synthetic rubies, sapphires and other manufactured gems which are now sold in the open market.

The Spider Cheat.

Many species of spiders are interesting on account of their physical construction or their habits, but the most curious specimens are probably to be found in the woods of Sumatra, and these naturalists call, not without reason, "spider cheats." This insect, in order to trap the flies, etc., on which it feeds, hides on a leaf and spins a web of neutral color, making an illusion so perfect that the prey not only does not fly, but seems attracted by the peculiar termination of the web on the edge of the leaf. This is a perfect knot in appearance and gives to the trap the general shape of a miniature palm leaf fan with indented handle.

Guides In Japan.

Once a person has visited Japan and engaged the services of a Japanese guide he exists forever in the good book and graces of the guide. Always at Christmas and frequently two or three other times during the year he receives some little gift. Japan is the only country in the world where the Government takes sufficient interest in tourists to take under its supervision the guide fraternity. So strict is the regulation that it is a rare thing for any guide to receive an unfavorable report.

Workman's Fortune.

A fortune of $400,000 was left by a Sheffield workman, John Smith, who died recently at the age of seventy-seven after forty-five years of active work which had never brought him more than $600 a year. The foundation of his fortune was the sum of $1,000, painfully saved in pennies and invested in stock of his employer's concern, which rose to a value of $75,000 in fifteen years.

Very Young.

A new member of the harbor board in a New Zealand town was attending its meetings for the first time, and the board was discussing a proposal to place two buoys at the entrance to the harbor. "I beg to propose an amendment," said the new member, "that one man should be placed there instead of two boys, as the latter are too young for such a responsible position!"

A Dangerous Precedent.

"I know a girl who made a two dollar graduation gown and captured a husband on the strength of it."

"There's a good argument for two dollar gowns."

"The trouble is she caught a two dollar husband. He has expected her to dress on that precedent ever since."

WILES OF GEM THIEVES

GENIUS AND RESOURCE NOW MARK THEIR CALLING.

The Day of the Clumsy Window-Breaking Jewelry Robber Has Passed Because Merchants Have Adopted All Sorts of Safety Contrivances —The Criminal Has Now Set His Wits Against the Inventor.

The "crook" of to-day who makes a specialty of jewel robberies possesses nerve and ingenuity which, applied to more legitimate pursuits, would assuredly earn for him a fortune. Of course, there is the clumsy thief with very limited brain, who smashes the jeweler's window with half a brick hoping to be able to decamp with a handful of jewels ere passers-by and the jeweler's assistants have recovered from their surprise. The up-to-date jeweler, however, checkmates the window-smasher by hanging an extra plate of glass from the ceiling by chains just inside the window pane. The force of the brick might break the outside glass, but it would be checked by the inner plate, and, even if it did break the latter, the thief would have two jagged holes to put his hand through, a difficult job to manage successfully.

And then there is the equally clumsy thief who enters a jeweler's shop, ostensibly to purchase jewels, and endeavors to bolt with a number which he snatches off the counter, quite forgetting that there are such things as automatic closing doors, and that while one assistant is serving there are usually one or two others seemingly deeply engaged in various work connected with the shop, but in reality standing in close proximity to the door, and ready to circumvent any such trickery.

The clever jewelry thief, however, adopts quite different tactics. Take for instance, the man who a short time ago became known as a regular, if not a very wealthy, customer at a West End (London) jeweler's. He frequently made small purchases, and admired at the same time the more costly jewels displayed in the cases on the counter. One day he asked to look more closely at a certain diamond necklace which he had previously admired, and the obliging jeweler took it out of the case to show him.

After duly praising it, the customer handed it back and the jeweler would have taken no further note of the incident had he not happened to notice that the necklace had attached to it a tag of buff color. All goods in the shop bore white tags and he immediately surmised that something was wrong. The man was detained and search revealed that he had the original necklace while the other handed back to the jeweler was an imitation.

It appeared that during the several visits paid by the customer he had made a close study of the necklace as it lay in the case taking in the minutest details and from memory had an imitation made from paste diamonds, correct enough in every particular to deceive almost anyone; and this he had exchanged for the real necklace while admiring it. Had he not made the small mistake of attaching to it a wrong-colored tag the jeweler might still be bemoaning the loss of a $2,500 necklace.

This palming of real jewels and handing back imitations is a favorite game with jewelry thieves, and only by the greatest care can loss at their hands be prevented. An elaboration of this trick has, by the way, been tried very successfully both in London and in New York. A smartly-dressed woman with a pretty child—usually a girl—drives up to a fashionable jeweler's and asks to inspect a selection of stones. Naturally the child displays a certain curiosity, which is apparently checked by the lady, who frequently admonished the youngster with words: "No, darling; you must not touch these things. Keep your hands away."

The child seems so innocent of wrongdoing that the jeweler suspects nothing, and perhaps engages the child in conversation, and it is while so doing that he offers the lady an opportunity for substituting some paste stones for the real. Or, if a chance occurs, the lady will detract the jeweler's attention from the child for a moment and allow the precocious youngster, who, of course, has been trained for the part, to effect a substitution of the imitation for the real.

And then there is the old dodge, still worked very successfully, of affixing a piece of cobbler's wax in the hollow heel of a boot, accidentally knocking off a ring or so from the counter, treading on it, and after submitting to a search by the suspicious jeweler and threatening all sorts of legal proceedings for indignity, walking out with the spoils, worth perhaps $200 or $300.

The half-eaten apple scheme is also an old one, but even now is worked successfully. The operator enters a store munching an apple, and while examining uncut stones, presses one into the apple, casually saunters to the door, and throws it out. Then he returns and buys a little something. His confederate on the outside gets the apple and the stone.

The umbrella-carrying thief is also another one to look out for. It is easy to sweep goods off the counter into the folds, and the alert salesman always keeps his eyes open to the stranger who handles a handerchief while looking over goods but apparently does not put that article to natural use.

Perhaps Ignorance Was Bliss.

Mabel—I have at last experienced the great, the wonderful event of my life. Yesterday, when the sudden failure of the electric light at the Blank's reception plunged the company into darkness, he kissed me passionately.

Julia—Who?

Mabel—Who? That's just what I should like to know!

Matchmaking.

"Now they claim that the human body contains sulphur."

"In what amount?"

"Oh, in varying quantities."

"Well, that may account for some girls making better matches than others."—Pittsburgh Post.

Ignorance.

His Wife (who was unable to attend) —Did the congregation agree to your utterances on the criminal rich? New Clergyman (proudly)—I am sure they did. They were all nodding.—Judge.

Camembert Cheese.

Camembert is the name of a commune, a few houses about a Camembert church in the prefecture Vimoutier and the department of Orne. The cheese got its name from the fact that it originated near there, but there isn't a cheese factory nearer than three miles away now, and not enough people live in Camembert to run one of any size. Caen, the principal Camembert market, is in Calvados. The cheese is carted to the shore and carried across the mouth of the Seine to Haver in boats. It is made, however, on the northeastern side of the Seine and from there comes to Haver direct. The cheese is shipped unripe even to home markets near at hand in French cities. It is seldom over four weeks old when it leaves the factory and often only two or three.—Argonaut.

Burnt Almonds.

Burnt almonds are a confection of purely French origin, owing their inception to the gluttony of a French merchant. One day, tradition has it, Marshal Duplessis-Pralin sent for Lassagne, the inventor of many toothsome dainties, and bade him concoct a new bonbon. Lassagne searched, reflected, combined, until he finally hit upon the confection of burnt almonds, which were baptised with the name of the old gourmet, the French for burnt almonds.

Cause Enough.

"When I was shipwrecked in South America," said Captain Bowsprit, "I came across a tribe of wild women who had no tongues."

"Mercy!" cried one of his listeners of the fair sex. "How could they talk?"

"They couldn't!" snapped the old salt. "That's what made 'em wild."

Borneo Brides.

In Borneo the bride and groom sit on metal logs before the priest, who gives them cigars and betel while he blesses them. He waves above them two fowls bound together. The bridegroom then places the betel in his bride's mouth and a cigar between her lips. They are married.

Gilded Eggs.

In Persia it is the custom to make present of eggs richly gilded and painted. The Persians give presents of eggs on the first day of the new year, "because the egg marks the beginning of things."

The Answer Was Easy.

Old Roxleigh—You must be less extravagant. How do you expect to get along when you are my age?

His Son—Well, father, I suppose by that time I shall have your money to get along with.

London's Skyscraper.

London's new county hall, the foundation stone of which was laid by the King March 9, will be nine stories in height, 750 feet long and 325 feet wide. This will make it the nearest approach to a "skyscraper" that London possesses.

A Wise Policeman.

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS:

T. HERBERT LENNOX, K.C., M.P.P., President The T. Sisman Shoe Co., Ltd., President.
WALTER COLLIS, ESQ., Leather Manufacturer, Toronto, Ontario, Vice-President.
W. G. FISCHER, ESQ., Commission Leather Merchant, Toronto, Ontario, Secretary-Treasurer.
WM. J. BALDWIN, ESQ., Mayor of the Town of Aurora.
W. PERCY GILLESPIE, ESQ., W. Percy Gillespie & Co., Investment Brokers, Toronto, Ont.

In offering these shares for investment, we feel that we are inviting the public to purchase stock in an industry in which the profits are very large, and the demand for the product is ever increasing.

It is a well known fact that the shares of our Canadian Tanneries are very closely held, and the public seldom have an opportunity of procuring any.

On March 11th, 1912, the Burgesses of the Town of Aurora voted in favor of granting The Collis Leather Company, Limited, a cash bonus of Ten Thousand Dollars, the Company's property is exempt from Taxation for Ten Years (except school tax) and it has also been granted water from the Town free for all time.

The factory is now under construction, to be completed on or before the 1st Day of July, 1912, and will be 150 feet long by 50 feet wide, and four storys high.

The Company's specialty will be the manufacture of calf leather.

Mr. Walter Collis has had over Thirty Years' experience as a tanner, and thoroughly understands all departments of the business. Mr. Collis will have direct charge of the Tannery.

The capacity of the factory will be Eighteen Hundred calfskins per day, or an average of Eighteen Thousand Feet per day. A most conservative estimate of the net profit is one-half cents per foot.

Estimated Net Profits:

18,000 ft. per day, one-half cent per foot, $90.00, with 300 working days per year ...	$27,000.00
Less business insurance and depreciation per year	7,000.00
Or approximately 20 per cent on entire issued capital.	$20,000.00

The Company has purchased from Mr. Collis all his Tanning formula, and will issue in payment thereof One Hundred shares of fully paid up stock.

Of the total amount of shares offered for sale, the Directors have subscribed for more than one-third.

The terms are 25 per cent on application, 25 per cent in Thirty, 25 per cent in Sixty, and 25 per cent in Ninety days.

We reserve the right to allot only such applications, and for such amounts as may be approved; the application lists may be closed without notice.

Kingston is being troubled with high water to a greater degree than this city. Some of the highways in the vicinity of that city are reported to be three feet under water.

The garbage situation seems to present new difficulties to the City Fathers and local residents; but it must be remembered that other cities who have now a perfect system, went through the same mill.

THREE PUPILS AT SCHOOL

The First holds his book too close and mistakes figures on the black-board—he is near-sighted—that is why he sits in the front seat.

The Third Pupil stoops awkwardly over the book because he does not see easily.

The other pupil sits erect to study, sees the figures on the black-board easily accurately and does home-work easily. Properly fitted glasses help all his school work and make his examinations successful.

We examine many pupils and do not supply glasses unless necessary to their school work.

CITY AND DISTRICT

DASHES HERE AND THERE BY TIMES REPORTERS.

Charity Board.

At a meeting of the Charity Board on Monday evening a number of poor families were aided by grants of provisions. Mr. F. W. Miller also made a report regarding some Bulgarians immigrants who had needed aid to the amount of $4.25.

A Small Fire.

A defective chimney gave the fire department a run to the home of Mr. L. G. Hicks, 411 Downey street, about seven o'clock Monday evening. The fire was extinguished with very little difficulty and it is not expected that the damage will exceed $10.

Immigrants Arrive.

A party of immigrants arrived in the city last evening and after a brief sojourn here, were disposed of by Mr. Howson to farmers residing in the country. The party sailed on the Lake Manitoba and after an uneventful voyage on sea and land, found ready employment in the rural districts.

Fishing Season Opened.

Yesterday was the second day of the fishing season, and on Monday as well as on Sunday, a large number of the disciples of Isaac Walton, with hook, line and bait took themselves up or down the river or canal. A number, too, after the lunge, were successful in their manoeuvres with the shining spoon.

Church League Meeting.

Will the delegates please note that a meeting of the church football league will be held to-night at 8.30 in the Y.M.C.A. The meeting is called for 8.30 so as to enable delegates to witness the game between Park street and Knox, on Park street grounds and to be on time for the league meeting.

Decision for Plaintiff.

Yesterday morning His Honor Judge Huycke gave decision in the case of Collier vs. Brown, which has been in progress for some time. In this case Collier claimed $400.00 from Brown, which had been unlawfully retained by defendant in a real estate deal. The plaintiff was given judgment for $400, the cost of the action to be taxed.

Send in Your Bills.

Mr. E. C. MacLeod, treasurer of the Peterborough Health Association requests that all bills against the Association in connection with the late Summer Fair, be rendered at once, and also that all amounts due on account of the fair be promptly settled. This is asked in view of the desirability of preparing a full statement as soon as possible.

Had a Fine Practice.

The Oriental Baseball Club had a good practice at Central Park yesterday afternoon, and some very fast playing was done. Manager Fowler wishes us to state that the team is now in fine shape, and is ready to play the National team any afternoon now. This game promises to be a real good one, judging by the playing yesterday afternoon.

You May Have Catarrh And Not Know It

HEAD AND THROAT BECAME DISEASED WITH CATARRH FROM NEGLECTING COUGHS

Catarrh is Treacherous—When Fully AND COLDS.

Developed is a Horror—Note Its Symptoms.

"Is your breath bad?"
"Is your throat sore?"
"Do you cough at night?"
"Is your voice raspy?"
"Does your nose stop up?"
"Have you nasal discharge?"
"Do you spit up phlegm?"
"Has your nose an itchy feeling?"
"Have you pain across the eyes?"
"Is your throat irritable, weak?"
"Do you sleep with mouth open?"
"Do your ears roar and buzz?"
"Are you hard of hearing?"

If you have any of these indications of catarrh, cure the trouble now—stop it before it gets into the lungs or bronchial tubes then it may be too late. The remedy is "Catarrhozone," a direct breathable cure that places antiseptic balsams and healing medication on every spot that's tainted by catarrhal germs.

There can be no failure with Catarrhozone—for years it has successfully cured cases that resisted other remedies. "No one can know better than I the enormous benefits one gets from the very first day's use of Catarrhozone," writes T. T. Hopkins of Westvale, P.Q. "I had for years a stubborn case of Bronchial Catarrh, ear noises, headache, sore eyes, stopped-up nose and throat. It affected my appetite and made my breath rank. Catarrhozone cured quickly."

Get Catarrhozone, use it, and you are sure of cure—beware of imitation and substitutes. Large size Catarrhozone, with hard rubber inhaler, last two months, and is guaranteed. Price $1.00 at all dealers, or the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y. and Kingston, Ont.

A Souvenir of Waterloo.

A souvenir of Waterloo in the shape of one of the medals or coins of bronze that were struck in honor of Wellington at the time of that battle, has been received by Mr. John Green, a local barrister, from a friend. The momentos were dug up recently in a garden in the north of Northumberland County, where they have lain perhaps for three-quarters of a century.

Should Not Delay.

As George street is to be paved in August, all those who desire to make connections with the water and gas mains of the central portion of the main street, should do so as soon as possible. It will save expense to those making improvements to their property and will also save the city considerable trouble, as for all such works subsequent to the laying of the pavement the pavement must be torn up.

Dominion Day Celebration.

The committee of citizens in charge of the Dominion Day celebration here are certainly planning for an especially fine holiday. In the day's program the militia will play a prominent part, and at least two outside regiments, the 14th Rifles of Kingston and the 41st of Brockville, will be in the city. It is expected too that the Belleville regiment will be on hand. Fuller details will be published when the committee has completed its arrangements.

Ensign Merritt Promoted.

Ensign Merritt, who for the past two years has been in charge of the local Salvation Army Corps, has been given command of the largest temple in Winnipeg. This is certainly a mark of appreciation of Ensign and Mrs. Merritt's faithful and successful work in this city. They will be missed not only as prominent Salvation Army workers, but also as zealous citizens. They will hold their farewell services at the local temple on Sunday. No successor has yet been announced.

Water at 25c a Pail.

Ald. Duncan has returned from the west and tells the story of how in Moose Jaw an ex-Peterborough man is selling water at 25c pail, or five pails for $1. It is kept in a tank similar to our coal oil tanks and for a dollar one receives a ticket entitling the holder to five pails of water. For each pail of water the ticket is punched once and after it is punched five times it is valueless. It, it, according to Mr. Duncan, a money-making business.

What We Are Missing.

They are gay and care-free crowds which responded yesterday to the call of circus day, and the huge attendance at each performance given at Dufferin Park by the Ringling Bros. made it clear that no few of the city's little folk had been successful in their appeals to be "taken." In the afternoon particularly they thronged the grounds and filled the big tent, with its seating capacity of fourteen thousand, to its limit, and when no more could be squeezed into the benches, large numbers of them camped on the wet grounds in front of the seats.—Toronto Globe.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

C.G.E. District Winners.

By their victory on Saturday, the C.G.E. completed their fixture list and came out winners at this district for the third successive year. The local stars will now do battle with either Oshawa or Bowmanville who are playing off the finals of the southern district to decide who shall be ultimate Midland league champions.

C.G.E. won handily, although the game did not reach the high standing usually seen when they are on the job. The ground was in a sodden state and a soaked and leaden ball also added to the players' difficulties in accurately controlling their passes.

In Favor of Church Union.

Ministers, members, officials and adherents of the city Methodist churches stand almost fifteen to one in favor of organic union between the Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregational Churches in Canada. This is upon the straight question of organic amalgamation, not touching the matter of federation.

A report embodying the above facts, with probably a recommendation for the union, has been prepared to be submitted at the annual Methodist Toronto conference meeting this week.

The figures also show that the city vote was more favorable to union than the country vote.

New Train Service.

A special C.P.R. train to Lindsay was inaugurated on Saturday afternoon when it made its first trip to that town. This new train is called the Kawartha Lakes special, and on Saturday only, will run for the convenience of the many Toronto people who summer at Sturgeon Lake. If a train of this nature from Toronto to Lindsay proves profitable it is almost certain that a similar one to Peterborough would be of advantage to the Company. As yet no arrangements have been made by the C.P.R. people but such a course would certainly be of great advantage to those who summer at Clear, Stoney, Rice, Chemong, Buckhorn, and other lakes.

Court of Revision.

The Court of Revision met on Monday night with Mr. W. Langford in the chair, and Messrs. W. F. Johnston and B. Morrow were present. Among the applications received were the following:

Mr. R. E. Wood, representing the Murray street Baptist church, asked that the taxes on lot 3, south of Murray street, and west of George, be remitted from April 1, 1911, as from that time it was used for church purposes. Ordered that the application be not granted, but that 5 per cent. charge for 1911 be remitted.

A letter was read from the Novel-Ti Co. for remission of half their business tax for 1912, as they had gone out of business.—Granted.

Arthur D. McLeish said he paid two full taxes for 1911 for Statute Labor, and asking for the return of $1. Decided to recommend that the Council be ordered to refund him $1.

CHICAGO CONVENTION IN FERMENT CONSTANT UPROAR PREVAILS

Taft Delegate Shouted "Liar! Liar! Liar!"---Philadelphia Delegation Jumped on Their Chairs and Yelled Defiance at Chairman Root

Chicago, June 19.—The debate on Governor Hadley's motion to "purge" the rolls was resumed by Henry J. Allen, of Kansas, who spoke in support of the Hadley motion.

Allen was challenged to say whether he intended to support the nominee of this convention.

He said he would on one condition—that his nomination is not accomplished by fraud or thievry."

A 'great' uproar of cheering and angry shouts followed.

Allen was followed by former Senator James A. Hemenway, of Indiana, for the Taft forces. He declared that the work of the National Committee ha dbeen done fairly and regularly.

From the Pennsylvania delegation came a yell: "How about Penrose?"

Bending over and shaking his fists in the faces of the delegation, Hemenway, his face flushed, shouted "Give me Penrose before Flinn every time."

The Pennsylvanians went wild. Climbing upon their chairs and brandishing their fists they yelled epithets and vituperations at the speaker. Flinn took a prominent part in the demonstration.

Yells and Jeers.

Throughout the hall came yells and jeers and for a few moments tumult prevailed.

As the disorder continued in the Pennsylvania delegation, Senator Root came to the front of the stage and pointing to Flinn, he shouted: "If the gentleman from Pennsylvania wishes to commend his cause to the just and honest members of this convention and the American people he will cease to interfere with the delivery of a reasonable and decent argument."

Senator Root was cheered.

"We will have order in this convention or the members responsible will suffer in the estimation of the people," added Senator Root.

Then in the midst of a new tumult Flinn climbed upon a chair and demanded recognition.

"A point of order," he shouted.

"State it," commanded Root.

"It is that the mention of personalities of Penrose and Flinn are not in order."

"The gentleman's point is not well taken. The gentleman will be seated at once," ruled Root.

Flinn stood defiantly for a minute but then sat down.

Senator Hemenway soon concluded after this and was followed by Geo. L. Record, of New Jersey, for the Roosevelt side of the argument.

An outbreak in the Indiana delegation followed the assertion of Record that in a district in Indianapolis the returns were made up by the officials without even opening the ballot box.

Wildly Waved His Fists.

William E. English, a delegate from Indiana rose to his feet, and the entire delegation broke into an uproar. "There was no contest in that district" shouted English, wildly waving his fists in the air. The latter yelled back, "Liar, liar, liar," and started toward Dye.

Other members seized the two men and kept them apart.

ROOSEVELT MEN HURLED MOTION TO UPSEAT 92 TAFT DELEGATES

Chicago, June 19.—Soon after Chairman Root had arrived on the platform, just before convention opened, he was flanked on one side by Governor Hadley, the Roosevelt leader, and on the other by James Watson, of the Taft forces. As a preliminary to the day's expected hostilities all three "shook hands and retired to their corners."

Governor Hadley and Watson arranged for an equal division of the three hours debate that was to be allowed on the Roosevelt proposition to substitute a roll containing 92 Roosevelt delegates in place of 92 Taft followers seated by the National Committee

Three Hours for Debate.

After the prayer, Root announced that an agreement had been reached between Watson and Hadley that three hours of debate equally divided be admitted. Hadley opened the debate, arguing to unseat 92 contested Taft delegates.

Labored to Maintain Majority.

Chicago, June 19.—Up to the very moment the convention was called to order the Taft managers labored mightily to maintain their narrow hold on the majority.

Dr McKinley neglected practically everything else to labor with the delegates.

NO BOLTING TO BE ALLOWED

Chicago, June 19.—Roosevelt's chief lieutenants, including Governors Hadley and Deneen, served notice to-day that they will not sanction a bolt under any circumstances. They made no secret of their position in this respect, and announced it to a number of newspaper men.

A CHARMING WEDDING

A charming June Wedding was solemnized by the Rev. Robt. Pogue at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon in St. Paul's church, when Miss Lillan Moore, only daughter of Mr. D. H. Moore, Brock street, and one of Peterborough's most estimable young ladies, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Frederick Orr, of Binscarth, Man., formerly of Peterborough.

While the guests were arriving at the church, the Swedish wedding march was played by Mr John Crane. As the bridal party entered the church the wedding march from Lohengrin, pealed from the organ, played by Mr. Crane. The bride was given away by her father.

Mrs. T. G. MacLaren, of Ottawa, was matron of honor and Mr Reid Munro of Peterborough, fulfilled the duties of groomsman. The ushers were Mr Gerald Rackham and Mr. Ernest Oliver of Toronto. The bride looked charming in a gown of white duchess satin with bodice of point de venise lace, in fichu effect, the lace being softly folded over the satin and finished in peplum in the back. The lace of the bodice extended in a panel to the bottom of the skirt, the satin folding over in envelope effect, the back of the skirt ending in square train. The bride wore a mob cap and veil of tulle, with a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. MacLaren's gown was of blue chiffon with woven-in border of pink satin roses with touches of black and blue fringe over a pale blue satin. Her gown was a pannier design with coat of venise lace. Her hat was trimmed with pale blue feathers and small French roses. Mr. MacLaren carried a bouquet of Killarney roses.

Mrs. E. V. Moore, wore a gown of embroidered lingerie over yellow satin and tuscan hat with black plumes.

Miss Evelyn Henderson of Montreal wore a pannier gown of pale blue chiffon over blue satin, trimmed with bugle trimmings and shadow lace. Her hat was of white with pink trimmings.

HAULTAIN'S MEN EXPECT TO WIN DECISIVE VICTORY LIBERALS ADMIT REDUCTION

Conservatives in Saskatchewan Have Candidates Lined Up for Battle--Former Swarms of Liberal Government Agents Not a Factor in This Campaign.

Nominations, July 4th.
Elections, July 11th.

Regina, Sask., June 19.—Premier Scott's announcement that the Provincial elections would be held on July 11th found the Conservatives ready for the campaign. The Conservative organization is in better shape than ever before. Men have been nominated in nearly every seat in the Province. The Liberals appear lost without Laurier behind them, while the tour of Federal Ministers, Messrs. Rogers and Roche has aroused the Conservatives to a high pitch of enthusiasm.

Even the Liberals intimate that their numbers in the House will be considerably reduced, while Mr. Haultain looks forward to a sweeping victory. Liberal organs throughout the Province, and Liberal speakers led by Premier Scott, harp on reciprocity, while, the Conservatives point out that this is an issue that has been settled and is also beyond the power of the Provincial Legislature to deal with. It is not expected to help the Liberals much.

Both parties now demand ownership of public lands, which was withheld at the formation of the Provinces by the Laurier Government. But while Scott acquiesced in Laurier's plan, Haultain always opposed the handing over of the lands of the Province to the Federal Government. The opposition leader's stand is that he is the man to go to Ottawa to ask the Dominion Government for the return of the lands, and is expected to have a serious bearing on the outcome.

The change of Government at Ottawa will have a great influence on the election here. With the force of all Liberal office-holders behind him, Scott got abare majority of the popular vote in 1908 and now the Liberals appointed to office by the Laurier administration are too busy trying to hold places to take usual active part in Provincial campaign.

PROF. FERNOW ADDRESSES COUNTY COUNCIL ON CONSERVATION

Recommended Appointment of Committee to Formulate Places. Movement is Yet in its Infancy.

A brief, but interesting address on the problem of reforestration and conservation of the woods and forests as it effects this locality was given before the County Council yesterday afternoon by Professor Fernow.

The speaker first outlined the large annual loss of trees through forest fires and illegal cutting, and showed the ruinous effect this ever-growing decrease would have upon the lumber industry in this vicinity. The attitude of the country, Prof. Fernow declared, towards these matters, were changing, and the people were beginning to realize the necessity for taking measures to prolong the existence of the Canadian woods and forests.

Peterborough County, he explained was even more interested in and effected by this matter than the neighboring county of Hastings, as in this county, the rivers and lakes provide a large amount of water power. The power itself was useless unless it could be put to some practical purpose, and one of the great uses of the power was for saw mills. The timber had been so cruelly handled that it was being nearly all used.

The first step, the speaker said, should be to organize a better, more efficient and steadier service of fire protection, and it was possible, in his opinion, to organize such a system with a thoroughness that would, to a large extent do away with the immense loss by fires. The movement in this direction was as yet in its infancy.

In dealing with the particular case as it applied to this county, Prof. Fernow suggested that first of all the county council should secure some land for experimental and conservation purposes from the Provincial Government, which owned most of the territory in question. The council could recommend to the Provincial Government that such licenses on the land that expire should be discontinued and turned over to the council. If it was owned by the people of this district they would take more interest in it. He pointed out that this, too, would result ultimately in the removal of certain tenants, that were eaking out a meagre existence on certain poor farms and that they would be enabled and assisted to secure better farms or more lucrative positions elsewhere.

The Hastings County Council have appointed a committee to go into the matter and they have already secured 60,000 acres of land from the Government.

He suggested that a committee of the Peterborough County Council be appointed to deal with the subject, and be prepared to advance or consider plans of management and conservation when certain statistical information had been arranged by the Government. They would not likely be called upon before next spring, but in the meantime they could be formulating plans.

It was decided that the County Council should appoint such a committee and this matter was left to the committee of appointments.

THE CITY WILL PAY $ FOR $ SPENT ON BOUNDARY ROADS

City Board of Works in Business Session---Railway Grade at Corner of George and Smith Streets to be Changed.

The City's Board of Works met in business session last night. Chairman Ald. Buller presided. There were present, Aldermen Gillespie, Anderson, Graham, Duffus, and Johnston.

M. Spenceley's complaint of water from the Downie street creek flowing into his premises on Edinburgh street last spring, causing considerable damage was referred to the Legal Committee for action.

North Monaghan Boundaries.

Reeve Wm. Howden, and Councillors Robertson, Morrow, May and Foster of North Monaghan waited upon the Board with a view to arranging for a satisfactory up-keep of the boundary roads. North Monaghan had previously complained that the city had not lived up to its agreement with the township, made some years ago, to bear its fair share of maintenance of these roads; hence North Monaghan had notified the City Council that hereafter that township would do no more work on the boundary roads, or hold itself responsible for their proper and safe maintenance in any way.

A brief discussion of this matter between the two committees resulted in the following definite understanding being reached:

Moved by Ald. Johnston, seconded by Ald. Graham,—That the city enter into an agreement with adjacent townships that the latter shall put in repair and maintain the boundary roads, the city to bear half the cost of such work.—Carried.

Reeve Howden here offered that North Monaghan Council will appoint a committee to inspect the boundaries jointly with the city committee, and mutually agree upon what road work is necessary.

Smith St. Railway Curve.

The City Engineer reported that the street railway company propose widening the curve at the corner of George and Smith streets 22 inches. In order to do this the track will have to be raised six inches; consequently much grading of the road will have to be done, and two crossings rebuilt, at the city's expense in accordance with its agreement with the railway company; such work would cost the city $205.

Aldermen Anderson, Graham and Johnston did not think an increase of but 22 inches in the curve would be of much benefit. Alderman Anderson had been given to understand that it would be possible to increase the radius of this curve by four feet.

Moved by Ald. Gillespie, seconded by Ald. Johnston, That this matter be left in the hands of the City Engineer and the Chairman with power to act.—Carried.

It was understood that an effort will be made to get an additional four feet in the radius of this curve, if at all practicable.

Ald. Buller's Insaliable White Elephant.

Mr Willis Chipman, engineer of Toronto, wrote asking for a settlement of the balance of his account in connection with the Romaine street sewer—Ald. Buller's white elephant.

The balance of this account up to last January amounts to $1,350. The bill for Mr. H. B. Armstrong's services in connection with the blockage in this sewer, from May 9th to May 31st sums up to $115.35.

Ald. Buller—"What are you going to do about this account, gentlemen?"

Ald Graham—"Who sent Mr. Armstrong down here from Toronto in May to enquire into the blockage in this sewer?"

A Concrete Crossing.

A concrete crossing will be laid across to Braund's store on Park street, south city.

Big Hole in Road to Be Filled Up.

That portion of Park street facing the C.G.E., between Albert and Townsend streets, where the street railway company have continued their track on to Byersville, needs considerable grading. The track bed constructed from correct levels given by the City Engineer, leaves the road way considerably and dangerously lower than the track, and consequently much filling in is imperative. The engineer was instructed to attend to this matter as soon as possible.

WHITE CAPS WON FROM KOLTS TAKING THIRD STRAIGHT GAME

The White Caps won their third straight game under the new management to-day, by copping a win from the Hamilton Kolts with a score of 6—3 in their favor. It was not exactly easy picking for Davie's followers, for the long catcher of the Kolts seemed ready to slash out a circuit hit every time he grabbed the willow. As matters stood, he did plant the ball over the fence twice, bringing in Hamilton's only counters.

The Wite Caps went away a plucky band of individually good players, but they returned a well balanced, well led team and took the game from Hamilton yesterday on form alone. They took a run in the first, but in the second a homer put the visitors in the lead. The Petes came back with another run and in the sixth innings taking advantage of Hamilton's errors they pulled four men across the pan. No more runs were scored.

Tully and Nasher had plenty of work, the "centre field" pitcher, pulled off some classy fielding work. Trout's catching was certainly up to the mark, and the fielders, particularly White, the left field artist, put up a fine exhibition of ball. The Petes could only collect five hits but made up for their inefficiency by inside baseball and base-running. The whole bunch were there like a rock and played an errorless game. They should win again to-morrow on the same form.

This is the first time in their career that the White Caps have pulled off the "three straight" stunt, and tne crowd of the season will likely greet them to-morrow when they are again billed against the Kolts.

This will raise their percentage to 321.

The standing is now:

A PATHETIC SUICIDE

Little Girl, Afraid of Punishment at School Burns Herself to Death

Baltimore, June 19.—Because she expected to be punished for lack of attention to school studies, Irene Wisner, ten years old, last night saturated her clothing with benzine and set fire to them, burning herself to death.

A note written by the child read:

"You have seen my teacher, and I know you are going to punish me. Say good-bye to my father when you see him. I have decided to end my life."

The child requested that her playthings be distributed among her playmates.

Health in POSTUM

There's no injurious CAFFEINE the drug in tea and coffee] or other harmful ingredient in this famous Table Beverage.

Thousands of housewives are learning that not only economy of purse, but better health follows the change to Postum.

Among the many common ailments caused by thoughtless habits of living are headache, listlessness, indigestion, irritability, sleeplessness and other disagreeable symptoms of disturbed nerves, digestion and circulation, often due to tea and coffee drinking.

If interested in health and the good things that naturally go with it, why not try a package of Postum from your grocer.

For seventeen years Postum has proven a good friend to former tea and coffee drinkers who felt something was wrong, but didn't know the cause.

If this fits you—
Think it over.

"There's a Reason"

Made by Canadian Postum Cereal Co., Ltd.
Windsor, Ontario, Canada.

AN OLD TIMER.
Has Had Experience.

A woman who has used Postum since it came upon the market knows from experience the wisdom of using Postum in place of tea or coffee if one values health and a clear brain. She says:

"At the time Postum was first put on the market I was suffering from nervous dyspepsia, and my physician had repeatedly told me not to use tea or coffee. Finally I decided to try his advice and try Postum. I got a package and had it carefully prepared, finding it delicious to the taste. So I continued its use, and very soon its beneficial effects convinced me of its value, for I got well of my nervousness and dyspepsia.

"My husband had been drinking coffee all his life until it had affected his nerves terribly, and I persuaded him to shift to Postum. It was easy to get him to make the change, for Postum is so delicious. It certainly worked wonders for him.

"We soon learned that Postum does not exhilarate or depress and does not stimulate, but steadily and honestly strengthens the nerves and the stomach.

"To make a long story short, our entire family continued to use Postum with satisfying results as shown in our fine condition of health."

Better health follows the use of Postum in place of tea and coffee, sometimes in a very marked manner. "There's a Reason."

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the State's area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundred of thousands of acres of its best priairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 99 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company, Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 50c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 50c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies Nugent Drug Co., 300 George St. directly opposite Creeman's store.

THE PREVAILING UNREST IN BRITAIN.

The Bishop of Birmingham said the other day that what was wanted was "some principle of economic reconstruction," and he thinks he has found it in the principle that "the adequate payment of the laborer should be the first charge upon an industry." That is a plausible formula, but what the bishop means by it in the concrete turns out to be the creation of wage boards for every industry, and the fixing of minimum rates of wages. He invites the country to repeal the law of supply and demand as though it were no better than an outworn article of faith unsuited to modern thought. But the law of supply and demand will not be so easily got rid of, and it is no good laying down the proposition that "the adequate payment of labor is to be the first charge on an industry" if its result is to render that industry unremunerative. For in such an event the industry ceases and the worker is thrown out of employment. We distrust formulae in this connection, and especially new ones. What is wanted is more of the old-fashioned virtues of fair-dealing, friendly feeling and good faith.

A GREAT HYMN.

The fact that the band of the Titanic played "Nearer, my God, to Thee," as the great ship plunged into the depths of the ocean and carried hundreds of souls into eternity, recalls the fact that when President McKinley was dying he faintly murmured the hymn, and its words were the last that fell from his lips.

The Figaro published a graphic description of a memorial meeting held in Paris in respect to the Titanic disaster, and one of the features of it was the famous sacred melody, which the French now call "The Hymn of the Titanic." The choir of Leeds, accompanied by a great orchestra, had sung the Requiem of Berlioz. Then the voices of 250 men and women thundered forth "Nearer my God, to Thee," in a spirit that seemed to make the music and the occasion sublime.

A translation from the Figaro says: "When the first notes were uttered the whole audience arose. Every face grew pale. The women covering their faces with their hands, seemed to pray or weep; a kind of shudder passed through the crowd, composed, as it was, in a great measure, of skeptics. The hymn arose ardent and inspiring. "Nearer, my God, to Thee, nearer to Thee, nearer to Thee." It was a supreme appeal to the pity of God and imagination, mingled with the night outside, with the infinite and terrible solitude of the gigantic ship, stricken to death and laden with human beings deserted by human agencies and doomed."

CHILDREN'S VIEWS ON ROADS

Many an adult, called upon to prepare a thesis on "What Good Roads Mean to Canada," would find himself nonplussed. He would know, perhaps, in a vague, indefinite way that good roads would mean much for this country, that it would make for its betterment socially, its advancement commercially, and its rapid development. He would understand that good roads would bring in a large influx of tourists, and decrease the cost of living. But if requested to state these facts in a clear, logical manner, and to draw deductions and conclusions therefrom, the average man would confess his inability to prepare a satisfactory paper.

And yet this is just what nearly five hundred of Canada's school children have done. The Canadian Highway Association, some time ago, offered valuable prizes for the best essays on "What Good Roads Mean to Canada." Evidently this was a popular subject, for students from all parts of the Dominion sent papers to the headquarters of the Association in New Westminster, including essays so carefully prepared that the judges took over two weeks to decide the three prize winners.

This inducement to the children to study the question of better roads is commendable in every way, and it is gratifying that this first propaganda among the young people has met with such signal success.

In their report the judges mention the thoroughness with which the children treated the subject, and instance the stress the children placed upon the social aspect. Canada, perhaps unconciously, is striving for a higher moral plane, and the children recognize the factor that Good Roads would be in this. The boy of to-day is the man of to-morrow. The Good Roads question will not be settled in this or the next decade, and the study of the subject which the preparation of these essays has involved on the part of the young people will inculcate in them a desire for better roads, which will not be eradicated by the passing of time. Some day some of the children whose essays have just given the Westminster judges such a trying time will be occupying high places in the Dominion. Some will be reeves or councillors of municipalities, some mayors or aldermen of cities, some will be members of Parliament, one may be Premier of Canada. Because of this study of the question in their youth they will have a truer, clearer knowledge of conditions than could otherwise have been the case, and the result of their study in 1912 will make for the benefit and the betterment of their communities ten or twenty years hence. The Canadian Highway Association has already accomplished much commendable work, but it is doubtful if its propaganda and its deputations to parliament will have done as much to awaken the public conscience as this offer of medals to the children of Canada.

That Stab-Like Pain in the Back is Sure Indication of Kidney Trouble

Mrs. Anna Rodriguez writes as follows from her home in Valencia:

"For a long time I suffered with failing strength and nagging headaches. My condition grew steadily worse, my limbs became bloated and shaky, I was sallow, and thin, felt rheumatic pains, dizziness and chills. I unfortunately didn't suspect my kidneys, and was nearly dead when I discovered the true cause of my sufferings. I read so much about the wonderful health and strength that comes to all who use Dr. Hamilton's Pills I felt sure they would help me. Such blessings of health and comfort I got from Dr. Hamilton's Pills I can't describe. They speedily put me right, and their steady use keeps me active, energetic, strong and happy. I strongly urge others to regulate and tone their system with Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut."

No greater medicine exists than Dr Hamilton's Pills for the cure of indigestion, constipation, flatulence, liver, bladder and kidney trouble. Refuse substitutes for Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c per box, or five boxes for $1.00 at all dealers or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

HOW TO RENOVATE PARASOLS.

Dainty Touches That Simple Needlework Will Effect.

If your last summer parasols are too dilapidated to use get them out and study their possibilities. Some whose covering is only soiled, not faded, may be cleaned and freshened by embroidery or a covering of net or chiffon; others may need new tops. The latter can be added at home by a skilled needlewoman, but if distrustful of one's ability do the embroidery first and take the frame and covering to a professional to be mounted.

Remember that the distance between spokes may vary, so in removing the cover mark a certain spoke with a thread and number the sections from that. In this way it will be easy to get the new cover in its right position.

Cut each section from the old one, allowing a trifle more for seams if the edges have been cut. Baste carefully, fit to the frame, then sew the seams firmly, and the cover is ready for its embroidery or further decoration.

This may be done before mounting or after the cover is firmly tacked to the frame. When a design is detached each section can be worked before the panels are basted together. For braiding it is easier to mount the cover than work with both hands, as on a standard frame.

A plain white linen parasol may be given a decided air by working in the panels sprays of flowers in eyelet embroidery and outline for the seams or entirely in solid embroidery. An effective parasol of white pongee has bunches of wild carrot worked in the panels. Two sizes of sprays are used, a bold one in every alternate panel, with a single flower on the others. The flower panicles are worked in French knot in heavy Roman floss, the foliage done in slanting satin stitch.

A parasol of pale gray linen was given a fine inch border of deep rose sewed on the outside of the parasol. The joining was concealed by a line of wild roses worked in several tones of pink with pale yellow centres and green stems.

Any linen or silk parasol could be changed by adding a similar border in a deeper tone of its own shade or in a contrasting color. Harmonise the two sections by a conventional design worked in self tones. A violet linen cover could have a deep purple border and vines of clematis worked in purple shades.

Wanted Silk Hats Abolished.

Some years ago an attempt was made by certain members of the municipal council of Courteuil, France, to make the wearing of a top hat illegal, the grounds set forth for the measure being that the sight of a silk hat is a humiliation to those who cannot afford to wear one, that it is both unbeautiful and unnecessary as an article of attire and also, chiefly, because it is worn mostly by aristocrats who live by the sweat of the poor and militated against equality among citizens of the republic. A fine of 5 francs was the proposed penalty for wearing the condemned headgear, but the "topper" found friends at court, and the measure was rejected.

The Waiter Understood.

They were lunching together, and the talk turned to superstition.

"When you made that boast just now," said one of the party, "you should have knocked on wood to drive away the evil spirits that are envious of human happiness."

"Is that what it's for?"

"Yes. It's an old German custom. You rap on wood three times. Say, that waiter of ours looks like a German. Rap three times and see if he doesn't understand it."

The other man rapped.
The waiter understood it.
He brought three beers.

An Old Banking House.

Child's Bank is one of the oldest private banks in London. No. 1 Fleet street was once a goldsmith's shop, and is said to have been changed into a bank in the time of Sir Francis Child, once Lord Mayor of London. Even now the custom exists of calling the front of the bank "the shop," and the back, where the ledgers are kept, the "counting house." Another old custom still kept up is that of three junior partners and two salaried partners sleeping on the premises in rotation. Thus one of the partners is always on hand if needed.

Consoling.

Elderly Wooer—I hope you are not impressed by the silly sentimentalists who hold that because you've married once you ought not to marry again?

Pretty Widow—Don't let that worry you, dear. I've no such prejudice. My own dear mother was married three times, and I only hope that in all things I may follow her example.

What She Lacked.

A superintendent of a Sunday school relates the following incident.

The title of the lesson was "The Rich Young Man" and the golden text "One thing thou lackest." A lady teacher in the primary class asked a little tot to repeat the two, and, looking earnestly in the teacher's face, the child unblushingly told her, "One thing thou lackest — a rich young man."

She Surrendered.

"Do you know," he said, "that every time I look at you I have thoughts of revenge?"

"Why?" she gasped.

"Because," he answered, "revenge is sweet."

Then she told him she thought tomorrow would be a good time to see papa.—London Telegraph.

A Slur.

"See, I am familiar with your music," remarked the amateur at the musicale the other evening.

"It seems so," replied the popular composer. "You are taking liberties with it."

The Great Ice Age.

It has been known during a long time that in western Europe man existed during the glacial epoch. We now know that the great ice age consisted of different glacial times separated by interglacial times. In glacial times the snow line dropped 3,000 feet or 4,000 feet below its present level in the Alps, whereas in interglacial periods it lay about 1,000 feet higher than at present. Thus the temperature seems to have been higher in the interglacial periods than it is now.

NORSEMEN NEEDED.

New Ontario Requires the Scandinavian Peoples.

"Ontario is now obtaining a larger proportion of the right sort of men and women from the United Kingdom whom we require; this result is largely due, I think, to the good accounts that are sent 'home' by those who have settled in the most British province of the Dominion since we established headquarters in London and organized a campaign throughout Greater Britain." Mr. C. C. James, C.M.G., former Deputy Minister of Agriculture in the Ontario Government, made these remarks to a representative of the press not long ago. "Now that the superior opportunities Ontario can offer various classes of intending emigrants are becoming better appreciated, we hope to use the machinery of our agencies on this side more effectually in sending the right people to the right localities. For instance, my visit to Norway, Sweden, and Denmark has confirmed an impression I formed on my first short visit to these areas two years ago that there is a large Scandinavian population who will find in the prolific virgin soil of the newly-opened areas of Northern Ontario, climatic and other conditions similar to those in which their present persevering, intelligent hard work leaves them only a bare subsistence. While I should be very careful as to what British agriculturists I advised to settle in Northern Ontario, I think it would be difficult to make a mistake in encouraging Scandinavian emigrants to these areas, and the more of this class of foreign settlers we can get into Northern Ontario the better it will be for the province, and, indeed, for the Dominion as a whole.

"Ontario has become a great manufacturing province, by far the largest in Canada, and her growth in this regard is increasing more and more. The one thing in which Ontario has been deficient, and for which she has had to depend upon the adjoining states, is coal, but the great water powers, and the distribution of electric power will soon make the province well-nigh independent of the coal fields of Pennsylvania. That Northern Ontario also has its part to play has been shown by the recent mining developments in the Cobalt area and the Porcupine district; its local markets will in time be unexcelled. For the present we advise the British newcomer to spend a year or two in Southern Ontario before taking up land in the area more remote from conditions as to schools, neighborly intercourse, and general routine, than those he has been accustomed to in Britain. Toronto, our capital, it should always be remembered, is within seven days' reach of London, and in the centre of the most thickly populated area of all Canada. Our manufacturing industries are growing so rapidly in the area that the agriculturist is sure of his market. But speaking as Deputy Minister of Agriculture, responsible for advice to the emigrant, it is to the agriculturist, the domestic servant, and the prudent investor, that we hold out the most inducements."

As illustrating the extent of the organization of Ontario's Department of Agriculture, for the benefit alike of the new-comer and the native born, it may be mentioned that it has fifteen district representatives in various parts of the province, and there are eleven separate branches, managed by experts in dairying, live stock, fruit growing, or co-operating with farmers' institutes, agricultural societies, and women's institutes.

"The latest addition to the Agricultural Department," concluded Mr. James, "is a veterinary college, which will shortly have a new building in Toronto, and add to the opportunities afforded at Guelph, at Kingston, and Toronto, for the most practical education to be given upon reasonable terms, to the sons and daughters of those who decide to cast in their lot with the prospering Province of Ontario."

Mr. James was recently appointed a Companion of the Order of St. Michael and St. George, upon the recommendation of the Governor-General, Earl Grey, as a recognition of his general services in promoting the scientific promotion of agriculture in the Dominion.

TO KEEP SKIN WHITE, VELVETY, WRINKLE-FREE.

(Aunt Sally in Woman's Realm)

C.M.W. says "My arms are so coarse and rough I cannot wear short sleeves. What do you advise?" The treatment recommended to "Annie" will doubtless overcome this condition:

A.F.G. asks: "What should I do for crow's feet and for a baggy neck?" Try a wash lotion made by dissolving 1 ounce powdered saxolite in ½ pint witch hazel. This is immediately effective in any wrinkled or flabby condition. Use daily for a while and results will surprise you.

Anise: A simple way to keep your skin smooth, soft and white is to apply ordinary mercolized wax before retiring, washing it off in the morning. This keeps the face free from the particles of lifeless cuticle which constantly appear. The wax absorbs these worn-out particles, so the younger, fresher, healthier skin is always in view. An ounce of mercolized wax may be had at small cost at any drug store. Use like cold cream.

BREAKING THE RULES.

It's the Wise Man Who Knows When to Jump the Track.

"You trumped my ace," said the engineer accusingly when the game was finished and the postmortems were on.

"Well, what of it?" truculently demanded the oracle. "Didn't we win?"

"Yes, but according to all the rules of which"—

"We didn't break any of the rules regulating what you can and can't do. We broke only one regulating what you should do. There's a difference."

"Nevertheless, according to all the rules of the best authorities"—

"According to the rules of the best authorities," the oracle declared, "we didn't have the ghost of a show to win that hand. It was my trumping your ace that made is possible—our winning. I broke the rules, if you wish, but I played fair, and we won.

"In life it's exactly the same as in cards. Stick to the rules and you'll stick in one place. It's the wise man who knows when to break them. I don't mean breaking the rules of fairness and honesty. I means the rules set up by the so-called authorities. I'll bet you when Alexander conquered the world all the old wiseacres shook their heads and remarked that he wasn't observing the time-honored rules of warfare. We know what they said about Napoleon when he fought in winter, and we also know how vexed Braddock's men were with the red men who wouldn't stand up and be shot in the open, but insisted on getting behind trees.

"When you stick by the rules you're like everybody else and you'll never get you name in the papers. When you know when to bust the rules you begin to climb. There never was a successful writer or adventurer or soldier or lawyer who didn't leave whole wastes of broken rules behind him in his progress. And when the conventional old wiseacres got a new set made to fit the new situation somebody else came along and spoiled them all over again.

"Suppose you have a job where you don't need to think. Tradition has made it a rule that a man in that place shouldn't think. By and by you rise. If you'd stuck to that rule you'd stick in the nonthinking job. The men who do the impossible, the men who give us light and gas and printing presses and trolley cars and phonographs and such like things, are all rule breakers. They broke the rule of precedent, of tradition, of doubt, of fear. They wouldn't be stopped by what others had decided were limitations. They went ahead, and if the rules didn't fit the thing they were seeking to accomplish the rules went by the board."

Sewing Room Sayings.

Dressmakers' superstitions are as numerous in the sewing room as the pins and needles about which they circulate. Some of them sound as if they might have originated out of the need of placating the powers that be in case of accident. For instance, if a new gown slips out of the operator's hands and falls to the floor "it is a sign" that the gown will be sold quickly. Still another saw that carries placation on the face of it is the one that promises that if you spill a box of pins "it is a sign" that customers are coming.

THE SAILOR CRAB.

Goes to Sea on Long Voyages on the Backs of Giant Turtles.

Among the many curious crabs there is perhaps none more interesting than the sailor crab, a name applied to it because it goes to sea on long voyages, which it makes on the backs of big green turtles and giant loggerheads.

The sailor crab is a little fellow with a body three-quarters of an inch or an inch in length. With its claws extended it might measure an inch and a half. It is a very pretty crab indeed, with color markings that are various; it may be found with a shell all yellow, or with a shell of dark colors with lighter shadings like those of finished tortoise shell; or it may have a mottled shell, or a shell whose coloring resembles that of veined marble. It seems all the prettier seen amid its rough surroundings on the big loggerhead's dingy brown shell.

The big loggerhead, with a top shell five, six or seven feet in length, may afford a floating home for various other living things. Barnacles attach to it and marine vegetation that lodges on its back sticks there and thrives. Some day when the big turtle, with all this life on its back, swims into shallower waters to feed, or works its way through some floating mass of seaweed, one or two sailor crabs may come aboard, shipping thus for a long voyage.

The sailor crab finds food among the meadows or forests of vegetation on its island, or in the scraps that come to it from the turtle's table. It might seem that the big loggerhead couldn't catch fish, but it is a great swimmer, and it will smash into a school of fish and snap up what it wants, and scraps from this float back to lodge on the turtle's back and there furnish food for the sailor. So the sailor crab at sea on the turtle's back is likely to get enough to eat, but it has to be always on the lookout not to be swept off the ship's deck in heavy weather, and so be lost in the ocean or devoured by some predatory monster of the deep.

A Japanese Decoration.

Speaking of New Year's celebrations in Japan, the Traveler's Gazette says: "Before each house entrance stand two pines, on the right a red stemmed one and on the left a black pine. Beside the pine trees stand slender bamboo canes, and the trees are joined above with a festoon of paper fringe and straw rope, ornamented with yellow, bitter oranges, bits of charcoal, lobsters and large bunches of red berries. This decoration is supposed to bring good luck."

Cooked In a Knapsack.

Charles XII. of Sweden invented the first portable military fireless cooker. He had a knapsack lined with hay to strap to a soldier's back. When starting on a march a big chicken was split open and the inside dressed clean and then filled with butter. In the chicken was placed a small cannon ball of hot iron. The hot cooking chicken was then placed in the hay knapsack. When the camp was pitched at evening the meat was deliciously cooked and all soaking in butter.

HE PLAYS GOOD BALL.

Fred. F. Pardee, M.P., Is No Mean Hand at the Bat.

One sees such gatherings in the great and growing West. To the easterner they are strange—thrilling, but un-understandable. The "oldest inhabitant," who was on the spot when the "city" was laid out, just four and a half years before, explained that the audience was composed of no less than seven nationalities, a conglomerate collection from the Old World and the New. They had turned out, three thousand strong, to greet the then Prime Minister of Canada on his visit to the prairies in the summer of 1910. But their attention for the time being was focussed upon an earnest young speaker summoned from the background by his leader to bespeak the mission of the tour.

There were men, women and children, of different races of diversified ideals, of individual aims and aspirations. They had come together—the large majority of them—out of curiosity. It was a mammoth meeting, taxing the capacity of the typical prairie rink, but it was impersonal, segregated, chaotic. Then the young man spoke. He was not an orator, but he had a message. His greeting was direct, personal, sympathetic. And when he sat down the gathering was unified and enthusiastic. It was one and won.

Just behind the press table sat a hoary-headed stalwart who had glued his right hand to his ear as a sounding funnel throughout the address. Everything about him proclaimed the Fatherland. His accent was pronounced.

"Ach!" he exclaimed, leaning forward and placing his big hand on the arm of a nearby newspaper man. "Who it iss?"

He was told. He nodded his head decisively, "Goodt, goodt," he repeated. "Dat young man hass un future!"

The Young Man with the Future was Mr Fred F. Pardee, K.C., member for West Lambton and chief whip of the Liberal party in the House of Commons. He is 44 years of age—and young for his years. He has all the vigor and enthusiasm of youth, tempered with the wisdom of an early and successful Parliamentary career. He was born for politics, for his father was the late Hon. T. B. Pardee, Minister of Crown Lands in the heyday of the Mowat administration in Ontario. But Fred. is not the son of his father in the sense so frequently evidenced in public life. He stands on his own feet. He has come to the front on his own merit. He has made good on his own account.

Yet the chief whip is no exponent of the all-work-and-no-play doctrine. No man is more ready to enjoy to the full his hours of relaxation and recreation. Once the task of the hour is off his hands he is ready to participate in the lighter things of congenial camaraderie. And he is always ready for a turn in healthy outdoor sport, and still looks the athlete he was in his college days. It was he, it may be remembered, who captained the Parliamentary team that took the measure of the newspaper men in that memorable baseball contest on the prairie diamond at Melville during the tour to which reference has been made. Mr. Pardee marshalled a phenomenal team, including one Provincial Prime Minister, one member of the Dominion Cabinet, one ex-Speaker of the Western Legislature, one Senator and several members of the House of Commons. He played first base himself—and played it without a glove! The press still charges its unexpected defeat to the support tendered the Parliamentary pitcher, Hon. Geo. P. Graham, by the man on first base, who "pulled down the high ones" with one hand, and "scooped up the grounders" with the clean-cut perfection of a connoisseur. Moreover, the newspaper fielders learned to "move away back" when the chief whip came to bat.—H W. Anderson in The Canadian Courier.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

PHYSIOGNOMY.

How Your Character Is Written In Your Face.

In your forehead and eyes the accomplished character reader scans the pages of an open book. It is you yourself who are telling him of your character, be it stable or unsteady, heroic or cowardly. He knows that if your head is justly proportioned to the rest of your body it reveals steadiness and force of character; if too large, that it usually indicates grossness and stupidity.

If it is too small it tells of feebleness and ineptitude of mind, if not of constitution. The physiognomy of your forehead is seen in the form of the frontal bone, its height and proportion, regularity or irregularity. This indicates the disposition and measure of your facilities, your method of thinking and feeling. Pathognomy is to be studied in the skin, its color, tension, and relaxation. It gives evidence of the passions, the actual state of the spirit within, and the use it has made of its natural gifts.

Foreheads seen in profile may be divided into three broad classes—those that are projecting above, flat on the eyebrows, those retreating from behind well-developed brows, and those perpendicular. Generally speaking, people with prominent eyebones act promptly, on the judgment, perhaps the passion of the moment. But they err very seldom, for their gifts of intuition and extremely rapid deduction guide them rightly.

High foreheads, lacking in this quick spirit, pause and consider the matter before taking action, and, being less imaginative, less passionate, less resourceful and tactful, they cannot afford to make mistake.

The man of action has a short forehead and prominent brows; the man of intellect high, well-developed temples. A forehead square on the temples and retreating into the hair on either side is indicative of lasting memory and well-balanced judgment.

The typical forehead of a leader of men is that of Viscount Kitchener—short, compressed, with prominent eye-bones and thick, straight brows, square and receding on the temples. People with this manner of forehead cannot fail to judge character of circumstances with quickness and accuracy; they store away observations in a retentive memory and act on conclusions with promptness and decision.

It is singular to note that Bismarck and Li Hung Chang both showed the distinctive signs of immense cuteness and genius for intrigue namely, the eye-bones that project so sharply as to cause the hair of the brows to bristle outwards—and the careers of these two statesmen stand in corroboration.

But it is the eyes of the individual which afford most reward to the character-reader.

Eyes are the mirror of the soul. Dividing them into two general classes—light and dark—it may be safely put forward that the dark indicate power, the light delicacy.

Black eyes, it may be stated, are not really black, but of so deep an orange that they seem black contrasted with the white surrounding them. Sometimes they appear dull and sluggish, but the passions they denote are only slumbering. With sparkling black eyes the mental faculties of the individual are brisk and his temperament is vivacious. Clear blue eyes mark the possessor of temperate desires, and, other intellectual indications being equal, what they may lack in power and passion stands for versatility and subtlety. Green eyes, though often fascinating, are dangerous, for they are the token of deceit and coquetry; while the hazel eye shows steadiness and the capacity for constant affection.

The Tea Problem.

"Is tea harmful?"

"Sometimes it drives a man from home," replied Mr Cumrox solemnly. "It all depends on whether your wife is content to drink it or insists on giving it to one."

Caught In His Own Trap.

Mother—Why, what is the matter, Johnny? What are you crying about? Johnny—Teacher made me sit in her chair on the platform today, just because I whispered once. Mother—Well, I don't see anything dreadful in that. You have had to sit there before. Johnny—But there was tacks in her chair today! I'd just put 'em there for her to sit on.—Judge.

Must Wait Fifty Years.

E. D. Armour wrote to the Toronto Board of Control recently offering the city a century plant, which, he said, had been in the possession of his family for fifty years.

The board accepted with thanks and recommended that the plant be placed in the Allan Gardens.

"It will bloom in fifty years," said the mayor.

A Good Storyteller.

Lord Coventry is a celebrated storyteller, and recounts the episode of a conversation which a friend had with a Scotsman, who prided himself upon his ability as a weather prophet: "We're gaun to have rain for seventy-twa days, sir," said the prophet. "Oh, no," replied the other. "It only took 40 days to flood the world entirely." "Aye, aye," answered the man, "but the world was no' sae weel drained as it is now."

Another of his stories is: Revision sessions were proceeding, when from an adjoining cathedral the bells announced the wedding of a prominent Unionist. The barrister (after listening for a time) asked, "What is the meaning of all this ringing?" and the reply furnished was "It is only in honor of two Unionists embracing Home Rule."

Couldn't Do It.

The pianist engaged to play at a "smoker" which was held recently played by ear and was famed for his accompaniments to songs of all kinds. He maintained his reputation until a young fellow was called upon to favor the company with a comic song. The would-be comedian had a very tuneless voice and, being nervous, forgot some of the words.

The result was he gave the first verse in three different keys, and when he broke down at the chorus he had the cheek to blame the pianist, saying "You're putting me off. If you can't play better than that I'll sing without the piano."

"You'll have to," replied the pianist sarcastically. "I can't accompany a stump speech."

FISHING FOR CROCODILES.

Pointed Bars of Baited Wood Used For Hooking the Reptiles.

Under ordinary circumstances the Dyaks of Borneo ask nothing more of the crocodiles that infest their rivers than to be left alone. Nobody thinks of catching or disturbing any of the creatures until one of them has begun to display a taste for human flesh. Then the professional crocodile catcher is called in, and crocodiles are caught and killed until the discovery of some of the brass arm ornaments, which every Dyak wears, in the stomach of one of the victims shows that the man-eater has at last been caught. E. H. Gomes in The National Geographic Magazine describes the curious way of hooking the great reptiles.

A piece of hard wood ten inches long and an inch or so in diameter is sharpened to a point at both ends. A length of plaited baru bark some eight feet long is tied to a shallow notch in the middle of this piece of wood, and a single rattan forty or fifty feet long is tied to the end of the bark rope, forming a long line.

The most irresistible bait is the carcass of a monkey, although the body of a dog or snake is often used. The more overpowering the stench the better—the crocodile will eat only putrefying flesh. The bait is securely lashed to the pointed bar and one of the ends of the bar is tied with a few turns of cotton thread to the bark rope, bringing bar and rope into the same straight line.

Next the bait is suspended from the bough of a tree overhanging the river. The rattan line is left lying on the ground, one end of it firmly fixed in the soil.

Attracted either by smell or sight, a crocodile raises himself from the water and snaps at the bundle, the slack line making no resistance till the bait is swallowed and the animal begins to swim off. Then the planted end of the lines holds till the thread binding the pointed stick to the bark rope snaps. The stick at once returns to its natural position at right angles to the rope and becomes jammed across the crocodiles' stomach, the two points fixing themselves in the flesh.

A firm pull will soon bring the crocodile to the surface and so on shore, for the pain which every pull at the rope causes constrains him to follow docilely after the drag of the rope.

As soon as he is landed the animal is addressed by the catcher in most eulogistic language, that he may be beguiled into offering no resistance. He is called "a rajah among animals" and told that he has come on a friendly visit and must conduct himself accordingly.

First the creature's jaws are tied up, not a very difficult thing to do. Then the crocodile catcher, still pouring forth compliments upon his prey, tells him he will give him rings for his fingers—and binds the creature's hind legs fast behind his back, so as to deprive him of his grip on the ground and his ability to use his powerful tail. This takes no little courage and skill. Finally the fore legs are tied in the same way, a stout pole is passed under the legs, and Master Crocodile is carried off to the nearest government station, where the bounty is paid.

The moment the crocodile is safely bound the language of flattery and compliment ceases, and the Dyaks begin to howl and jeer at him, deriding him for his stupidity and helplessness.

Damp Salt Before Rain.

Very few persons know that when the salt gets damp it is either because it is too near the sea or because it is going to rain. It is very hard to keep the salt cellar dry at the seashore, as there is so much moisture in the air all the time, but in other places it is usually a sign of rain when the salt gets damp. Things that help themselves to the water in the air are called "deliquescent," and salt is one of them. When water is in the air in the form of gas it sometimes become too plentiful for the air to hold, and then we get what is called "precipitation," or rain. But long before the water vapor in the air is heavy enough to fall in rain there is enough of it to spare to make salt damp.

When Robespierre Was "Stung."

Under the terror Robespierre used to play a peaceful game of chess at the Cafe Regence, and the story is told of a youth who once challenged him and beat him twice. Robespierre after his defeat asked how much he owed, no stakes having been previously fixed. The supposed youth, who in reality was a girl in man's clothes, presented an order for the release of her lover from prison, and Robespierre signed it. Napoleon Bonaparte during his consulship was seen at the famous cafe, but he showed himself no tactician at chess.

Slum Dwellers Doubt.

Speaking at Palmer's Green recently, Mr. Will Crooks, M.P., related a conversation he had with a poverty-stricken slum-dweller. "You're a unit of the Empire on which the sun never sets," said Mr. Crooks to the woman.

"Nah, Bill, don't come it," was the sneer. "Then what abart our old court, where the sun never comes?" Mr. Crooks was beaten. "It is man who shuts God's sunshine out," added Woolwich's member.

ARE WATCHING TICKS.

British Columbia Insect Is Under Careful Expert Scrutiny.

In reference to the reported statement of J. W. Cockle of Kaslo, B.C., to the effect that the woodticks which abound in British Columbia carry germs which cause spinal meningitis and beri-beri, and that the bite of these insects is sometimes fatal, which statement has caused considerable alarm in British Columbia, Dr. C. Gordon Hewitt, Dominion entomologist, states:

"While I do not know what statement Mr. Cockle made, I can most emphatically state that the woodticks have not been shown to have any relation to either spinal meningitis or the tropical disease of beri-beri. The real facts are as follows: For some time the division of entomology has been investigating the distribution and habits of the Rocky Mountain spotted fever tick. Mr. Cockle has kindly sent, at my request, specimens of woodticks which I have identified as this species. Specimens of the same species have also been sent to me from other districts in British Columbia.

"This tick has been shown to be the carrier of the organism or germ which causes the disease known as Rocky Mountain spotted fever, prevalent in certain regions of Montana and Idaho, from 5 to 70 per cent. of the cases proving fatal, according to the locality.

"So far as I have been able to discover, no certain case of this disease has been reported in Canada, but the possibility of its introduction or discovery at any time made it desirable that the distribution and habits of this germ-bearing tick should be investigated, and such an investigation is now being carried on.

"I am anxious to have reports from any medical men of cases of diseases which they suspect of being traceable to the bites of ticks, and also specimens of woodticks, under which term several species are included."

A Hint.

Pupil (to schoolmaster)—Sir, would you mind taking great care how you draw up my report? My parents suffer dreadfully from nerves. — Fliegende Blatter.

The usual fortune of complaint is to excite contempt more than pity.—Johnson.

A Thoughtful Sentry.

When the sergeant of the guard came round on his visits the green sentry was nowhere to be seen. The sergeant was about to depart to make inquiries when there came a rustling noise from a heap of straw, and the sentry stood before him minus his boots and looking very sleepy. "Hello!" cried the sergeant. "Where were you when I came round just now?" "Marching round," was the sentry's reply, giving in tones of conscious virtue. "Marching round, were you? Why, you've got your boots off." "Yes, sergeant, I took 'em off so's I should not wake the 'osses."

Parnell and Thirteen.

Parnell was a believer in the thirteen superstition. There is a familiar story of his positively refusing during an election campaign with Tim Healy to occupy a bedroom numbered 13. While in Kilmainham there was submitted to him by his colleague the draft of a bill amending the Irish land act. On discovering that the clauses counted up to thirteen he threw down the manuscript with a gesture of terror and refused to have anything to do with it.

Modern Beauty.

A young man the other day said to his best girl:

"I visited that fashionable palmist this afternoon, and he told me I'd marry a blond."

The girl, who was very dark, said thoughtfully:

"Did he say when the marriage would take place?"

"Yes; in three months."

"Well, I can easily be a blond by that time, dear," said the girl with a shy smile.

Fish Surgery.

Although the fish doctor probably finds less demand for his services than the practitioner of any other branch of the medical profession, his duties are of a most important character, and his knowledge of the diseases and biology of the fish must be profound. Fish surgery is one of the least known of the various departments of surgical work. It requires a most delicate handling of instruments and a minute knowledge of the anatomy of the fish.

Two of a Kind.

"How did you ever come to marry, old man? Thought you'd determined to stay single?"

"I had, but I was introduced one day to a girl who had determined never to marry, and our thoughts seemed to harmonize so completely that—well, we married each other."

So Much For Mamma.

Papa—I hear you were a bad girl to-day and had to be whipped.

Small Daughter—Mamma is awful strict. If I'd 'a' knowed she used to be a schoolteacher I'd 'a' told you not to marry her.

Uncle Dan's Big Feet.

One of the prominent figures in the Canadian Senate is the Hon. Daniel Derbyshire, who stands over six feet and is broad in proportion. He has a buoyant manner and his interruptions when a member of the House of Commons and in committee created a great deal of mirth. Sir Wilfrid christened him "Uncle Dan," and the name stuck. As "Uncle Dan" he was introduced to Lord Roberts at the Tercentenary at Quebec, and Sir Wilfrid could not repress a smile when he saw Uncle Dan, with his six feet six, and Bobs, the diminutive hero of Kandahar and Pretoria, walking together.

Everyone acquainted with "Uncle Dan" knows that he is celebrated for his glad hand, cheery smile, large heart, and his big "understanding." Relating to this last, a good story is told of his earlier days. He was visiting cheese factories at Lyn, and meeting in with a friend, the latter accompanied him to the station. They reached the depot before the train was due, and filled in the time walking up and down oblivious to the curious glances of two Americans on the platform.

This tale relates to the days when boots were made with extension or grass edges, and Mr. Derbyshire, who has a large foot, wore a pair of these, which were apparently size nineteen.

As soon as Mr. Derbyshire left the station, the Americans approached the friend and inquired if the big gentleman lived across the St. Lawrence. "No," he answered. "Why?" They replied that they were sure he lived across the river, and that he had on a pair of scows to ferry him across.—Star Weekly.

Bachelor Parsons.

The young unmarried minister is the most carefully watched bachelor of them all. He has to guard his every move, or some one will start a story that he has at last fallen in love, or is engaged to marry some girl or other. He is also the victim of his friends' practical jokes, and sometimes he is his own victim. Last Sunday morning Rev. W. A. Cameron of Bloor Street Baptist Church was responsible for a laugh on himself when he announced hymn No. 44 in the Baptist hymnal, and began to read it to the congregation. He got as far as the middle of the third verse, when he suddenly stopped, his face went crimson, and with more than usual vehemence he again announced "Hymn 44," while the whole audience smiled. The verse at which he balked reads thus:

"For the protected gift of life,
For reason; for home's sheltering bower,
For the strong love of child and wife,
We praise Thy power."

Parliamentary Wits.

There are some promising recruits to the select circle of humorists on both sides of the House of Commons. B. R. Hepburn, of Picton, who redeemed the county of Prince Edward for the Conservatives, came within an ace of breaking up the solemn proceedings attending the summoning of the Commons to the Senate Chamber for prorogation recently. Major Chambers, he of the Black Rod, knee breeches, silk stockings, and exquisite bows, had performed his duty in resonant English and faultless French, and Col. Harry Smith, with his gold chain of office, clanking sword, and glittering medals, swung the heavy mace to his shoulder. Hepburn was watching the time-honored ceremony with the curiosity of a new member, and just as the Sergeant-at-Arms shouldered the emblem of authority, he yelled out "Carried." Even Dr. Sproule—in a few moments to face royalty as the representative of the free and equal Commoners—could not refrain from smiling.—Saturday Night.

The Lost.

When a fellow has discovered that all his loose change has filtered through a hole in his trousers pocket it is nearly impossible to get him to accept the scientific proposition that nothing is ever lost.

A Blade of Grass.

As an English writer has written: "Whenever you can find a single blade of grass, however small, there you stand face to face with the mystery of life and all the responsibilities of existence. It is of more interest than many of the stars, for, if astronomy is right, some stars are ceaselessly burning, and therefore, beautiful as they are from a distance, life upon them (in the sense in which we understand life) is impossible. The roots of the humblest blade of grass go down to the beginning of life in the world, and its tip points to the sky. If you should chance to find a blade of grass withering in a rocky place carry it a little water for the sake of the thoughts that spring from it."

Horrible Examples.

Slang not only becomes English, but sound English becomes slang. When Landor was reading "Aurora Leigh" he wrote to John Forster that it was a great poem, "but there are a few flies on its surface." From that it is some distance to the contemporary lyric:

There are no flies on me.
There may be on you
A bushel or two.
There are no flies on me.

So when the poet Henley complained "there is a wheel within my head" he little knew what a horrific future his metaphor was to see.—Collier's.

Pot Roast.

Use any kind of meat. Put into an iron pot a tablespoonful of meat fryings or butter; let it brown; wash off the roast and put into the pot. After it begins to fry, pour in enough water to half cover the meat; season with pepper and salt; cover and stew slowly. As the meat begins to fry, add more water; turn it often, and cook about three hours. A half hour before serving add either Irish or sweet potatoes or turnips; allow to brown with meat. If turnips are added prepare browned sweet potatoes separately.

Playing Two Roles.

Towne—Dr. Post is at work on a collection of poems now.

Browne—Nonsense! Why, he's a humdrum old doctor of medicine and never—

Towne—I know, but he is also coroner. He's examining the poems to see what there was in them to induce the editor to shoot the writer of them.

Utah's Lofty Mountains.

The Uinta range is one of the most impressive in the United States. King's peaks tower above great canyons and capacious amphitheaters, reaching a height of 13,496 and 13,498 feet. Mount Emmons is but slightly less elevated, with an altitude of 13,428 feet, while many other peaks rise above 13,000 feet. Considered in its past and present, the region of the Uinta mountains is a wonderful country, deeply interesting geologically, of great economic importance, picturesque and beautiful. Traveling westward after long miles of commonplace scenery, the Uintas loom up grandly, while features of beauty are the innumerable lakes and meadows made possible by the glacial scouring. From the summit of Bald mountain, for instance, four great basins extend before the eye. Nestling among the pine forests at least seventy lakes may be counted. Scattered throughout the forests there are also numerous meadows. Above the forests rise some of the most majestic peaks of the Uintas. — Guy Elliott Mitchell, United States Geological Survey, in Leslie's.

Summed Up.

The New Brunswick Legislative Assembly, during its sessions at the time of the Boer War, rose and sang "God Save the Queen" on every occasion that a British victory was announced.

Towards the close of the war the members were at all times prepared to sing. About this time the Hon. H. R. Emmerson, Premier of the province, was called to a Cabinet position at Ottawa. Mr. Tweedie fell heir to the Premiership, and Dr. Pugsley was to contest Mr. Emmerson's seat.

A French-Canadian member of a Nationalist tendency—now out of politics—a sharp-tongued wit, summed up the shift in speaking to the court stenographer:

"I hear dat Hemmerson goes on de Cabinet hat Hottawa, and dat Tweedie bees de new Premier, and dat Pugsley gets Hemmerson's seat—God save de Queen."—Canadian Courier.

How and Why It Rains.

Rain is an accumulation of the tiny particles of the vapor of the atmosphere into drops. These drops, first small of size, attract others of their kind and become drops of such magnitude that they fall to the earth because of their weight. There is a limit to the quantity of water which the air is capable of absorbing and retaining as invisible vapor. Warm air is able to hold more than cold air; hence when the air which is saturated with moisture becomes cold for any reason whatever it can no longer retain its moisture. A portion must under such condition accumulate into drops. These fall to the earth in the shape of rain.

His Literary Taste.

The young man looked about the book department in some dismay.

"What you got in good stories?" he asked.

"Here is an excellent romance—a detective story," replied the brisk young woman. "I'm quite sure you will like it."

The young man looked doubtful.

"It's got a red cover," he said, "an' th' last book in a red cover I read was punk. Ain't you got nothin' in green?"

THERE WAS NO ANSWER.

The Welsh Member's Question Was a Puzzle to Parliament.

Some years ago a question was under discussion in parliament as to the need of having county court judges in Wales who could speak the Welsh language. Some of the English members contended that there was not the slightest necessity for it. An English speaking judge would in all cases do exactly as well as a native, they said. Mr. Abraham, a Welsh member, hearing this, at once sprang to his feet.

"Very well," said he; "let us consider the matter. Here we are in the county courthouse at Ynysymaengwyn. I'm the plaintiff. The attorney general is the county court judge. He, in the course of the case, asks me if I am prepared to swear that the boots delivered to the defendant, for the price of which I sue, were rights and lefts, or both lefts, as the defendant alleges.

"That is a delicate question which I, with my partial knowledge of English, do not trust myself to answer except in my native tongue. Therefore I say:

"'Cymmer daubwcch, ar gwastad clawdd lluest twich; pen-dre pistyll bwich dwy bafodtai iech wedd Ysppyty?'

"Now," he thundered, while the house held its breath and a cloud of embarrassment stole over the face of the disturbed but very attentive attorney general, "what does the honorable and learned gentleman say to that?"

The honorable and learned gentleman had no further objection to make. —London Globe.

HARDY SERI INDIANS.

They Can Outrun a Horse and Go For Days Without Food.

From an ethnological standpoint one of the strangest peoples in the western hemisphere is that tribe known as the Seri Indians, living in the western part of the state of Sonora, Mexico, along the shore of the gulf of California and on the island of Tiburon in that gulf.

From time immemorial Seriland has remained practically unexplored, partly because it lies behind a desert barrier and partly on account of the warlike reputation of its fierce and bloodthirsty inhabitants.

These Indians are of superb physique, able to run down fleet game and to capture half wild Mexican horses without rope or projectiles; able to run across the desert, waterless and foodless, so rapidly as to escape pursuing horsemen; able to abstain from food and water for days; able habitually to pass barefoot through cactus thickets and over jagged rock slopes without thought of discomfort.

They speak a distinct language and strictly practice monogamous marriage. Their hatred for alien peoples is hereditary. The remains of ancient ruins in Seriland indicate that the inhabitants have always kept their country free from foreign invasion and that for centuries their customs and arts, which are crude and simple, have remained unchanged. — Detroit Free Press.

THREE PUPILS AT SCHOOL

The First holds his book too close and mistakes figures on the black-board—he is near-sighted—that is why he sits in the front seat.

The Third Pupil stoops awkwardly over the book because he does not see easily.

The other pupil sits erect to study, sees the figures on the black-board easily accurately and does home-work easily. Properly fitted glasses help all his school work and make his examinations successful.

We examine many pupils and do not supply glasses unless necessary to their school work.

Throat Becomes Diseased From Neglecting Colds

Then Catarrh Sets In, Mucous Drops Into the Stomach, Coughing, Headaches and Debility Follow.

That the best method of curing catarrhal disease consists in using Catarrhozone is now freely admitted. Catarrhozone is infinitely superior to cough medicines, tablets, sprays and emulsions, which are for the most part of no practical value except to ease the cough for the time being. Often liquid cough remedies contain opium, morphine and cocaine. With Catarrhozone you take no drugs—you employ Nature's way—just inhale Catarrhozone's soothing, healing vapor and relief and cure follow promptly.

Weak Throat, Racking Cough Cured.

"For five years I suffered from a severe bronchitis. A harsh, dry racking cough kept my throat in a raw condition from one year's end to another. Before going to sleep at night I always had a bad attack, and in the morning before each breakfast I suffered greatly. My voice was harsh and raspy, and sometimes I found it difficult to make myself understood. Catarrhozone seemed to sooth and heal from the first day. It cured me, and now I wouldn't think of being without a Catarrhozone Inhaler—it means life to me."

The above experience is related by Mr Alexander P Savary of Hamilton, Pa., and proves the effectiveness of Catarrhozone, which will cure every cough, cold, bronchial or catarrhal attack. The dollar size of Catarrhozone contains two months' treatment and is guaranteed. Smaller size 50c. Sample size, 25c. All dealers or the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.

W.O.W. Excursion.

The Woodmen of the World's excursion to Lindsay Tuesday was well attended, the water trip through the Kawartha chain being delightful. Stoney Lake brought down an excursion of the Lindsay Woodmen last evening. They returned to Lindsay by train at nine o'clock.

Inquest Closed.

The inquest into the death of the late James Peters has been closed, and a verdict has been given of accidental drowning whereby Richard Thorndyke, who was with him in the canoe at the time of the accident, is exonerated from all blame.

Exceeding Speed Limit.

The other day a well known citizen was out in the country in his bran new auto, when the machine struck a calf. The calf, of course, was exceeding the speed limit as usual, and in addition was guilty of contributory negligence, hence its owner may be liable for damages.

Immigrants Gets Work.

Two Scotch girls, Maggie and Jessie Forbes from Forfarshire, Scotland, and Peter Ross, from Selkirk, landed from the "Saturnia" Tuesday and came to Peterborough yesterday morning. They secured positions within about ten minutes of their arrival at the immigration office.

Building Is Brisk.

The total amount of building permits issued in Peterborough for the month of May, was $92,550. Among the twelve Canadian Eastern cities Peterborough ranks seventh.

In May, 1911, the amount of permits issued for the city was $67,118, showing an increase for May, 1912, of $25,432, or a percentage of 37.9.

.: HEALH AND BEAUY HINTS :.

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN

Maiden: I am glad you value your youthful complexion, and if you avoid powder and rouge and use this spurmax lotion the skin will always remain divinely fair; Put 4 ounces of spurmax in ¼ pint hot water (or of witch hazel), then add 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine. Apply the lotion sparingly to the skin and rub lightly until it vanishes. Your mother will like the spurmax lotion, because it dispels that shiny, sallow condition and gives a tone and velvety softness to rough skins unknown to users of powder. The spurmax lotion is invisible when on and perspiration will not spot nor streak it.

Belle: No, glasses will not give a sparkle to dull eyes. Before you visit the oculist make up and use this harmless, inexpensive, eye-tonic and I am sure you will be saved the expense and annoyance of glasses: Dissolve an ounce crystos in a pint cold water. Putting 2 or 3 drops in the eyes daily will relieve the smart and ache, overcome the bloodshot condition and give to dull, expressionless eyes a fascinating charm and brilliancy.

Mrs Ben: You ought not be sickly and you won't any longer if you make up and use this good, old-fashioned tonic and regulator: Dissolve ½ cupful sugar in ½ pint alcohol, then stir in 1 ounce kardene and add hot water to make a quart. The dose is a tablespoonful before each meal. A course of the kardene treatment rids the body of all impurities, makes rich, red blood, and builds up the worn, waste tissue. Follow my suggestion and your health will soon return, and instead of a "muddy," oily, blotchy skin, it will be clear and radiantly beautiful.

Edith: I always make it a rule never to recommend a recipe unless I know exactly what it will do and am convinced that it is quite harmless. Parnotis will dissolve your fat quickly and gently, without present or future ill effects. To prepare, dissolve 4 ounces parnotis in 1½ pints hot water, and when it cools take a tablespoonful before each meal. This will remove every ounce of superfluous fat and leave the skin smooth.

S.Q.D.: It is distressing, I know, but if you use plain canthrox for cleansing the hair and scalp you will not be bothered further with excessive oiliness and profuse dandruff. A teaspoonful canthrox dissolved in a cup hot water is ample for a thorough shampoo, and when this is poured on the head and rubbed up into a thick, white lather it stops the itching instantly. After rinsing your hair and scalp will be wonderfully clean and sweet, and the hair will dry quickly, with a rich gloss, and even color. Occasionally shampoos with canthrox will induce a luxuriant growth of beautiful hair.

Ada: Brooding will not help your complexion. In fact, worry causes wrinkles and crow's feet. Make up and use this almozoin cream-jelly and before long the oiliness will disappear, sallowness will vanish, and the skin will assume a velvety texture and that youthful tint sought after: Into ¼ pint cold water stir 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine, then add 1 ounce plain almozoin. When thoroughly dissolved, apply freely to the skin and rub in well. This cream-jelly is especially fine for removing pimples and blackheads and reducing large pores around the nose. Used during the heated terms it prevents freckles, tan and sunburn.

May B.: Oily, sticky hair indicates an unhealthy scalp, and to correct this condition you should use a plain quinzoin hair and scalp tonic made by mixing together ¼ pint each water and alcohol, and 1 ounce quinzoin. The use of this inexpensive tonic banishes excess oiliness and profuse dandruff and gives to dull, faded brittle hair a glint and rich color, and silky softness truly charming.

J. M. Those aggravating hairs can be banished for all time with one application of a delatone paste. Mix enough powdered delatone and water to cover the hairs not wanted, then after 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and it will be soft, smooth and hairless.

Hurt in Runaway.

Warsaw, June 19.—Mr. Charles Waite of Warsaw, met with an accident on Monday, in a runaway at the cheese factory here. He had driven up for a load of whey when the shafts fell, and startled the horses. The wagon was upset and Mr. Waite was thrown heavily to the ground. He was badly bruised and was unconscious for some time. There were no serious injuries.

Inquest at Lindsay.

An inquest into the death of the late Mrs. Babcock who was killed in the G.T.R. wreck between Peterborough and Lindsay a few days ago, is being held in Lindsay. As yet the blame has not been fixed though the conductors and engineers on both trains have been examined, including Engineer Wright of Peterborough. Mrs. Babcock is an ex-Peterborough lady.

Entrance Examinations.

The examinations for entrance into the Collegiate Institute commenced yesterday afternoon and a large number of students wrote on the opening paper. The examinations will close on Friday, but the results will not be ready for publication for some time as the papers have to go to Toronto. The examinations are being held in the Collegiate Institute.

Lawn Bowling.

A rink of Peterborough lawn bowlers, consisting of Messrs. R M Waddell and J H Renwick and Drs. Caldwell and Marshall, motored to Port Hope on Tuesday and played two games against rinks of Port Hope bowlers. The Peterborough rink lost the first game by 14 to 11, but won the second by 17 to 7, leaving them 10 up on the round. The visit to Port Hope was greatly enjoyed.

Broke Her Leg.

Warsaw, June 19, Mrs. James Hawthorne, who resides about a mile out of the village, met with a peculiar accident, in which she suffered a broken leg. She was standing in the kitchen doorway when the family dog brushed against her, knocking her off the steps. In her fall Mrs. Hawthorne sustained a broken leg. It was only an ordinary step, and the accident was thus the more peculiar.

Another Branch.

The Times learns that a branch of the Union Bank will be opened on Monday, June 24, premises opposite the Knox church Sunday school being used. These premises will, however, be temporary quarters only, as property at this point has been acquired, and an up-to-date bank building will be erected in the near future. The manager of this branch will be Mr. D. C. Marcrostie, who comes from the Union Bank in Toronto.

Addressed Conference.

Rev. E. A. Pearson, formerly pastor of George street Methodist church, Peterborough, addressed the Toronto Methodist Conference Tuesday. Mr. Pearson, in referring to Sunday band concerts, was of the opinion that much should be left to the individual conscience. Latitude must be given people who are just as anxious to do right as we are. Mr. Pearson's remarks seem to find favour with the majority of those present.

Returned From New York.

Mr. A. A. Fowler returned to the city last evening from Buffalo, where he was attending the New York State Optical Convention. Mr. Fowler motored from Toronto to Buffalo with a party of optical men from that city, comprising Dr. Armstrong of the T. Eaton Co., Mr. Ernest Lewis, Mr. E. Percy and Mr. Hermant of the Imperial Optical Co. Mr. Fowler had the privilege of visiting some of the best optical parlours in that city, besides hearing lectures from some of the best eye specialists of New York City.

Presentation to Mr. Richardson.

Mr. W. T. C. Richardson, principal of the Queen Alexandra Public school was given a delightful surprise yesterday by the pupils of his school, when they presented him with a beautiful and costly solid leather, black club bag. Mr Richardson has during the past few years been very popular with his scholars, who have taken this means of showing their regret at his departure, as he is leaving the city at the close of the present term. Mr Richardson personally thanked the pupils of the several rooms for the gift.

A Bee Demonstration.

On Tuesday, June 25th, a bee demonstration is to be held in the Apiary of Mr W. B. Anderson, of North Monaghan, Con 10, lot 12, and it is expected that quite a number of those interested in bee raising will be present. The purpose of the demonstration is to explain the nature of foul brood and show how to cure it. Also means will be shown how to save the wax from the honey combs. All interested in bee-keeping, particularly ladies, are requested to attend the demonstration which will be in charge of the Government Inspector of Apiaries.

The County Council In Session.

At the County Council yesterday morning, the report of the Standing Committee on roads and bridges was received and adopted. It was decided to call a joint meeting of the Councils of Peterborough County Peterborough City and Victoria County for the purpose of discussing the advisability of reconstructing the Pigeon Creek bridge. The time and place of meeting will be decided upon later.

Messrs. Warden Cobden, Howden, and Garbutt will form a committee to inspect the road and bridges on the north chain of streams and lakes on Friday next.

Anglers Meet With Runaway.

While returning last evening from a fishing trip to the back lakes, Messrs. W. McIlroy, B. A. Rose and another railway official, who was visiting here, figured in a runaway accident that fortunately was not followed by serious results. Part of the harness broke, and the horses frightened, succeeded in getting control of the reins as they dashed away. Mr. McIlroy and his out-of-town friend were thrown out of the carriage and to-day Mr. McIlroy is confined to his home with an injury to his knee. Mr. Rose remained with the outfit until an auto hove in sight, and fearing a collision decided to jump. He did so and escaped uninjured. The owner of the auto proved to be Mr. Coulthard and he brought the three unlucky anglers to the city.

Will Touch Peterborough.

The last issue of the Railway Journal of Canada, published a diagram showing the route which the Toronto Eastern Electric Road proposes to follow, and the towns and cities that will be touched by the new road. The Toronto Eastern Railway will be built to Oshawa, and from that point north to Lindsay, from Oshawa it will be extended eastward through Bowmanville, Port Hope, and Cobourg, the latter to be the eastern terminus.

From Port Hope the road, according to the diagram, is to be constructed in an almost straight line to Peterborough, skirting the western point of Rice Lake. Beyond Peterborough the road has not yet been projected. With the completion of such an undertaking the city will have direct communication with Lake Ontario and will be made easy of access to all the towns to the south.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

You Don't Have to Start a Fire In the Coal Range When Someone Wants a Bath

It's no longer necessary to hustle around gathering up paper, carrying up wood and lugging up coal every time somebody wants to take a bath. You no longer need to heat up your kitchen, in fact the entire house every time an extra quantity of hot water is desired.

THERE'S AN EASIER WAY
USE AN "IDEAL"
GAS
Water Heater

This heater occupies but very little space. It is connected to your kitchen boiler and is operated as easily as your gas range. The IDEAL Heater heats water very quickly—enough for a bath is 20 minutes.

is Heater Will Not Overheat Your Kitchen

We have an IDEAL connected and in operation at our office. We'd be glad to show it to you if you'd pay us a visit. If that isn't possible have us send a representative to tell you more about it.

A TRIP TO THE COAST, VIA CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.

At this season of the year a great many are planning their summer vacation. What could be more delightful than a journey through the Canadian Rockies to Vancouver? A trip of this nature affords the traveller an opportunity of learning the wonderful resources and opportunities throughout Western Canada, besides enjoying the world's greatest scenery in the Canadian Rocky Mountains, where the Canadian Pacific have established palatial hotels, which afford every possible comfort to the tourist.

The Canadian Pacific is the logical route to the West, affording the finest equipment and fastest train service—it is the only All-Canadian route—no change of cars—all equipment is owned and operated by the C.P.R., affording the highest form of efficiency—dining car service, up-to-date in every particular; also operating modern electric lighted compartment library observation cars on transcontinental trains—only lines operating through standard and tourist sleeping cars to Winnipeg and Vancouver.

It would be to the advantage of any person contemplating a holiday trip of any description to consult the nearest C.P.R. Agent for illustrated literature and full particulars, or to write M. G. Murphy, District Passenger Agent, Toronto.

HAS PROOF THAT THAT GUN NEVER WAS AT BUNKER HILL

It Was Taken to Quebec By Major W. H. Tapp, Whose Grandfather Got it From British Government

Ottawa, June 20.—It now appears that the famous "Bunker Hill gun" at Quebec was never at Bunker Hill at all. It was taken to Quebec by Major W. H. Tapp, a retired British officer, whose grandfather had received it as a reward for his part in a naval battle off Boston Harbor during the revolutionary war. This is proven by the fact that its three companions, two in tact and one in pieces, are in the Bunker Hill monument at Boston. On one of them is an inscription to the effect that, in the year 1722 or 1723, four brass guns were cast by the order of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and that all were used during the War of Independence. Two of these were intact at the close of the war, the third exploded (hence the fragments), and the fourth had completely disappeared.

The inscription that the gun had been captured at Bunker Hill was placed there by Colonel Montizambert in 1878, and when he was told the real story, he replied "What does it matter, no one will be the wiser, but it will tickle the fancy of our American visitors."

Major Tapp never claimed the gun, though he insisted always to his death, in 1895, that it was his personal property, and it is certain that the title thereto lies in his heirs, wherever they may be.

SURPRISE SPRANG IN THE CELEBRATED CHINIQUY CASE

Montreal, June 20.—The defence this morning sprang a surprise in the $10,000 libel suit brought by Madame Rebecca Morin, daughter of the famous ex-priest, Charles Chiniquy, against the Roman Catholic weekly, La Croix, which said that as Chiniquy took vows of perpetual chastity, the woman he married was not really his wife but his concubine.

Mr. Lamarche, lawyer for Begin, publisher of La Croix, filed an affidavit from three Montreal people who contended that they knew that Mme. Morin was not really the daughter of the ex-priest. Counsel asked that no judgment be rendered until he had had time to produce a Peter Murray, of St. Anne, Illinois, who he understood was really the father of Mme. Morin, who had been adopted by the Chiniquys.

Justice Greenshields said he had the marriage certificate of the Chiniquys and the certificate of the birth of their daughter Rebecca. In the latter her father, who Baptized her, acknowledged her as his child. That seemed to him abundant proof of her authority to bring the action.

The lawyer for Mrs. Morin said he could easily explain the theory ventilated by the affidavit. As a matter of fact, he said, the Chiniquys did adopt a child before their own was born. Her name was Mrs. Lefebre, and she was present in the court.

Justice Greenshields said that as the affidavit had been made he would give the witnesses signing it a chance to be examined.

The judge then turned to Mr. Begin, the defendant, and said:

"And let me admonish you, Mr. Begin, to refrain from commenting on this case until the proper time. If you do not refrain you will find that there is a law which can reach even La Croix."

THE WEATHER.

Fair, with a little higher temperature.

LEFT TO RIGHT — MISS SCHNY KATZ AND MRS VICTOR ROSEWATER BALTIMORE

Three Presentations to Rev. Mr. Brown.

Although the members of St. James Methodist church have always shown appreciation of their pastor by active co-operation in all departments of church work, presentations have been made to him during the past few days.

On Friday of last week, Rev. Mr. Brown received a handsome travelling bag and an illuminated address from the Junior Epworth League, and when the Teacher Training Class held the final examination on Saturday, a set of leather bound works of English poets was presented. The Brotherhood, too, gave Rev. Mr. Brown an enlarged photo of the members.

CAN'T WIN ALL THE TIME PETS DROP GAME TO KOLT

Battling valiantly the Peterborough White Caps went down to defeat yesterday afternoon at Riverside Park before a good crowd. The score at the finish standing 7—4—the Petes scoring in only one innings—the last—and the Hamilton boys only counting in two innings—the second and seventh.

Johnny Derr did the twirling up to the seventh, when he weakened and was benched in favor of McGarry, who could not make connections and he also was benched in favor of Osborn, who finished the game in good shape. Derr pitched a steady game while he lasted.

Manager Rowan made a neat throw home in the third, cutting off a run that looked like a sure thing.

Umpire Johnson was in his usual form and handed out several badly decomposed decisions, which were very costly to the home team.

Tully repeated his sensational bear-handed work of Wednesday and Barthold played his bag well. While was there again in left field and made some very difficult catches. He also pulled off a triple play—the first in the league this year. A double play was also pulled off by the Petes.

IN THE POLICE COURT

George Jackson will spend three months commencing yesterday, in the county jail. This is not a personal item, but the penalty imposed upon the youth yesterday morning who pleaded guilty of the theft of a watch. He has a wife who will do domestic work during her husband's incarceration.

When sentenced the prisoner had nothing to say, although he felt his position keenly.

Inquiries revealed that in former places of residence, Jackson had lost positions through excessive drinking. It was this fact, he said, brought him into his present unwelcome and unfortunate plight. He has no police record, however.

The woman who put the rent collector to flight last week, has been unable to find another house into which to move. She appeared in the police court this morning. She is willing to pay $10 out of the $20 due for rent, the landlord consenting to that arrangement. The latter, however, wants to take possession right away. She started out on the hunt for lodging right away.

Sentence was suspended on the charge against her of assaulting the collector.

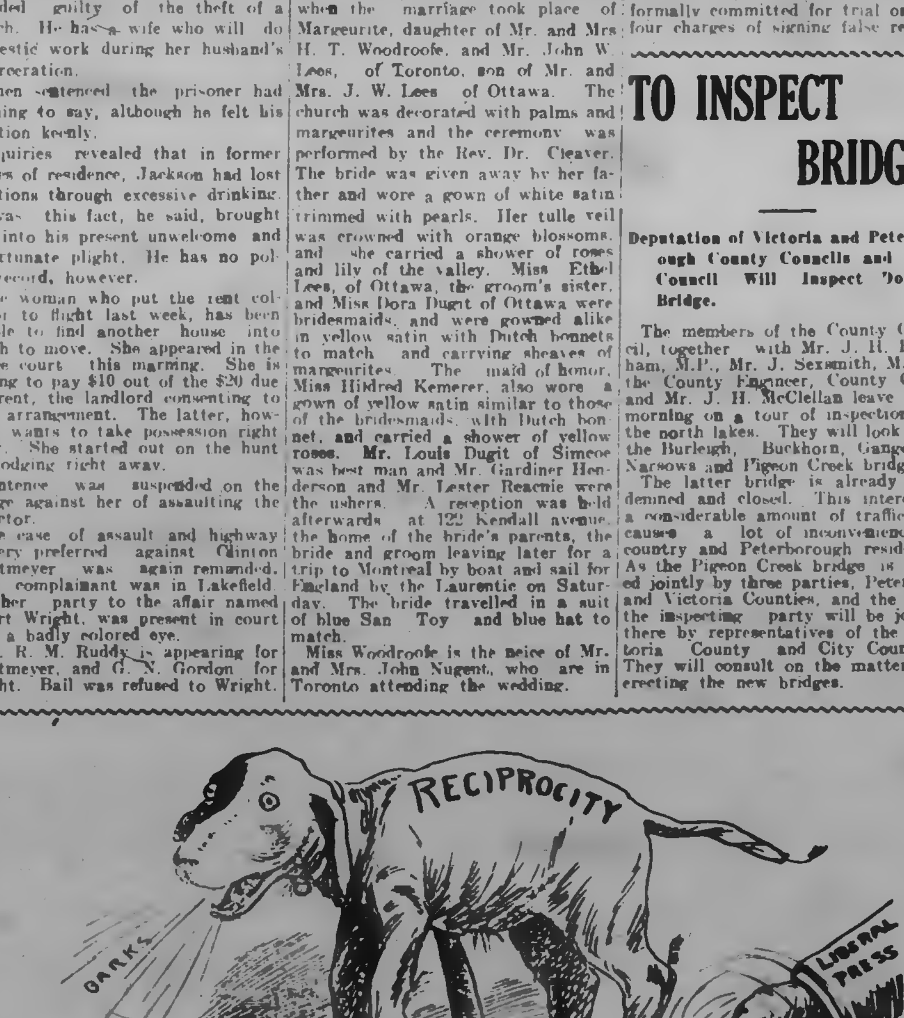
The case of assault and highway robbery preferred against Clinton Rightmeyer was again remanded. The complainant was in Lakefield. Another party to the affair named Albert Wright, was present in court with a badly colored eye.

Mr. R. M. Ruddy is appearing for Rightmeyer, and G. N. Gordon for Wright. Bail was refused to Wright.

TORONTO WEDDING OF LOCAL INTEREST

Trinity Methodist Church, West Bloor street, Toronto, was the scene of a wedding yesterday at noon, when the marriage took place of Margeurite, daughter of Mr. and Mrs H. T. Woodroofe, and Mr. John W. Lees, of Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lees of Ottawa. The church was decorated with palms and margeurites and the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Cleaver. The bride was given away by her father and wore a gown of white satin trimmed with pearls. Her tulle veil was crowned with orange blossoms, and she carried a shower of roses and lily of the valley. Miss Ethel Lees, of Ottawa, the groom's sister, and Miss Dora Dugit of Ottawa were bridesmaids, and were gowned alike in yellow satin with Dutch bonnets to match and carrying sheaves of margeurites. The maid of honor, Miss Hildred Kemerer, also wore a gown of yellow satin similar to those of the bridesmaids, with Dutch bonnet, and carried a shower of yellow roses. Mr. Louis Dugit of Simcoe was best man and Mr. Gardiner Henderson and Mr. Lester Reacnie were the ushers. A reception was held afterwards at 122 Kendall avenue, the home of the bride's parents, the bride and groom leaving later for a trip to Montreal by boat and sail for England by the Laurentic on Saturday. The bride travelled in a suit of blue San Toy and blue hat to match.

Miss Woodroofe is the neice of Mr. and Mrs. John Nugent, who are in Toronto attending the wedding.



THE DEAD DOG'S BARK.

ROOSEVELT DECIDES TO BOLT THE CONVENTION AND FORM A NEW PARTY

The Colonel and Taft Both Deny Statements That They Will Release Delegates Pledged or Instructed to Support Them--Teddy's Supporters "Up in Air."

The Birth of the Progressive Party.

Chicago, June 20.—Col. Roosevelt to-day decided to take the bit in his teeth and repudiate the present Republican convention without further delay.

In a carefully prepared statement, which he read to his personal advisers, and announced would be printed and handed to all his delegates today, the Colonel announced his willingness to lead an independent fight for the principles of the Progressive movement, and called upon such of his friends as placed these above party loyalty to join him in the fight.

There seems to be a general feeling that Governor Hadley has a splendid chance of being the nominee of the Convention, in view of the Roosevelt statement.

Chicago, June 20.—Exactly four minutes was the duration of the opening session of the third day's session of the Republican National Convention.

The immense crowd of nearly 14,000 people who had fought their way into the hall, after an hour or more in line, had only to go out again. The only thing done was the prayer, and the motion of Watson of Indiana to be in recess until 4 p.m.

The ostensible reason for the recess was the fact that the Credential Committee, at work upon the contest affecting the personnel of the convention, had only fairly begun its work.

When the convention took its recess, the report was everywhere current about the Coliseum that Col. Roosevelt would come to the convention at 4 o'clock and make or try to make, a speech. Nobody really knew whether it was true or not, but it added to the excitement. Hundreds of people settled down to wait in the hall until 4 p.m.

EVELYN NESBITT THAW TELLS OF HER HUSBAND'S DELUSIONS

White Plains, N.Y., June 20.—Evelyn Thaw, as witness for the State in its efforts to keep her husband, Harry K. Thaw, in the asylum for the insane at Matteawan, repeated in a crowded court room here yesterday afternoon her story of the series of sensations which culminated in Thaw's murder of Stanford White. Her testimony covered her relations with Thaw from the time, ten years ago, when he first sought acquaintance with her as a chorus girl; his proposal of marriage in Paris three years later; his rage when she told of an earlier attack upon her by White, the Thaw marriage, his constant reversion to her relations with White, and the shooting of White on the Madison Square Roof Garden. She had not touched upon the later mental condition of her husband when the hearing adjourned.

Many Spectators.

Many men and women, a majority in motoring togs, filled the court room to overflowing to see and hear the witness. She looked her husband squarely in the face as she took the stand, but no sign of recognition passed between them. Thaw kept his eyes on her throughout the testimony but displayed no emotion. The witness was composed throughout and testified in a clear, loud voice.

DR. NESBITT MUST STAND TRIAL AT NEXT ASSIZES

Toronto, June 20.—Dr. W. Beattie Nesbitt was early this afternoon formally committed for trial on the four charges of signing false returns to the Government while he was President of the Farmers Bank; despite the protest of his counsel, Mr. H. H. Dewart, K.C., who submitted that no evidence of the doctor having done anything knowingly wrong had been brought out in the Police Court hearing.

"The case has not been gone into exhaustively or completely. I am not trying it," answered Magistrate Denison.

"What is the bail to be?"

"I do not like to change the bail," answered His Worship.

"I thought in view of the nature of the evidence you would agree to—" Mr. Dewart was saying when the Magistrate interrupted that the same bail had better stand.

TO INSPECT BRIDGES

Deputation of Victoria and Peterborough County Councils and City Council Will Inspect Doomed Bridge.

The members of the County Council, together with Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., Mr. J. Sexsmith, M.P.P., the County Engineer, County Clerk and Mr. J. H. McClellan leave this morning on a tour of inspection of the north lakes. They will look over the Burleigh, Buckhorn, Gannon's Narrows and Pigeon Creek bridges.

The latter bridge is already condemned and closed. This intercepts a considerable amount of traffic and causes a lot of inconvenience to country and Peterborough residents. As the Pigeon Creek bridge is owned jointly by three parties, Peterborough and Victoria Counties, and the city, the inspecting party will be joined there by representatives of the Victoria County and City Councils. They will consult on the matter of erecting the new bridges.

PUBLIC OPINION

BURLEIGH FALLS POWER.

Editor Morning Times

Sir,—Let me say a word or two with regard to Mr. McLaughlin's letter and that monumental outrage the transfer of the lease of what is known as the Burleigh Falls power in Peterborough on December 24th, 1910, by the Laurier Government to Ewing and Ross in trust for $1 a year for 50 years. I have not a word to say against Mr. Culverwell, C.E., that astute financier and engineer, or Mr. R. J. McLaughlin, K.C., the well known counsel, but in this vicinity we have a lot to say about the transfer of such a franchise for $1 a year for half a century. The private parties or company holding the lease sold it for an immense sum without having done or promised to do one dollar's worth of developing. The Government and the local representative must have played right into the hands of the financial men. What do you think could have induced the "people's representatives," to have tied up for the benefit of private parties so valuable a power for so long a time for the sum of $1 a year or a grand total of some $50 for a lease worth a million?

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the State's area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundred of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 66 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company. Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. Law, Ontario, Manager, 49 Cecil street, Toronto. D 6 in J4

PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 85c, and well worth it, too. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 85c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. The inquest into the death of the late James Peters has been closed, and a verdict has been given of accidental drowning whereby Richard Thorndyke, who was with him in the canoe at the time of the accident, is exonerated from all blame.

The other day a well known citizen was out in the country in his bran new auto, when the machine struck a calf. The calf, of course, was exceeding the speed limit as usual, and in addition was guilty of contributory negligence, hence its owner may be liable for damages.

FRIDAY, JUNE 21, 1912

SAVING DAYLIGHT.

The city of Moose Jaw, Province of Saskatchewan, is becoming famous as the city of most progressive ideas and practises. The most recent evidence of this is to be found in the city's adoption of a local daylight saving measure. On June first the hands of the clocks of the citizens were moved forward one hour, and this will be continued during the summer. Then in the fall when the days shorten the hands will be moved back to the standard time. Now in Moose Jaw the man of the house has time to chop the wood in the evening, time to garden and improve his home surroundings, time to take recreation in the athletic field or wherever he listeth, time to watch the sport or time to loaf. Daylight is saved for some purpose and the citizen has the opportunity to benefit by the extra hour of daylight given him in the evening.

The railway, of course, keeps to the old time, and that keeps a stranger guessing. But if the plan works well in the western city, the Toronto Star thinks that other cities of the West will be sure to adopt the idea. They will, for just think what advantage it would be to the sport-loving cities of the coast if the recreation hours of the day were lengthened.

THE HOPE OF UNION.

Church Union in Canada is appreciably nearer. Methodists have piled up a tremendous majority in favor of it. Congregationalists are agreeable. And now the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church is pledged to the principle. The general vote amongst the various congregations was favorable, but not overwhelmingly so.

Minor points obscured in a measure the main issue. But no detail of the tentative basis of union is an eternal, unalterable law. Amendment and revision will be easy. The fine spirit and eager enthusiasm of the Assembly — even of those delegates who have been hostile to the union—will have a thrilling effect upon the other churches, and will make the search for a common ground both in principle and detail—a matter of relative ease.

Reasons exist for hope that three detached regiments of the church militant will soon be brigaded, adding enormously to their effectiveness in organization and management. Already there is talk of a common hymnal, of a division of territory in new districts, of consolidation of missionary resources and of co-operation in half a dozen fields. Tentative arrangements of this kind will quickly lead to organic union.

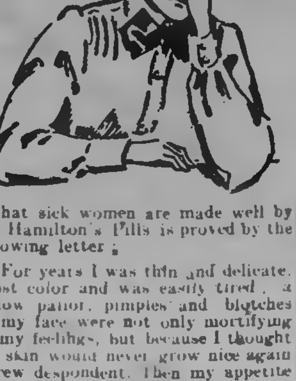
It would have been possible for the General Assembly, by ultra conservatism, to have blocked all progress towards union. Any one of half a dozen reasons could have been advanced to justify, in a measure, such action. It might have held that the congregational un[illegible]ity in favor was not [illegible]ly decisive in view of the large number of members and adherents who had cast no votes at all. Fortunately for the cause of brotherhood, the assembly was influenced by a nobler spirit. The task before the churches of Canada is gigantic. The assembly felt that only by united effort could the needs of the country be adequately met. So, minor differences were sunk, non-essentials were waived, and doctrinaires became Christian enthusiasts, eager for the larger opportunity which must come through intelligent and ardent co-operation. There is no brighter page in the annals of Canadian Presbyterianism.

IMPERIAL CO-OPERATION.

Young Canada, doubtless needs to be constantly reminded that the Dominion cannot jog along in the present easy way, content to let the United Kingdom bear the burdens of National existence. The idea of responsible nationhood may also be instilled in the minds of the younger generation, but with better effect. So it is commendable that the intellectual leaders of the citizens of the future should take the opportunity now and then to remind the young people of the Dominion that there is a duty before them to stand for a robust Canadianism. This, Dr. Ramsay Wright, the popular Toronto professor of biology, did when, in his valedictory address to the graduating class of the University of Toronto before his departure for Great Britain, where he will undertake research work, he gave the young people who were about to pass from the halls of learning into the busy world, some words of advice as to the need of co-operation within the British Empire to the end that Imperialism might be promoted. The integrity of the Empire, he said, would only be preserved by the co-operation of its parts, and he commended to them the work of the Navy League and the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire.

Health for Every Woman No More Headaches

From Weakness and Despair Thousands Have Been Restored to Robust Good Health by Dr. Hamilton's Pills.



That sick women are made well by Dr. Hamilton's Pills is proved by the following letter;

"For years I was thin and delicate. I lost color and was easily tired, a yellow pallor, pimples and blotches on my face were not only mortifying to my feelings, but because I thought my skin would never grow nice again I grew despondent. Then my appetite failed. I grew very weak. Various remedies, pills, tonics and tablets I tried without permanent relief. A visit to my sister put into my hands a box of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. She placed reliance upon them, and now that they have made me a well woman I would not be without them, whatever they might cost.

"I found Dr. Hamilton's Pills, by their mild yet searching action very suitable to the delicate character of a woman's nature. They never once griped me, yet they established regularity. My appetite grew—my blood pure and red—heavy rings under my eyes disappeared and to-day my skin is as clear and unwrinkled as when I was a girl. Dr. Hamiltons Pills did it all."

The above straightforward letter from Mrs. J. Y. Todd, wife of a well-known citizen in Rogersville, is proof sufficient that Dr. Hamilton's Pills are a wonderful woman's medicine. Use no other pill but Dr. Hamilton's 25c per box. All dealers or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

Editorial Notes

The vacation period is now on, and many Peterborough people will go away and enjoy themselves by being thoroughly uncomfortable at home.

The average politician is opposed to allowing a woman to vote because he is afraid that he will be requested to hold her baby and give it the bottle while she is marking a ballot.

The London newspapers are commenting in apprehensive way about the strangely silent streets of that city. It seems that they have not yet realized [illegible]at Mrs. Parkhurst i[illegible] [illegible]il.

A success in politics is the man who in a generous and free-hearted way provides numbers of his friends with positions the salaries of which are paid out of the pockets of the people.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, June 19.—Business in Manitoba spring wheat over the cable continues dull, there being little demand; in fact, London and Leith buyers offered to sell old purchases made some time ago for July-August shipment at 1½c per bushel more than the wheat could be bought at to-day, and landed at the above two ports. There continues to be a fair demand from foreign buyers for oats, and sales of several loads were made for June shipment, but the local trade is very quiet and prices easy at the decline. Flour is firm, but the demand is still limited. Millfeed rules quiet and about steady. The demand for butter shows no improvement, and the market is soft. Cheese is fairly active, but prices in the country are tending lower. Demand for selected eggs is good, but seconds are rather easier. Provisions steady.

MONTREAL, June 19.—At the Canadian Pacific market the live stock receipts for the week ending June 15 were 1500 cattle, 700 sheep and lambs, 1100 hogs and 1500 calves. The offerings on the market this morning for sale were 675 cattle, 300 sheep and lambs, 1300 hogs and 1500 calves.

The demand for cattle was good and an active trade was done, in consequence, the undertone to the market was firm and prices showed no improvement in condition, except for choice butchers' cows, which advanced ¼c per pound on account of the increased demand for them. Choice cows sold at $7.25 to $7.50, good, $6.65 to $7, and the commoner ones down as low as $4.50 per 100 pounds. There were no top quality bulls offered, and the best sold at $6.75, with lower grades down to $4.50 per 100 pounds.

An active trade was done in all lines of small meats, of which the supply was larger than it has been of late, and the demand good. Old sheep sold at $5 to $6, and spring lambs at $3 to $5 each, while calves brought from $3 to $10 each, as to size and quality. The tone of the market for hogs was firm under a good demand, and sales of selected lots were made at $9 to $9.25, and mixed lots at $8.50 per 100 pounds, weighed off cars.

"THE TITANIC"

"In the day of adversity, consider."

S. CALDER.

(Written for the Times.)

A giant steamer gaily plied,
Her course from England's shore,
And proudly o'er the ocean wide,
A precious freight she bore.

Cargo of costly trappings rare —
Millions of wealth untold,
Hundreds of souls whose value ne'er
Was weighed in gems or gold.

On deck, at Pleasure's dazzling shrine
Met fashion's trifling throng,
Driving away dull care in wine,
Cards sped Time's flight along.

No presage of grim danger near,
Filled Amorous hearts with gloom,
Hope's siren song was in their ear,
To lure them to their doom.

What lurking peril can there be?
Tho' loud should tempest rave,
Britannia's Mistress of the Sea,
And rules the restless wave.

O Pride impious! Faithless boast!
Frail is all human aid.
He rules to Ocean's farthest coast,
Who Earth's foundations laid.

As falling bolt from skies of blue,
Rends wide some ancient rock,
The cruel iceberg pierced her through,
With sudden, deadly shock.

Launching afloat, that motley crowd
Claimed low and high degree,
But all, in icy winding shroud,
Sank, equal, in the sea.

In humble cots and mansions grand,
Widows and orphans mourn,
In vain, for that ill fated band,
Which never shall return.

Full many a fathom down they sleep,
Below the briny surge,
The stormy winds their dirge.

As some worn voyagers who steer,
Dark, troublous course by night,
Gladly surprised find harbour near,
At morning's glimmering light.

Perhaps through ghastly horrors round
Of plunging vessel riven,
At bright, celestial dawn these found,
The peaceful port of Heaven.

In sorrow's gloomy day will rise,
Unchecked, the wildering thought,
Why Neptune sought this sacrifice,
Such fearful ruin wrought,

On Honor's roll old England's name,
Shines glorious, great and good,
For streams the lustre of her fame,
O'er many a field and flood.

But still is stain upon the wreath,
Intemperance — cankerous blot —
Makes grovelling slaves her flag beneath,
As e'er was sold or bought.

Was there those gay saloons within
Some who stern justice fled)
Or pompous millionaire whose sin
To Heaven for vengeance plead?

Is there not oft on England's strand
Scenes where kind angels weep?
When children banished from their land
In thousands face the deep?

Condemned to bitter exile drear
Upon a distant soil,
To seek the stranger's grudging cheer
In loneliness and toil.

When women in misguided hour
Would grasp the reins of state,
Heavy on Discord's purblind power,
May fall the hand of Fate.

O mourning nation, ponder well,
To keep the good old path,
So shall the smile of Heaven repay
Misfortune's frown of wrath.

PERFECT BOY CONDEMNED.

Usually Most Tiresome Youngsters Get Best Marks, Says Educator.

James L. Hughes, chief inspector of the Board of Education of Toronto, is a champion of the plain, everyday little boy who may, or may not, be known as a neighborhood nuisance, but who, at any rate, does not make any pretense of winning school prizes for good conduct or correct lessons.

"It is usually the deadest fellows who get the best marks," says Dr. Hughes. "The one who sat still and never did any harm got all the prizes. He was the model child, according to the stories. The one who had vigor, originality, and executive ability used to be looked upon in horror.

"Lots of times we say boys don't like to work, when, in reality, they don't like the kind of work we pick out for them to do. I would think any boy a piece of putty if he stood around to see what I had for him to do next. You've got to let the boy pick out his work. He's got to have some responsibility.

"One of the greatest modern tendencies is to develop power. We have establish parks and playgrounds to keep up the physical power of children. We have medical officers in the school to keep them healthy. We have open air schools for the subnormal. We are beginning to realize that book knowledge is not the chief function of our schools.

"That boys naturally take the right view of things is shown by their reverence for law. They may dispute whether or not a runner reached first base before the ball, but if it is a matter of rules, and some one has the latest rule book, they will follow unfalteringly what that rule book calls for."

Dr. Hughes thinks no child should be taught to read until 9 years old.

REPATRIATING N.S.

Publicity and Active Work Are Doing Wonders.

Nova Scotia is reaping the fruits of publicity in the matter of immigration, according to a recent interview with Arthur S. Barnstead, secretary of Industries and Immigration for that province.

"Four years ago, Premier Murray took steps to organize a provincial immigration service which at the same time acts as a publicity bureau," said Mr. Barnstead. "Mainly the operations have been extended to the British Isles where it was felt conditions would serve in drawing the attention of a part of the many thousands who yearly come to Canada to the attractions and opportunities of Canada's East—which, after all, is capable of fuller exploitation and has not shared as much as we should have liked in the great Canada awakening of the last decade or so. The industrial life of the province has made it possible for Nova Scotia to show a substantial increase of population, amounting to 7.13 per cent. We had last summer 492,338 people in Nova Scotia, which is 32,764 more than we had in 1900. We have suffered alike with other parts of older Canada in the rural to urban migration.

"It was not always so, perhaps, but 1912 is not 1882. In the life of a generation the face of the province has changed in many ways, but changed, we believe to the great advantage of Nova Scotians and offering the openings for our young men and women that were non-existent in the earlier years of confederation. So while endeavoring to let our own people see these facts, we are by means of our agency in London, and with the aid of literature, advertising, and the use of lecturers in the Mother Country at the same time proclaiming them to the great millions of British peoples who are crowded in their, and our, home-land."

"A number of people from the British Isles have come to us. Some natives have returned to their old farms after absence in the United States for some years. Others have come in to labor in the industrial centres. Altogether immigration has increased the population of the province by about 20,000 people.

"An average of about 250 to 300 a year, say 1,200 in all, went to the farms. Some of these were farm laborers who worked for a while with our farmers and subsequently moved away. Those who had sufficient capital purchased farms while many who would have located and had acquired the necessary acquaintance with local conditions combined with previous agricultural experience were deterred from doing so, owing to lack of capital.

"The needs of this class have been recognized and the Government has been endeavoring to secure a suitable method whereby assistance would be rendered in certain cases. Since I left the city, Hon. Premier Murray has introduced a bill into the Legislature to effect this very object. It is, briefly, an act for the encouragement of settlement on farm lands. The aid is made available not only for selected farmers from the British Isles or elsewhere who wish to acquire land of their own, but are unable to do so but the like assistance is open to Nova Scotians who have the necessary agricultural qualifications.

"Provision is made for the lending of an amount up to 80 per cent. of the appraised or actual value of the land. There is a limit set on the amount which may be loaned on any one property. I think it is $5,000. The Governor-in-Council is also authorized to purchase out of a fund of $200,000, lands that will be suitable for the purpose, sub-divide it into lots, if need be, and resell it on agreed terms for the repayment of principal and interest. By utilizing existing loan societies or companies to aid us in this work we think we have hit upon a method that will provide in a safe way, the necessary funds and machinery for collection and help to solve the important problem of the resettlement of many of the unoccupied and untilled farms that are to be found in too frequent numbers in our province."

"Labby" Wanted a Place.

It is hard to think of Henry Labouchere in any other occupation than that of hitting heads and making faces, in a good cause, to be sure, but still with much gusto and impish glee. But we are assured by G. W. E. Russell in the Cornhill Magazine that Labouchere for a time cherished that most bourgeois of ambitions—a place in the cabinet or in the high diplomatic service. When Gladstone organized his last cabinet, in 1892, Labouchere confidently expected that his valiant services to the party during six years of Tory ascendancy would be rewarded, but before Gladstone submitted his list of ministers to the queen he had received a direct intimation that the name of the editor of Truth must not appear there. On this point her majesty was reported to be "very stiff." Later Labouchere was an active candidate for the ambassadorship at Washington.

Old Time Delicacies.

Swans are coming back into favor as a dish for the table. This reversion to the tastes of our forefathers may lead to a demand for other delicacies once held in high esteem. In the thirteenth century the heron, the crane, the crow, the cormorant and the bittern were considered excellent food. But for some undiscovered reason the hare and the partridge were despised, and in the houses and of the nobles neither was ever seen. Another dish favored by our ancestors was dillegrout. This must have been a special delicacy, for the lord of the manor of Addington held his tenure on the condition of his presenting the king every year with a dish "called dillegrout, and if fat be added then it is called malpigeryum."—London Standard.

A Freak Base Hit.

"A freak play robbed Doc Casey's Toronto team of a game in the Eastern league. Casey's catching staff was so crippled that the plump little veteran was compelled to don the wind pad himself. Casey is short and quite stout. But he was doing fairly well until the tenth inning, when Rochester had a runner on third with two out. A wild pitched ball struck the ground in front of Casey and disappeared. The runner hesitated until he saw Casey making frantic efforts to get the ball from under his protector; then he came home with the winning run just as Casey located the sphere, which had gone under the protector and wedged itself past the elastic belt tightly."

SEVRES PORCELAIN.

An Artistic Flower Group That Deceived a French King.

The manufacture of Sevres ware is one of the oldest and most characteristic arts of the French. The Sevres potteries have long been under the direct control and patronage of the government and are in receipt of an annual subsidy.

A royal porcelain factory was first established at Vincennes in 1745 under Louis XV. and produced many notable pieces of ware, particularly bouquets. On one occasion, it is related, his majesty was the victim of a practical joke. One of the exceedingly lifelike bouquets having been placed in his greenhouse by Mme. de Pompadour, the king on his next visit to the place stooped and in all good faith attempted to smell the rare exotic.

The factory was transferred from Vincennes to Sevres in 1756, since which date it has sent forth works of almost inestimable value. Porcelain pastes, colored by metallic oxides, are now compounded there which resist the action of the most fiery furnace, and the enamels and glazes have a marvelous transparency and luster. Almost every tint which can be imparted to porcelain is here - white, turquoise, blue, all the greens, the delicate rose pink which has received the name of Du Barry and even scarlet, one of the most difficult colors to retain under the intense heat of the baking furnaces.

Sevres porcelain has always been an expensive production, for the most skilled artists have been employed in its manufacture. Formerly the finest pieces were made solely for royalty and were sold only by royal permission. The prices paid in modern times for some of these specimens have steadily increased until they have become startling.—Exchange.

No Fear of Thieves.

Some years ago a London merchant sent a cargo of goods to Constantinople. After the supercargo saw the bales and boxes safely landed he inquired where they could be stored.

"Leave them here—it won't rain to-night," was the reply.

"But I dare not leave them thus exposed. Some of the goods might be stolen," said the supercargo.

The Mohammedan merchant burst into a loud laugh as he replied:

"Don't be alarmed. There isn't a Christian within fifty miles of here."—London Chronicle.

An old gentleman who was in the habit of imbibing too freely was sitting one day on the veranda of a village hotel at which he was a regular boarder. When dinner was ready the dinner bell, a large one such as are used on farms, began to ring. A large dog happened to be passing by just then, and, hearing the bell, he stopped and raised his head as high as he could and howled nervously until the bell ceased ringing. The old gentleman looked at the dog a moment as if disgusted with the noise he was making and then said:

"What are you howling about? You don't have to eat here?"

An Anglican Clergyman, Whose Name Has Been Forgotten But Who Lived at Three Rivers, Was One of the Pioneers In Aerial Experiments Back In 1840—Perron's Researches—Dr. Bell's Work.

Many years before the venerable Trowbridge had given to the world his "Darius Green and his Flying Machine," actual experiments, which had anticipated those set forth in this poem had been carried out in the particular field of gliding aerotechnics at Three Rivers, Que., by an Anglican clergyman, whose name is, unfortunately shrouded in mystery, and the exact date of his experiments is also unknown, although it has been determined that they took place sometime between 1835 and 1845.

This clergyman commenced his work by studying the flight of birds, and finally decided that it was well within the sphere of possibility, for man to successfully emulate the example of his feathered friends

Accordingly he commenced by making experiments with gliders and plane surfaces, and gathered an immense amount of valuable data which, unfortunately, has been lost. From verbal accounts of some of these experiments, it seems possible, that he discovered the method of building aerofoils, according to the system later laid down by Phillips, and which method has been extensively introduced by the leading European manufacturers during the past year

Beating Speaker.

Col. Henry R. Smith, Sergeant-at-Arms of the Dominion Parliament since 1872, has some good stories to tell concerning the expedients employed by members of the House of Commons to question the truthfulness of other honorable members without being called upon by the Speaker to retract.

A Westerner once called a fellow-member a liar in the House, and when urged to retract remarked that he would withdraw the expression out of respect to the Speaker, but added that he would certainly call the member a liar outside the precincts of the chamber. But in most cases attacks on veracity are more cleverly clothed in verbiage.

The most artistic effort in this direction recalled by Col. Smith was that of a wit who, after listening to a speech from the benches opposite, said: "The statements of the honorable member just seated force me to the conclusion that if he had lived in the days of Sapphira that lady would have preferred him to Ananias as a husband."

Honor for Glace Bay.

The people of Glace Bay, N.S., are happy, for that place is to be very much in the limelight in the coming summer. The Sloane aeroplane is to start from there in August on its attempt to cross the Atlantic. That in itself is enough to give prominence in the news columns of a whole country's papers, but Glace Bay is to have the additional honor of having the Duke of Connaught and Premier Borden there as official starters for the aeroplane

PROBING FIVE DEATHS

Chicago Woman Arrested Pending Investigation by Police—To Secure Insurance—Two Husbands and Three Children Die in Seven Years.

Chicago, Ill., June 19.—Mrs. Louise Lindorf, 45 years old, was arrested by the police to-day pending the investigation of the deaths of her two husbands and three children, one of whom, a son, died to-day. The five are said to have carried insurance amounting to $10,500.

Henry Kuby, a roomer at the Lindorf home, also was taken into custody. The police said it was improbable that a charge would be placed against him, but they desired to question him.

The arrests followed chemical examination of the viscera of Arthur Lindorf, 15 years old, by Dr. R. S Lecount and Coroner Hoffman. The boy who was insured for $3,375 was supposed to have died of pancreatic trouble, but Dr. Lecount became suspicious and notified the police. Other deaths which are being investigated are:

Julius Graunke, first husband of Mrs. Lindorf, died Aug. 12, 1905, in Milwaukee, Wis., supposedly of sunstroke, insured for $2,000.

William Lindorf, second husband died Aug. 3, 1910, supposedly of heart trouble. Insured for $1,625.

Freida Graunke, 22 years old, died Jan. 11, 1908, supposedly of heart fever. Insured for $1,350.

Alma Graunke, died Aug. 4, 1911, supposedly of heart disease. Insured for $2,300.

After the arrest of Mrs. Lindorf detectives searched her house for poison. Several "white powders" were found, and they will be submitted to the city chemist for examination.

In offering these shares for investment, we feel that we are inviting the public to purchase stock in an industry in which the profits are very large, and the demand for the product is ever increasing.

It is a well known fact that the shares of our Canadian Tanneries are very closely held, and the public seldom have an opportunity of procuring any.

On March 11th, 1912, the Burgesses of the Town of Aurora voted in favor of granting The Collis Leather Company, Limited, a cash bonus of Ten Thousand Dollars, the Company's property is exempt from Taxation for Ten Years (except school tax) and it has also been granted water from the Town free for all time.

The factory is now under construction, to be completed on or before the 1st Day of July, 1912, and will be 150 feet long by 50 feet wide, and four storys high.

The Company's specialty will be the manufacture of calf leather.

Mr. Walter Collis has had over Thirty Years' experience as a tanner, and thoroughly understands all departments of the business. Mr. Collis will have direct charge of the Tannery.

The capacity of the factory will be Eighteen Hundred calfskins per day, or an average of Eighteen Thousand Feet per day. A most conservative estimate of the net profit is one-half cents per foot.

A HUSBAND'S DUTY

He Owes It to His Family to Have His House In Order.

PROVISION FOR THE FUTURE.

A Few Very Sensible and Very Practical Suggestions to the Men Who Doesn't Stop to Think About What May Happen When He Is Gone.

There are any number of men who are the most indulgent of husbands and fathers, providing a good living for their families and who yet live up to the limit of their incomes, with never a thought for the future and never an effort to protect their loved ones and their homes in case of their death.

To such men, as well as to those who are provident, but who keep putting off the arrangement of their business affairs to meet such an emergency, the following sensible suggestions by Willis Frederick Dix in the New York Independent may be of interest:

Is your house really in order? Outwardly, perhaps, yes, since your wife is a good housekeeper, but how about your own personal affairs? Your lawyer has perhaps drawn your will for you, and your personal accounts are businesslike, but have you looked that will over recently, and in the case of your death is there some one in your household who is sufficiently familiar with your account book to understand your system?

Have you tried to imagine just what condition would exist in your family immediately after your death, and have you carefully provided for that condition? These and a number of similar questions must be answered satisfactorily before you can say that your house is really in order.

The following are a few practical suggestions which, if you think them over and act upon them, may be the means of saving you or your family from some seriously inconvenient plight or actual trouble and loss.

First of all, make a point of keeping your wife (or some member of your household) familiar with your system of personal accounts. Let her know where your safety deposit box is, where you keep the key, where your letter file relating to these business matters is kept and just what your relation to your business is. You know it is quite possible that you will die sometime.

Keep your fire insurance policies in your safety deposit box, where they will not be burned with your house, and keep in the same package with them, plans and specifications of your house, so that the fire insurance companies can know definitely just how much it would cost to replace it. With your furniture insurance policy keep a detailed inventory of your household effects, with statement of their values. It would be impossible for you to do this from memory after the goods have been destroyed, and much needless trouble would necessarily ensue without such a list. And do not rely wholly upon your agent to renew your policies as they expire. Keep a list of the dates of expiry in your account book, where you will see them frequently.

Suppose you should be run over and killed today. Have you looked into the law of your state to ascertain whether or not your safety box would be sealed, and if it would be sealed are there any documents in it which your family would need before it were officially opened by your executors in the presence of a state officer? Your executors may take a year to settle up your estate. How about ready money for the use of your family?

When a man draws up his will it is seldom that he appreciates the fact that his cash in bank and the interest accrued on his investments up to the date of his death become principal and cannot be used by his family to pay their current expenses following his death.

An excellent way for a man to be sure that his family, upon his death, will have ready money at once, free from all complications, is to take out, in addition to his regular insurance, a policy for say $1,000 or $2,000 in favor of his wife or some member of his family.

This sum will have nothing to do with the legal formalities necessary in connection with the settling up of the estate and can be immediately collected and put in use.

Pistoles and Doubloons.

The pistole was much used in Spain and Italy. Originally equivalent to about eleven old French livres, until about 1780 it seems to have been merely an irregular piece of gold. In common with the moidore, the sequin and the doubloon its value varied at different times and in different countries, usually being, however, about $3.75.

Paternal Confidence.

The Young Man (with some embarrassment)—There is one question you haven't asked me yet Mr. Kurpop. You haven't wanted to know whether or not I think I can make a living for your daughter.

The Other Man—That isn't necessary, Henry. She'll see that you make the living, all right, if she's at all like her mother, and I think she is.

A Southern Antidote.

If Americans need an antidote for restlessness they can find it among the mountaineers of the south. It is said that when a native is asked to hurry he replies, "Don't forget there's a whole day tomorrow 'tain't been tetched yet."—Detroit Free Press.

Dutch Etiquette.

Lost time is never found again, and what we call time enough always proves little enough.

First Come, First Served.

A woman was in a New York elevator which also had some men passengers.

"Ninth," said one of the men after the car was fairly started.

"Sixth," said the woman.

The car sped by the sixth floor and was halted at the ninth.

On the way back the woman asked:

"Why didn't you stop at the sixth floor? The sixth floor is lower than the ninth."

"I know that," said the elevator boy. "But the man said ninth first."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Keeping Out Whiskey.

It was to protect the Indians from whiskey dealers from the American side of the border that the Northwest Mounted Police came into being in 1874. So well did they succeed that within a year Col. Macleod, who was stationed in a district which now forms the southwest corner of Alberta, reported that the whiskey trade had been completely stopped in that part of the country, and that drunken riots were at an end.

His first blow at the liquor traffic was the capture of a colored man named Bond, and some other Americans, who had a trading post about fifty miles from the colonel's headquarters. An Indiana named "Three Bulls" informed the police that he had bartered two of his horses for a couple of gallons of whiskey. An officer, with ten men, accordingly set out, and rode down Bond and his associates after a forty mile chase, arresting the party, five in number, and seizing two wagons containing cases of whiskey and buffalo skins, which had been received from the Indians. Heavy fines were inflicted, and the first step in protecting the Indians from their worst enemies was a great success.

Influx of Americans.

"The present outlook is that there will be forty thousand more Americans enter western Canada this year than last," said Mr. W. J. White, superintendent of American immigration agencies, who was in Ottawa recently.

Unimportant Man.

Miles of Films.

On the average of about 180,000 feet of film are placed on the British market every week, and this quantity is steadily increasing. It is computed that there are same 50,000 picture theatres scattered throughout the world, and as the number thereof is increasing daily, the supply of films has by no means yet reached the limits of the demand.

England's Coal Trade.

England produces in a normal year, 230 million tons of coal; it exported 64 million tons last year and imported only the trifle of 20.000 tons. Therefore its whole manufacturing industry, and its foreign trade to the extent of 182 1-2 million dollars a year, are dependent on the coal trade.

Heredity.

"Oh, hubby, dear, what do you think are the first words our baby will say?" gurgled Mrs. Matron.

"Well, if she takes after you they will probably be, 'This is a nice time to come home,'" said the brute.

THE KOLA NUT IN AFRICA.

It Plays an Important Part in the Lives of the Natives.

In the parts of Africa where it grows the kola nut is much esteemed by the natives on account of its stimulating and other properties, and it occupies a large place in African legends, as well as in ceremonies and cults. These tribes have been aware of its power as a stimulant from time immemorial, and it is also used as a remedy for marsh fever and other maladies.

It is used as a pledge of friendship or affection, as an offering to fetich men and also as money or for paying tribute. In the Bambara and other regions a young man sends a basket of white and red kola nuts to the father of a young woman whom he desires to marry. If the father consents he keeps all the nuts, but if not he keeps the white ones and returns the red.

The kola tree is much respected, and the belief is strong among the natives that if one of them plucks a flower it will bring him bad luck. Among the Bagas a tree is planted at each birth or notable occasion. In the Diorugu region when a chief goes through the ceremony of naming his child he plants a kola tree, and this afterward belongs to the child.

In the whole of the Sudan region the kola nut is a symbol of friendship, and as it is an article of luxury the act of offering it as a gift is taken as a mark of the wealth of the giver. Eating the kola nut together is a sign of friendship, and it would be a great offense to refuse to do this. Treaties, vows or compacts are made binding in the same way.—Chicago News.

KEATS' LOVE AFFAIR.

It Was But Another Disaster of the Last Days of the Poet's Life.

Keats' way of love was by no means a way of happiness. The object of his passion was a Miss Fanny Brawne, whom he had the fortune or misfortune to meet at the Dilkes' house. She has become fairly well known in Keats' bibliography as "a brisk and blooming very young beauty of the far from uncommon English hawk blond type."

Her affection for Keats seems to have been real, but limited by a rather shallow emotional capacity. His for her was enfevered with doubts and questionings not only about the reality of his feeling toward her, but about his failing health and his uncertain prospects. Disease had already weakened him when he met her, and between the fire of disease and the fire of love his vitality was rapidly consumed. Love proved to be but another disaster to heighten the tragic suffering of the last eighteen months of his life.

When, finally, he went to Rome, accompanied by the artist, Joseph Severn, he turned his back on love along with the rest of life. He died in February, 1821, and was buried in the Protestant cemetery, a place made so beautiful by the flowers that grew there the year through that it makes one "in love with death to think one should be buried in so sweet a place," as Shelley wrote not long before he, too, died.—New York Post.

Musical Conductors.

It is a significant fact that most of the great conductors have spent their apprentice years in mastering some solo instrument which they have used as a stepping stone to the broader and ultimate work of conducting an orchestra. Arthur Nikisch was at the beginning of his career a violinist in the royal orchestra at Vienna; Richard Strauss made his formal debut not only as leader of the Meininger orchestra, but as a pianist also, playing a concerto by Mozart. Felix Weingartner, Dr. Muck, Emil Paur, Rothwell and Oberhoffer were first pianists of distinction before becoming conductors. This list could also be carried back to Hans von Bulow, the prince of pianists and conductors, and to Felix Mendelssohn, who inaugurated the famous Gewandhaus concerts.

Spoiled the Sport.

A gentleman from London was invited to go for "a day's snipe shooting," in the country. The invitation was accepted, and host and guest shouldered guns and sallied forth in quest of game.

After a time a solitary snipe rose and promptly fell to the visitor's first barrel.

The host's face fell also.

"We may as well return," he remarked gloomily, "for that was the only snipe in the neighborhood."

The bird had afforded excellent sport to all his friends for six weeks.—London Answers.

He Was Sarcastic.

Tennis the Game of Kings.

Tennis is the game of kings. The oldest of existing ball games—it is mentioned in the Arthurian romances—tennis was originally the pastime of the kings and nobles, and it was long before its descendant—lawn tennis—became popular with all classes. The game reached England from France and Italy, and by the time of Henry VII. we find a royal tennis court at Windsor. Henry VIII. was an expert at the game.—London Chronicle.

LEGEND OF ALUMINUM.

If a certain incident in Roman history, as related by Pliny, be given full credence, then it would seem that aluminium was derived by means of a secret process long before our time.

The story is this: During the reign of Tiberius there one day appeared at the emperor's palace a worker in metals who displayed a magnificent cup made of a brilliant white metal that shone like silver. In presenting it to Tiberius the artificer purposely dropped it. The piece was so bruised by the fall that it seemed hopelessly ruined, but the metal worker took his hammer, and in the presence of the court quickly repaired the damage. It was thus evident to all that the metal was not silver, though it presented an appearance as brilliant as that metal. Besides, it was more durable and much lighter.

The emperor, so Pliny relates, interrogated the metal worker, from whom it was learned that the mysterious metal had been extracted from an argillaceous earth, in all probability the clay known to modern chemists as alumina. Tiberius then asked whether any one but the metal worker knew of the process and received the reply that the secret was known only to the worker and Jupiter.

The answer was unfortunate, for reasoned the emperor, if it were possible to obtain such a metal from so common a substance as clay, would not the value of gold and silver be reduced? Tiberius, it would seem was determined to avert such a catastrophe, for he commanded the workshops of the discoverer of the new metal to be destroyed and the luckless man himself to be decapitated, so that the secret might die with him.

Did the cruelty of Tiberius deprive the world for centuries of the use of the metal aluminium?

Sequel to an Amusing Mistake.

An amusing story is told of Mr. McKinnon Wood, who succeeded in holding his own in the St. Rollox bye-election. The wife of "Mr. Speaker" introduced Mr. Wood, at a reception, to a lady, having previously mentioned that she was about to make him acquainted with the wife of a member of the Russian Duma.

Mr. McKinnon Wood, being unable to speak the language of the Slavs, felt somewhat embarrassed, and endeavored to explain, by signs and smiles, his lingual deficiency. The lady, somewhat to his surprise, though, perhaps, to his relief, said, "I would much prefer to converse in English," and added that she was Mrs. Austen Chamberlain. Mrs. Lowther, quite inadvertently, had introduced Mr. McKinnon Wood to the wrong lady.

It is not, perhaps, generally known that the member for the St. Rollox Division was originally intended for the Bar, but instead took up business as a merchant. He made his mark on the London County Council, and is rather "learned" having contributed several articles to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

In Wildest India.

Lord Hindlip, who is one of Britain's richest peers, has compressed a good deal of adventure into the thirty-four years which he completed recently. He has traveled pretty nearly all over the world, made some notable sporting tours in Abyssinia and the White Nile country, has done exploration work in Central Africa, and has been after big game in some of the wildest jungles of India.

While Lord Brassey was Governor of Victoria, Australia, he acted as his aide-de-camp and took part in the South African war, during which he was present at the relief of Mafeking. Lady Hindlip was Miss Agatha Thynne, a kinswoman of Lord Bath, and since her marriage she has inherited a very large fortune from the late Mr. Charles Ellis. Lady Hindlip has won much praise as an amateur actress, and, like her husband, she is devoted to big game hunting. She is said to be the only lady in society who has shot a giraffe.—Ideas.

A Hopeless Case.

"De trouble wid me and mah wife," admitted Brother Gaumpers, "am dat, when we 'gree most of de time, we don't 'gree at de same time. I kin 'gree 'bout anything, and she kin 'gree 'bout anything, but we kain't 'gree wid each udder 'bout it. When I'm willin' to 'gree wid her she won't 'gree wid me, an' when she is ready to 'gree wid me I've changed muh mind so I kain't 'gree wid her. We kin bofe 'gree separate, but we kain't 'gree togedder on de same thing at de same time, an' de mo' we tries de wuss we gits."

A Delicate Position.

"That was an annoying coincidence," said Mr. Biggins. "It took great tact to manage it."

"What's the trouble?"

"The pension examiner and the life insurance doctor both called on me at the same time."—Washington Star.

A Good Rule.

If you wish success in life make perseverance your bosom friend, experience your wise counselor, caution your elder brother and hope your guardian genius.

No Changes.

"Why don't you work up some improvements in this department?" demanded the proprietor.

"Well, sir, the work has always been done this way. Could I have an increase of salary?"

"Why should you? This job has always drawn $8 a week."

She Had Retired.

"Is that hair restorer any good?"

"Fine! I put a bottle of it on my wife's dressing table the other night and when I got home from the club the dressing table was covered with hair."

Anaesthetics.

"The anaesthetics don't seem to have any effect on old Battersby, sir. He won't drop off."

"Hum! Ah, I have it! Send for his pastor and his barber. Between them they ought to put him to sleep."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

THREE PUPILS AT SCHOOL

The First holds his book too close and mistakes figures on the black-board—he is near-sighted—that is why he sits in the front seat.

The Third Pupil stoops awkwardly over the book because he does not see easily.

The other pupil sits erect to study, sees the figures on the black-board easily accurately and does home-work easily. Properly fitted glasses help all his school work and make his examinations successful.

We examine many pupils and do not supply glasses unless necessary to their school work.

WHY SNIFFLE AND SNEEZE WITH CATARRHAL COLD?

By Breathing the Healing Vapor of Catarrhozone You Get Relief in Ten Minutes.

Every second person that you meet seems to have a sneeze and stuffed feeling in the forehead and nostrils. To cure promptly, say, in half an hour, there is nothing worth using except Catarrhozone. You inhale its balsamic vapor, and feel as if you were among the Norway pines. This is because Catarrhozone contains a healing medicine, light as pine air, which is breathed straight into the lungs and bronchial tubes. Away goes the cold; sneezing and catarrhal cough cease, bronchial irritation stops; in short, you are cured of catarrh by a pleasant, simple remedy, free from sedatives and irritants.

That Catarrhozone is a swift, certain means of destroying colds and catarrh is proved by the following statement of Mr. Pulos, one of Brockville's best known merchants:

"In the fall of 1908," writes Mr. Pulos, under date of June, 1910, "I contracted a very severe cold which developed into Catarrh. At that time I was living in New York State and treated with four different physicians who afforded me no relief. On coming to Brockville I was advised by a friend to try Catarrhozone. I bought the dollar outfit and was gratified by the results. I was completely cured by Catarrhozone and have used it since to check a cold with unfailing results. It is the grandest medicine in existence, and I hope my testimony will be of some use to other fellow-sufferers."

(Signed) George Pulos."

An ideal protection for the chest, lungs, nose and throat is the frequent use of Catarrhozone. Two months treatment (the large size) costs $1.00 medium size, 50c; at all dealers, or the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

Won Gold Medal.

Barrie, June 20.—At the annual graduation exercises in connection with the Royal Victoria Training School for Nurses, Barrie, diplomas were awarded to Miss Ethel Halbert of Alliston, gold medalist, Miss Ada Howard of Weyburn, Sask., Miss Josephine Quinn, of Barrie, and Miss Henrietta Isbister of Peterborough.

Sneak Thieves at Library.

Certain sneak thieves have been in the habit of taking good hats from the public library racks and substituting old and worn ones in their places. Mr. Dela Fosse states that he has a very good clue to the identity of the offender and if the offence is repeated legal action will certainly take place.

A Trip to Buckhorn.

To-day the Council will inspect the bridges in and around Buckhorn. Several complaints have been received in respect to the damage incurred by the flood water to the small bridges in the vicinity of Buckhorn, and it is with a view to remedying this, if possible, that the trip will be undertaken.

A Successful Recital.

On Wednesday evening a most pleasing recital was given at the Conservatory of Music by the pupils of Miss McGill. The class of playing was distinctly fine and delighted the number of people who were present at the recital. Miss Lany's reading certainly captivated the ausience, and Miss Howell in her solos was heartily applauded.

Corner Stone of Methodist Church.

On Tuesday afternoon the corner stone of a fine new Methodist church was laid in Oakuale by Mr. A. O. Hogg, of Toronto in behalf of the trustee board, and Mrs. R. M. Beal, of Lindsay, in behalf of the Ladies' Aid Society. The new church, which will be one of the best in the Province will in all probability be opened for public worship in October.

Council Will Inspect Bridge.

The Peterborough County Council met again yesterday morning, pursuantant to adjournment, with all members present and Warden Cohen in the chair.

The morning session was taken up with the consumation of general business, and in the afternoon the convening of the various committees was in order.

Fell In the Water.

Mr. John McGraw, who runs the custom saw mill at Lakefield, while paddling in a canoe to inspect some logs, had occasion to cross the boom and in getting his canoe over the boom in some way slipped into the water. After a few minutes exertion he managed to get out. Mr. McGraw is apparently none the worse for his thorough wetting.

Cleaning Away the Poles.

A runaway team attached to a coal wagon, placed the fire alarm system in the south end of the city out of commission yesterday morning, by breaking a pole and bringing down the wires entering the alarm box, in front of Matthews store on George street. The runaway itself was a spectacular event, although no serious damage was committed.

A Narrow Escape.

There was a narrow escape from serious injury at the crossing of the Lakefield branch of the G.T.R. at Dublin street yesterday, when the dairy waggon of F. Brown, milk vendor, was struck by the Lakefield train. Fortunately the wagon had practically got clear off the track, the train striking the rear wheel. Mr. Brown was unhurt and the vehicle was not badly damaged.

Local Orchestra in Pontypool.

The orchestra of the George street Methodist Sunday school journeyed to Pontypool on the 4.28 train yesterday and gave a splendid concert in that village. They were playing at a lawn social and the large number who attended it were delighted with their rendition of popular and classical airs. Many expressed the hope that they would return to the village at some future date.

To Gauge Water.

[illegible] of Ottawa passed through Peterborough yesterday on his way to Haliburton and Victoria Counties to arrange for the gauging of the water in the reservoir lakes and rivers there. He is doing this to conserve the water on the suggestion of Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., who always takes an interest in these matters. The result will likely benefit all navigators of the surrounding lakes.

TENDERS FOR EXCAVATION.

Famous Band To-night.

The famous Canadian Territorial Staff Band of the Salvation Army will visit Peterborough to-night and will give a musical festival in the local Salvation Army Citadel. The Staff Band is composed of thirty expert musicians and their playing should be a great treat. His Honor Judge Huycke will be chairman and the programme will be a splendid one.

Fine Programme for Band Concert.

The regular weekly band concert will be held to-night, as usual, in Victoria Park, when the 57th Regimental band, under the leadership of Bandmaster Gliddon, will render the following well selected programme:

March—"Distant Greeting."
Overture—"Crown Diamonds."
Novelette—"In the Jungle."
Cornet Solo—"Heart in Hand."
Hymn—Selected.
Popular Songs.
Vocal Solo—"Holy City"—Asa Huyckef
Waltz—"September."
Selection—"Reminiscences of England."

Tag Day in Lindsay.

For the purpose of erecting a children's shelter in Lindsay, the ladies of that town are planning to hold a tag day, in all possibility on Dominion Day, July 1st. The Lindsay citizens seem to realize the need of a shelter in that town and in view of the success of tag day in this city, they hope to raise the necessary funds in this manner. Lindsay is not the only place to copy the ideas of the local ladies, as Belleville is now holding a successful Summer Fair, modelled on the lines of the Fair in the Armouries.

STREET CAR FARES.

Hereafter transfers to the George Street line will not be issued from Jackson Park cars when north or south bound on George street.

Passengers should ask for transfer at the same time fares are paid.

PETERBOROUGH RADIAL RAILWAY COMPANY.

The Caterpillar Pest.

There are a large number of citizens who have waged an effective war against the caterpillars, and the city's men have turned out a large number of these harmful pests. Yet it seems impossible to get rid of them. On many of the trees there are innumerable crowds of these insects that are finding their way into the trees from the ground. Everyone should see that their trees are free from the caterpillars and if they are not they should take means to clear them away. If such measures are not taken a very serious result will follow.

Strayed Away from Home.

A few days ago all Bethany was aroused and excited over the disappearance of the little twelve year old daughter of Mr. John Nelson, who did not return home from school at the usual time. For two days her parents and a number of men searched for her but could not discover any trace of the little girl. Her school bag and dinner pail were found about a mile from her home, about half way to school. The road that she had to travel was a very lonely one. However, on Friday, it was found that she had passed Manvers Station the day before the party continued the search and she was found about two miles from Pontypool. The reason for her wandering away is not known.

Local Man's Motion Passed.

City Clerk Armstrong fathered one of the motions that were passed by the Ontario Municipal Association in Toronto, on Wednesday. It was to the effect that the executive endeavour to have changed the status providing for the payment of registrars. The motion instructed the executive to endeavour to obtain legislation to provide that the expenses of registration, under Manhood Suffrage Act, be paid by the Province, and if that is not procured, to obtain an amendment to the Act to make it clear that ex-officio registrars are not entitled to be paid for the days unless they preside at places for registration. W. B. Dougherty of St. Thomas, seconded Mr. Armstrong's motion.

Street Railway Work Progressing.

The Street Railway Company have shown unusual expedition in the manner in which they have pushed ahead the extension of the C.G.E. line. The roadbed is complete, and yesterday morning the work of putting up a new trolley from Charlotte street to Byersville was begun, and it will only be a few days when the line is completed. The switch at the Edison is practically completed, and traffic should begin over the new line as far as Braund's store, at any rate, before Saturday. The roadbed on this line is now in good condition through the entire length and with a good service the Company should find many patrons in the new section it is entering.

Liquor Confiscated.

Millbrook, June 20.—For having more liquor on his premises than the law allows in local option districts, Robert Hutchinson, of Cavan, was fined $100, and for dispensing liquor on Sunday, contrary to the law, he was further assessed $300. Costs were included in both cases. This is the heaviest fine that has been imposed for a contravention of the law in respect to the sale of liquor, for some time. The district has been on the local option map for a number of years, and during that time numerous reports of the illicit sale of liquor have been received by the inspectors.

The liquor was seized on the premises in connection with the above case, was committed to a neighboring creek.

Pleasant Time for Masons.

The Masons of Peterborough are to be honoured to-night of the Most Worshipful, the Grand Master, Brother Aubrey White, Right Worshipful, the Deputy Grand Master, Brother W. D. McPherson; and Most Worshipful Brother E. T. Malone, Grand Treasurer.

These distinguished Grand Lodge officers will be the guests of Corinthian Lodge, and will be introduced by the District Deputy Grand Master, Right Worshipful Brother John Crane.

The Third Degree will be exemplified by members of Corinthian and Peterborough Lodges.

A pleasant time is anticipated. The local rulers of the craft are Wor. Bro F. D. Kerr, Corinthian Lodge, and Bro. A. Davidson, Peterborough Lodge.

Valuable and Curious Insects.

Miss Thelma Paxman, of 793 George street, has made another valuable addition to her specimens of natural history which will be exhibited in the scientific department of the Collegiate Institute in which Miss Paxman is a pupil. An uncle in Clinton has just sent her two gigantic members of the bug family which a friend of his forwarded to him from Cuba. The bugs came in a box by registered mail and during the 2,000 mile journey lived on a piece of sugar cane, which was placed in the box with them. They are rare specimens of the lower animal kingdom well worth seeing. The smaller of the two, the Cucylas, has in the top of its head behind its eyes two green lamps that in the darkness gleam like the headlights on a motor car. Under its wings, its body gives out a phosphorescent light. Flying through the Cuban jungles in myriads on a dark night they give the forest the appearance of being on fire.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

ROOSEVELT CONVENTION WON'T BE HELD TILL THE WORS'T HAS HAPPENED

Theodore's Supporters Will Make Their Last Big Fight To-day, Though They May Retain From Voting---Will Hold Their Own Convention Later.

Convention Hall, Chicago, June 21.—The Roosevelt forces met their third defeat in the Republican National Convention this afternoon. By a vote of yeas 569 to 499 noes, the convention voted to table a resolution of Gov. Hadley, which would have prevented any of the contested delegates voting on any of the cases reported by the Credentials Committee.

The first vote on temporary Chairman Root's election was 558 to 502. The second on Hadley's original proposal to the same effect, was 564 to 510.

Chicago, June 21.—Col. Roosevelt appeared at his headquarters an hour before the time set for to-day's session of the Republican convention and went over the plans for the day with his lieutenants. Senator Borah and others of the Idaho delegation were closeted for some time with the former President. Gov. Stubbs, of Kansas; Gov. Johnson, of California; James R. Garfield, of Ohio and a score of others saw Col. Roosevelt before leaving for Convention Hall.

It is said no change has been made in the program of the Roosevelt delegates, made yesterday. The plans, which were made at the caucus of two representatives from each State having Roosevelt delegates were discussed at a series of caucuses of State delegations last night and this morning. The leaders asserted that virtually every Roosevelt delegate in Chicago had approved the plan, which is to stay the convention out, without participating in votes in which the "tainted" delegates take part, and to hold a Progressive convention at the end, or some time after the Baltimore convention, possibly as late as August.

Roosevelt Issues a Statement in Which He Declines to "Pardon a Thief on Condition That He Surrenders Half the Stolen Goods."

Chicago, June 21.—Colonel Roosevelt has issued a lengthy and significant statement in which he says:

"We cannot afford to pardon a thief on condition that he surrenders half the solen goods. If the honestly elected majority of the convention chooses to proceed with the business and nominate me as the candidate of the real Republican party, I shall accept. IF SOME AMONG THEM FEAR TO TAKE SUCH A STAND, AND THE REMAINDER CHOOSE TO INAUGURATE A MOVEMENT TO NOMINATE ME FOR THE PRESIDENCY AS A PROGRESSIVE, ON A PROGRESSIVE PLATFORM, AND IF, IN SUCH EVENT, THE GENERAL FEELING AMONG PROGRESSIVES FAVORS MY BEING NOMINATED, I SHALL ACCEPT. In either case I shall make my appeal to every honest citizen in the nation, and I shall fight the campaign through, win or lose, even if I do not get asingle electorate vote.

"I do not wish a single man to support me from any personal feeling formed. I have nothing to offer any man. Any man who supports me will do so without hope of gain, and at the risk of personal loss and discomfort; but if, having this in view, those fervent in this great fight for the rule of the people, and for social and industrial justice, which has now also become a clear-cut fight for honesty against dishonesty and theft, desire me to lead the fight, I will do so. There can be no cause for which it is better worth while to fight, none in which defeat is of less consequence, provided only that he valiantly does his duty in the forward movement.

"I shall make my appeal to all honest men, east and west, north and south, and gladly abide the result whatever that result may be.

"(Signed) Theodore Roosevelt."

WHITE CAPS LOST TO ST. THOMAS YESTERDAY

The game between St. Thomas and Peterborough yesterday was a good exhibition of baseball, but rather slow in comparison to the game with the Kolts on Thursday. Kelly was there again with some sensational fielding, cutting off another run that the St Thomas boys were ready to put on the score board. "Left" McDonald did the pitching for the locals and was hit freely enough, receiving good support from the locals, who lost 8 to 3. A large number of the local fans give the credit of the game to Umpire Johnson, who after the first innings was the object of a running fire of derisive comment on his decisions. He certainly looked guilty

The St. Thomas stalwarts won on opportune hitting, and tight fielding work in the pinches. The White Caps fielded well throughout, a home run being responsible for several of the runs.

The next three games will be at home with St. Thomas.

THREE BOYS DROWNED

Terrible Accident Occurred at Lock No. 22, Welland Canal.

DROWNED

WILLIG JASKE—Aged five years.
WILLIE WALLACE, of Tiffany, of same age.
LEONARD BRETHERICK — Aged four.

Thorold, June 21.—Three little boys, Willie Jacke, Willie Wallace and Leonard Bretherick, all five years of age, with scarcely a chance for their lives, were swept to their death in the waters of Welland Canal yesterday afternoon, when the Canadian Government steamer La Canadienne tore out both the head and the foot gates of Lock 22. The steamer which was fitted out for survey work on Lake Superior, now lies at the bottom, filled with water up to the level of the canal, the result of a large hole in her hull, sustained when she was carried backward over the lock and lodged on the rockbound wall and floor of the canal.

G. M. ATLAS GOES TO MINISTER OF JUSTICE

Toronto, June 21.—Neither Rev. Geo. M. Atlas nor his counsel, William Douglas, has made any secret of Mr. Atlas' desire for a complete and public vindication Mr. Atlas has declared his innocence. Mr. Douglas has stood by him from the first.

What may mean the reopening of the whole case took place to-day, when Mr. Douglas obtained from Mr. Justice Riddell an important order. His Lordship directs the Clerk of the Peace and the Clerk of Writs to transmit to the Minister of Justice all papers, evidence, etc., in their custody in connection with any trial or proceeding against George M. Atlas.

WEDDING BELLS

McLean—Flavelle.

At two o'clock Thursday afternoon in the Cambridge street Methodist church, Lindsay, was solemnized the marriage of Edith Lillian, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Flavelle and Mr. James Stanley McLean of Toronto. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. W. Macmillan, D.D., of Halifax, brother-in-law of the bride, assisted by Rev. S. J. Shorey, D.D., pastor of the church.

The bride who was attended by her cousins, Miss Jean Flavelle, of Lindsay, and Miss Clara Flavelle, of Toronto, as bridesmaids, and her sister, Miss Edith Flavelle, as maid of honor, and her neice, Miss Katherine Flavelle as flower girl, entered the church to Lohengrin's wedding march, sung by Mrs. Wallace Barrett of Toronto, Miss B. L. McLean and Mrs. Wm. Dundas, of Lindsay.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was gowned in white liberty satin, trimmed with lace and pearls, the long court train covered with the bridal veil, which was caught with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and orchids, while the bridesmaids and maid of honor were dressed alike in blue liberty satin with veils of blue ninon. The flower girl was sweet in white with pink ribbons and daisies.

Mr. and Mrs. McLean left on the evening train for Quebec, to sail for England on the SS. Laurentia to-day.

GENERAL BOOTH BLIND

Circular Letter to The Times States That He Has Lost His Eyesight—Pathetic Utterance of the Great Salvation Army Leader.

My Dear Comrades,—

If the unexpected blow regarding the loss of my eyesight has not actually fallen, as the newspapers have stated, it is hovering dangerously near. Instead of the restoration of sight for which I had hoped, and for which I know you have so earnestly prayed, the Doctors tell me I am on the very eve of entire darkness.

In a few brief hours my comrades may be under the painful compulsion of announcing that The General is hopelessly blind. In that event, what an indescribably painful loss will be mine, never again to see the light of day, or behold the countenances of my friends, or look into the sympathetic eyes of my comrades; never again to witness that which for over sixty years has been to me the sight of sights—men and women kneeling at the Mercy Seat.

Then, too, I have lost the hope of being able with any facility to write, while it will be an absolute impossibility to read well.

Pile up all my losses, they are many and serious, I admit, but look at the mercies left me!

First, there is my confidence in God. I am not going to allow the existence of a few things which are in conflict with my judgment to interfere with my confidence in His wisdom—confidence that is inspired by a lifelong knowledge of His loving care.

Then, I have not lost the assurance of my own happy relations with my Heavenly Father. I have not lost the confidence and love of my own dear people. I have not lost the inestimable blessing of life.

I want the continued loyalty of my own people and the heartier co-operation of all men and women whose hearts are fired with the same purpose as my own.

In a few weeks' time I hope to be found once more on the battlefield.

Anyway, my dear comrades, in the light or in the dark, you may count upon your General to trust in God and go forward!

WILLIAM BOOTH.

In Northumberland, where three Independent Conservatives ran against the Government ticket, two of them were elected. In Northumberland, where three Independent Conservatives ran against the Government ticket, two of them were elected. In St. John city, York and Sunbury counties, the Opposition candidates lost their deposits. A. B. Copp, the Opposition leader, was badly defeated in Westmorland. Premier Flemming headed the poll in Carleton.

The results of yesterday's voting gives the Government 40 seats, Independent 2, and Opposition 2.

Gloucester polling takes place on Monday.

BALL CARTRIDGES SERVED OUT AT CAMP OF SOLDIERS

Wonder is That Many Were Not Killed---Holding Enquiry to Fine Out How Mistake Was Made.

Kingston, June 21. Through some mistake, ball ammunition was served to members of the 8th and 9th Brigade regiments at Barriefield camp yesterday afternoon. It was nothing less than a miracle that there were not a number of men killed. The only reason given for the mistake is that perhaps, the ammunition came through the stores department with the wrong label.

Colonel the Hon. Sam Hughes was on his way out of the camp grounds for the railway station when the bullets whistled through the ranks.

The affair caused a big sensation.

CABINET PLANS ARE OUTLINED

Ottawa Ministers Busy Before Their Departure

PERLEY TO BE PREMIER

During Absence of Right Hon. Mr. Borden in England — Ministers Will Be Scattered—Parliament Likely to be Opened in November.

Ottawa, June 22.—Premier Borden has returned from Halifax, and there will be cabinet councils to-day, Monday and Tuesday, preparatory to the exodus of ministers for England on Wednesday. While it is not certain, the probabilities are that an appointment will be made to the vacancy in the chairmanship of the railway commission. The vacancy on the public service commission may go over till a later date. The latter position cannot be filled until the act authorizing it is proclaimed.

Plans for Summer.

In political circles the outlook is for an exceedingly quiet summer. Hon Geo. H. Perley, acting Premier will hold down the job constantly and a quorum of other ministers will be within call. Hon. Messrs. White, Nantel, Reid will be in Ottawa or near by all summer. Hon. Robt. Rogers and Hon. Dr. Roche will probably engage somewhat actively in the Saskatchewan campaign and Hon. Martin Burrell will go to British Columbia. Hon. Frank Cochrane intends to continue the inspection of Canadian transportation routes and Hon. F. D. Monk will go over the waterways and public works Hon. Mr. Crothers will investigate labor conditions throughout the country generally.

Mission to London.

Hon. G. E. Foster is now in England and the ministers who will accompany Mr. Borden are Hon Messrs. Hazen, Doherty and Pelletier. While there are other matters to be discussed the one of outstanding importance is the form of Canada's naval policy. The ministerial party expect to return home early in September and the session will likely be summoned at the usual time in November. It would probably be deferred until after New Year's but for the undertaking to ratify at the earliest moment the trade agreement with the West Indies.

MUST PAY THREE THOUSAND DOLLARS TO THE CHINIQUYS

Slashing Judgment by Judge Greenshields Against La Croix of Montreal--No Church Has Right to Override the Law.

Montreal, June 21.—Judgment was handed down this morning by Mr. Justice Greenshields in the Chiniquy libel suit. His Lordship found for the plaintiff and allowed $3000 damages.

This was an action brought by Mrs. Rebecca Morin, a daughter of the famous ex-priest and writer, Father Chiniquy, and wife of Professor Morin, of McGill University, against Joseph Begin, editor and publisher of the Roman Catholic weekly, La Croix, for $10,000 damages for libel. In an article on Chiniquy La Croix contended that as he had taken the vows of perpetual chastity he could never legally marry and that the woman he purported to marry was therefore only his concubine. Plaintiff contended that such a statement branded her as illegitimate.

Connected With Le Pays

The victory of plaintiff's lawyer Gonsalves Desaulniers, K.C., must be very gratifying to him, as La Croix, which purports to be the organ of all devout Roman Catholics here, has bitterly criticized him from time to time for his connection with Le Pays, the organ of the advanced educationists in Quebec, of which he is part proprietor, and the famous French-Canadian Masonic body, Emancipation Lodge, in which he was a prime mover.

When Justice Greenshields took his seat on the bench the court was crowded, though the defendant and his lawyer were both absent.

His Lordship began by dismissing the application to postpone judgment because of the new evidence supplied by David Latour, who signed the affidavit contending that Mme. Morin was not the daughter of Chiniquy, and therefore had no cause of action. The judge said it was clearly proved that Mme. Lefebre, the companion of Mme. Morin, was the daughter of Peter Murray, or Pirre Morris, of Illinois, claimed by the defendant as Mme. Morin's father. He therefore dismissed the application for postponement, with costs.

Made Matters Worse.

His Lordship added that the defendant, by submitting the affidavit, had corrected his description of Mde. Chiniquy as a concubine and had claimed that she was an adulteress.

Judge Greenshields then pronounced upon the merits of the case. He first of all read the plaintiff's plea that the publication in La Croix of the statement that her mother was a concubine was distinctly damaging to her and the defendant's reply that he did know that there was such a person as Mde. Morin, daughter of Chiniquy, living, and that he spoke as Roman Catholic to Roman Catholics in the eyes of whom such a marriage as Chiniquy was alleged to have contracted must have been considered null because he was a priest and because it was tainted with irregularity.

The judge then took up the question of validity of the wedding. He said he had the marriage certificate of Charles Chiniquy and Miss Allard before him and the defendant had not produced proof that the marriage had been upset by any competent authority. Then there was ample proof that the Chiniquys had lived together for many years. That, he thought, substantiated the claim of plaintiff, that her parents were married. Next, he had the certificate of the birth of the plaintiff and following this the recognition of her as his daughter by Chiniquy. In that he found evidence of her right to bring that action.

The State Dominates.

Continuing the judge said that no church, be it ever so powerful and great, had the right tu override the law of the land, which really dominated them. He had come to that conclusion before the answers of the Supreme Court judges had been given in the marriage reference.

Following up his contention that the plaintiff had abundant right to bring action against La Croix and its publisher for libelling her dead mother and father, Judge Greenshields said that the law of the Province, and of France recognized the justification of a living descendant suing a libeller or slanderer of his or her dead ancestors. In England a criminal action would have been possible. The lawyer for the defendant combatting this principle, pointed out that David Lloyd-George, the British Chancellor of the Exchequer, had called the ancestor of some political opponents, robbers.

HE (THE LEARNED JUDGE) WOULD LIKE TO SAY THAT WERE HE A JUDGE IN ENGLAND AND IF MR. GEORGE REDUCED SUCH ACTION TO WRITING, HE WOULD VERY SOON FIND OUT THAT A WARRANT FOR HIS ARREST WAS IN EXISTENCE AGAINST HIM.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the State's area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundred of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 66 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company, Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. Mr. John McGraw, who runs the custom saw mill at Lakefield, while paddling in a canoe to inspect some logs, had occasion to cross the boom and in getting his canoe over the boom in some way slipped into the water. After a few minutes exertion he managed to get out. Mr. McGraw is apparently none the worse for his thorough wetting.

JOIN THE BRANDON SYNDICATE.

Approximately $1,000 for each $100 invested and one-half of this profit should be reaped in four months, and the balance by December, this year.

The wise man is he who reads the sign of the time and acts accordingly. You are not buying lots but become a shareholder in an undivided interest of a first class sub-division, and a party to the selling of lots, instead of buying, a review of the history of real estate speculation show the greatest profits have been realized from purchase and sale of sub-division and close in business property. The Syndicate plan appeals to all. The capitalist has an opportunity of securing a high rate of interest on his capital invested, the man of moderate means has the same opportunity with the additional prospect of largely increasing his principal and his chances of becoming independently rich are increased a thousand fold. Shares in this Syndicate are $100, and for those who cannot pay outright all to have a chance at following terms: $33.35 cash, balance equally divided, due in 30 and 60 days. Now then, property the same distance out is being held at $500 per acre. I could sell at even $200 per acre, and clear a handsome profit, account of securing the property before the boom although by sub-dividing can clear as much several times over and in addition make big money for many others.

— Do you know that Brandon, Manitoba is on the eve of the first genuine growth activity in the history of that thriving city. The Dominion Fair will be held there in 1913, and $135,000 is being spent in preparation for it. Brandon ranks among the first as a distributing centre; 278 towns that can be served by wholesalers on a competitive freight rate basis, 134 towns within a radius of 60 miles, all inspired with progress. Electric Ry. now going in. Charter has been granted to a Company to build and operate radial lines to all important towns, including Rapid City, Minnedosa, Neepawa, Carberry, Souris, Wawanesa and etc. With rapid transit quick service what will it mean for Brandon, all of this wealth knocking at her door? Brandon's assessment increased in one year, 1910 to 1911, $1,227,192. Elevator capacity, Brandon city trading territory, 19,324,000 bushels, or one third of the total capacity of Alberta, Saskatchewan, and Manitoba. Inland revenue, 1910, $87,113.36. Bank Clearings, April 1st to March 31st, 1911, $27,271,695.00. Brandon is a shipping area. Brandon rates are from three cents to thirty cents less per 100 lbs., according to class and destination, than Winnipeg rates to the same points, and from 6 to 51 cents less than Regina rates.

Building and construction work in Brandon, 1911, $3,259,000, including Provincial asylum $600,000, new dwellings $200,000, new provincial normal school, Technical school, addition to the college, apartment houses, hospital addition, new primary school, warehouses, churches, bank buildings, and many others; C.N.R. hotel and station, $500,000, Canadian Pacific station $250,000, Grand Trunk Pacific building, in this year contracts awarded. Four transcontinental lines and, including branches, 27 lines run in or radiate from Brandon, the present terminus of the Great Northern, having Hudson Bay its objective point. Think what this means to Brandon. Also upon completion of the Government's railroad to Hudson Bay, as well as C.N.R. and C.P.R. surveying lines to that point, which is 100 miles nearer Liverpool than New York City to Liverpool, Brandon will have adequate shipping facilities. 500,000 horse power available; already the immense water powers of the Winnipeg river are being harnessed to make the wheels of industry hum at Brandon.

JOIN THE BRANDON SYNDICATE.

Join the Brandon syndicate and become interested in the best piece of sub-division property in or near Brandon. The property is located directly south of the business centre of Brandon, and in line of its surest and quickest developments. The property is admirably located, and every lot on it will be readily sold. Property sub-divided one-half mile further out, and one-half the lots sold without even advertising. The initial and only payment demanded of this syndicate is $30,000, and the syndicate will reap seventeen times that amount. In other words approximately $1,000 for every share, 200 shares reserved, 300 sold, 500 issued altogether. By reserving the 200 shares is where the syndicate promoter benefits. The difference between cost of land $24,140.00 and the $30,000 will sub-divide and cover cost of advertising, consequently the promoter will not derive any benefit only along with the shareholders, after subdividing and larger returns for shareholders will mean the same for the promoter. The contract you will receive upon receipt of remittance gives you an undivided interest in the land and also those who may make default in payments, their money to be refunded with 6 per cent. interest on completion of the syndicate. References—Manager Bank of Montreal, Brandon, J. W. Flemming, Mayor, W. de Manbey, attorney at law, Brandon.

Here is a big speculation for the man of little means. The man with $100 in this syndicate will participate in the profit just the same as the man with $1,000. The small investor will realize the same profit as the big real estate operators have made in the west, and who always keep to themselves such chances as these. This is a chance for the small investor in a piece of property that is absolutely safe, in a town that is going to surprise the whole west this year.

Think this over, sign the coupon and send in with your remittance, as the adv. may not appear again.

THRIFT IN FRANCE.

The Saving System That Is Directed by the Government.

The resources of the French people have always been a surprise to the rest of the world. The country has repeatedly recovered from most exhausting wars apparently through the very small savings accumulated by its lower classes. The peasants of France are landowners to an extent hardly equaled in any other country. The saving system known as the Credit Foncier, which is sanctioned and directed by the French government, is to a certain extent responsible for the thrifty spirit shown throughout France.

The plan provides that a man may borrow on his land very close to the complete value by arranging in advance the number of years that he will take to pay back the loan. His interest payments are then arranged at so much per year, the amount being greater or less, depending on how soon he intends that these payments should completely pay off his debt. If the payments are to continue for fifty years the payments are very small. If the whole mortgage is to be paid off in a shorter period the yearly payments are larger.

There is an added feature which would not be considered possible in this country—viz, an occasional lottery drawing, by which the man who draws the lucky ticket has his mortgage entirely canceled. The system provides an absolutely safe means of saving and is an encouragement to buy and pay for real estate. Against these bonds and mortgages the Credit Foncier issues its bonds in small amounts bearing interest at 3 per cent or less, which are sold in large quantities to investors of moderate means.

We have had nothing like it in America, and as a result our people have grown up to a very careless scale of expenditure.—J. Wray Cleveland in Leslie's Weekly.

Distance.

"The railroad business is pretty complicated."

"Yes," replied the traveling man. "I don't suppose I ever will be able to understand why two towns that look so close together on a railway map get so far apart when they come to measure up the distance with a mileage book."

Earliest Germ of Vitality.

The microscopic dot or earliest germ of vitality is the marvel of science today. Everything that lives, whether the giant oak or the monster animal, has each to begin its individual growth from this microscopic dot, which actually contains all the past story of the living growth and every part in miniature of its future frame.

TUNNELS UNDER RIVERS.

There are now many great rivers with tunnels under them. Even when one is sunk to such a depth and carried so far along as the one under the Hudson at Storm King for the aqueduct it excites only a moment's wonder.

Such tunnels are generally driven under the water on the same plan, and that plan was taught to an engineer by a worm. The first attempt to make a tunnel under a river of any size was the Thames tunnel in London, which was built by the famous engineer Brunel. He had so much trouble with the water that oozed through that he came near giving up the job as impossible when he happened to see a piece of rotten wood into which a worm had bored under water.

As the worm ate its way into the wood it left a deposit like lime all around the hole, and this got quite hard and waterproof, so that the worm could always get out the way it came, and the hole remained true and firm.

Brunel did the same thing. He made large steel tubes and pushed them into the earth, and then he forced cement in between the tube and the wet ground about it, so that it set as hard as a rock. All tunnels under water are built on the same plan now.—New York Sun.

The Bride's Pie.

The "wedding cake" of today was formerly called the "bride pie" and in some regions was regarded as so essential an adjunct to the marriage celebration that there was no prospect of happiness without it. It was always circular in shape, covered with a strong crust and garnished with sweetmeats. It was the proper thing for the bridegroom to wait on the bride in serving the cake; hence the term "bridegroom."

Not News to Him.

"Oh, my boy, my boy! When I was your age I had never seen the inside of a theater, I had never tasted a cocktail, and I had never lost money on a bet of any kind."

Wants a Rainy Wedding Day.

The Swedish girl prays for a rainy day on which to get married. Then before she goes to the ceremony attired in her wedding clothes she milks the cow, feeds the calf and steals a breast feather from the hen. That is to bring her husband good luck. The Swedish bride wears loose shoes, unbuttoned and untied, at her wedding. In one is a silver coin, in the other a gold one. This is to bring her the necessaries and luxuries of life.

FREAKS AMONG FISH.

Weird Sea Life In Bartlett's Deep, Off the Cuban Coast.

Cuba ends to the south in a huge hammer of mountains 8,000 feet high and steeping sheer into the sea. The wall does not end there, but continues its precipitous descent into the 708 mile long abyss called Bartlett's deep. This gigantic submarine valley is nearly four miles deep and eighty miles wide.

At a mile and a half the pressure of the water is nearly two tons to the square inch. The ooze that comes up from such a depth, though the equator runs overhead, is cold as hoarfrost. It is ten times certain that no vegetation can grow there.

As in our world none but the vegetables are able to make food, it ought to follow that in the depths of the sea there should be no animal life. As a matter of fact, these glooms are inhabited by the most grotesque and chimerical of all fishes. It would seem as though in the darkness life had taken every imaginable license to be ugly and bizarre. Cannibalism is evidently the only method of life, and its equipment runs to every kind of extravagance.

There are fish with teeth so long that they cannot close their mouths, fish that draw their stomachs over prey larger than themselves, fish with no more mouth than a leech and getting their living as leeches, fish with huge myopic eyes and fish frankly blind. Probably none of them comes from depths quite beyond the region of light, though a great many of them go poking about their ghoulish business furnished with lanterns of the glowworm type.—London Nation.

Old Time Prices.

Perhaps the housewife of today with a turn for economics would like to know what the quaint Dutch vrouws paid for their household supplies in 1675, when bears roamed over Manhattan island not far north of the present city hall and lambs bleated in the meadows around Wall street. Well, pork was 3 pence a pound, beef 2 pence, butter 6 pence, beer 2 pence a mug. Lodging was 2 pence a night, meals 6 pence and board by the week 5 shillings. But then it must be remembered that labor brought only 2 shillings 6 pence a day.—New York Tribune.

"WHAT GOOD ROADS MEANS TO CANADA."

The Carthaginians were the first people to make systematic practise of road-building, but no nation derived so many various benefits as that of Rome. Great and wonderful are the monuments that perpetuate the name of Rome, and everything connected with it, but none are so famous as her roads. Rome's military, commercial and imperial success was due, primarily, to her splendid system of highways, the relics of which extend from the Pillars of Hercules to the Temple of Jerusalem. But the Roman road-makers have a far more important lesson for Canada. The world will, for all time, remember the message of Christ, which was delivered to humanity through the medium of the Roman roads. There are thousands of people existing in hamlets scattered throughout Canada, who are awaiting religious instruction. They will not emerge from their semi-barbarous state until the "Good Roads Movement" has won its way into every nook of this new country.

The attendance to the rural meeting place is diminishing, the attendance to the school-house is dwindling, friendship is being severed with the neighbour living a short distance away; and with the persons to whom you regularly send a letter; and the village preacher is being discouraged. What is the reason for this? Impassable roads and nothing else. Country communities are not going to wade through mud to post a letter, or go to school, or go to Church, or to visit a freind, neither will they suffer their horses to attempt it. They will not be pestered with doctor's bills because the road is transformed into a quagmire. Rural inhabitants are being degraded educationally, socially and morally. Country folks are not migrating to cities because they don't like rural life, but because the roads, if they may be called so, are impassable. These people are intelligent enough to see that all the discomfort and prevention of social enjoyment is due to the lack of good roads. Here lies the greatest lesson of the Roman road-builders. You cannot estimate in dollars and cents the national loss entailed by the constant withdrawal of labour from farms, and by the fading of the influence of the character-building institutions of the country.

Bushnell, a great American thinker, says: "If new ideas are abroad, new hopes arising, you will see it by the roads that are building." Simultaneously with the movement for the need of good roads arises one far-reaching idea, even more profound than the enhancing of land values. It is the social betterment by which Canada is playing a distinguished part in the uplift of the World.

Now we turn to the meaning of roads in the economic sphere. Is it a good business policy? Canada's manufacturers, men of commerce and business, admit that Canada needs such a policy, but because they cannot see any solid, unrestricted and available gain that would accrue, they don't care. The cost of a breakfast roll would be trifling did it not cost the farmer eighteen cents a bushel more to transport wheat nine miles to a railway station than it did from New York to Liverpool, a distance of three thousand, one hundred miles. The cost of a boiled egg is the payment of transportation from the hen to the household. The intrinsic value of the egg is a mere trifle compared with the expense of carriage through two feet of mud.

Over the deep-rutted roads, as they exist at present, a farmer can haul, on an average, six hundred pounds in five hours with two horses. If good roads were constructed, however, it has been calculated that one horse could draw twelve hundred pounds and more in two hours. Not only would the farmer save time, conserve his energies, make better use of his vehicles and horses, and thereby save money; but the consumer, too, would receive his needs at lower prices. And as Canada's agricultural production is annually increasing by leaps and bounds, a greater proportion of money would be saved by all classes of people year by year; and probably the high cost of living in the urban districts would recede to the normal.

"It costs the average Canadian farmer two dollars a ton to haul his produce to the market town, to the railway station, or lake port. It is known that the production of field crops alone amounts to about 40,000,000 tons a year. It would be moderate to estimate that 25,000,000 of this tonnage is hauled over roads, one way or another; so we have $50,000,000 as cost of teaming field crop by the farmers. This cost would be reduced if we had first-class roads, to $20,000,000, a saving of 60 p.c., leaving $30,000,000 as a saving on one class of product alone."

The building of good roads would increase the value of taxable lands not only in the vicinity but also in the most remote parts. Stupendous amounts could be collected in taxes and the assets of the nation as well as the landlord would increase. New towns would spring up, new railway branches would be built; and Canada would be settled and developed at a miraculous rate.

Our convicts could be profitably employed building roads. Of course, it is useless to have them constructed unless carried on in a systematic and scientific way. The roads must be "graded, topped and rolled." They should be constructed so that water will quickly drain off and so that the greatest applied pressure will not force upon the foundation and cause mud to ooze up and ruts to be renewed.

Well constructed roads shorten distances by reducing the time to travel. They would give rise to a further exploration of sparsely settled districts, and would result in the discovery and shipping of more mineral and timber wealth.

I feel confident that smooth, hard roads would mean more to Canada than any other project. I belief that a remarkable awakening, a renaissance would take place. The economic and national advantages that would ensue are incalculable. The energetic settlement and development of Canada would swell the treasury and the country would enjoy an era of prosperity unequalled in its history. Good roads in Canada would mean a higher standard of citizenship; a people pervaded by education and good morals; and a better understanding and a mutual sympathy between the diverse peoples in the Dominion of Canada.—S. AFTER CHICAGO, BALTIMORE.

While the turmoil of the Republican factions is diverting attention from the Democratic campaign, the general public is satisfied that the next President of the United States will be named at Baltimore, because, after the Republicans finish the present fight among themselves, there will be hardly a remnant left of the former greatness of their party.

The one fact that stands out boldly in connection with the Democratic contest is the complete absence of bitterness, in spite of the energy with which the several candidates have conducted their campaigns for the nomination. On the other hand, the contest of the Republicans has been the most shameful in the history of the country. It has been one in which a President and ex-President of the United States has stooped to the level of the ward politician and dragged the dignity of the highest office in the world into the dirt.

With such a situation before them, it is well that the Democrats should take up their work with dignity and respect for the people to whom they look for support. All of the candidates whose names will be presented to the Baltimore convention will abide by the verdict as rendered by the majority, and every man will go home prepared to fight for a sweeping Democratic victory. In this they will be aided by the masses of the people, who have already made up their minds that their shall be a complete change made in the administration of affairs at Washington.

Editorial Notes

China is reaping the first fruits of revolution. Its annual revenue is about $208,000,000, and its expenditure $400,000,000. The new republic needs a minister of finance quite as much as a military genius.

Theodore Roosevelt's platform will contain a plank unequivocally supporting women's suffrage. The colonel has always tried to be on the side of the angels. He is a very practical man and fond of hunting big game. This time he is out with a butterfly net.

The Hon. George E. Foster in his speech at the luncheon of the Royal Colonial Institute in London, England, the other day, said he wished the word "emigrant" was buried, and when a man leaves Britain for Canada must say he has moved. An excellent suggestion, and quite homely.

The National Highways Association of the United States has produced a plan of six transcontinental highways, to cost $663,000,000 for construction, and $92,000,000 annually for maintenance, and it has only just commenced its campaign. What will this association do with the money that is left in the world when their task is completed?

OUTDOOR LIFE

Will Not Offset the Ill Effects of Coffee and Tea When One Cannot Digest Them.

A farmer says:

"For ten years or more I suffered from dyspepsia and stomach trouble caused by the use of coffee (Tea contains caffeine, the same drug found in coffee) until I got so bad I had to give up coffee entirely and almost give up eating. There were times when I could eat only boiled milk and bread, and when I went to the field to work I had to take some bread and butter along to give me strength.

"I doctored steady and took almost everything I could get for my stomach in the way of medicine, but if I got any better it only lasted a little while.

"One day I read an ad for Postum and told my wife I would try it, and as to the following facts I will make affidavit before any judge:

"I quit coffee entirely and used Postum in its place. I have regained my health entirely and can eat anything that is cooked to eat. I have increased in weight until now I weigh more than I ever did. I have not taken any medicine since I began using Postum.

"My family would stick to coffee at first, but they saw the effects it had on me and when they were feeling bad they began to use Postum, one at a time, until now we all use Postum." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.

Ten days' trial of Postum in place of tea or coffee proves the truth, an easy and pleasant way.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, June 20.—There was a better enquiry from foreign buyers for Manitoba spring wheat, but as the prices bid were still out of line, no new business was reported. Some sales of oats were made over the cable, and the tone of the market is firmer with holders asking [illegible]c c.i.f. for extra No. 1 feed to arrive. There was some demand from Ontario millers for No. 3 northern wheat, and sales of about 100,000 bushels were made at $1.00½ c.i.f. bay ports. Spring wheat flour continues quiet, but there was an improved demand for winter wheat grades, and the tone of the market is strong with prices 10c to 15c per barrel higher. Millfeed quiet and steady. Cheese is weaker and prices have declined ⅛c per pound owing to the lower prices ruling in the country, the falling off in the demand from English buyers and the weak foreign situation. Butter is steady. Eggs fairly active.

W. W. CANHAM, Toronto, Importer, of Wilson & Canham, Limited.

K. McWHINNEY, Toronto, Contractor.

S. J. PLANT, Toronto, Ceramic Expert, Managing Director.

TRUSTEES—Imperial Trusts Co. of Canada, Toronto.

This company is organized to engage in the making of building brick, terra cotta, fireproofing, etc. The demand for brick is greater than the supply, and there is need of another factory to make really high-class brick. The demand for building brick is such that contractors are obliged, in many cases, to use inferior brick, probably endangering the safety, and assuredly endangering the durability, of the buildings so constructed.

The Canada Brick and Fireproofing Company's property, consisting of 150 acres, and contains a very valuable and practically inexhaustible deposit of shale, clay and building stone.

The deposits in this property are of such a nature that the best bricks, with a density and hardness not surpassed, and commanding the highest market price, can be made at a very low cost. Bricks can be made the year round, winter as well as summer, as the company will have a thoroughly tested and specially designed dryer, which obviates all difficulties. No such opportunity has come to invest in the brick industry in many years, and, considering the unsupplied market, the attractive prices for the product, the low cost at which the Canada Brick and Fireproofing Co., Limited, are able to produce, the extraordinary good quality of the brick that can be made, and the well-known ability of the managing director of the company, this opportunity to invest is one of the best this company has ever had the pleasure of offering its clients or the general public.

THE LOW CAPITALIZATION.

This company could easily have been incorporated for $1,000,000.00 but to enhance the actual value of the shares, and to make the returns on the shares of practical consequence for all future time, the capitalization was made small in comparison with other flotations, but large enough to give ample capital, pay all charges and put up a three-unit plant, fully equipped with the most up-to-date, fastest and best brick-making machinery, and to supply plenty of working capital. We recommend this stock to all seeking safe, reliable and profitable investment.

The plant will be located in the Township of Esquesing, in the County of Halton, and will have a capacity of 150,000 bricks per day.

The present sale is to provide funds for completing the contract for the installation of the works of the Company, and for working capital.

PROFIT-SHARING ARRANGEMENT.

Preferred stock will share all dividends in excess of 6 p.c. in the following proportions:
For every 1 p.c. extra paid on the Preferred, 3 p.c. is to be paid on the Common.
For example:—When the Common stock receives 3 p.c., Preferred stock will receive 7 p.c.
" " " 6 p.c., " " 8 p.c.
" " " 9 p.c., " " 9 p.c.

After this point of dividend-sharing has been reached any additional dividends are to be shared equally by both Preferred and Common. The Preferred is also "Preferred" as to return of capital.

Two shares of Preferred stock carry a bonus of one share of Common.

PROPERTY.

The property consists of 150 acres of land in the Township of Esquesing in the County of Halton, containing valuable deposits for the purpose of the Company. This was selected after careful investigation of many much-praised deposits in different localities. 100 acres contains clay and shale and 50 acres contains a valuable deposit of building stone, known as "Credit Valley" stone, which is in great demand, and in itself alone should realize a good profit for the Company. There is an unfailing stream of water through the property, affording abundant water for the Company's operations.

TRANSPORTATION AND LABOR.

The railway running through the property gives excellent transportation facilities, and as the property is situated in the same shipping zone as the Milton, Terra Cotta, Halton, and Port Credit Companies, the same rates will be secured as are paid by those companies. Cheap and efficient labor is available in the surrounding towns. The Company propose to build workmen's houses within a short distance of the plant.

MARKET.

The rapid growth of the City of Toronto and the extraordinary building activities in the suburbs and the surrounding districts, which will doubtless continue for many years, has caused a demand for brick, fireproofing and clay products in excess of the capacity of the brick plants that are in a location to supply the city and surrounding country. All the present brick companies in Ontario are taxed to their utmost, and much delay has been caused in building operations owing to the inadequate supply of brick, and in some cases it has forced owners to abandon building operations entirely.

ESTIMATED EARNINGS.

The earnings of the Company are estimated on the basis of a profit of $2.50 per thousand bricks. The average cost per thousand, as estimated by the managing director of the Company, is $5.00. In this is included selling, operating, and all incidental costs of production, and as the Canada Brick & Fireproofing Company, Limited, are installing one of the most modern and up-to-date plants, both for handling and manufacturing bricks, this cost should be materially reduced.

In estimating the earnings of the Canada Brick & Fireproofing Company, Limited, the cost per thousand is put at $7.00 (f.o.b. Toronto and delivered on the jobs) to cover all possible contingencies, and the gross income is put at $9.50 per thousand or considerably below the average price, which is more than $10.00 per thousand.

On this basis the earnings will be as follows, allowing 250 working days to the year:

Unit No. 1.

CAPACITY	WORKING DAYS	BRICKS PER YEAR
50,000 per day.	250	12,500,000

Gross income, at $9.50 per thousand	$118,750
Cost of manufacturing, operating, etc., at $7.00 per thousand	87,500
Surplus	$31,250
As the Company will instal three units, each having a capacity of 50,000 per day, the output would be three times the above amount, or a total profit per annum of	$93,750
6 per cent. interest on preferred stock	18,000
Leaving for reserve fund, contingencies, dividends on common and preferred stock, etc.	$75,750

It will be seen that the Company should earn over 7 per cent. on the Preferred shares and 3 per cent. on the Common stock from Unit No. 1, and Units Nos. 1, 2, and 3 should earn 18 per cent. on both the Common and Preferred shares.

MANAGEMENT.

The Company has secured the services of S. J. Plant, Ceramic Engineer and Clay Specialist. He has been associated with the brick business all his life, in the manufacturing of all classes of brick and high-class clay ware, both plain and ornamental, and has a thorough knowledge of the construction and erection of brick plants.

Samples made from shale off the lands of the Company may be seen at the office of the Standard Bond Co. Wire-cut brick will be manufactured by the Company equal in appearance to pressed brick, and at no greater cost.

Applications may be sent in by telegram at our expense, and where application blanks are not available a letter stating the number of shares desired, and a deposit of $1 per share for the number of shares applied for, will be sufficient. Applications will be considered in order received and remittance for applications in excess of issue, will be refunded.

THREE FORMS OF WATER.

Either of Which Can Ever Be Changed Into One of the Others.

There are three forms of matter, solid, liquid and gas, and water is capable of taking any of them, just as the famous genie in the "Arabian Nights" could take various forms at pleasure.

We usually drink water in what is called its natural state. When we put the kettle on the fire to boil some water our object is simply to make it hot, but we still want the water to be water.

If we forget about the kettle and leave it on the fire too long we shall find the water all gone. The heat has turned it to gas, and it has floated off and mixed with the air.

But when we have a stove in the room and put a pan of water upon it we do not want the water. What we want now is the gas. As it boils away it restores to the air in the room the moisture that is dried up by the heat of the stove, so that the air is still fit to breathe.

In winter, when the skating season is on, we like to find some water that is neither liquid nor gas, but solid. The reason that it has turned solid and not gas is that instead of heat being applied to it all the heat has been taken out of it, but we can soon get it back to water again if we take a piece of ice into a warm room.

Water absorbs heat very quickly, and that is why it is easy to boil it. We use this absorbent quality when we sprinkle water on the floor in summer. It absorbs the heat and cools off the room. We pull down the shades to keep the heat out, because we know that the walls and the stone pavements make things hotter. Remember the scientific rule, "Solids, reflect heat; fluids absorb it."

No matter in what form we find water, we can always change it into either of the two other forms. When the water boils away we can hold a cold plate over it and see the vapor condense again into drops. We can take the drops out into the cold winter air and watch them freeze solid and then take the ice back into the room and thaw it and put it into the kettle again and see it rise in vapor once more.

Dr. Shearer's View.

Rev. Dr. J. G. Shearer, general secretary of the Moral and Social Reform Council of Canada, says that evangelization, law and education must all play a part in purity and reform work.

"Parents," he says, "have the first and chiefest responsibility; next to them, physicians, preachers, pedagogues, pressmen." And in connection with this work, Dr. Shearer introduces a new term to describe a necessary Christian virtue. "The queen of all virtues in this relation," he says, "is sanctified pigheadedness. We must be undiscourageable. We must have buoyancy that will not down."

Local Masons Honored.

The local order of Masons were honored last night with a number of prominent Masonic visitors, including the Most Worshipful, the Grand Master, Brother Aubrey White, Right Worshipful, the Deputy Grand Master, Brother W. D. McPherson; and Most Worshipful Brother E. T. Malone, Grand Treasurer. These distinguished Grand Lodge officers were the guests of Corinthian Lodge and were introduced by the District Deputy Grand Master, Right Worshipful Brother John Crane.

The Third Degree was exemplified by members of the Corinthian and Peterborough Lodges, and they were complimented on their work by the Grand Lodge officers.

Short addresses were made by the visitors, Wor. Bro. F. D. Kerr, Corinthian Lodge Commander, and Bro. A. Davidson, Peterborough Lodge Commander, and members of the local lodge. The attendance was large.

A Hot Time in Hamilton.

The Hamilton City Council are at present embroiled in an interesting complication. The newspapers of that city have published articles to the effect that certain aldermen there had written to the C.N.R. Co. offering to support their new line through the north of the city if the company would buy some of the writers property affected by this new railway line. This is, of course, approaching bribery and the aldermen, particularly those in the north end, are very much disturbed about the accusation, and think it would be wise to unseat the offending alderman if they could discover him. Both Aldermen Newlands and Littlewood, who own property in the north are perfectly willing, even anxious, to have an investigation held. Whether or not there is any truth in the accusation it promises to give the councillors a hot time.

Norwood's New Drill Hall.

The plans for the new drill hall at Norwood have now arrived and are open for inspection.

The site chosen for the building is on the Park lot facing on Alma street, south of the high and public schools.

The plans give promise of a handsome and spacious building, the measurements of which is 90x42 feet. The front part will be divided off into quarters for the officers, men and armouries, and will be two stories high and built of cement blocks. The hall is to the rear and the measures inside 40x60 feet.

There are also large double windows along the sides as well as in the front and rear. Contractors are given five months in which to construct the building. Tenders are to be in by July 3rd.

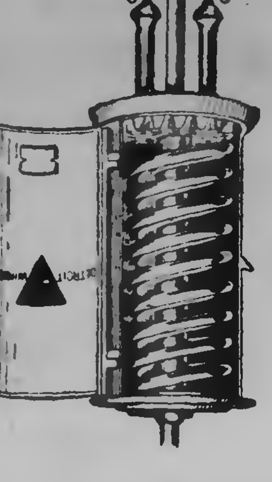
Citizens and the people throughout the district, will appreciate the energy displayed by their local member Mr. J. A. Sexsmith, in securing the necessary appropriation for this very creditable proposed structure. With such complete and convenient quarters where the members of the local company of militia, the cadets and the boy scouts may assemble for drill and practice, Norwood should become a live military centre in the not far distant future.

Barrie Excursion Yesterday.

About 150 employees of the Barrie Carriage Works were in the city on an excursion yesterday, accompanied by the Citizens' Band of Barrie. They visited the main points of the city, and took in the ball game, where their band supplied good music.

You Don't Have to Start a Fire in the Coal Range When Someone Wants a Bath

It's no longer necessary to hustle around gathering up paper, carrying up wood and lugging up coal every time somebody wants to take a bath. You no longer need to heat up your kitchen, in fact the entire house every time an extra quantity of hot water is desired.



THERE'S AN EASIER WAY

USE AN

"IDEAL"

GAS

Water Heater

This heater occupies but very little space. It is connected to your kitchen boiler and is operated as easily as your gas range. The IDEAL Heater heats water very quickly—enough for a bath is 20 minutes.

This Heater Will Not Overheat Your Kitchen

We have an IDEAL connected and in operation at our office. We'd be glad to show it to you if you'd pay us a visit. If that isn't possible have us send a representative to tell you more about it.

The history of Crescentwood will be repeated in Oakdale. Where in the former 5 or 6 years ago lots were sold at $15 to $25 per foot, with the same building restrictions as Oakdale Park has to-day, and now $80 to $150 per foot is being paid in Crescentwood and residences to the value of $10,000 to $100,000 are being erected. History will repeat this in Pakdale, but in less time, as it has better Electric Car Service now.

TEMPLE OF BAALBEK.

This Syrian Shrine Has the Largest Quarried Stones in the World.

Probably the largest stones ever used in any building are seen in the western wall of the great temple of Baalbek in Syria, and the problem is still unsolved as to the methods used in conveying them from the quarries and of placing them in position.

The quarries from which these blocks were undoubtedly cut can be seen about half a mile to the southwest of the temple. The three stones lie horizontally and form part of the outer wall of the building. They are not on the lowest part of the masonry, but are twenty-three feet above the first row of stones. Each stone is over sixty feet long, thirteen feet high and ten feet thick.

The most wonderful block of all still lies in the quarries, for something must have occurred to stop the work of separating it completely from the rock, and the great stone has lain there for centuries awaiting completion. This stone is seventy feet long, fourteen feet high and thirteen feet wide. The three sides and part of the fourth have been beautifully chiseled and are smooth and even.—San Francisco Argonaut.

Punishing Bachelors.

This punishment of the bachelor has been common in many ages and countries and extended down to the early days of our own history. In Connecticut in 1636 a law was passed which would not "allow any young unmarried man to keep house," and Hartford taxed "lone men 20 shillings a week" for the "selfish luxury of solitary living." In 1682 a special town order gave permission for two bachelors to keep house together, "so they carry themselves soberly and do not entertain idle persons to the evil expense of time by day or night," while as late as the eighteenth century a general statute of Connecticut forbade any householder under penalty of a fine to "give entertainment or habitation to single persons without special allowance of the selectmen."—Forum.

Lost Days.

"You used to say," she complained, "that you counted that day lost when you did not hear the sound of my voice."

"Yes, I know," he replied, "and I shall never cease to long for those dear lost days."—Chicago Record-Herald.

City Clerk Armstrong fathered one of the motions that were passed by the Ontario Municipal Association in Toronto, on Wednesday. It was to the effect that the executive endeavour to have changed the status providing for the payment of registrars. The motion instructed the executive to endeavour to obtain legislation to provide that the expenses of registration, under Manhood Suffrage Act, be paid by the Province, and if that is not procured, to obtain an amendment to the Act to make it clear that ex-officio registrars are not entitled to be paid for the days unless they preside at places for registration. W. B. Dougherty of St. Thomas, seconded Mr. Armstrong's motion.

For the purpose of erecting a children's shelter in Lindsay, the ladies of that town are planning to hold a tag day, in all possibility on Dominion Day, July 1st. The Lindsay citizens seem to realize the need of a shelter in that town and in view of the success of tag day in this city, they hope to raise the necessary funds in this manner. Lindsay is not the only place to copy the ideas of the local ladies, as Belleville is now holding a successful Summer Fair, modelled on the lines of the Fair in the Armouries.

Printed notices containing further information as to conditions of proposed Contract may be seen, and blank forms of Tender may be obtained at the Post Office of Bensfort, South Monaghan, Bailieboro, Lorenz, and at the office of the Post Office Inspector at Kingston.

Carrots Four Feet Long.

Some remarkable giant vegetables were exhibited at the Horticultural Hall, London, Eng., a short time ago. There is keen competition for the championship in the art of vegetable-growing between the Duke of Portland and Mr. Vicary Gibbs, and at the exhibition referred to it was generally agreed that the Duke of Portland's exhibit has never been equalled. He showed some carrots four feet long, and as smooth and regular in taper as if they had been cast. Among other vegetables he also showed a number of beans 12 inches long.

Bavarian Burials.

Hearses or funeral cars are not used in Bavaria. The dead must be removed from the houses within twenty-four hours after death, the bodies being conveyed to the "dead house," with which every cemetery is provided. The removal is in charge of municipal officers, and by very plain casket wagons, which are owned by the municipalities. Private concerns have no interest in funeral arrangements every detail being under the control and direction of duly authorized municipal officials.

The Women of Carthage.

There is a grand old story told about the supreme devotion displayed by the women of Carthage. When their city was besieged by the Romans ropes were needed; but, as there was no flax to make them in the city, the women, headed by their heroic queen, came to the rescue. They one and all cut off their glorious tresses and made ropes of their hair.

Gone.

The tightwad went to the pastor. "Mr. Brown," he said, "through a blunder I dropped a $5 gold piece in the plate instead of a nickel."

"Ah, yes," said the pastor briskly, "a benevolent blunder. But I assure you it will count with us just as much in your favor as if you really meant it."

And he hurried away.

Middy's Trip.

The Earl of Bessborough, who has completed his sixty-first year, is a man of affairs, with a varied career. For some years he was in the royal navy, serving as a midshipman under the late Duke of Cambridge, and sailing round the world. Later he read for the Bar, to which he was called in 1879, and then took up Parliamentary secretarial work, serving in that capacity to Lord Stalbridge and Mr. Speaker Peel.

For many years past Lord Bessborough has been engaged in numerous business enterprises, and four years ago followed Lord Cottesloe as chairman of the London, Brighton, and South Coast Railway.

Miss Thelma Parman, of 793 George street, has made another valuable addition to her specimens of natural history which will be exhibited in the scientific department of the Collegiate Institute in which Miss Paxman is a pupil. An uncle in Clinton has just sent her two gigantic members of the bug family which a friend of his forwarded to him from Cuba. The bugs came in a box by registered mail and during the 2,000 mile journey lived on a piece of sugar cane, which was placed in the box with them. They are rare specimens of the lower animal kingdom well worth seeing. The smaller of the two, the Cucylas, has in the top of its head behind its eyes two green lamps that in the darkness gleam like the headlights on a motor car. Under its wings, its body gives out a phosphorescent light. Flying through the Cuban jungles in myriads on a dark night they give the forest the appearance of being on fire.

Caught Soon.

Another runaway occurred yesterday morning at about 8.30 on the corner of Hunter and Bethune streets. The horse attached to T. Anthony's fruit rig bolted. It swerved around and ran across the street but was caught by a milkman. Beyond a pair of twisted shafts and some spoiled fruit the damage was slight.

Said Farewell.

In a splendid address last night in the Gospel Hall, Mr. Douglas Russell said farewell to his supporters in this city. He spoke enthusiastically of his work in Canada, and thanked the audience for their support during his stay here. He leaves to-day for Kingston and will sail soon for his home in England.

Fine Music in S. A. Temple.

A good attendance greeted the famous Canadian Territorial Staff Band of the Salvation Army in the S.A. Citadel last night, when the band made their first appearance in this city. The band included thirty expert musicians and their playing was certainly a treat. Their selections were heartily applauded and it was evident that the audience was delighted. His Honor Judge Huycke acted as chairman for the splendid program.

Ideal Protection Against The Inroads of Catarrh

By Breathing the Rich, Balsamic Vapor of Catarrhozone You Prevent and Cure all Head, Nose, and Throat Diseases.

Remember this: You don't take drugs when using Catarrhozone; you simply inhale a healing vapor that cures every type of Catarrh, bronchitis, asthma, throat and nose soreness and irritation.

No medicine brings such prompt relief, exerts such an invigorating influence or so thoroughly and speedily cures throat troubles as "Catarrhozone." Doctors, hospitals, sanitariums, all say that those who suffer from changeable weather, for those who are predisposed to catarrh, lung trouble, deafness or bronchitis, no treatment is so indispensable as Catarrhozone.

Victim of Chronic Catarrh Cured.

I contracted a severe cold while following my occupation of furniture travelling, and eventually it developed into Catarrh. The desultory mode of life I was following gave me very little chance to attend to the Catarrh condition, and at last I became a victim of Chronic Catarrh. I bought a large package of Catarrhozone, used it as per directions, and have never been bothered since. I will be only too glad to give any information I possess to any person suffering from the disease that was the bane of my life for two years.

A. H. SWARTZ, Brocville, Ont.

For certain cure, for relief in an hour, use Catarrhozone, the only direct, breathable medicine. Two months' treatment guaranteed, price $1.00, smaller size 50c, at all druggists, or the Catarrhozone Company Kingston, Ont., and Buffalo, N. Y.

F. G. YOUNG,

Case Remanded.

Alfred Aston, arraigned on a vagrancy charge at Police Court yesterday, said that he had been ill owing to having had an operation. The last six or seven nights he had slept at the police station, lacking better accommodation.

Chief Thompson stated that the man drove his wife from him by threats, and she is afraid to return and live with her husband.

The man appeared to have seen better days. His case was remanded until the 29th.

A lumber jack answering to the name of Thomas Clarry, was fined $2 after pleading guilty to being drunk last night.

A Fine Band Concert.

A large number of citizens turned out last night to the band concert, although the weather was of a threatening nature. Those seated in the pails showed their pleasure at the band's work by repeatedly applauding. The following programme was rendered:

March—"Distant Greeting."
Overture—"Crown Diamonds."
Novelette—"In the Jungle."
Cornet Solo—"Heart in Hand."
Hymn—Selected.
Popular Songs—"Chocolate Soldier."
Vocal Solo—"Holy City"—Asa Huycke.
Waltz—"September."
Selection—"Reminiscences of England."

C. G. E. Company Get Contract.

The C.G.E. Company has received an order to install the new power plant at Campbellford.

When the Hon. Frank Cochrane, Minister of Railways and Canals was in Campbellford recently, and the removal of the dam was decided upon he had a conference with the leading manufacturers and business men of that place with regard to what the Government had to offer in the way of exchange. The result of that conference had just been made public.

Mr. S. J. Moore, manager of the Trent Valley Woolen Manufacturing Company, Campbellford, says that the power question, in so far as his company is concerned, is satisfactorily settled.

Excursion This Afternoon.

The second annual trip of the Brotherhood of Andrew and Philip of Knox church, is billed for this morning. Last year the event was held on Saturday afternoon to Jubilee point. This year the venue is Idyl Wyld, an all day jaunt. The steamer Stoney Lake has been chartered for the occasion, and is timed to leave Wolfe street wharf at 8 a.m., and the Street Railway Wharf at 9 o'clock. Under the guidance of an efficient committee, an attractive program of sports for which prizes have been provided, has been arranged, and with Old Sol in his merriest mood, a great outing should be the order of the day. Tickets 50c and 25c, can be had at the wharves previous to sailing.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

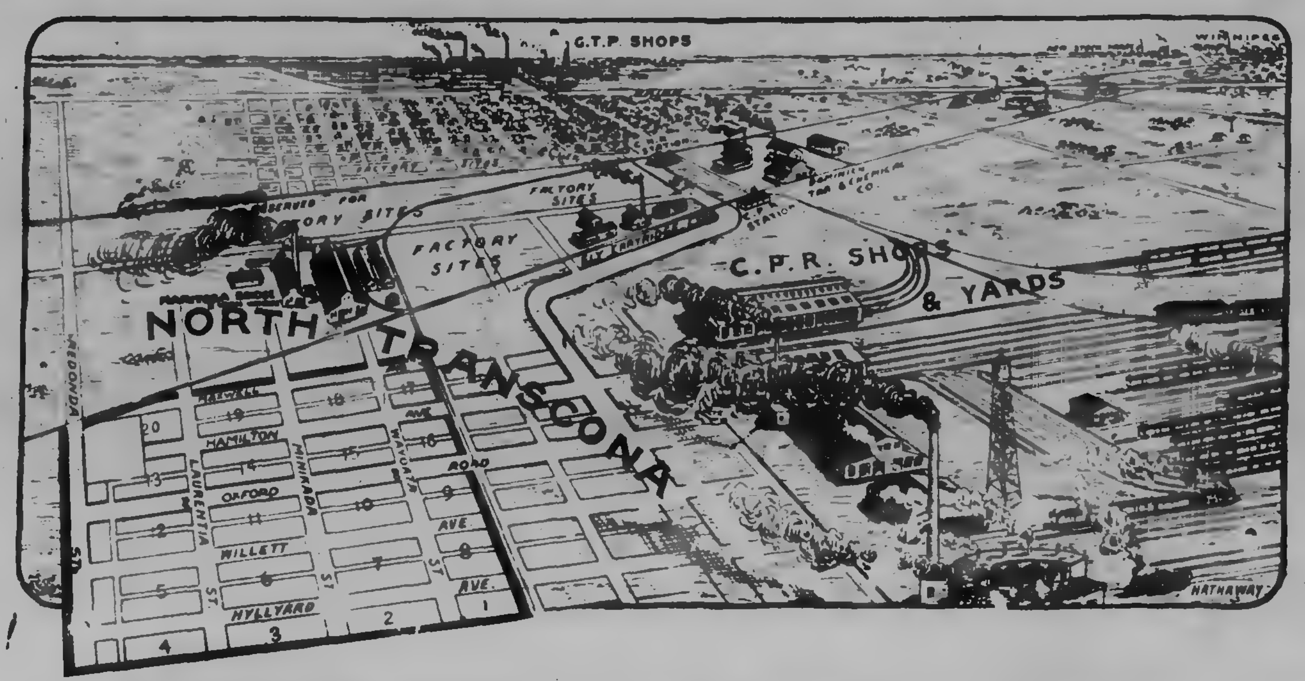
Take Our Advice and Invest in Transcona To-day



Winnipeg's Railway and Industrial Centre

TRANSCONA is rapidly becoming the recognized manufacturing centre of Winnipeg, and will be to Winnipeg what Toronto Junction is to Toronto.

The Grand Trunk Pacific are rushing to complete their immense shops at Transcona, one unit of theses are already finished, the machinery is now being tested, and in a few weeks' time one thousand men will be employed permanently and other sections will be pleted as rapidly as possible, and will give employment to a small army of mechanics.

The C. P. R. are now building the largest railway yard in the world at Transcona, together with elevators, round houses and other terminal facilities. Several industrial plants are already located in Transcona, and many others will be located there in the near future. The Dominion Tar and Chemical Co., and the Ely Cartridge Company now have their plants in operation. The Manitoba Bridge and Iron Works are building an enormous plant, and expect to have a part of it completed by the first of the year.

The G. T. P. shops will give employment to four or five thousand men, and in the near future the C. P. R. will require fully one thousand mechanics and yard men and the several manufacturing plants will require sufficient men to bring the total number of employees in Transcona up to fifteen thousand, this will mean a city with a population of over fifty thousand people.

Transcona has been incorporated, a progressive Council elected, and contracts have been already let for several mile of sidewalks, streets graded, electric light, and the question of sewage is now under consideration.

Investors who buy in Transcona to-day will make large profits. Real estate values in Transcona are exceptionally low, considering the possibilities of this young City. Lots that we are now offering for $5.00 per ft. and upwards will be worth from $100.00 to $300.00 per ft., in less than five years' time.

Any Investor can make 100 p.c. or more on their money in a very short time by investing in Transcona Lots.

Bro. of Local Man Gets Degree.

The Toronto Globe says: Rev. George T. Webb, a graduate of McMaster University, and for several years pastor of Parkdale Baptist church in this city, was honored with the degree of Doctor of Divinity a week ago to-day at Denison University, Ohio. An interesting co-incidence was that his two sons, Willis and Stafford, were graduated there the same day. One of the young men graduated with B.A., and the other as B.Sc.

Dr. Webb is at present Editorial Secretary of the American Baptist Publication Society, and is doing a splendid work. Denison is one of the oldest and best Baptist schools in America. A brother of Dr. Webb is pastor of a charge in Peterborough.

The Season's Attraction.

Except and aside from the "American Election Farce" in Chicago, the greatest attraction billed for next Saturday, is the exhibition baseball game between the Small Picas and the P.C.I. which will be called at 2.30 at Nicholls Oval. It is not yet decided whether Rube Marquard, Christie Mathewson or Manager Kelly will umpire the contest, but later arrangements in this connection were made with Umps Johnson, in the hope that Manager Rowan stalwarts might have a chance to win a game in Johnson's absence. In conclusion, we must apologize for taking the Saturday crowd from the Canadian League game. The local club however, may open negotiations with the Small Picas for $500 condolence money. But then, again, it would be worth that much to the local pros. to get rid of their "friend" Mr Johnson.

Electric Iron Causes Fire

The Fire Department were called to extinguish a fire in Parker's Dye Works at 10.10 last night. The fire was caused by an electric iron setting fire to an ironing board. The reflection attracted the attention of some persons in the White House, who promptly turned in an alarm. The fire had got very little headway by the time the firemen had arrived, although from the appearance it looked like a very disastrous fire. The Fire Chief gave orders to press into service all the chemical fire extinguishers available, to be followed up by two lines of hose from a nearby hydrant. The firemen were able to subdue the fire by the use of chemicals, thereby saving a lot of damage by water. The damage will be very slight, and will not inconvenience the firm in their operations.

ROOSEVELT, HOPELESSLY BEATEN, DROPS OUT—PRESIDENT TAFT GETS THE NOMINATION BALLOT

SAYS CONVENTION REPRESENTS NOTHING BUT SUCCESSFUL FRAUD

Deeply Discreditable to Any Man to Accept Nomination, and Anyone Doing so Would Have no Claim To Support of Republicans on Party Grounds

Chicago, June 22.—Col. Roosevelt's statement follows:

"A clear majority of the delegates honestly elected to this convention were chosen by the people to nominate me. Under the direction, and with the encouragement of Mr. Taft, the majority of the National Committee, by the so-called 'steam-roller' methos, and with a scandalous disregard of every principle of elementary honesty and decency, stole eighty or ninety delegates, putting on the temporary roll call a sufficient number of fraudulent delegates to defeat the legally expressed will of the people, and to substitute a dishonest for an honest majority.

"The convention has now declined to purge the roll of the fraudulent delegates placed thereon by the defunct National Committee, and the majority which thus endorsed fraud was made a majority only because it included the fraudulent delegates themselves, who all sat as judges on one another's cases. If these fraudulent votes had not thus been cast and counted, the convention would have been purged of their presence. This action makes the convention misrepresenting the real Republican party. Therefore, I hope the men elected as Roosevelt delegates will not decline to vote, on any matter before the convention. I do not release any delegate from his honorable obligation to vote for me, if he votes at all, but under the actual conditions I hope that he will not vote at all.

"The convention is now composed has no claim to represent the voters of the Republican party. It represents nothing but successful fraud in over-riding the will of the rank and file of the party. Any man nominated by the convention as now constituted will be merely the beneficiary of this successful fraud. It will be deeply discreditable to any man to accept the convention's nomination under these circumstances, and any man thus accepting it would have no claim to the support of ant Republican on party grounds, and would have forfeited the right to ask the support of any honest man or party on moral grounds."

Theodore Roosevelt.

BOUND TO HAVE HIS HEAD

The Examiner is bound to have the head of Mr. George H. Howson, the local immigration official, one of the Laurier Government's appointees. There has been no change in immigration Matters since the new Government came in, except for the better, and it is a strange thing that now for the first time the Examiner has found out how bad the local office is. As a matter of fact the local office had never even a telephone till lately, but that makes no difference to the Examiner. Mr. Howson has got to "go" to please his former friends. The present Government has authorized him to do all he can or need do for the comfort of incoming immigrants, so it must be his fault if toe charges are true. No doubt immigrants have grievances before they ever get here. But it is not all on their side. However, the Government will not take blame for a Laurier official's shortcomings from a Laurier organ, and if the Examiner keeps up the attack somebody's head will have to go to the basket, no doubt.

ROOSEVELT AND BRYAN COULD WIN FOR NEW PARTY

Peerless Leader Might Join New Party, But This is Democratie Ye.r and He Hesitates--Will be Master of Democratic Convention.

WILLIAM J. BRYAN

Washington, June 22.—Interest here is suddenly transferred from Chicago to Baltimore. Politicians are taking it for granted that the President will be re-nominated and that at any rate the big break in the Republican party has come. No one here imagines that Mr. Taft can be really elected; the question now is "Will it be Roosevelt or a Democrat?" and the man who can best answer that question is William Jennings Bryan.

Have Bryan and Roosevelt talked things over during their week together in Chicago? Certain it is that Bryan is keeping a still tongue in his mouth these days and even his newspaper The Commoner, has nothing to say. Roosevelt is certainly building upon what may happen at the Democratic convention. The new progressive party could win its first election with Roosevelt and Bryan side by side.

A Hard Position.

Mr. Bryan's impulse would be to join the new party and have done with compromises, half - hearted friends and secret foes in his own camp. But this looks like a Democratic year and Bryan hesitates. Twenty years ago he left the Democrats and joined the Populist Party. He might this year join the Progressive party. At any rate he goes to Baltimore as master of the convention, because he can easily place the Democratic party where Roosevelt has placed the Republican party.

Roosevelt and Bryan.

No doubt the interests and the reactionaries will try to govern at Baltimore as they have governed at Chicago. They may have their way because, by controlling one-third of the delegates, they can create adeadlock and a deadlock means a compromise, and compromise always means a failure for the progressives. Within 30 days however, Mr. Bryan may be either the Democratic nominee for president or the vice-presidential candidate of the new progressive party on the same ticket with Theodore Roosevelt.

ROOSEVELT WILL BE NOMINATED FOR PRESIDENT BY NEW PARTY

Chicago, June 23.—Frank A. Munsey of the Roosevelt forces, at an early hour this morning, said:

"Mr. Roosevelt will be nominated for president by a new party. He refuses to have anything to do with the Republican convention now in session in this city. He would not now take a nomination from that body if it were given to him. He regards it as a grossly illegal organization formed by the force of men fraudulently seated. Taft will probably be nominated late to-day. It is now the earnest wish of Mr. Roosevelt and his friends that the nomination go to him. They regard him as the proper nominee of such a convention."

FARM HANDS ARE RESTLESS

Not One Girl In a Hundred in England Will Consent To Go A-Milking

London, June 22.—In these days of rapid changes in King George's realm it is hardly surprising to find that the farm hands are growing restless. A disquieting discovery affecting dairy farming has just come to light at Seaforth hiring fair, where not one girl in a hundred engaged for the farmhouse would consent to fill the duties of milking the cows. No more will the classic reply be given—"I'm going a-milking, sir."

The reason given for the disinclination of the Lancashire lasses to undertake the picturesque duties of the milkmaid is that it is menial work. Superficial education and much reading of cheap novels that convey false views of life undoubtedly account for this view point. Consequently men have to be hired to do the work the girls have turned down. But even the farm laborers are beginning to get restive, and Chancellor Lloyd-George says they are right. Though a strike among the unorganized help is not yet talked about the farmers realize it is a future possibility.

For in common with every other form of labor, the farm workers of both sexes are affected by the nation-wide unrest and discontent. And there is reason in their dissatisfaction, as their wages rarely go beyond the four dollars a week mark; their cottages are often mean and wretched, and the village life dull. Agriculturists are now talking a wider extension of the use of milking machines, and if this comes about the labor problem in the villages is likely to become almost as embittered as when machinery was introduced into the weaving industry in the place of hand looms.

DEMOCRATS NOW LIME LIGHT FOR A CANDIDATE

William Jennings Bryan Reaches Baltimore Sunday by Special Express Train

Baltimore, Md., June 22.—Everything is now quite ready for the delegates. Most of the Democratic celebrities are in their places, with Chas. F. Murphy of Tammany Hall, the centre of chief concern. William J. Bryan reached here yesterday from Chicago on a fast train. Others are coming on slow ones. Fire Commissioner "Joe" Johnson has plastered the town with lithographs of Mayor Gaynor, while hat bands on all sides read "Win with Wilson."

In any direction one looks there are signs, "He Carried Ohio by 100,000," while the long Harmon streamers in the gaudy gold rotunda of the Hotel Emerson says he did it by "Over 100,000."

Champ Clark, in his most sombre expression, looks down from countless posters. Then there are thousands of buttons for each of the candidates.

Upon one point there is no difference of opinion. New York, together with Indiana and Illinois, the three pivotal states, with a total of 178 votes in the Democratic convention, will come very near naming the candidate. Every candidate is now flirting with Messrs. Murphy, Taggart and Sullivan and their delegates.

The platform builders promise to present to the convention a document that shall be short and incisive. The number of "teeth" in it, as one plankholder said to-day, will depend upon the outcome of the struggle between the Conservative and radical wings of the party. On most of the major points, however, the leaders seem agreed.

Plans for the hearing on Monday by the national committee of rival delegations for seats in the Democratic convention were completed to-day by the committee.

The national committee has been notified of contests affecting the delegations from the District of Columbia, Porto Rico, Vermont, Phillippines and Alaska. In addition, rival claims have been made to seats of the delegates from Illinois at large, the first ten districts of that State, and the twentieth. Other contests are over three seats from Rhode Island, and two seats in Texas.

AN ORGAN GRINDER MADE $20 A DAY

Boston, June 22.—For fifty years Pietro Bonnelli turned the handle of a street organ, visiting in succession practically every important city in the United States, Canada and England.

At a farewell reception given him by his friends, Pietro said:

"I have probably seen more of England, America and Canada than any millionaire tourist, and have managed to save $50,000. Sometimes I made as much as $20 a day, and never less than $1. Altogether I have had 20 monkeys. I am 62 years old, and in as good health as any boy

LICKING IT INTO SHAPE.

ST. THOMAS SHUT OUT 4-0

A large crowd assembled at Riverside Park on Saturday afternoon to witness the game between the locals pros and St. Thomas. The 57th Regimental Band was in attendance and rendered some fine music. On several occasions the crowd of fans called on Mr. Gliddon to get his bandsmen at work, and he readily responded. The game throughout was an excellent exhibition of ball, and the fans got their fill of cheering, which at times was deafening. The locals started out in the first innings by scoring two runs and Manager Rowan kept his men on the jump throughout the whole game. The visitors could not get across the plate and though Osborne got into a few bad pinches, he always managed to settle down and pull out, shutting the visitors out. During the progress of the game several nasty flies found their way to the outfield, but our old reliable Jimmy Beard, and Whitie, were not found wanting, they just scooped them in as fast as they came. In fact every one of the boys played his best and although a few errors were made, they did not lose heart, but plugged right ahead till the St. Thomas' goose eggs were complete.

Our old friend Umpire Johnson was there for the last time, and he seemed to feel his position keenly, and let the boys off with a pretty squarely umpired game. We earnestly hope that Mr. Johnson will have a pleasant time on his holidays.

EATONS WILL BUILD.

To Erect a Ten-Storey Building in Hamilton.

Hamilton, June 22.—Representatives of the T. Eaton Co., Limited, announced yesterday that $140,000 worth of property purchased a short time ago and comprising a block with the exception of Wesley church, and Dr. McC[illegible]'s residence, had been secured by a big Toronto concern for a ten-storey building—whether store or factory is not yet decided.

ROOSEVELT STARTS TO ORGANIZE NEW PROGRESSIVE PARTY

Will Roosevelt Play Second Fiddle to Bryan? Will the Sun Bow to the Moon? Colonel's Name Will be Presented to Republican Convention

Chicago, June 22.—After making preliminary arrangements for the organization of a new party, Col. Roosevelt to-day definitely severed his relations with the Republican National Convention. In a statement setting forth his position in this regard he said that, since the convention had declined to remove the delegates who he contends are fraudulent, he could not recognize its authority. He urged his delegates to refrain from voting in the convention although stating that in case they did vote, he could not free them from the obligation to cast their ballots for him.

The Roosevelt "steam-roller" delegates and their alternates, who were excluded from the convention, met Col. Roosevelt in a body. The Col. held a brief reception, informing them that the plans for anew party were being puched forward rapidly, and urged them to stand firm. It was his first intention to meet them by State delegations, but they collected so rapidly in the corridor near his office that it was decided to marshal them all into the Roosevelt national committee's assembly hall at one time.

A crowd which blocked the hotel corridors waited for half an hour for a glimpse of the Colonel. He was cheered as he hurried passed through the lane which was kept clear by the police, and waved his hands in response.

It was decided definitely this afternoon that before the adjournment of the convention or immediately after, there would be held a meeting of the Roosevelt delegates who wished to enlist in the new party.

LAY WITHIN THREE FEET OF DEATH NARROW ESCAPE OF C.P.R. BRAKESMAN

Fell From Top of Freight Car at the Local Station Yesterday Morning—Alertness of Watchful Crew Probably Saved the Young Man From Death.

C.P.R. Brakeman Staples, of Pontypool, narrowly escaped death at the local station yesterday morning at 9.40. A special freight going west had picked up a number of cars from a siding and was backing the same on to the main section of the train, when Staples, who was standing on the top of the rear moving car in readiness to couple it, lost his footing and fell to the track below. Fortunately the big engine was backing but slowly, and the alertness of a watchful crew brought it to a standstill in time to save their companion from probable death. When picked up by the train crew Staples lay across the track, unconscious, and but two feet from the wheels of the box car from which he fell. The right side of the young man's head was badly hurt, and his ear all but crushed to a pulp, he was also pretty badly shaken up. Staples was taken into the station office and Dr. Carmichael summoned. After having his wounds dressed the young man was able to proceed in the caboose of his train to his home at Pontypool.

THE CHINIQUY CASE

The arrogant claims of the Roman Catholic Church in Canada are receiving attention as never before, says our talentented contemporary, the Orange Sentinel. The trial of La Croix, a French clercial paper in Montreal, for having libelled the daughter of the late Father Chiniquy, drew from Judge Greenshields a stinging rebuke for the editor and the Church he represents. In defending the action, the lawyer for La Croix claimed that as Father Chiniquy had been a Roman Catholic priest he could not—even though he had left the Church—legally enter into the bonds of matrimony. This was urged as sufficient warrant for speaking of Madame Chiniquy as a concubine.

When this defence was set up Judge Greenshields said: "I deny right of a paper to single out one person who, in its opinion, has violated a dogma, and stigmatize her at a prostitute and her children illegitimate. I deny that right. This woman married and lived with her husband in good faith. Whose business is it now to drag her name through the mud? She was an ideal wife and mother, and not even the Church of Rome should be permitted to call her a concubine, because her husband had violated one of its laws."

This caustic criticism of the Roman Church was well deserved. But what can be said for an institution which, in the twentieth century, pushes its intolerant dogmas to such a length? Is it any wonder that the Protestants are aroused?

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the State's area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundred of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 66 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company. Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 50c, and well worth it, too. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 50c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. "WHAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN."

Most people have heard enough of "it might-have-beens" in connection with the Titanic disaster, but a statement of Mr. P. T. McGrath, the well-known Newfoundland journalist, is certainly novel. It is that all the passengers on the ill-fated steamship might have been saved had the officers of the great ship followed the example of the Newfoundland seamen under such circumstances and used the ice-floes as rafts. He insists that under proper direction the boats could have been used as ferries for the passengers and after having landed their first loads of passengers on the icebergs could have returned for others until all were saved. He says:

"Possibly some may imagine that the intense cold of the floes would have caused a heavy mortality among the passengers, but this need not follow by any means. The weather was pleasant, and even for those who were thinly clad the experience need not be a fatal one, because there would be ample room for all on board to keep moving and thus maintain the circulation so that any ill-effects might be prevented. Moreover, the marooning of the passengers on the floe would only have been a matter of a few hours, as we are now aware, and, all things considered, this would have been more comfortable than being cooped up as they were in the boats waiting for the Carpathia to come to their rescue. The women and children from Newfoundland vessels, obliged to leave their beds in the darkness of the night have survived experience of this kind for from three to seven days, and therefore, it is unlikely that any great number of those on the Titanic, however delicately nurtured, or however poorly equipped for this enforced imprisonment on an ice islet, would have suffered any ill-effects therefrom.

If the Titanic passengers were reluctant to leave the big ship and take their chance in small boats, what would have been their attitude had they been asked to trust their lives first to small boats and afterwards to floating ice? Life-saving appliances which may be acceptable to Newfoundland fishermen will not find favor with the average transatlantic passenger, more particularly of the type which comprised so large a proportion of the passenger list of the Titanic.

THE CAR SHORTAGE.

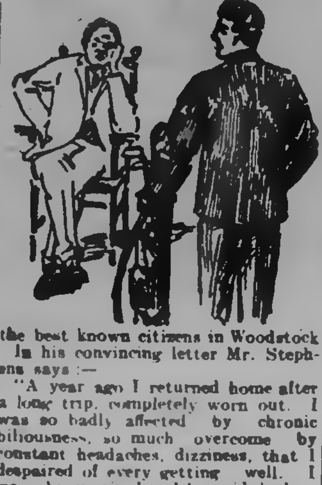
Canadian railways have taken a praiseworthy step in guarding against a recurrence of the car shortage which caused so much dissatisfaction and unrest in the Canadian West last winter. The Canadian Pacific has ordered twelve thousand box cars, the Grand Trunk seven thousand, and the Canadian Northern two thousand. It is to be regretted that the inadequate capacity of Canadian car foundries has necessitated the placing of huge orders in the United States, but under the circumstances the action of the railway is wholly justifiable. The delivery of the equipment in October should do much to obviate another grain blockade. The situation in the western country over that condition of things last winter developed into an acute stage and suggests that no effort be spared to prevent a repitition. It is well for the railways to remember, however, that the East, as well as the West, has to be considered. The steps taken to relieve the Western blockade have incidentally operated to an undue congestion of traffic in the East, now the subject of enquiry by the railway board. The new equipment should be apportioned equitably.

MEN WHO DON'T EXERCISE

SUFFER FROM INDIGESTION, HEADACHES, POOR APPETITE, SLEEPLESSNESS

Nothing so Sure to "Set Up" a Man Make Him Feel Brisk and Vigous, as Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Lack of exercise and overwork are the causes that combined to almost kill Samuel S. Stephens, Jr., one of the best known citizens in Woodstock



In his convincing letter Mr. Stephens says:—

"A year ago I returned home after a long trip, completely worn out. I was so badly affected by chronic biliousness, so much overcome by constant headaches, dizziness, that I despaired of every getting well. I was always tired and languid, had no energy and spirit, found it difficult to sleep for more than five hours. My appetite was so fickle that I ate next to nothing, and in consequence lost weight and strength. I was pale and had dark rings under my eyes, that made me look like a shadow.

"It was a blessing that I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. In one week I felt like a new man. The feeling of weight and nausea in my stomach disappeared. My eyes looked brighter, color grew better, and, best of all, I began to enjoy my meals. The dizziness languor and feeling of depression passed away, and I fast regained my old time vigor and spirits. To-day I am well, thanks to Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

For health, strength, comfort, and good spirits there is no medicine like Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Beware of substitutes, and don't let any dealer palm off some other pill on which he can make more money. 25c per box, or five boxes for $1.00, by mail from The Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

MORMANS STIR EARLY ACTION

Montreal Clergymen Start An Investigation

WILL STOP MOVEMENT

Montreal People Will Not Tolerate the Cult—Rights and Liberties of British Subjects are Sacred.

Montreal, June 21.—The effort of the people of Montreal to close the "gateway," as it is called, of Mormon immigration, is likely to prove effectual. At a meeting held a few days ago sixty clergymen and laity were present, and a committee to investigate all the facts and conditions relative to Mormon immigration into Canada was appointed.

This committee is composed of: Rt. Rev. Dr. Farthing, Rev. Dr. W. R. Young, Rev. Dr. John Martin, Rev. Dr. Fraser, Rev. T. Burke, Rev. S. A. Pratt, Rev. G. H. Baker, Rev. T. E. Baker, Rev. Mr. Steed, and Mr. H. K. S. Hemming, with Rev. Mr. Chisholm as convenor.

There has been a considerable development in the passage through Canada of Mormon converts. Some time ago the United States Atlantic ports prohibited the passage of Mormons through these channels, and since that time the trend of travel has been to Canadian ports, particularly in the summer time, when the big flood of travel surges towards Quebec and Montreal.

It has been claimed of late that efforts have been made by travelling Mormon missionaries to proselize among other travellers, although this has been denied by officials of the lines operating in the Canadian trade. However, it is as a result of such charges that the present action has been taken.

Rev. Mr. Chisholm, who is named as convenor of this committee, complained last week that he discovered two Mormon missionaries, who had just landed here with a party of sixty-one converts, trying to induce two girls bound for Toronto to join the party for Salt Lake City. Such a row ensued when Mr. Chisholm voiced his protests, that the police had to be called to quieten the Mormon missionaries, who tried to have Mr. Chisholm ejected from the pier, until the latter had established his right to be there.

At the meeting of the clergymen to-day there was no discussion whatever regarding the matter, apart from the naming of the committee. Bishop Farthing presided at the gathering and pointed out the necessity of having full particulars before the question of Mormon immigration was discussed. The liberty of the subject in religion and in other departments of life, His Lordship said was one of the most sacred rights of British citizenship, and care must be taken not to interfere with the exercise of it in any way.

HOT SHOT FOR PROTESTANTS.

Catholic Registers Expresses Its Opinion in Forcible Language.

The last issue of the Catholic Register, the organ of the Roman Catholic Church in Ontario, has the following:

The vagaries of the parsons are now in evidence.

• • • • •

Dr. Milligan, from all accounts, is a better authority on millinery than he is on what constitutes idolatry. Enough said!

• • • • •

His Grace Archbishop Bruchesi has notified a couple of Montreal newspapers that their insidious campaign against the Church must cease, or they may have to realize that the old church has a conclusive way of dealing with them.

• • • • •

An uncharitable joker in an Irish paper remarks that Queen Elizabeth, one of the saintly founders of the English Church, scared many poor people by her appearance during her lifetime, but that she would scare them a lot worse if they could see her now. This is stooping too low altogether.

• • • • •

His Lordship Bishop Archambault, of Joliet, well defines Catholic Liberalism, when he says that it is a movement which in the name of a false liberty would take away, one by one, every right which the Church enjoys as a properly constituted society, and would make her subject to the State. We have never yet met a Catholic Liberal who did not want the Church curbed in some way or another. The Church, from its standpoint, enjoys too much liberty, and he himself, not enough. Where the Liberals are numerous enough to have things their own way, the first thing they begin doing is to rob the Church of her property, which merely goes to show that a Catholic Liberal at bottom is one who wants to see a liberal interpretation given to the Commandment, "Thou shalt not steal."

THREE FORMS OF WATER.

Either of Which Can Ever Be Changed Into One of the Others.

There are three forms of matter, solid, liquid and gas, and water is capable of taking any of them, just as the famous genie in the "Arabian Nights" could take various forms at pleasure.

We usually drink water in what is called its natural state. When we put the kettle on the fire to boil some water our object is simply to make it hot, but we still want the water to be water.

If we forget about the kettle and leave it on the fire too long we shall find the water all gone. The heat has turned it to gas, and it has floated off and mixed with the air.

But when we have a stove in the room and put a pan of water upon it we do not want the water. What we want now is the gas. As it boils away it restores to the air in the room the moisture that is dried up by the heat of the stove, so that the air is still fit to breathe.

In winter, when the skating season is on, we like to find some water that is neither liquid nor gas, but solid. The reason that it has turned solid and not gas is that instead of heat being applied to it all the heat has been taken out of it, but we can soon get it back to water again if we take a piece of ice into a warm room.

Water absorbs heat very quickly, and that is why it is easy to boil it. We use this absorbent quality when we sprinkle water on the floor in

HOW TO RENOVATE PARASOLS.

Dainty Touches That Simple Needlework Will Effect.

If your last summer parasols are too dilapidated to use get them out and study their possibilities. Some whose covering is only soiled, not faded, may be cleaned and freshened by embroidery or a covering of net or chiffon; others may need new tops. The latter can be added at home by a skilled needlewoman, but if distrustful of one's ability do the embroidery first and take the frame and covering to a professional to be mounted.

Remember that the distance between spokes may vary, so in removing the cover mark a certain spoke with a thread and number the sections from that. In this way it will be easy to get the new cover in its right position.

Cut each section from the old one, allowing a trifle more for seams if the edges have been cut. Baste carefully, fit to the frame, then sew the seams firmly, and the cover is ready for its embroidery or further decoration.

This may be done before mounting or after the cover is firmly tacked to the frame. When a design is detached each section can be worked before the panels are basted together. For braiding it is easier to mount the cover than work with both hands, as on a standard frame.

A plain white linen parasol may be given a decided air by working in the panels sprays of flowers in eyelet embroidery and outline for the seams or entirely in solid embroidery. An effective parasol of white pongee has bunches of wild carrot worked in the panels. Two sizes of sprays are used, a bold one in every alternate panel, with a single flower on the others. The flower panicles are worked in French knot in heavy Roman floss, the foliage done in slanting satin stitch.

A parasol of pale gray linen was given a fine inch border of deep rose sewed on the outside of the parasol. The joining was concealed by a line of wild roses worked in several tones of pink with pale yellow centres and green stems.

Any linen or silk parasol could be changed by adding a similar border in a deeper tone of its own shade or in a contrasting color. Harmonize the two sections by a conventional design worked in self tones. A violet linen cover could have a deep purple border and vines of clematis worked in purple shades.

Wanted Silk Hats Abolished.

Some years ago an attempt was made by certain members of the municipal council of Courteuil, France, to make the wearing of a top hat illegal, the grounds set forth for the measure being that the sight of a silk hat is a humiliation to those who cannot afford to wear one; that it is both unbeautiful and unnecessary as an article of attire and also, chiefly, because it is worn mostly by aristocrats who live by the sweat of the poor and militated against equality among citizens of the republic. A fine of 5 francs was the proposed penalty for wearing the condemned headgear, but the "topper" found friends at court, and the measure was rejected.

The Waiter Understood.

They were lunching together, and the talk turned to superstition.

"When you made that boast just now," said one of the party, "you should have knocked on wood to drive away the evil spirits that are envious of human happiness."

"Is that what it's for?"

"Yes. It's an old German custom. You rap on wood three times. Say, that waiter of ours looks like a German. Rap three times and see if he doesn't understand it."

The other man rapped.

The waiter understood it.

He brought three beers.

An Old Banking House.

Child's Bank is one of the oldest private banks in London. No. 1 Fleet street was once a goldsmith's shop, and is said to have been changed into a bank in the time of Sir Francis Child, once Lord Mayor of London. Even now the custom exists of calling the front of the bank "the shop," and the back, where the ledgers are kept, the "counting house." Another old custom still kept up is that of three junior partners and two salaried partners sleeping on the premises in rotation. Thus one of the partners is always on hand if needed.

Consoling.

Elderly Wooer—I hope you are not impressed by the silly sentimentalists who hold that because you've married once you ought not to marry again?

Pretty Widow—Don't let that worry you, dear. I've no such prejudice. My own dear mother was married three times, and I only hope that in all things I may follow her example.

DIRECTORS:

H. K. HAND, Toronto, President; Director Hamilton Brewing Association, Limited; Director Grant's Spring Brewery Company.
W. H. PARSONS, Montreal, Manufacturer; Director Colin McArthur Wall Paper Co.
W. W. CANHAM, Toronto, Importer, of Wilson & Canham, Limited.
K. McWHINNEY, Toronto, Contractor.
S. J. PLANT, Toronto, Ceramic Expert, Managing Director.
TRUSTEES—Imperial Trusts Co. of Canada, Toronto.

This company is organized to engage in the making of building brick, terra cotta, fireproofing, etc. The demand for brick is greater than the supply, and there is need of another factory to make really high-class brick. The demand for building brick is such that contractors are obliged, in many cases, to use inferior brick, probably endangering the safety, and assuredly endangering the durability, of the buildings so constructed.

The Canada Brick and Fireproofing Company's property, consisting of 150 acres, and contains a very valuable and practically inexhaustible deposit of shale, clay and building stone.

The deposits in this property are of such a nature that the best bricks, with a density and hardness not surpassed, and commanding the highest market price, can be made at a very low cost. Bricks can be made the year round, winter as well as summer, as the company will have a thoroughly tested and specially designed dryer, which obviates all difficulties. No such opportunity has come to invest in the brick industry in many years, and, considering the unsupplied market, the attractive prices for the product, the low cost at which the Canada Brick and Fireproofing Co., Limited, are able to produce, the extraordinary good quality of the brick that can be made, and the well-known ability of the managing director of the company, this opportunity to invest is one of the best this company has ever had the pleasure of offering its clients or the general public.

THE LOW CAPITALIZATION.

This company could easily have been incorporated for $1,000,000.00 but to enhance the actual value of the shares, and to make the returns on the shares of practical consequence for all future time, the capitalization was made small in comparison with other flotations, but large enough to give ample capital, pay all charges and put up a three-unit plant, fully equipped with the most up-to-date, fastest and best brick-making machinery, and to supply plenty of working capital. We recommend this stock to all seeking safe, reliable and profitable investment

The plant will be located in the Township of Esquesing, in the County of Halton, and will have a capacity of 150,000 bricks per day

The present sale is to provide funds for completing the contract for the installation of the works of the Company, and for working capital.

The contracts with the Company may be seen during business hours at the Imperial Trusts Company of Canada, Toronto.

PROFIT-SHARING ARRANGEMENT.

Preferred stock will share all dividends in excess of 6 p.c. in the following proportions:
For every 1 p.c. extra paid on the Preferred, 3 p.c. is to be paid on the Common.

For example:—When the Common stock receives	3 p.c., Preferred stock will receive	7 p.c.
" " "	6 p.c., " "	8 p.c.
" " "	9 p.c., " "	9 p.c.

After this point of dividend-sharing has been reached any additional dividends are to be shared equally by both Preferred and Common. The Preferred is also "Preferred" as to return of capital.

Two shares of Preferred stock carry a bonus of one share of Common.

PROPERTY.

The property consists of 150 acres of land in the Township of Esquesing in the County of Halton, containing valuable deposits for the purpose of the Company. This was selected after careful investigation of many much-praised deposits in different localities. 100 acres contains clay and shale and 50 acres contains a valuable deposit of building stone, known as "Credit Valley" stone, which is in great demand, and in itself alone should realise a good profit for the Company. There is an unfailing stream of water through the property, affording abundant water for the Company's operations.

TRANSPORTATION AND LABOR.

The railway running through the property gives excellent transportation facilities, and as the property is situated in the same shipping zone as the Milton, Terra Cotta, Halton, and Port Credit Companies, the same rates will be secured as are paid by those companies. Cheap and efficient labor is available in the surrounding towns. The Company propose to build workmen's houses within a short distance of the plant.

MARKET.

The rapid growth of the City of Toronto and the extraordinary building activities in the suburbs and the surrounding districts, which will doubtless continue for many years, has caused a demand for brick, fireproofing and clay products in excess of the capacity of the brick plants that are in a location to supply the city and surrounding country. All the present brick companies in Ontario are taxed to their utmost, and much delay has been caused in building operations owing to the inadequate supply of brick, and in some cases it has forced owners to abandon building operations entirely.

ESTIMATED EARNINGS.

The earnings of the Company are estimated on the basis of a profit of $2.50 per thousand bricks. The average cost per thousand, as estimated by the managing director of the Company, is $5.00. In this is included selling, operating, and all incidental costs of production, and as the Canada Brick & Fireproofing Company, Limited, are installing one of the most modern and up-to-date plants, both for handling and manufacturing bricks, this cost should be materially reduced.

In estimating the earnings of the Canada Brick & Fireproofing Company, Limited, the cost per thousand is put at $7.00 (f.o.b. Toronto and delivered on the jobs) to cover all possible contingencies, and the gross income is put at $9.50 per thousand or considerably below the average price, which is more than $10.00 per thousand.

On this basis the earnings will be as follows, allowing 250 working days to the year:

Unit No. 1.

CAPACITY	WORKING DAYS	BRICKS PER YEAR
50,000 per day	250	12,500,000

Gross income, at $9.50 per thousand .... $118,750
Cost of manufacturing, operating, etc., at $7.00 per thousand 87,500

Surplus .... $ 31,250

As the Company will instal three units, each having a capacity of 50,000 per day, the output would be three times the above amount, or a total profit per annum of .... $ 93,750
6 per cent. interest on preferred stock 18,000

Leaving for reserve fund, contingencies, dividends on common and preferred stock, etc. .... $ 75,750

It will be seen that the Company should earn over 7 per cent. on the Preferred shares and 3 per cent. on the Common stock from Unit No. 1, and Units Nos. 1, 2, and 3 should earn 18 per cent. on both the Common and Preferred shares.

MANAGEMENT.

The Company has secured the services of S. J. Plant, Ceramic Engineer and Clay Specialist. He has been associated with the brick business all his life, in the manufacturing of all classes of brick and high-class clay ware, both plain and ornamental, and has a thorough knowledge of the construction and erection of brick plants.

Samples made from shale off the lands of the Company may be seen at the offices of the Standard Bond Co. Wire-cut brick will be manufactured by the Company equal in appearance to pressed brick, and at no greater cost.

Applications will be considered in order received and remittances for applications in excess of issue, will be returned.

On Application .... $1.00 per share
On Acceptance .... 3.00 per share
On August 1st, 1912 .... 3.00 per share
On November 1st, 1912 .... 3.00 per share

THRIFT IN FRANCE.

The Saving System That is Directed by the Government.

The resources of the French people have always been a surprise to the rest of the world. The country has repeatedly recovered from most exhausting wars apparently through the very small savings accumulated by its lower classes. The peasants of France are landowners to an extent hardly equaled in any other country. The saving system known as the Credit Foncier, which is sanctioned and directed by the French government, is to a certain extent responsible for the thrifty spirit shown throughout France.

The plan provides that a man may borrow on his land very close to the complete value by arranging in advance the number of years that he will take to pay back the loan. His interest payments are then arranged at so much per year, the amount being greater or less, depending on how soon he intends that these payments should completely pay off his debt. If the payments are to continue for fifty years the payments are very small. If the whole mortgage is to be paid off in a shorter period the yearly payments are larger.

There is an added feature which would not be considered possible in this country—viz, an occasional lottery drawing, by which the man who draws the lucky ticket has his mortgage entirely canceled. The system provides an absolutely safe means of saving and is an encouragement to buy and pay for real estate. Against these bonds and mortgages the Credit Foncier issues its bonds in small amounts bearing interest at 3 per cent or less, which are sold in large quantities to investors of moderate means.

We have had nothing like it in America, and as a result our people have grown up to a very careless scale of expenditure.—J. Wray Cleveland in Leslie's Weekly.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

In Wildest India.

Lord Hindlip, who is one of Britain's richest peers, has compressed a good deal of adventure into the thirty-four years which he completed recently. He has traveled pretty nearly all over the world, made some notable sporting tours in Abyssinia and the White Nile country, has done exploration work in Central Africa, and has been after big game in some of the wildest jungles of India.

While Lord Brassey was Governor of Victoria, Australia, he acted as his aide-de-camp and took part in the South African war, during which he was present at the relief of Mafeking. Lady Hindlip was Miss Agatha Thynne, a kinswoman of Lord Bath, and since her marriage she has inherited a very large fortune from the late Mr. Charles Ellis. Lady Hindlip has won much praise as an amateur actress, and, like her husband, she is devoted to big game hunting. She is said to be the only lady in society who has shot a giraffe.—Ideas.

TESTED THE ANTS.

Experiments That Seem to Prove the Insects Have Memory.

Experiments are continually being made to test the memory of animals, such as the elephant, the dog, the bull, but it would seem a thankless undertaking to ascertain whether the ant has a memory. Nevertheless a scientist in South America thinks he has succeeded.

Isolating two of the largest specimens of tropical ants he could find, he so arranged their receptacle that they could get no food without climbing over a circular slant into another compartment. Over this slant when the food was not there he placed a crimson cord, and the ants very soon learned to interpret the signal and never attempted to climb over it.

Thinking after a time that there might be something in the color that repelled them automatically, as the bull is affected unpleasantly by red, he replaced the red cord by cords of varying colors, always with the same result after the ants had made a few excursions over the slant and come back hungry. Then he tried plain cloth and even paper, but the result was invariably the same. After a number of trials the ants refused to climb the slant when there was any sort of "signal."

Finally the scientist reversed the signal, having food beyond the slant only when it was visible, and after an infinite number of trials the ants accommodated themselves to the change.—Harper's Weekly.

LABOUCHERE'S COPY.

After It Was Finished He Lost All Interest in Its Fate.

It was a matter of absolute indifference to Labouchere what became of anything he wrote after he had written it. When he had corrected the proof or if he was away from England when he sent his copy to the post he took no further interest in it whatever.

Before I had discovered this trait in his character I used to write and apologize for cutting, perhaps six columns down to two, or sometimes offer an excuse for not using any of it at all. At last he wrote to me: "You need not sentimentalize about my stuff. I send it to you to do what you like with."

But one felt a lingering compunction long afterward about consigning the fruits of so much labor to the waste paper basket, and, after all, Labouchere was the proprietor of the paper. Once or twice, therefore, I have excused myself for "not sentimentalizing" about some article that he had sent.
